THE WHITE HOUSE
CORRESPONDENCE MANUAL

Executive Office of the President
The White House Office

NOTE: Return this manual to the Correspondence Section,
Room 60, OEOB when no longer needed

FOREWORD

The White House Correspondence Manual applies to all offices in the White House that prepare letters and other forms of written communication. The three purposes of the manual are to:

1. Ensure that official correspondence is typed in a uniform style and to aid in its preparation.
2. Maintain consistency and appropriateness in the use of White House stationery.
3. Promote clear and correct use of English grammar.

This manual may not solve the special problems of your individual offices; they should be worked out by each office, using the manual as a guide. Nevertheless, the general uniformity of the style and appearance of White House correspondence is important, worthwhile, and attainable.

For answers to questions about punctuation, capitalization, etc., not addressed in this manual, consult the U.S. Government Style Manual or the EOP Manual of Preferred Style. For guidance on forms of address, Records Management may be consulted; other questions not covered in the Manual may be referred to the Correspondence Typing Unit.

STYLE GUIDELINES

The following section is designed to give White House correspondence a consistent style. The listings here are in essence recommendations; nevertheless, adherence to the guidelines below, which are grouped by subject and listed alphabetically, can simplify the typing and increase the effectiveness of your office's correspondence.

Don't use White House postage and stationery for personal correspondence.

Occasionally the Presidential style will differ from that recommended here. For Presidential forms of address, see page 11.

Abbreviations

I. In names and titles of correspondents and addresses

A. Acceptable abbreviations are:

1. Mr., Mrs., Ms., Dr., Messrs.;
2. Jr., Sr.—with a preceding comma;
3. 2d, 3d, II, III—without preceding comma;
4. M.D., Ph.D., O.P., and other academic, religious or fraternal titles;
5. branches of service—USN, USAF, USCG, etc.—without periods;
6. military titles, ranks, and offices may be abbreviated in the inside address and on the envelope if they are too cumbersome to spell out. Do not abbreviate them in the salutation. A list of military abbreviations begins on page 3.

B. Always spell out Professor, the Honorable, the Reverend.

II. In company names and titles, usually follow the firm's letterhead

A. Acceptable abbreviations: &, Ltd., Inc., Bro., Bros.;

- #### B. Names and "Co." may be abbreviated if they appear so in the letterhead; otherwise spell them out. E.g., "J.C. Penney & Co."

III. In addresses

A. Acceptable abbreviations

1. Names of States, territories, provinces, and possessions may be abbreviated in staff offices, using the official two-letter postal abbreviations. When these are used, then "DC" is typed instead of "D.C."
NOTE: Even in offices which opt to spell out State names (on Presidential correspondence, for instance), "D.C." is almost always used. A list of State abbreviations appears on page 4.

2. N., S., E., W., N.W., N.E., S.W., S.E., when used to designate a section of a city or complex. (These abbreviations always with periods, may be placed after a street name; if they occur before a street name, they should be spelled out.) Thus:
1127 Lakeshore Drive, N.E.
101-A South 121st Street
3. "No." may be used in an address or to designate an ordinance, determination, bill, and so on. Do not use a pound mark (#).
4. Use "c/o" rather than a percent sign (%) for "in care of."

B. Spell out:

1. Names of States may be spelled out in staff offices, if so desired.
 2. Apartment, Avenue, Boulevard, Building, Circle, Court, Drive, Highway, Lane, Place, Plaza, Road, Route, Square, Street, Terrace, Way.
NOTE: Rural Route, RFD, and other designations of rural roads are no longer used and may be replaced by the word "Route."
 3. County, Fort, Mount, Point, Port, Post Office Box, Post Office Drawer, and Saint. The last may be abbreviated in very commonplace names.
- IV. "U.S." may be used as an adjective before the specific name of a government agency, department, organization, or vessel. Don't use "U.S." as a noun, as an adjective with a general term, or when in conjunction with the names of other countries. Thus: "The British, Irish and United States Coast Guards. . ."

AGREEMENT OF SUBJECT AND VERB

When a singular subject and a plural subject are connected by "or" or "nor" the subject nearer the verb determines the number:

Neither the paragraph nor the pages are properly spaced.

