THE WHITE HOUSE
WASHINGTON

January 26, 1990

Dear Carlos,

I have received your recent letter enclosing your resume and various personnel papers.

Rest assured that I will share your interest and preferences with the appropriate Administration officials for their review.

With best wishes,

Sincerely,

Andrew H. Card, Jr.

Mr. Andrew Card, Jr.
The White House,
Washington, D.C.

Dear Andy:

Included is my vitae, per our conversation some weeks ago. Arturo tells me he had left one with you and Don Luis informed me I was one of four he sent up.

I have completed the requirements for tenure in the position which I now have in SBA, GM-15. The clearance process for a sensitive position (SF 86) has been already completed by OPM. While in HEW some fifteen years ago I was also tenured in a GS-14.

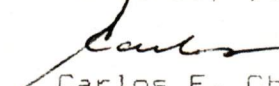

If the quality of life were not deteriorating so rapidly in Puerto Rico, I would not seek relocation and, perhaps, would be willing to continue with the level of responsibility which I now have and eight-to-five the demands on my time (gives me plenty of time for writing at home).

As to an area of preference, the East and Northeast; but only the ten commandments were cast in stone. Real preference would be Boston and D.C.; in the former we have Kathy's family plus the possibility of helping some friends who might want to return home some day.

As to field of preference, Commerce and SBA, although I acknowledge I might be of some assistance in the human services and education areas. As I review my background it occurs to me I have been around too long.

I will be in New York City for the 8th of February if the Administrator makes the trip to visit with the Regional staff and district directors.

Sincerely yours,

Carlos E. Chardon

P.S. The few times I have called into the office, I have spoken with Linda. I know that any message I leave with her will get to you.

Dear Paul,

Thank you for your recent letter and your interest in continuing to serve this Administration.

I talked to Ron on the phone, and he sent me a follow up note. I was glad to pass on his high regard for you to the appropriate people here at the White House. Additionally, I will share your resume with them.

With best wishes,

Sincerely,

Dear Andy:

Yesterday, I received a letter from Ron Alvarado, a friend from California, suggesting I contact you regarding my desire to continue serving in the Bush Administration.

At the Department of Interior, I have had the pleasure of aiding Secretary Lujan in his Public Affairs shop, focusing on a number of issues, including the offshore drilling question in California and Florida. We all eagerly anticipate the President's decision on this complex matter.

Communicating the President and the Secretary's message to the American people through the media has been an exciting, learning experience. We have made tremendous progress with the way the press is portraying Manuel Lujan, and I get the sense it is time to move on to new and greater challenges.

My desire to serve you and the President in a more immediate setting stems from a longstanding belief that George Bush is the man who will manage the presidency and lead the country places we only dreamed of going. I could ask for nothing more than to participate in that process.

After many discussions with Ron, he thought you might know best how I should approach this aspiration. Any thoughts or ideas you might have would be greatly appreciated.

I hope to hear from you soon.

Sincerely,

Paul D. Kranhold

Dear Andy:

It was good talking to you the other day. I appreciated your return call and am glad things are going well for you. I also appreciate you putting my name in for the conference on Puerto Rico. I will follow up.

On the other note we discussed, I'd like to bring to your attention the desire of Paul Kranhold to come over to the WH and assist you and your staff. He is specifically interested in an apparently vacant press advance position. He has been over at Interior serving as spokesman for the President's Outer Continental Shelf Leasing and Development Task Force -- obviously a role which requires much tact and diplomacy when working with the public and the press!

You'll note from Paul's resume that he has received some excellent experience over the past few years; really worked hard for the President's election and is eager to do more. I've known Paul and his parents for nearly ten years. He's an articulate, personable and capable young man, and would do a first class job on behalf of the President.

Any assistance and consideration you can afford Paul would be appreciated and I strongly believe, he would be an asset to the Administration.

I'll ask Paul to drop you a line in the meantime.

Thanks very much, Andy. Mary joins me in sending our best and we hope to see you soon.

Sincerely,

Mr. Jay Parmer
Deputy Director of Advance
The White House
Washington, DC 20500

Dear Jay,

I am writing today because I am sure your office is beginning to gear up for the upcoming election year, and I would like to be a part of the President's effort to elect a good group of Republicans next year.

