Hon. James Baker,

12/23: Nunn called. Regretted for JAB. Spoke to
Hans Den Hartog. Nunn

In the first week of January I plan I visit to the U.S. of A. in order to write a story for the Dutch weekly HP/The Times (circulation 90.000) on the issue of the changing relations between them. Key-questions: how do you see the changing of Europe (the GATT-problems, uncertainties in Eastern-Europe, upcoming racism, money-crises, the slowing unity of the E.C. etc.), and what does it mean for the behavior of the American people towards Europe. You saw the starting of this development this year and I would ask you if you have a short while speaking to me on the issue.

I also planned to speak with senator Sam Nunn, one of the members of the GATT-negotiation team, Paul Bremer III (foreign US-ambassador in the Netherlands) and one of the foreign staff members of the Clinton-team and an expert of the Brookings Institution. The best days for the (short) interview would be January 5, 6 or 7. I would be very thankful for it.

Dear Mr. Secretary and Mrs. Baker:

Towards the end of the first year of the Reagan Administration, then Transportation Secretary Drew Lewis scheduled a Christmas Luncheon for the members of the Reagan Cabinet. Those attending were Jack Block, Don Regan, William French Smith, Mac Baldrige, Raymond Donovan and Vice President Bush.

This informal event has continued and grown over the years and is now known as the annual gathering of The Cabinet Secretaries Club. This bipartisan celebration includes all former and present cabinet members. Last year fifty seven Secretaries and their spouses came together for a jovial afternoon. Everyone was asked to make impromptu predictions for the coming year. For your interest and amusement, I have enclosed these predictions for 1992.

An invitation is extended to you and your spouse to be our guest on December 17th at The Madison Hotel. We will have a short reception at 12:00 noon followed by lunch at 12:45 pm. We promise to adjourn by 2:00 pm. Since you are a distinguished member of this Club, we hope you can join us. Please RSVP to WashingtonInc at 202-828-7048 by Monday, December 14th.

Sincerely,

John R. Block

CABINET SECRETARIES CLUB
1991 PREDICTIONS

Richard Schweicker

Mario Cuomo will come out of the political closet and will get skinned and bushwacked in 1992.

James McIntyre

There will be a Federal deficit this year.

Clifford Hardin

Congress will continue sliding downward and 90% of the incumbents will be elected.

Al Haig

Jack Kemp will ask me to run along side him to provide balance to his team.

Mr. Sununu will replace Pat Buchanan on Crossfire.

Those of you who have short term investments should invest in a tin cup factory that I know about.

Alexander Trowbridge

Redskins will win the Superbowl.

Alan Boyd

The lion and the lamb will lie down together. The President and the Congress will come together to break the deficit and then blame the whole thing on John Sununu.

Claude S. Brinegar

6 months from now we will all feel a lot better about the deficit. The business cycle will correct itself.

Governor Martinez:

The next time the Redskins and Tampa Bay Bucs play the Redskins will lose.

J. Edward Day

We are not in a recession we are in a economic downturn and must adapt to it.

Bill Usery

The American Labor movement and the ACLU will support the Democrats next year.

Richard Thornburgh

If a member of the Bush cabinet resigns to run for the Senate they will win in 1992.

Bob Wood

HUD will survive. Kemp is the India Jones of the President's Administration.

William Webster:

Last years classified prediction was. The war will begin and end in 100 hours.

In 1992 Louis Sullivan will announce the third worst Washington illness as being the foot in the mouth disease.

Orville Freeman

More open free trade in the world.

Elliot Richardson

At this famed event next year the majority of those present will be celebrating and the minority will be ?

Clayton Yeutter

Pray for Nebraska

The ACLU and Bill Usery will be wrong again

Frank Carlucci

Defense will decrease spending by 10% and hand it all over to Louis Sullivan.

Louis Sullivan

Because of this food label initiative we will have a low cholesterol dessert next year.

Joanne Kemp

Predictions will be shorter because Jack is not here.

By the end of 1992 he will still be in the Cabinet and will still be in hot water.

Linda Webster

In light of the developments in Owahu; Japanese will become the official language there.

