The Honorable John F. Kerry
United States Senate
SR-358 Russell Senate Office Building
Washington, D.C. 20510

Dear Senator  Kerry,

This letter is in support of the administration proposal to forgive $7 billion in military loans to Egypt.

Egypt in the 1970's threw out 17,000 Soviet advisors, most of them military, and turned to the U.S. and away from communism at a critical time.

Egypt provoked its own expulsion from the Arab League to join with Jimmy Carter in a peace treaty with Israel.

Hosni Mubarek has extended over and over again his offer to help resolve the Palestinian intifadah.

Egypt helped us in 1980 with the effort to rescue the hostages in Tehran and help us provide weapons to the mujahideen rebels in Afghanistan.

The U.S. since 1983 has given Egypt military assistance. The $7 billion is not an expenditure but part of the 1979-83 Carter military loan program which unfortunately carries interest charges of as high as 12 percent, a good deal in 1981 but oppressive in 1990.

I was very impressed with the Egyptians during my 1987 experience evaluating a World Bank project at Cairo University. I know that U.S. money has built hundreds of elementary schools, sanitation systems and other useful projects. Egyptians are friendly to the U.S. and increasingly useful as allies.

Egyptian peasants live on $700 a year. College graduates including medical doctors earn $3000 a year. The country is very poor.

They owe us $700 million this year on their military debt, $350 million on non-military loans which would remain intact.

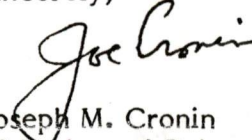

William Quandt of Brookings earlier this year suggested that we cancel the military debt but pay for it by a reduced aid package which over the next ten years could total a savings of $7 billion. Our aid program should not specify U.S. commodity purchases and could provide fewer dollars, but more flexibility.

Meanwhile Egypt has denounced Iraq for the invasion of Kuwait and sent 4000 troops. We need at least two armored Egyptian divisions or 40,000 men. They have 500,000 troops, the second largest army in the mid-east.

Israel will want some debt reductions as well. They need, to qualify, to be more flexible on a Palestinian West Bank solution among other items of concern to peace and stability in the region.

Please give the Egyptian debt reduction proposal your consideration and support.

Sincerely,

Dear Card,

Two years ago, Mr. Ron Kaufman and Mr. Tim Hayward, approached me and asked if I would be interested in heading up the George Bush campaign in the State of Vermont. At the time I was seriously thinking of running for the U.S. House. Due to sickness I was unable to run and instead ran for my third term for Vermont House. I am running for my fourth term this year but have been seriously considering applying for the job of Executive Director for "George Bush for President" in 1992.

I have spoken to Mr. John Lindley and he told me that they would not be considering that position until the fall of 1991. I also spoke with Mr. Wayne Roberts and he said I should get in touch with you and express my desire to except this position when it becomes available. So that is just what I am doing. Enclosed you will find my resume and I do ask that you consider me as a contender for the job. Thank you.

Sincerely,

Jane A. Mendicino

Dear Andy:

I am very pleased to report that I have recently joined AARP in the Communications Division. I will be working with Jim Holland and David Gilroy (who you may remember from the Elliot Richardson campaign). My mission is to manage the pro-active communications to national media, policy makers and constituent groups to heighten their awareness of AARP and the importance of aging issues in our society.

I am really very excited about the association and the creative opportunities of this position. There are so many ways that we can make a difference to older Americans and to those who live and work with them -- not to mention we graying baby boomers!

I want to thank you very much for your support, encouragement and assistance over these past several months. During the course of my job search, I found people to be most generous in sharing names and knowledge with a newcomer to the Washington area. I formed new friendships and discovered some very dynamic people with whom I hope to work on projects in the future.

I look forward to seeing you soon. In the meantime, let's stay in touch and, certainly, if I can help you in any way, please let me know. I would be very happy to talk with others who are looking for a new position and to share some of the information I garnered in my search.