Currently, I am the Public Affairs Officer and principle spokesman for the President's Outer Continental Shelf Leasing and Development Task Force studying offshore oil and gas development. Members of the Task Force include Secretary Lujan, Secretary Watkins, Richard Darman, Bill Reilly, and Kent Burton (Under Secretary of Commerce - Acting). As I'm sure you've seen in the press, this is a high profile issue, and we are just now winding up a set of trips to California and Florida and beginning to assess what we've learned.

During my work for Lanny Griffith on the campaign, I got to know Gordon, Tripp, Spence, Rick Pharr, and a few of your volunteers fairly well and worked closely with them on trips into Atlanta, and Miami.

My particular area of interest and expertise is press and press advance. Since being appointed to the Task Force I have set up a series of workshops around the country, going in advance, handling the logistics, and taking care of the press.

Please feel free to talk with Lanny and if you are interested, give me a call, and I'll get you an updated resume. The Task Force is beginning to wind down, with a report going to the President in January. If you would like a trial run, I could probably get away on a detail sometime after mid August.

I hope to hear from you soon.

Sincerely,

Paul D. Kranhold

Dear Chase:

I appreciate your advising me of Governor Sununu's desire to nominate candidates as soon as possible for the two presidential appointments that are currently vacant at ACTION. Please be assured that I fully share his desire to promptly place qualified appointees in these positions and have been actively working toward that end.

During the three months I was required to serve as Acting Director of ACTION while my own nomination for Director was pending before the Senate, I was counseled not to interview political applicants because: (1) the names of the individuals and content of the interviews might be requested in a confirmation hearing or in questions submitted by committee members; and (2) such activity by me would create the impression that I presumed favorable action by the committee and did not show proper deference to the Senate's prerogatives in this matter. With regard to the latter, it should also be noted that the ACTION re-authorization legislation was before the committee at the same time as my nomination and that a provision in the committee's draft legislation called for the elimination of one of the two current vacancies, e.g., the Associate Director for Domestic Operations. Fortunately, the position was retained in the final bill which was only signed into law on December 7, 1989.

As for my efforts thus far to recruit qualified candidates, the enclosed list identifies individuals referred by the Office of Presidential Personnel that I have interviewed or contacted and the status of their candidacy. It also contains the names of individuals who are scheduled for interviews in the near future.

ACTION'S MISSION

To stimulate voluntary citizen participation in addressing the needs of American communities, particularly those of the poor, the disadvantaged and the elderly.

I will continue to give the highest priority to the filling of these two vacancies. However, in so doing, I will also remain fully mindful of the President's personal counsel to me at my own swearing-in ceremony just before the holidays when he advised me that I should make sure I was fully comfortable with the professional qualifications and suitability of the person who would serve as my deputy. I believe this is particularly important in view of the President's emphasis on volunteerism and the high profile this initiative has now and will continue to have throughout President Bush's administration.

Sincerely,

Jane A. Kenny

Dear Mr. Dedon:

Thanks for your letter of January 10th in which you indicate your interest in a Deputy Assistant Attorney General position at the Department of Justice.

Please know that I will be happy to make sure that the Office of Presidential Personnel is aware of your qualifications. I am sure you will be given serious consideration.

I appreciate your interest in my activities. My decision not to run for Governor of the Commonwealth was a difficult one, but I am comfortable with it for the time being.

Dear Mr. Card:

I am writing to request your assistance in obtaining a Deputy Assistant Attorney General position in the Tax Division of the Department of Justice.

I am a former resident of Massachusetts who worked for the President during the 1988 campaign. Presidential Personnel has informed me that I have the support of the White House in seeking a presidential appointment. My experience as a tax attorney qualifies me for a Deputy Assistant Attorney General position in the Tax Division of the Department of Justice, and I have been informed by Rex Ford's office (Associate Deputy Attorney General, 633-2707) that my resume (copy enclosed) has been forwarded to the Tax Division. I appreciate any help that you can provide. My work number is (202) 331-8585.