Benjamin Civiletti

Redskins will win the Superbowl

Jack Kent Cooke will run to the right of the President

Cuomo will decide to decide

John Block

The price of pigs will rebound so will the economy because they are inexplicably related.

Marshall Coyne

Predicts there will be another Cabinet Secretaries Luncheon next year.

SPECIAL NOTICE: TIME CHANGE

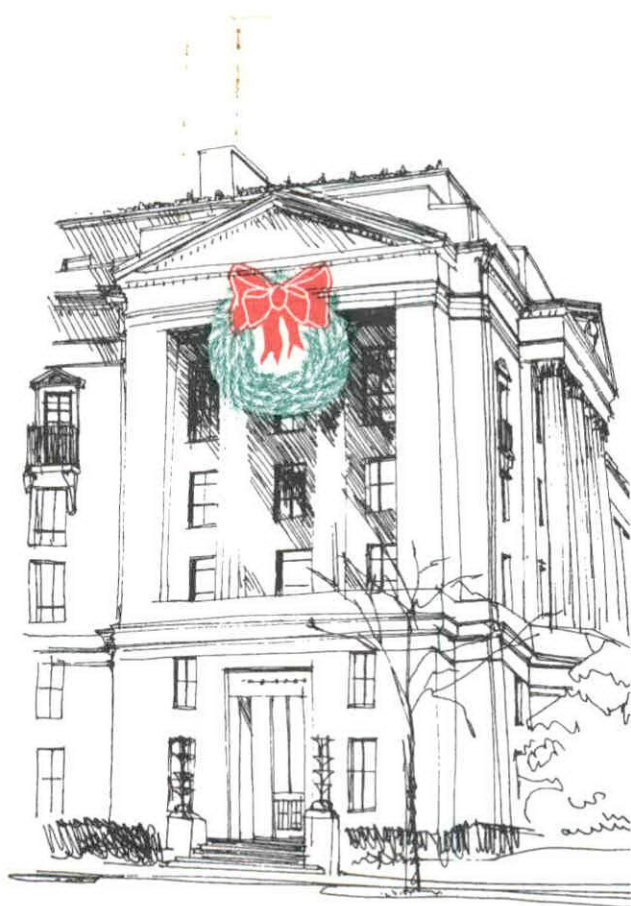

We were advised today by the "New Members Orientation" committee that the time for our Holiday Luncheon/Welcome to New GOP Spouses event would have to be changed. So instead of it being at noon, it will be at ONE P.M., still on Friday, December 4, still at the Capitol Hill Club. 40 of the new Members are married, and we hope that a good number of those spouses will be in Washington for this event. We need a good turnout of current RCW Members on hand to make this luncheon special - so please send in your RSVP right away. ($20 to members or your guests. Call Barbara Morris-Lent or Karen Boyd at 202-416-0107 with any questions.)

Dear Jim:

We hope the energy that filled the Mellon Auditorium for our Victory Rally last week will permeate each and every federal department and agency in town so that we can make the final surge toward our goal. We have reached $33,146,857 with gifts from almost 225,300 federal employees.

Our highlights since our last note to you are many:

- the overall effort at the Department of Defense has reached $9.3 million and they are moving toward their goal;
- the campaign of the employees of the Navy and Marine Corps has raised over $3 million;
- the total so far from the Department of Health and Human Services is over $2 million;
- the Treasury campaign also joins the outstanding group of departments that have raised more than $2 million, with a big boost from the employees of the Internal Revenue Service who have achieved their first $1 million campaign this fall.

This is a time of year when we are especially aware of those whose needs are great. It is also a time when we can feel special joy that all of us in the federal community are helping to improve the lives of others through the Combined Federal Campaign.

Our warmest holiday greetings to you and your family.