Neither the pages nor the paragraph is properly spaced.

When the subject is followed by such phrases as "together with," "as well as" and "in addition to," the phrase does not change the number of the subject. Example:

The photograph, together with the cards, is enclosed.

The check, as well as the coins, is to be returned.

CAPITALIZATION

Capitalize "Federal" when using it in a name or as an adjective synonymous with United States. "Nation" is lower case unless part of a formal name.

Capitalize "State" when it refers to a State as a unit of government:

The attorney general of the State of California.

In your State you will find the correct legislation.

The State officials warned against smoking.

but

Your local or state organization may help ("State" here means "statewide" and does not refer to a state as a unit of government).

They traveled through seven states.

The words local, government, department, and agency are not capitalized except in titles—e.g., Department of the Treasury and United States Government.

COPY WORK

In many instances you may use a fast-copy machine instead of a typewriter for making copies. If you type copies of a document, prepare them on plain heavy bond. Exception: use letterhead stationery for copies of correspondence previously signed by White House officials. Type the word COPY in the upper left-hand corner of each copied page.

Type copies of legal documents and other verbatim papers exactly as written. When copying routine correspondence and unofficial papers, you may correct obvious errors in spelling and punctuation.

DATES

Date all correspondence and informal memorandums, both interoffice and for outside the White House. Type dates on documents only when requested to do so.

Usually write the date as follows:

July 22, 1983.

Write a series of dates including the days of different months thus:

July 1, 21, and August 8, 1983.

Omit the comma when you write only the month and year:

July 1983.

When a full date (month, day, and year) appears in a sentence, put a comma after the year to set it off from the text. A date with only month and day or month and year, however, is not followed by a comma.

On July 4, 1776, the representatives of the Thirteen Colonies. . . .

but

In July 1775 General Washington assembled the Continental. . . .

EXCERPTS

When only part of a letter or document is needed, the excerpted material is typed on light bond paper, with tissues as requested, in a format similar to the following:

EXCERPT

Address
Date

Salutation:

.....

.....

.....

Signature

INDENTING

Use block style for correspondence and most other papers. Usually indent paragraphs in legal documents by five spaces.

Usually indent runover lines in titles by three spaces.

NUMERALS

Spell out numbers that begin sentences.

Spell out all numbers less than 10, except as noted below.

Use arabic numerals for numbers 10 and over, and for numbers expressing time, distance, money, measurement, age, decimals, percentages and percentage points.

Use arabic numerals for all street numbers (and for street names 10 and above):

1 State Street

8 Fourth Street

1004 121st Street

PAGINATION

Page numbers beginning with "2" should be centered at the top of the page, without any dashes or asterisks beside them.

PARAGRAPHING

Start a paragraph at the bottom of a page only if you have room for at least two lines on that page. Carry a paragraph onto the next page only if you can carry over at least two lines. Try to complete a paragraph on a page, especially on a press release. Don't divide the last word of a paragraph or page.

When a subject is so complex that it requires reading guides, paragraphs are sometimes subdivided, numbered and lettered. When a paragraph is subdivided, it must have at least two subdivisions. Follow the basic outline form below:

- I. The President
 - A. Cabinet Members
 - B. White House Staff
 1. Assistants to the President
 2. Special Assistants to the President
 - a. Consumer Affairs
 - b. Administration
 - (1) Operating Units
 - (a) Records Management
 - (b) Presidential Correspondence
- II. The Supreme Court
etc.

PUNCTUATION

I. Apostrophe:

Veterans' Affairs, veterans' benefits.

but

Veterans Administration

NOTE: Place an apostrophe and "s" to form the possessive of singular proper nouns ending in an "s" sound, except for Moses, Jesus, and polysyllabic Greek names. Nouns that are not proper nouns which end in an "s" sound take only an apostrophe.