I also have contributed to other Republican candidates, both with my time and financially. In addition, my father has supported financially the President (since prior to the 1988 election) as well as other Republican state and national candidates (e.g., his state representative in Brewster, Massachusetts, Henri Rauschenbach). (My father and I both hope that your decision not to run for Governor in Massachusetts is limited to the coming election.)

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

John P. Dedon

Dear Andy,

I hope this letter finds you and your family happy, healthy and looking forward to the new year.

Things are looking up for Tex Lezar and his campaign for Attorney General. With three other republicans in the primary, this race will be both exciting and hard fought.

My reason for the formal letter is to make you aware and urge your support of Gary Lavine's application to be nominated to the President's Commission on Executive Exchange. As you may remember, Gary was supported by many prominent republicans when he sought a seat on the Administrative Conference not long ago. Due to the low number of vacancies on the Conference, Gary was given some other options. He chose to seek a seat on the Executive Exchange.

At this writing, Paul Weyrich, Jonathan Bush and Pat Barrett have all sent letters, through different channels, supporting Gary's application for nomination.

I would appreciate your support and follow through on his application for nomination. He's a fine republican who will be a great asset to the Bush Administration.

My very best to all.

RE: Discussion Regarding Assistant Secretary of Domestic Finance at U.S. Treasury

The White House is finally in the hands of those who understand people in this country when you find the Deputy Chief of Staff doing what most of the other 250 million Americans do - answering his own phone. It was good to hear your voice and thanks for your support.

Attached is the note which I sent to Bob Glauber, at David Mullins' suggestion, representing my case. While I know Brady very well, I believe it's important to make the case on substance, from the ground up. Mullins' suggestion was for him and me to work on Glauber this week, then go to Nick. Along these lines two things would be helpful: (i) your touching base with Chase and Ron and giving them a thumbs up and, (ii) at some point you and/or John calling Bob Glauber.

If there's any post that I am trained and suited for and could contribute most to Mr. Bush's work it is this one, as noted in the attached letter. I would like to compete for this with 110% effort and would greatly value yours and John's support and guidance.

I will call later this week after I speak with Mullins and Glauber. I can be reached at (212) 909-4979 (office) or (203) 629-8107 (home), if you have any additional interim advice.

Again, thank you for your help. It would be the best possible way to begin the decade being back on your team.

Mr. Robert R. Glauber

1500 Pennsylvania Ave., N.W.

Dear Bob,

I hope this letter reaches you after a relaxing week on a break without a FAX. I spoke at length with David before the holidays about the possibility of filling his post. While he noted that you had begun to consider different models for a replacement, after considering my qualifications he was positively inclined and suggested that I send you a note and that he would follow-up with you next week. If I might, let me make my case.

Perhaps the ideal candidate for the position, in the post-Mullins era, is somebody who can implement and further develop a series of initiatives which have already been put in place (S&L's, market reform, loan securitization, refinancings et. al.); has the ability to forge new ground on those issues which will be addressed going forward; and as a matter of course, handle the day-to-day management of federal debt and credit policy. An ideal background might well be a combination of experience on, and close ties to, Wall Street; previous legislative and/or executive branch tenure; relationships in the administration; and an academic background.

If there is any unique contribution I offer, it is a split career in Washington and Wall Street. On Wall Street, I could not have been assigned to transactions or advisories better suited for this position. I developed proposals and/or executed transactions for all the agency loan asset sales and Conrail; advised formally on the structure for the Financial Assistance Corporation and Farmer Mac, and was asked by First Boston to stay involved in the S&L and TVA issues. Further, I've worked on financings for the independent agencies and have an intimate understanding of their obligations. On the corporate side, I've gone through an equal share of financings, leveraged transactions, acquisitions and divestitures, including the Campeau situation which serves as the present day benchmark for what to avoid in structuring leveraged deals.

Perhaps of equal value to you is the experience gained as a legislative and press director on the Hill; special assistant and speechwriter to Regan at Treasury; and through working for Mr. Bush, friendships with many of his key people including John Sununu and Andy Card and certain of their staff, the OMB crew including Grady and Hodsoil (whom I spend hours briefing on asset sales and loan securitization) and Mr. Mosbacher, Mr. Baker and some of their key people.