Dear James Baker

During the Gulf War conflict over in Saudi Arabia with Saddam. We listened to all news coming back here in Canada and United States of America. Mother and I watch you on television traveling back and forth between the two factions, I guess sometimes on your mission of peace seemed be futile. I'll all work out finally. This is why I'm writing you this letter because you inspired me to compose a poem of which I have enclosed. It took me about ten minutes to write it down. Thinking of you and what you were doing brought it to me. If you like it I would love to hear from you. Perhaps when you write your memoirs of these events that happen, you may like to put in your book I would be honored if you did. I wish to send you Christmas Greetings to you and your family and Happy New Year for 1993

Yours sincerely,

Susan Louise Barry

Yet word, thought has n't been put down,
The words not yet appear in rhyme,
To pass one's comment of any kind,
This paper holds the keys of hopes and dreams
Of many who are important or otherwise,
To seek and find one's true goals,
Part of it is to the world,
Of custom's of many peoples,
Which make-up the chain of events,
Of peace's and harmony,

GRANT OF EXECUTIVE CLEMENCY

BY THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA

A PROCLAMATION

Today I am exercising my power under the constitution to pardon former Secretary of Defense Caspar Weinberger and others for their conduct related to the Iran-contra affair.

For more than 6 years now, the American people have invested enormous resources into what has become the most thoroughly investigated matter of its kind in our history. During that time, the last American hostage has come home to freedom, worldwide terrorism has declined, the people of Nicaragua have elected a democratic government, and the cold war has ended in victory for the American people and the cause of freedom we championed.

In the mid 1980's, however, the outcome of these struggles was far from clear. Some of the best and most dedicated of our countrymen were called upon to step forward. Secretary Weinberger was among the foremost.

Caspar Weinberger is a true American patriot. He has rendered long and extraordinary service to our country. He served for 4 years in the Army during World War II where his bravery earned him a Bronze Star. He gave up a lucrative career in private life to accept a series of public positions in the late 1960's and 1970's, including chairman of the Federal Trade Commission, Director of the Office of Management and Budget, and Secretary of Health, Education, and Welfare. Caspar Weinberger served in all these positions with distinction and was admired as a public servant above reproach.

He saved his best for last. As Secretary of Defense throughout most of the Reagan Presidency, Caspar Weinberger was one of the principal architects of the downfall of the Berlin Wall and the Soviet Union. He directed the military renaissance in this country that led to the breakup of the communist bloc and a new birth of freedom and democracy. Upon his resignation in 1987, Caspar Weinberger was awarded the highest civilian Presidential Medal of Freedom.

Secretary Weinberger's legacy will endure beyond the ending of the cold war. The military readiness of this Nation that he served in large measure created could not have been better displayed than it was 2 years ago in the Persian Gulf and today in Somalia.

As Secretary Weinberger's pardon request noted, it is a bitter irony that on the day the first charges against Secretary Weinberger were filed, Russian President Boris Yeltsin arrived in the United States to celebrate the end of the cold war. I am

pardoning him not just out of compassion or to spare a 75-year-old patriot the torment of lengthy and costly legal proceedings, but to make it possible for him to receive the honor he deserves for his extraordinary service to our country.

Moreover, on a somewhat more personal note, I cannot ignore the debilitating illnesses faced by Caspar Weinberger and his wife. When he resigned as Secretary of Defense, it was because of his wife's cancer. In the years since he left public service, her condition has not improved. In addition, since that time, he also has become ill. Nevertheless, Caspar Weinberger has been a pillar of strength for his wife; this pardon will enable him to be by her side undistracted by the ordeal of a costly and arduous trial.

I have also decided to pardon five other individuals for their conduct related to the Iran-Contra affair: Elliott Abrams, Duane Clarridge, Alan Fiers, Clair George, and Robert McFarlane. First, the common denominator of their motivation -- whether their actions were right or wrong -- was patriotism. Second, they did not profit or seek to profit from their conduct. Third, each has a record of long and distinguished service to this country. And finally, all five have already paid a price -- in depleted savings, lost careers, anguished families -- grossly disproportionate to any misdeeds or errors of judgment they may have committed.

The prosecutions of the individuals I am pardoning represent what I believe is a profoundly troubling development in the political and legal climate of our country: the criminalization of policy differences. These differences should be addressed in the political arena, without the Damocles sword of criminality hanging over the heads of some of the combatants. The proper target is the President, not his subordinates; the proper forum is the voting booth, not the courtroom.