Dickens's Little Dorrit

CBS's latest news bulletin

but

Archimedes' laws

for righteousness' sake

II. Comma: the use of a final comma in a series is optional but should be consistent within one piece of correspondence:

red, white, and blue or red, white and blue

III. Hyphen (see also Word Division): unit modifiers are not hyphenated unless the addition of a hyphen improves clarity:

wood-burning stove

English-speaking students

but

solar energy plan

per capita expenditures

NOTE: Hyphenate unit modifiers made up of words like well, best, little, and ill when they precede the noun but not when they follow it and not if they are modified by an adverb. Always hyphenate compounds with the word "all."

A well-known executive

An all-inclusive deal

but

An executive who was well known

A deal that was all-inclusive

A very well written play

Also, do not hyphenate a phrase with elect if it has more than one word:

senator-elect

but

attorney general elect

REWRITES

When correspondence is rewritten, the date is almost always made current. The initials of the first typist are replaced by those of the second.

Occasionally you may backdate Presidential correspondence. For example, backdate a rewritten Presidential-signature letter if the President is away from Washington on the current date. In this case, the second typist still replaces the initials of the first typist.

SECURITY

Exercise extreme caution at all times to avoid revealing classified information, except through official channels. Classified material must never be placed in waste baskets. Releases, speech drafts, Cabinet papers, official documents, and so forth, and the carbons, carbon ribbons, or carbon copies of each are considered CLASSIFIED until the information is released by the White House. They must be disposed of by burning.

Replies to routine mail and the carbons and carbon copies of those replies may be discarded in waste baskets.

TITLES OF PUBLICATIONS

Underline titles of books and periodicals; newspapers; encyclopedias; major poems and essays; plays; full-length films; paintings, sculptures, and other pieces of art; long musical works such as operas and symphonies unless the title designates a musical form with a number or key—in this case use no markings.

Place in quotation marks parts of books (chapters, sections, etc.); articles in newspapers, periodicals, and encyclopedias; shorter essays and poems; short subject films; television and radio programs; unpublished works; songs and short musical compositions.

The American Political Tradition

"What Price Energy?" in last week's Newsweek

Prelude in E Minor

Rhapsody in Blue

PBS's "Washington Week in Review."

TITLES OMITTED FROM REPLIES

When replying to a person whose incoming letter is not available, omit the person's position title on the address. The person's position may have changed since the White House last corresponded with him or her.

WORD DIVISION (See also Punctuation)

Avoid dividing:

Words at the ends of more than two consecutive lines.

Words that would have one or two letters at the end or start of a line.

Words that end paragraphs or pages.

A person's name before the middle initial.

A unit of money or a number at the end of a line.

Avoid splitting a term such as "$20 million" at the end of a line, for fear of misreading.

PRESIDENTIAL CORRESPONDENCE

Letters and memorandums prepared for the President's signature differ in several respects from other forms of White House correspondence. This section details the distinctive appearance of Presidential correspondence in style and forms of address.

Only the President signs azure stationery. No one else is to use it.

Address

Follow the "Forms of Address" section of this Manual.

The inside addresses should take up as few lines as necessary to specify the party who is to receive the letter. In most cases this means the name, street address, city/state/zip code. Don't abbreviate states in the addresses on Presidential responses. When writing to individuals in their capacity as officers of organizations, you should include titles and names of organizations. If titles or names are short, you may combine them on a single line. Suite numbers and apartment numbers can appear on the envelopes. If a letter is to be sent in care of a second party, that information should appear on only the envelope or mailing label. In some of these cases, an inside address is unnecessary.

Salutation

If you don't know a form of address, the following offices may be of assistance:

Heads of state of foreign nations: Check with Central Reference (x2590).

Congressional: Check with Congressional Liaison (x7500) or with the Correspondence Staff (x2304)

Personal friends of the President: Check with Central Reference (x2590) for the preferred salutation (is it "Jim" or "James"?)

Signature

At least seven lines are left for the President's signature. His name and title are never typed on the letter.

Date

Center the date at the top of the page, as in staff correspondence. On all documents signed by the President, type the date only when requested, and never before signature. (See "Documents" section.)

Keep all parts of a date on the same line within the text.

Postscripts

P.S. A typed postscript may run over one line. In such cases, succeeding lines should be blocked with the message itself, not with the left-hand margin of the letter. This guideline illustrates the point.