In short, I've developed the kind of knowledge in government and business which is as applicable to this position as possible. Further, I've had the opportunity to manage large processes and people ranging from political campaigns and organizations to First Boston new business development efforts, not to mention the Brady Commission. Most recently Jack Hennessy, as one of his first initiatives as CEO, wanted an analysis completed and executed on opportunities in the global capital markets. I was put in charge of a thirty person task force which worked four weeks to analyze the opportunities and develop a plan geared around the promulgation of SEC proposed Rule 144A (see attached book sent to 15,000 clients). In addition, Hennessy has collared me to write testimony for the Senate Banking and Finance Committees, articles for the NYT and WSJ, and numerous speeches - all skills which could be helpful to you and Nick.

Very simply, what I bring to your offices is the appropriate Wall Street experience and close ties to First Boston's CEO and senior management; a thorough understanding of the legislative process, executive branch and Treasury; good relationships with many key people in the Bush Administration including Mr. Bush; and a proven ability to develop, organize and complete significant and complex projects, on time.

I am ready to move on notice, and would have Jack Hennessy's support. If appropriate, I could work with David as he closes his shop. Further, I checked with Ron Kauffman who in addition to being a close friend is also Deputy Director of Presidential Personnel. He expressed that the White House would be very supportive of my candidacy and push it if I was on your list of considerees. As for people you may be considering internally, in many ways I should have been that deputy or special assistant but took Nick's direction and waited for "the next round" which has only added to my net worth to you. Also, internal hiring among equals can often create great friction.

Finally but perhaps first - Nick. It wasn't all that long ago when I called to suggest that he needed the Glauber/Mullins team that he responded, "why would those two ever want to go to Washington?" He was convinced otherwise, proven wrong, and with yours and David's suggestion would likely believe that this is the correct move at the correct time.

I've said it before and I'll undoubtedly say it again, I believe in a career split between public service and private enterprise, not to mention I recognize that neither the Bush Presidency nor the Brady Treasury are more, today, than a three year term.

While this letter goes well beyond the normal one page "here I am, what do you think" I hope it illustrates that I very clearly believe I bring the right skills, abilities, and relationships on Wall Street and in Washington to serve you to the highest potential in this position. And while I know I don't have as much gray hair as some might like, I would submit that a 33 year-old Vice President at First Boston who has had 5 years of senior legislative and executive branch experience has gained some gray hair. Also, with the senior leadership of Glauber, Brady and Robson, maybe what you now need is a workhorse.

While I know you will be busy in early January, I'd like, at least, to have the opportunity to come to Washington and talk with you and David about this. I'm ready on a moment's notice.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in cursive script, appearing to read "J. Patrick". The signature is fluid and stylized, with a large initial "J" and a long, sweeping underline.

RE: GARY LAVINE

There are not any vacancies on the Council of the Administrative Conference of the U.S.

We have some people in clearance for all of the seats. I talked to Dave Rivkin in Boyden's office about this Monday evening & said we'd look in other areas. Please let me know if this is a big priority and I'll see that it goes on the front burner.

Thanks —

Andy

I know you are busy with other matters, but would appreciate your assistance with this request.

Attached is an earlier letter from me to you regarding Gary Lavine's request to be considered for a seat on the Administrative Conference of the United States. Since this letter, the following measures have been taken by Gary to secure this position:

1. New York Republican Chair Pat Barrett letter of endorsement to Governor Sununu
2. Jonathan Bush letter of endorsement to Chase Untermeyer.
2. Paul Weyrich communication to Governor Sununu on behalf of Gary Lavine. (Ed Rogers with reply to Weyrich)
3. October 12, 1989 meeting with Mr. David Rivkin, General Counsel for the Advisory Committee on the Points of Light Initiative Foundation.

A decision is pending on this board nomination. I would appreciate your help in bringing Gary's request directly to Mr. Untermeyer's attention. I know the professional standards you look for when recruiting members for the Bush Team. Gary Lavine's professional and political credentials certainly put him in a class to be considered for membership on the Administrative Conference of the United States.

Thank you for your attention to this request.

Dear Andy,

I am writing to recommend Gary J. Lavine, Esquire, for a position on the 11 member Council of the Administrative Conference of the United States.