In recent years, the use of criminal processes in policy disputes has become all too common. It is my hope that the action I am taking today will begin to restore these disputes to the battleground where they properly belong.

In addition, the actions of the men I am pardoning took place within the larger Cold War struggle. At home, we had a long, sometimes heated debate about how that struggle should be waged. Now the Cold War is over. When earlier wars have ended, Presidents have historically used their power to pardon to put bitterness behind us and look to the future. This healing tradition reaches at least from James Madison's pardon of Lafitte's pirates after the War of 1812, to Andrew Johnson's pardon of soldiers who had fought for the Confederacy, to Harry Truman's and Jimmy Carter's pardons of those who violated the Selective Service laws in World War II and Vietnam.

In many cases, the offenses pardoned by these Presidents were at least as serious as those I am pardoning today. The actions of those pardoned and the decisions to pardon them raised important issues of conscience, the rule of law, and the relationship under our Constitution between the government and the governed. Notwithstanding the seriousness of these issues and the passions they aroused, my predecessors acted because it was time for the country to move on. Today I do the same.

Some may argue that this decision will prevent full disclosure of some new key fact to the American people. That is not true. This matter has been investigated exhaustively. The Tower Board, the Joint Congressional Committee charged with investigating the Iran-Contra affair, and the Independent

Counsel have looked into every aspect of this matter. The Tower Board interviewed more than 80 people and reviewed thousands of documents. The Joint Congressional Committee interviewed more than 500 people and reviewed more than 100,000 pages of material. Lengthy committee hearings were held and broadcast on national television to millions of Americans. And as I have noted, the Independent Counsel investigation has gone on for more than 6 years, and it has cost more than $31 million.

Moreover, the Independent Counsel stated last September that he had completed the active phase of his investigation. He will have the opportunity to place his full assessment of the facts in the public record when he submits his final report. While no impartial person has seriously suggested that my own role in this matter is legally questionable, I have further requested that the Independent Counsel provide me with a copy of my sworn testimony to his office, which I am prepared to release immediately. And I understand Secretary Weinberger has requested the release of all of his notes pertaining to the Iran-Contra matter.

For more than 30 years in public service, I have tried to follow three precepts: honor, decency, and fairness. I know, from all those years of service, that the American people believe in fairness and fair play. In granting these pardons today, I am doing what I believe honor, decency, and fairness require.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, GEORGE BUSH, President of the United States of America, pursuant to my powers under Article II, Section 2, of the Constitution, do hereby grant a full, complete, and unconditional pardon to Elliott Abrams, Duane R. Clarridge, Alan Fiers, Clair George, Robert C. McFarlane, and Caspar W. Weinberger for all offenses charged or prosecuted by Independent Counsel Lawrence E. Walsh or other members of his office, or committed by these individuals and within the jurisdiction of that office.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand this twenty-fourth day of December, in the year of our Lord nineteen hundred and ninety-two, and of the Independence of the United States of America the two hundred and seventeenth.

Dear Mr. President:

I urgently request that you silence Judge Walsh, the Iran-Contra Special Prosecutor. On the eve of the Clinton inaugural, please issue (silent) pardons. These should include pardons for yourself if necessary, former President Reagan, and anyone else you can think of that may have been remotely involved -- regardless of extent. Only then will this issue finally come to rest. Judge Walsh is on a vindictive path now. I do not believe the Constitution mandates that all Pardons be announced before a public forum.

Secondly, I think a few more pardons are in order. You have spoken of patriotism many times. I feel that there is no more noble a patriotic act than the dedication to one's President. No criminal intent was involved with the Clinton passport files. Whatever was done was done out of admiration and love for you. Take another bold step and issue (non-disclosed) pardons for Baker, Tutwiler, Mullins, and Tamposi. A witch-hunt into this issue is not in our country's best interest.

Surely a few congressional members will balk, but so what! They are not going to change the Constitution over this issue.

Thank you for all you have done.