Sincerely,

Martha

Dear Andy:

In 1987 I formed the National Coalition for Volunteer Protection to promote federal legislation addressing the problems associated with volunteer liability -- specifically, volunteers withholding their services due to fear of liability exposure. The Coalition, which is a pro bono client, now includes over 200 national voluntary organizations.

During the past two years, I've worked with the White House Office of National Service to help them develop an Administration position on volunteer protection legislation. Up to this point, the Office of National Service has remained uncommitted to any specific legislative solution to the volunteer liability problem.

Last week the House of Representatives adopted an amendment to the National Service Act, H.R. 4330, which addresses the volunteer liability problem. The amendment was accepted largely because of the grassroots strength of our Coalition and the persistence of the amendment's sponsor, Congressman John Porter (R-IL).

The National Service Act includes a $25 million authorization for the "Thousand Points of Light Initiative Foundation." The Administration has a clear interest in the final version of this legislation, and I expect that your Legislative Affairs staff will be working closely with the House and Senate Conferees to construct a bill which the President can sign.

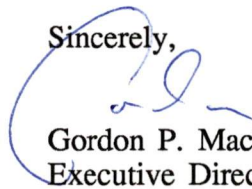

The members of our Coalition -- including such prominent voluntary organizations as Big Brothers/Big Sisters of America, the National PTA and Independent Sector -- would be pleased if the Administration would take a firm position in support of retaining the Porter amendment in the final version of the National Service Act.

* IMMEDIATE ACTION REQUIRED ****

* After five years of work, a major hurdle has been cleared for Volunteer Protection legislation.

* On September 13, the House adopted a Volunteer Protection amendment to H.R. 4330, the National Service Act. The amendment was offered by Congressman John E. Porter (R-IL).

* IF THE AMENDMENT IS TO SURVIVE in the Conference Committee on H.R. 4330, the following Members of Congress MUST be contacted DURING THE WEEKS OF SEPTEMBER 17 AND 24:

Senator Ted Kennedy, (D-MA)

Senator Orrin Hatch, (R-Utah)

Senator Joseph Biden, (D-Del)

Senator Strom Thurmond, (R-SC)

Congressman Gus Hawkins, (D-CA)

Congressman Bill Goodling, (R-PA)

Congressman Jack Brooks, (D-TX)

Congressman Hamilton Fish, (R-NY)

* YOUR MESSAGE SHOULD STATE:

"THE SENATE MUST RECEDE TO THE HOUSE POSITION ON THE PORTER AMENDMENT TO H.R. 4330"

* Attached is a copy of the amendment, (which is nearly identical to H.R. 911, the Volunteer Protection Act), and the floor debate from the Congressional Record.

* Take action NOW to help this amendment prevail in Conference!

Messrs. WAGLREN, BATES, and UDALL changed their vote from "aye" to "no."

So the amendment was rejected.
The result of the vote was announced as above recorded.

AMENDMENT OFFERED BY MR. PORTER

Mr. PORTER. Mr. Chairman, I offer an amendment.

The Clerk read as follows:

Amendment offered by Mr. PORTER: Page 34, after line 13, insert the following new subsection (and redesignate subsequent subsections accordingly):

(e) PROTECTION FROM TORT LIABILITY.—

(1) REQUIREMENTS.—For fiscal year 1993 and subsequent fiscal years, the Director may not make a grant under subsection (a) unless the State involved provides assurances satisfactory to the Director that the State provides by law as follows:

(A) That, except as provided in subparagraph (B) and paragraph (2), a volunteer of a nonprofit organization or governmental entity does not incur any personal financial liability for any tort claim alleging damage or injury from any act or omission of the volunteer on behalf of the organization or entity if—

(i) such individual was acting in good faith and within the scope of such individual's official functions and duties with the organization or entity; and

(ii) Such damage or injury was not caused by willful and wanton misconduct by such individual.