Professionally, Gary is currently Vice President, General Counsel and Secretary for Niagara-Mohawk Power Corporation, in Syracuse, New York. Prior to his Niagara-Mohawk assignment, Gary was the Legislative Counsel to Republican Leader Clarence Rappelyea in the New York State Assembly.

Politically, Gary has been a loyal George Bush republican since before the Republican convention in 1980. I know, first hand, Gary Lavine's tremendous political savvy through his wise counsel during my tenure as former Congressman George Wortley's campaign manager in 1986.

Personally, Gary has been a friend of mine since the Wortley days in 1986. He was one of the very few who supported me in the 11th hour of the campaign. As you well know, Andy, campaigns form close bonds between people and I can honestly say that the best thing that came out of Syracuse/88 for me was my friendship with Gary Lavine.

I feel Gary Lavine is more than qualified to sit on the Council of the Administrative Conference of the United States. Mr. Pat Barrett, Chairman of the New York State Republican party will be contacting the White House soon on Gary's behalf. I would appreciate your consent and help in securing this position for Gary.

His credentials are currently before Chase Untermeyer. If you have any specific question or would like to talk to Gary please do not hesitate to call me at 202-252-4712.

Thank you for your attention to this letter.

Sincerely,

Jeffrey L. Taylor

Re: Bruce Jackson/Non-Career SES Position, DOD

Dear Andy:

My friend Bruce Jackson is a candidate for the position of Principal Director (Nuclear Forces and Arms Control Policy), International Security Policy, Office of the Secretary of Defense. This is a non-career SES position in the Defense Department, and one that Bruce will fill with great distinction.

Bruce has worked in this area on the military side for a number of years, is frankly as conservative as he could possibly be on all matters related to defense and security policy, and would come by this position honestly: his father was President Eisenhower's National Security Advisor, and his stepfather was Senator Kenneth Keating (R.- N.Y.).

Given his background, Capt. Jackson could reasonably aspire to a DASD position, and I do very much hope that he can be given favorable consideration for this SES spot. He will be a credit to the President.

Sincerely,

William F. Weld

Dear Andy:

I again call on your good offices to see that a resume gets into the pipeline for Presidential appointment consideration. This one is for a vacancy on the U.S. Court of Military Appeals but is not a routine recommendation because Judge Gierke is uniquely qualified for the appointment.

He is the immediate past National Commander of the American Legion which he carried out while one of five sitting judges of the North Dakota Supreme Court. He is a Viet Nam War veteran. Prior to accepting my appointment to the North Dakota Supreme Court he was both President of the State Bar Association and Vice-Chair of the North Dakota Republican Party.

I believe he has the support of Senator Strom Thurmond for the appointment as well as a host of other relevant references. I can't imagine a more appropriate appointment to the highest court of the military court system.

Dear Andy:

"Neither party expected for the war the magnitude or the duration which it has already attained." The Civil War? No, our 16th President was obviously referring to the Presidential Personnel process of 1865.

Admiral Busey indicated to me [twice] that he would "stay in touch" and have personnel decisions within 4 to 6 weeks. Unfortunately, we are quickly approaching November 8, 1989 and I would like to have some commitment on another position in the event that the Admiral -- for whatever reason -- does not bring me on board at the F.A.A.

I have already indicated my interest in the Military Office post as a Special Assistant. Or there may be a temporary position with the Commission on Air Terrorism. Obviously, having had my meeting with the Admiral, it may be necessary for me to compromise on the area from which I serve the administration. The fact remains that while others worked to elect the President so long as their paychecks did not stop, I supported the President early, helped him well, and asked nothing in return until he was elected.

By the way, Abraham Lincoln also reminded this nation that, "A house divided against itself cannot stand." Perhaps it is time for the administration to remove those who did not actively support the President and make room for those who did. Only then will this administration stand strong.

Sincerely,

Todd Natkin

—President Ronald Reagan congratulates Tex & Merrie Lezar on a job well done as they return to Texas. Tex served President Reagan as Assistant Attorney General of the United States for Legal Policy.