Hyphenation

Avoid hyphens as much as possible in Presidential correspondence.

Proper Names

Keep all parts of proper names on the same line within the text.

Organizations

Try to keep the name of an organization on one line within the text.

Margins

Margins should be wide, for framing purposes. Other aspects of Presidential correspondence follow the guidelines of staff letters.

Summary

The preceding information is merely for guidance; your common sense should prevail in application. The letter should have an attractive, balanced appearance.

Dear Mr. Speaker: (Dear Mr. President:)

Sometimes the President sends letters addressed to the Speaker of the House of Representatives and to the President of the Senate (who is the Vice President). These letters are identical, except for the salutation and address.

Type the letters so they are block style, single spaced and balanced margins. Use a letterex set of carbons according to individual office preference.

NOTE: Use this same format when addressing either the Speaker of the House or the President of the Senate separately.

Sincerely,

(allow 7 lines)

the other Letter:
The Honorable (insert name)
President of the Senate
Washington, DC 20510

PERSONAL USE OF LETTERHEAD AND POSTAGE

Don't use White House stationery and postage for personal correspondence. Only the President uses the azure stationery.

ORDER OF ASSEMBLING CORRESPONDENCE

1. Typed outgoing correspondence
(if more than one page, signature page on top)
2. Enclosures, if any
3. Envelope
(or label, if enclosures are being sent)
4. Courtesy copies (if any) and envelope for courtesy copy
5. Letterex set
(carbon copies of outgoing letter—sometimes called "rainbow" or "paper sets")
6. Incoming correspondence
7. Previous file

Assemble Presidentials in the same way.

Two exceptions:

- (1) Use a folded slip to protect the letter from paper clip marking;
- (2) Reverse top carbon.

MAILGRAMS/TELEGRAMS

Security Classification for Telegrams: If the subject matter requires that the telegram be safeguarded in the interest of national security, the classification is conspicuously stamped, typed, or marked at the upper left and lower left of each page. A "CLASSIFIED" telegram is transmitted through the White House Situation Room. Telegrams for commercial transmittal are sent via the White House Telegraph Office.

Mailgram/Telegram Guidelines

The White House has three ways to transmit messages through the wire services:

TELEGRAMS

- Guarantees same day delivery
- Moves single messages going to one address only most efficiently

MAILGRAMS

- Preferred by U.S. Postal Service and Western Union
- Expedites large batches with the same message
- Delivered on timely basis
- Costs less than telegrams

NIGHT LETTERS

- Dispatches message in evening, addressee receives the following day, usually by mid-day
- Reduces costs of Full Rate Telegram

PREPARATION

Type the following on the White House Mailgram/Telegram form:

- (1) Date
 - (2) Check the type of service desired
 - (3) Name and address of recipient (Include Zip Code)
 - (4) Text (Double space)
 - (5) Name and phone number of the person preparing the Mailgram/Telegram
- A. When multiple address (book) Mailgrams/Telegrams are sent, as in the case when invitations go out for meetings, receptions, etc., it is imperative that complete addresses accompany the text(s), including all Zip Codes.
 - B. If the message is going out over the President's, First Lady's, or Vice President's signature, obtain the signature or initials of an authorized staff member to approve the message. Contact the Telegraph Office (2138) for a list of authorizing signatures.
 - C. Forward Mailgrams/Telegrams to the Telegraph Office (Room 87, OEOB) as soon as they have been properly prepared and approved. Avoid processing delays by sending dispatches early in the day. The Telegraph Office is open from 8:00 till midnight Monday through Friday, and from 9:00 till 5:00 on weekends and holidays.