(B) That the law described in subparagraph (A) may not be construed to affect any civil action brought by any nonprofit organization or any governmental entity against any volunteer of such organization or entity.

(C) That the law described in subparagraph (A) may not be construed to affect the liability of any nonprofit organization or governmental entity with respect to injury caused by any person.

(2) CONSIDERATION BY STATES OF AUTHORITY REGARDING LIMITATIONS ON PROTECTION.—For fiscal year 1993 and subsequent fiscal years, the Director may not make a grant under subsection (a) unless the State involved provides assurances satisfactory to the Director that, with respect to protection from liability, the State has adequately addressed whether the conditions and exceptions described in paragraph (3) should apply in the State.

(3) AUTHORIZED LIMITATIONS ON PROTECTION.—For purposes of paragraph (1), a State may impose one or more of the following conditions on and exceptions to the protection from liability provided by the law described in paragraph (1)(A):

(A) That the organization or entity must adhere to risk management procedures, including mandatory training of volunteers.

(B) That the organization or entity is liable for the acts or omissions of its volunteers to the same extent as an employer is liable, under the laws of that State, for the acts or omissions of its employees.

(C) That the protection from liability provided by the law described in paragraph (1)(A) does not apply if the volunteer was operating a motor vehicle or was operating a vessel, aircraft, or other vehicle for which a pilot's license is required.

(D) That the protection from liability provided by the law described in paragraph (1)(A) does not apply in the case of a suit brought by an appropriate officer of a State or local government to enforce a Federal, State, or local law.

(E)(i) That the protection from liability provided by the law described in paragraph (1)(A) applies only if the organization or entity provides a financially secure source of recovery for individuals who suffer injury as a result of actions taken by a volunteer on behalf of the organization or entity.

(ii) For purposes of clause (i)—

(I) a financially secure source of recovery may be an insurance policy within specified limits, comparable coverage from a risk pooling mechanism, equivalent assets, or alternative arrangements that satisfy the State that the entity will be able to pay for losses up to a specified amount; and

(II) separate standards for different types of liability exposure may be specified.

Mr. PORTER (during the reading). Mr. Chairman, I ask unanimous consent that the amendment be considered as read and printed in the Record.

The CHAIRMAN. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Illinois?

There was no objection.

(Mr. PORTER asked and was given permission to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. PORTER. Mr. Chairman, the amendment that I have offered addresses a serious problem in America, and that is the increasing unwillingness of volunteers to come forward and offer their services in the many ways that volunteers do in America today.

The amendment I am offering would take effect 2 years after the underlying legislation takes effect and would not allow the director to make a grant under subsection (a) unless the State involved provides assurances satisfactory to the Director that the State provides by its law that volunteers are immune from general negligence liability, and that the burden of negligent injury would fall directly upon the service organization and not upon the individual volunteer.

Mr. Chairman, this amendment is consistent with legislation that I have offered in this Congress and in the previous Congress, H.R. 911, the Volunteer Protection Act, that had in the previous Congress 254 cosponsors, and in this Congress 220 cosponsors, over half the House of Representatives, on a broad bipartisan basis. The act is also supported by over 250 national voluntary organizations representing tens of millions of volunteers across America. Mr. Chairman, these include U.S. Farm Bureau Federation, the American Heart Association, the American Red Cross, the Girl Scout Council of the United States, the General Federation of Women's Clubs, Little League, Salvation Army, National PTA, B'nai B'rith, Air Force Association, Navy League, and many, many, other nationally known organizations. Each of them is a supporter of the Volunteer Protection Act, which this amendment is modeled upon.

Mr. Chairman, voluntarism in America is a large endeavor. Eighty-five million Americans volunteer in some capacity or another every year. They provide 16.5 billion hours of service to the Nation that is valued in excess of $110 billion. However, Mr. Chairman, in 1986 when the American Society of Association Executives polled 8,000 national, State, and local voluntary associations, they found over 60 percent of those answering the poll say that fear of liability exposure, the fear of having to go to court, is damaging their efforts at volunteer recruitment.