From President Reagan to Tex Lezar:

“One of the most important marks of a good society is the ability of its citizens to be secure from the threat of crime. A society which cannot maintain public order cannot maintain more cherished values either. That’s why I consider it so important to recruit talented and experienced men and women to serve in policymaking positions in the Department of Justice. During the past four years, you have served my Administration with distinction, and I want you to know how grateful I am for the good job you have done (as Assistant Attorney General of the United States for Legal Policy).”

...President Ronald W. Reagan

“Tex Lezar is a tough law enforcer who understands that Texas taxpayers need a candidate who will be a crime fighter.”

...James C. Miller III,
former Texas A&M Professor, Ronald Reagan’s
Chairman of the Federal Trade Commission and Director of the Office of Management and Budget

“Tex not only possesses one of the most brilliant legal minds I know, but he has the government experience and the business know-how that I think will make him a force in the future.”

...Richard Collins,
founder of Associated Texans Against Crime
(ATAC)

“Tex Lezar served with distinction as my Counselor and the Assistant Attorney General of the United States in charge of Legal Policy during a significant part of my tenure. He played an important role in assisting me and President Reagan in our successful efforts to reform the Federal criminal law — including abolishing the federal parole system and the adoption of sentencing guidelines. Tex Lezar is a brilliant lawyer and as tough as Texas. He represents an opportunity for the people of Texas to elect an Attorney General who has the background, experience, and ability to lead the fight against crime and drugs.”

—Chief Justice of the United States Warren Burger administers the oath of office as Assistant U.S. Attorney General to Tex Lezar. Tex’s wife Merrie & U.S. Attorney General William French Smith look on.

“As Chief of Staff of Ronald Reagan’s Department of Justice, Tex played a major leadership role in our efforts to attack organized crime and drug traffickers. I’m proud we worked together successfully to eliminate parole at the federal level.”

...Rudy Giuliani,
Former U.S. Attorney, called “America’s Greatest Crimefighter”
by President Bush

A TOUGH CRIME FIGHTER TO PROTECT TRADITIONAL TEXAS VALUES

Tex Lezar is the Attorney General Texas needs to get tough on crime, to uphold our Texas laws and constitution and to protect the traditional values of Texans.

A skilled attorney, a respected former Assistant Attorney General of the United States and a staunch Reagan conservative, Tex Lezar can strengthen Texas law enforcement. As Assistant Attorney General and Chief of Staff to President Reagan's Attorney General William French Smith at the Department of Justice, Tex helped lead the successful fight to end parole for federal criminals. He'll do the same in Texas.

When Tex is elected Attorney General of Texas he will:

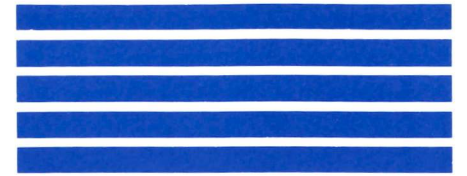

- ★ uphold Texas laws to protect Texas values
- ★ wage an all out war on drug-related crime
- ★ lead a new coordinated effort to catch criminals, convict them and keep them locked up

Dear Mr. Witonski:

I just received a letter from Charlie Greenleaf recommending you for a position as a speechwriter here at the White House. From Charlie's description, you certainly sound qualified and capable.

Please know that I have forwarded Charlie's letter to David Demarest, Assistant to the President for Communications, for his review as the speechwriting office is his operation.

With best wishes for happy holidays,

Sincerely,

Andrew H. Card, Jr..
Assistant to the President

Dear Andy:

As the first year of the Bush administration comes to an end, I trust you are still prospering in the White House.

I am writing about a friend of mine, Peter Witonski, who is interested in doing speech writing for the President. No doubt you have speech writing oversight responsibilities in your portfolio.

Witonski is a writer and consultant from Long Island who did some speech writing for George Bush in 1979. Since then, among other posts, he has worked for the National Association of Manufacturers and served as a partner and Vice President of The Journal of Defense and Diplomacy, a monthly review of foreign and defense policy. During the 1988 campaign he offered to help, but we didn't tap him.

Peter is especially knowledgeable about conservatism, having written a four volume book, The Wisdom of Conservatism. He has written about both domestic and international subjects in The National Review, Commentary, and The New Republic. Enclosed is a short piece he did last summer in NR.