SECURITY CLASSIFICATION: IF THE SUBJECT MATTER REQUIRES THAT THE TELEGRAM BE SAFEGUARDED IN THE INTEREST OF NATIONAL DEFENSE, THE SECURITY CLASSIFICATION ASSIGNED TO THE TELEGRAM IS CONSPICUOUSLY STAMPED, TYPED, OR MARKED AT THE UPPER LEFT AND LOWER LEFT OF EACH PAGE. A CLASSIFIED TELEGRAM IS TRANSMITTED THROUGH THE WHITE HOUSE SITUATION ROOM. TELEGRAMS FOR COMMERCIAL TRANSMITTAL ARE SENT VIA THE WHITE HOUSE TELEGRAPH OFFICE

Before transmission to the Telegraph Office, there must be an indication by the sending office of approval for dispatch (see bottom of form). The telegram should be sent the most economical way consistent with the message reaching the addressee on time. Unless specific service is indicated, the message will be sent Straight Telegram. If the message is going out of the country it will go by cablegram or radiogram which is determined by the Telegraph Office.

Use block style, double space, triple between paragraphs, 1 letterex set. If the telegram is from the President, his name should be typed 2 lines below the text, without title. If the telegram is from a staff official, type his name and title.

For BOOK TELEGRAMS (same message going to more than one person) list names and addresses in a double column, 2 lines below signature; 1 letterex set only for file purposes.

CLASSIFIED MATERIAL

General:

The security classification and declassification of each document prepared in the White House are governed by Executive Order 12356 (4/6/82). The number of persons authorized to classify information originally is limited. Should an employee originate information which he believes to require classification on the basis of national security, he shall protect that information with appropriate safeguards, and shall seek the guidance of the Counsel to the President, who will provide a determination as to whether classification is necessary and the required level of any classification.

Whenever classified information or material is incorporated in another document or other material by any person other than the original classifier, the previously assigned security classification category shall be reflected thereon together with the identity of the original classifier.

Marking Requirements:

When the subject matter requires that a letter or a memorandum be safeguarded in the interest of national defense, the security classification assigned to the letter—CONFIDENTIAL, SECRET, or TOP SECRET—is conspicuously stamped, typed, or marked at the upper left and lower left of each page.

While the above should also be applied when using EYES ONLY, SENSITIVE, etc., these terms are to be used sparingly. Such terms have no legal significance in determining when release of information may be appropriate, but instead indicate the manner in which such materials are to be handled by the recipient of the material.

- a. When Document or Other Material Is Prepared. At the time of origination, each document or other material containing classified information shall be marked with its assigned security classification and the originator of the classification, and declassification date or event. Specific questions concerning classification of documents should be referred to the staff secretary of the National Security Council Staff.
- b. Overall and Page Marking of Documents. The overall classification of a document, whether or not permanently bound, or any copy or reproduction thereof, shall be conspicuously marked or stamped at the top and bottom of the outside of the front cover (if any), on the title page (if any), on the first page, on the back page and on the outside of the back cover (if any). Each interior page of a document which is not permanently bound shall be conspicuously marked or stamped at the top and bottom according to its own content, including the designation "Unclassified" when appropriate.
- c. Paragraph Marking. Whenever a classified document contains either more than one security classification category or unclassified information, each section, part or paragraph should be marked to the extent practicable to show its classification category or that it is unclassified.
- d. Material Other than Documents. If classified material cannot be marked, written notification of the information otherwise required in markings shall accompany such material.

- e. Transmittal Documents. A transmittal document shall carry on it a prominent notation as to the highest classification of the information which is carried with it, and a legend showing the classification, if any, of the transmittal document standing alone.

Envelopes:

Classified material shall be enclosed in opaque inner and outer covers. The inner cover shall be a sealed wrapper or envelope plainly marked with the assigned classification and address. See example. The outer cover shall be sealed and addressed with no indication of the classification of its contents. A receipt (see below) shall be attached to or enclosed in the inner cover.