It has affected organizations across America as large as the American Red Cross and the United Way. It is having a chilling effect upon voluntarism and ought to be addressed in this legislation.

Mr. Chairman, the amendment is quite simple. It allows the Director to make a determination as to whether States are in fact protecting volunteers, and many are, I might say. My own State of Illinois, the State of Montana and others have comprehensive laws already on the books protecting volunteers, but many others do not.

It would allow the Director to make a determination as to whether volunteers are being protected from simple negligence liability, not from liability, Mr. Chairman, outside the scope of their volunteer activities and not for liability when they act in a willful and wonton manner, but from everyday negligence liability, so they can come forward and offer their services free of the nagging fear that they might end up being a defendant in a court of law and have their assets, their homes, their farms, and their bank accounts subject to a judgment.

I would say, Mr. Chairman, that our concern about people who are injured through negligent actions of others are protected under the amendment because the liability of the organization is not effected and remains intact. It would only affect individual volunteers coming forward to offer their services.

I commend this amendment to the Members of the House, over half of whom are supporters of the concept through the Volunteer Protection Act, H.R. 911.

Mr. HAWKINS. Mr. Chairman, I move to strike the last word.

Mr. Chairman, I cannot say that I rise in opposition to the amendment. I believe it is a subject that obviously should be considered in connection with volunteer service. For that reason I commend the author of the amendment. It is a subject matter that is not within the jurisdiction of the Education and Labor Committee, and obviously was not considered in the context of the bill that is before us today.

On the other hand, I would certainly believe that the conference committee should in good conscience consider the subject. It is my understanding that the Judiciary Committee is doing so, and if this amendment is adopted I certainly would assume that they would also become conferees in the conference committee. For that reason, I see no harm that the amendment would do, but probably it would be relevant in a conference committee and for that reason I will not oppose the amendment and certainly believe that if adopted the amendment may be rightfully considered with the Judiciary conferees in the conference committee.

The CHAIRMAN. The question is on the amendment offered by the gentleman from Illinois [Mr. PORTER].

The amendment was agreed to.

The CHAIRMAN. Are there other amendments to title I?

AMENDMENT OFFERED BY MR. SOLOMON

Mr. SOLOMON. Mr. Chairman, I offer an amendment.

The Clerk read as follows:

Amendment offered by Mr. SOLOMON: Page 2, after line 5, insert the following: SEC. 2. DRUG TESTING REQUIREMENT.

The head of each department and of each agency participating in programs assisted under title II of this Act or under amendments made by this Act shall establish and administer a program of random testing of individuals participating in such programs for the illegal use of drugs.

Mr. SOLOMON. Mr. Chairman, I will be as brief as I can.

The amendment is similar to those I have successfully offered to all reauthorization bills and to all new programs that have passed this House in recent years.

This amendment would require the random drug testing of individuals participating in programs under this act.

This bill envisions the Federal Government providing benefits to individuals who volunteer to assist in health care, who assist our youth in education and who care for those in this country with drug problems.

The bill provides for the cancellation of Federal student loans to persons who become engaged in drug counseling, drug prevention, and drug education. In other words, it waives the obligation to pay back those loans.

Clearly, it is appropriate for us to assure that individuals involved in the counseling of drugs are themselves drug free.

I would also point out that my amendment only involves persons who receive employment or some type of benefit from the Federal Government. If an individual receives tax dollars, whether in the form of employment or in the form of a student loan cancellation, it is not too much to require them to remain drug free during that period of time. We cannot allow young people volunteering in education, health care, or drug counseling to be involved in drugs. Volunteers must be able to take care of themselves before they care for others.

Mr. Chairman, I would urge support for the amendment.

Mr. HAWKINS. Mr. Chairman, will the gentleman yield?