I think he would be an excellent addition to the speech writing corps. The President is acquainted with him, and I'm sure others there know him.

I'm enjoying being a "Visiting Scholar" at the University of Michigan. It's good to be back in my home state after eight years inside the Beltway. Much of the year I have been overseas, including a fascinating month in the U.S.S.R. and another in China.

If you or anyone else would like more information about Peter Witonski, he would be pleased to provide writing samples and other background information. His address is:

Dear Andy,

You probably don't remember me, but, we met several times during the gubernatorial primaries in Massachusetts when you were seeking the Republican nomination. At that I was working John Lakian and since then I worked on Elliot Richardson's US Senate campaign.

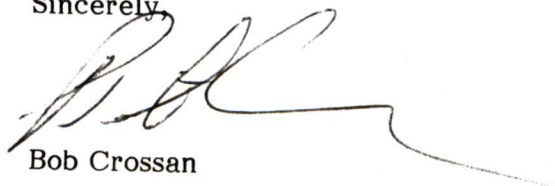

My experience in political fundraising runs the gamut from paid staffer to volunteer and have done everything from planning fundraising events to direct mail campaigns. As the enclosed resume shows I'm experienced in all aspects of advertising.

I've been in Pennsylvania for about four years and until recently was a partner in the above Ad Agency. Since the partnership split I've decided to explore the job market. With my experience in the political field I thought I'd be a natural for either government or possibly the Republican National Committee.

If you know of a need for someone with my experience and aggressiveness I would appreciate any help you could give.

Thank you for the time you've given and I hope to hear from you soon.

Sincerely,

Bob Crossan

Dear Mr. Thimmesch:

Thank you for your letter of October 27th.

Please know that I have forwarded your resume to the Office of Presidential Personnel for their review as appropriate openings in the federal departments and agencies are filled.

By the way, I had a very good meeting with Donna Cuomo this morning.

With best wishes,

Sincerely,

Dear Mr. Card:

You might remember me best from the campaign last year, I was Press & Research Manager for the California Committee for the Presidency. I worked, thru the Dolphin Group of Los Angeles, with Donna Cuomo and the Barnes, Cliff and Angie. We did a national speaking and press conference tour, confronting Dukakis on the furlough issue. I had also worked in New Orleans for the Bush campaign as a media and research consultant.

The point of this letter is to request perhaps a moment of your time the next time I am in Washington. I will be in Washington on the 31st of October if it would be possible then. Otherwise, I will be back again in November. I understand that you might be seeing Donna Cuomo sometime in November, and perhaps I could be included at that time.

I have enclosed my resume for background, and as it indicates, I was a staff writer for nearly two years during the Reagan administration. I am interested in again returning to Washington, my hometown, and would appreciate your consideration should a related position become available.

Thank you for your time, and I look forward to hearing from you soon. Please tell Donna hello should you see her before I do, it has been since the Inauguration since we last spoke.

Sincerely,
Nicholas Thimmesch II

EXPERIENCE:

AS a member of the firm of Kein, Pollatschek & Iacopino, I have handled all types of corporates matters including Banking and Utility matters as well as divorce, probate, real estate and a significant amount of criminal actions on the trial level as well as on the appellate level. During the last five years with the firm I was one of two lawyers doing all of the trial work.

As Executive Director and Secretary of the New Hampshire Public Utilities Commission I gained valuable experience in the regulation of New Hampshire utilities. My duties entailed acting as a hearing examiner on most of the utilities financing filings and on contested transportation matters. I attained considerable knowledge of the regulation of transportation law, as well as Interstate Commerce Commission matters. I also had direct supervision of the Commission staff and the actions they had to perform to prepare an adequate investigation for presentation to the Commission.

As Chairman of the New Hampshire Public Utilities Commission, I was the presiding officer in all utility cases in New Hampshire involving rates, franchises, financings, fuel adjustments, conservation adjustments, site approvals, as well as participating in policy decisions regarding all energy matters. At the same time I was Chairman I was on the Board of Directors of the National Regulatory Research Institute, served as Vice-Chairman of the NARUC Administration Committee and a member of the NARUC Executive Committee.