Handling:

- a. Transmission. If letters marked SECRET are dispatched through postal channels, they must be sent by United States REGISTERED mail and must remain within the continental United States or Canada. CONFIDENTIAL letters placed in the mail must go by United States REGISTERED, CERTIFIED, or FIRST-CLASS mail within the continental United States or Canada. Office policy within the White House may require, however, that much of the CONFIDENTIAL and SECRET mail be delivered BY HAND. TOP SECRET material is always delivered BY HAND. A classified TELEGRAM is transmitted through the White House Situation Room. Telegrams for commercial transmittal are sent via the White House Telegraph Office.
- b. Receipts. Receipt forms accompany all classified mail. See examples.
- (1) Classified material receipt. The classified material receipt is prepared in duplicate. When classified material is sent by registered mail, the registry number is obtained in advance from the White House Mail Room and then is typed on the receipt. If registered mail is not used, a control number established by the originating office is shown in the block indicated for the number. The description required by the form must not reveal classified information. The original of the form is retained in the suspense file of the originating office. The yellow copy is enclosed in the inner cover, for the addressee to sign and return to the White House. When the signed receipt is received by the originator, the form retained in the suspense file is destroyed.
 - (2) Messenger receipt. Classified mail handled by a messenger requires a messenger receipt. A single copy is prepared and attached to the outer envelope. The messenger obtains the addressee's signature at the time of delivery and returns the receipt to the originator of the classified material.

Note: Any questions as to the appropriate markings and other matters of form should be referred to the Legal Counsel's Office or the staff secretary of the National Security Council staff.

SAFEGUARDING CLASSIFIED AND SENSITIVE INFORMATION

Each staff office must establish adequate internal procedures to ensure that classified and sensitive documents and related materials are protected at all times. A specific person in each office should be given this responsibility, but it should be made clear that the last person in an office assumes the responsibility for the security of classified material.

The U.S. Secret Service Uniformed Division conducts a thorough after-hours security inspection of each staff office in the White House and Executive Office Building (EOB) on a nightly basis. Their authority to inspect extends to all exposed classified or sensitive documents as well as to all other related materials not properly secured. Classified material should never be left unattended on desks. When an office is closed or unattended, materials should be locked in a secure cabinet. In the event of a serious security violation a formal report will be filed with the office concerned.

Classified and sensitive materials to be destroyed should be separated from other office trash and waste materials and placed in a specific container designated for this purpose. Paper bags marked "BURN" are available from the White House Supply Room and can be ordered along with other office supplies. Burnbags are collected under USSS/UD supervision and are disposed of in the secure macerator located in the EOB. Since the macerator has a limited capacity, all nonclassified and nonsensitive waste materials are collected and disposed of by the regular GSA sanitation force.

The above provisions do not apply to the Situation Room since, because of the volume, separate disposal procedures are required.

INTRODUCTION TO FORMS OF ADDRESS

The examples of addresses given in this section are for guidance in preparing both general and Presidential correspondence. Salutations shown are for general usage. For Presidential salutations, see Page 11.

Personal judgment is needed in adapting the forms shown here to the many people and positions that could not be included in the lists.

Titles are flexible in their use; for example, the customary title "The Honorable" may be replaced by another such as "General," "Dr." or "His Excellency."

All Presidential appointees and Federal and State elective officials are addressed as "The Honorable." As a rule, county and city officials, with the exception of mayors and presidents of city councils are not addressed as "The Honorable." Central Reference (x2579) or Records Office (x2226) can answer whether an individual should be addressed as "The Honorable."

A person once entitled to be addressed as "Judge," "General," "The Honorable," "His Excellency," or a similar distinctive title, may retain the title throughout his or her lifetime. The personal preference of those no longer holding distinctive positions is the guide to use of titles.

In salutations to persons in positions that may be held by men or by women, only the title "Mr." is shown in the examples given here. When a woman occupies the position, substitute "Madam" for "Mr." before such formal terms as "President," "Vice President," "Chairman," "Secretary," "Ambassador," and "Minister." The title "Miss," or "Mrs." is substituted for "Mr." when the name rather than a formal title follows. Use "Ms." if the woman's marital status is unknown or if she has shown a preference for that title.

The complimentary close is "Sincerely" unless otherwise indicated.

For specific guidance regarding salutations for foreign officials, high-level ecclesiastical officials, and so forth, check with the Correspondence Typing Unit.

INTERNATIONAL ORGANIZATIONS

UNITED NATIONS

Communications to the United Nations are addressed to the United States Representative to the United Nations, through the Department of State. Exceptions which are sent directly to the United States Representative include: those intended for the Economic and Social Council, the Disarmament Commission, the Trusteeship Council, and the delegation to the General Assembly (when it is in session). Direct communication with the United Nations is inappropriate unless exceptions arise. When it is necessary, the communication should be sent to the Secretary General of the United Nations through the United States Representative by means of a covering letter.