Mr. SOLOMON. I am glad to yield to the gentleman from California.

Mr. HAWKINS. As I have indicated to the gentleman in the well, Mr. Chairman, I am not personally supportive of the idea in most instances; however, it is the usual amendment that we have always accepted and I believe a majority of the Members of the House do accept and would on a vote approve. On that basis, I am willing to accept it.

Mr. SOLOMON. Well, I certainly thank the chairman for his understanding. The gentleman is an outstanding chairman and we have a great deal of respect for him.

Mr. WILLIAMS. Mr. Chairman, I move to strike the requisite numbers of words.

Mr. Chairman, I have reservations about the amendment of the gentleman in the well. I will not object or oppose the amendment, but just say that I believe the amendment lends itself to abuse and mischief. As the gentleman knows, I have had concern in the past about that. I will not object to the amendment at this point, at least, or ask for a vote on the amendment. I will agree to the chairman's desire to accept the amendment.

While I still have time remaining, I would like to bring something to the attention of my colleagues. Two days ago on the Defense bill, the House accepted an amendment, correctly accepted it in my judgment, an amendment offered by the gentleman from Massachusetts [Mr. MAVROULES], as perfected by the gentleman from New York [Mr. GILMAN].

The vote on that amendment was 413 to 1, only 1 nay vote.

Mr. John Sununu
Chief of Staff
White House
Washington, D.C.

Dear Governor Sununu:

I wish to bring to your attention the need to continue x-ray lithography development. The U.S. economic advantage and national security are dependent on our continued success in this strategic area of technology. X-ray lithography, due to the shorter wave length as compared to optical lithography, allows nearly an order of magnitude increase in microchip densities.

Optical wafer steppers, an American development in the 1970's, have reached their density limit because line width and wave length are now about equal. X-ray lithography needs the continued support of the United States Government.

Japanese firms are now dominant in the semiconductor, optical lithography field. In addition, the Japanese are also investing over $1 Billion in the development of the next generation x-ray lithography. To date the United States Government has appropriated, via DARPA and the Naval Research Lab, the following funding:

FY88:	Requested $0	Authorized $20M	Appropriated $15M
FY89:	Requested $0	Authorized $27M	Appropriated $20M
FY90:	Requested $0	Authorized $40M	Appropriated $30M
FY91:	Requested $0	Authorized $80M	Anticipated $60M

Without a reasonable Administration budget request for FY1992, the whole program and the truly world-class U.S. technology it is spawning, could be lost.

X-ray lithography MUST be separated from the debate on national policy. The most promising U.S. x-ray approach that is poised for completion and worldwide success is the point-source approach developed by Hampshire Instruments. Hampshire has spent over $70 million in development to date, of which a very small but critical portion (less than 10%) has come from Federal contracts. Over $60 million has come from venture capital and other private sources. Therefore, this is a winner that the private sector has already picked.

The x-ray lithography community has had to invest too much time and money in working to overcome Administration opposition and misunderstandings generated by the ongoing debate over industrial policy -- a debate which is not relevant to support for truly enabling technologies like x-ray lithography. This area is one that the Administration can and will be able to point to with pride. Without this support, there is no question that ALL of the next generation of the means of production of sophisticated circuits for weapons and other advanced applications will come from Japan.

Can you help insure that x-ray lithography is included in the DOD budget request for FY1992?

Respectfully,

Dear Andy:

Timmons and Company represents the American Factory Trawler Association, headquartered in Seattle. Factory trawlers represent an investment of over $1 billion and employ in excess of 6,500 people. The groundfish industry (pollock, cod, flatfish, etc.) is one of low value and high volume. Approximately 60 percent of the processed groundfish is exported with the remaining 40 percent sold in the U.S. market as frozen fillets and fish sticks.