Cordially,

Ed Boulware

P.S. Warm regards to you and Barbara and a happy 1993!

Subject: Press Release - Quang Van Dang
(Case # 841 730 48 & CIA Ref. # P91-0960)

Dear Mr. Baker,

Since September 1989 I have written you in your position as Secretary of State many times on behalf of former South Vietnamese Lieutenant General Quang Van Dang. I have asked for more than three years that you issue a simple, but complete press release exonerating Dang from the heinous drug and corruption-related allegations that plagued Dang and his family for more than 26 years. You know that Dang is also a born-again Christian. You have not responded to my letters. In the interim you ordered that Richard Sindelar, the former Chief of Consular Section of the U.S. Consulate in Montreal, be instructed to avoid any contact with me, General Dang or Mary Magdalene Jourdan. Perhaps because Sindelar, on 8 July 1991, told Mrs. Jourdan (a courageous Christian Canadian grandmother who crusaded for Dang for many years in Canada), "As far as we [U.S. Consulate] are concerned, as far as our office [consular] is concerned, as far as the State Department is concerned, the General [Dang] is cleared totally. Totally because there is no way that we would have ever issued him a visa to the United States if there was even the slightest shade, the slightest innuendo, slightest possibility of wrongdoing or him doing anything unsavory or illegal. There is absolutely nothing bad as far as we're concerned. He [Dang] is a free man, he is cleared, and in my mind and in everybody's mind who knows how we work in this department, he is totally clear. His record is impeccable. Nothing in the investigation comes near smearing his character or reputation. He has my absolute, unequivocal confidence."

I assume Sindelar told Mrs. Jourdan the truth and I assume the permanent entry visa issued to Dang on 7 September 1989 was proper and above board. Why then do you and the U.S. Consulate (on your orders) refuse to issue a press release that would allow Dang to get on with his new life? As a minimum it should state:

"In September of 1989 favorable results of extensive government investigations of allegations against former South Vietnamese Lieutenant General Quang Van Dang, one time special assistant to South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu, including those heinous allegations which prompted the Canadian government to issue a deportation order to Quang Van Dang in June 1975 and which led to Dang's being refused landed immigrant status, were received. The multi-departmental/agency investigation exonerated Dang completely and supported his entry into the United States in compliance with Section 212, U.S. Immigration and Nationality Act.

"Quang Van Dang passed security clearance and was issued a permanent entry visa on 7 September 1989. Dang entered U.S. territory on 24 September 1989."

I would suggest that you meet with Secretary of State Eagleburger and arrange for the immediate issue of the press release. Dang is unemployed. He and his wife, Nam, are very poor and even now suffer physically and emotionally because of State Department refusal to issue a press release that tells the truth of Dang's being exonerated of all those heinous charges that to this very day plague their entire family, holding them hostage to lies and subterfuge.

It has been more than three years since Dang was cleared by your office but he can't prove it because you refuse to do what is right. Tom Polgar told me (regarding the need to obtain this Press Release from the State Department) "It is more difficult to get the public to accept the truth and to erase the affects of dis-information.... .. designed to assassinate a person's character, than to lead them [public] to accept lies of heinous proportions through a media-assisted dis-information program."

Dang saved my life, the lives of nine other Americans and hundreds of South Vietnamese Irregulars in American employ in June, 1966. He is a good and honorable man. I hope and pray that you publish the truth and free Dang from the bonds of bureaucratic subterfuge. What would you tell Dang or Nam if you were suddenly brought together, the three of you face-to-face for a moment of truth? A frightening thought in your mind I believe!

Merry Christmas, Mr. Baker!

Perhaps you should let your wife read this. I've heard her testimony on Dr. Dobson's program and I believe she has her head on straight and is with the Lord Jesus Christ in both word and deed.

I now place this matter in the hands of our Heavenly Father. May He bless you and Dang and Dang's entire family by softening your heart and granting you the wisdom, integrity and courage to act without hesitation to tell the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth about Quang Van Dang. The Lord Jesus Christ is aware of your every action - lest you forget!

I wait your reply, my Christian Brother,
In Jesus' name sake, I pray for you,