MESSAGE TO CONGRESS

Messages to Congress are usually addressed to the Congress of the United States. However, in some instances, a Message may be addressed only to the Senate or to the House of Representatives. Except for the address line, all Messages follow the same format.

The veto message is prepared in the same manner as other messages to Congress. It is directed to the House of Congress in which the bill was introduced. An announcement of a pocket veto is prepared as a Memorandum of Disapproval.

- STATIONERY: Heavy bond paper, 8½" by 14"
- COPIES: Two originals and two copies for each original
- MARGIN: 1½" left, and about 1" right
- HEADING: TO THE CONGRESS OF THE UNITED STATES:
begins at the left margin, seven lines from the top of paper.
- TEXT: Begin three lines below heading, indent each paragraph five spaces, double space text. If there are headings within Message, four lines before the heading and three lines after the heading are preferred.
- PAGE NUMBERING: Page numbers, beginning with "2" are centered five lines from top of paper. Text is continued at left margin two lines below page number.
- SIGNATURE SPACE: Leave at least seven lines after end of text for signature of the President. The name and title are not typed in.

Mutual Security are fully as important to our National Defense as expenditures for our own forces, I stated that the Mutual Security Program is not only grounded in our deepest self-interest but springs from the idealism of the American people which is the true foundation of our greatness. It rests upon five fundamental propositions:

- (1) That peace is a matter of vital concern to all mankind;
- (2) That to keep the peace, the free world must remain defensively strong;
- (3) That the achievement of a peace which is just depends upon promoting a rate of world economic progress, particularly among the peoples of the less developed nations, which will inspire hope for fulfillment of their aspirations;
- (4) That the maintenance of the defensive

My recent travels impressed upon me even more strongly the fact that free men everywhere look to us, not with envy or malice but with hope and confidence that we will in the future as in the past be in the vanguard of those who believe in and will defend the right of the individual to enjoy the fruits of his labor in peace and in freedom. Together with our fellow men, we shall not fail to meet our responsibilities.

AMERICAN EDUCATION WEEK, year

- - - - -

BY THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA

A PROCLAMATION

In our schools and colleges rest our hopes for the future: our highest aspirations for our children, for our country and for the world.

For education brings benefits without limits. It endows men not only with the ability to make a living, but with the precious capacity to live with purpose.

It is the richest legacy this generation can bequeath to the next; upon it depends fulfillment for nation and for every American citizen.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, //, President of the United States of America, do hereby designate the period from // through //, as American Education Week.

I call upon all Americans to consider deeply the aims and goals of American education. I urge parents to acquaint themselves fully with both the problems and the promise of their schools.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand this // day of //, in the year of our Lord nineteen hundred //, and of the Independence of the United States of America the one hundred //.

NOTE: Be sure to leave sufficient space for insertion of month later.

Also, The White House and date do not go on bottom of a Proclamation.

STATEMENT BY THE PRESIDENT

5 spaces → I have today approved legislation enacted by the Congress which authorizes the President to determine Cuba's sugar quota for the balance of calendar year 1960 and for the three-month period ending March 31, 1961. In conformity with this legislation I have signed a proclamation which, in the national interest, establishes the Cuban ← 1-1/2 inches sugar quota for the balance of 1960 at 39,752 short tons, plus the sugar → 1 inch certified for entry prior to July 3, 1960. This represents a reduction of 700,000 short tons from the original 1960 Cuban quota of 3,119,655 short tons.

This deficit will be filled by purchases from other free world suppliers.

The importance of the United States Government's action relating to sugar quota legislation makes it desirable, I believe, to set forth the reasons which led the Congress to authorize and the Executive to take this action in the national interest.

Normally about one-third of our total sugar supply comes from Cuba.
.....

The American people will always maintain their friendly feelings for the people of Cuba. We look forward to the day when the Cuban Government will once again allow this friendship to be fully expressed in the relations between our two countries.