U.S. at-sea processors (factory trawlers) catch most of the 2.3 million metric tons annually allocated by the government. These huge ships process and freeze their catch on board. As a consequence, they are efficient and economical. However, shoreside Alaska processors want to ban factory trawlers from certain areas and have government mandate a 50-50 split of the pollock resource between on-shore and at-sea processors.

The vehicle for this effort is the North Pacific Fishery Management Council which sets total catch limits to conserve the fish. This "advisory" council falls under the Commerce Department.

We are opposed to the Council artificially allocating limited economic resources. Both industry sectors should continue to compete on a quality and cost basis as determined by the market place. I hope you agree. If you do, would you convey your view to Hon. Wayne Berman, Counselor to the Secretary of the Department of Commerce, who may be overseeing the actions of the North Pacific Council.

RE: Yesterday's Meeting

Here are the facts concerning Costal Corporation and the unavailability of Saudi crude.

1. Saudi Arabia is selling an additional two million barrels of oil a day to help make up the Iraq and Kuwait shortfall to its old established customers. There is nothing wrong with this practice except it gives certain large American oil companies a competitive advantage in the market.

2. Coastal Corporation and other independents are prevented by the Saudi's from buying Saudi crude.

3. Coastal has a contract to deliver one million barrels of jet fuel to the Defense Department each month. This jet fuel has been refined through its Corpus Christie refinery. In order to meet this commitment, Coastal needs Saudi Crude. Lacking Saudi crude, it has two options:

Andy Card
September 21, 1990
Page Two

- a. Shut down the Corpus refinery.
- b. Go out into the open market and bid up the price of oil in order to keep the refinery operating.

The consequences here are very negative. We do not need additional unemployment nor do we need additional increases in the price of oil in order to keep the refinery operating.

Saudi Arabia should provide a percentage of its additional capacity to Coastal and the other independents. This is best for the U.S. economy and for a number of U.S. oil, gas and refining companies.

As mentioned, we have spoke to John Tuck at DOE and Gene McAllister at State. Whatever you can do to be of assistance will be greatly appreciated.

Finally, Jim and I want to thank you for seeing us, especially in light of all now taking place.

Dear Andy:

I have a nephew who is just starting up a winery in the suburbs of Ithaca, New York. He tells me that a new tax on the wine business is being discussed in the budget negotiations.

Pete's winery is a very small one--about 1500 cases a year is the total output at present. They are trying very hard to produce an estate grade wine, rather than a jug wine. So far they seem to be succeeding. They are gravely concerned that the kind of tax being proposed would put an end to them because the estate wines from abroad would be able to come in with a more competitive price and cut their sales very sharply.

Perhaps you can pass this thought on to the folks doing the negotiations on the budget.

A timeless prayer

J. Rosemary Riggs and her husband, Francis P., lived in Gloucester for 25 years before moving to Utah, where she writes us the sun shines almost daily, in 1969.

But an item in a St. George, Utah, newspaper reminded her of home.

EDITORIAL

In the letters column was a reprint of a prayer uttered in pointed honesty at the inauguration ceremonies of the Municipal Council of Gloucester, Mass., on Jan. 3, 1916, by the Rev. Levi M. Powers, pastor of the Independent Christian Church.

The Times reported the prayer "created a sensation."

Riggs suggests it might hold some interest "in view of current politics."

You be the judge:

"Almighty Father, . . . we begin today a new year of civic life. We know (that) . . . no matter how much you may want to bless this city, you cannot do it unless the citizens are willing to be blest.

We pray, therefore, first of all for the voters of this city. There are some too lazy to vote but not too lazy to grumble. Bless them.

We pray for the taxpayers who want good streets, good schools, good fire and police protection and good health officers but who wish other people to pay for their cost.

We pray for the businessmen whose votes are always determined by the expectation of special favors for themselves. Bless them if you can.

We pray for those who believe that all laws should be enforced except the laws which they do not like or which, if enforced, would trouble them.

We pray for the comfortable who do not care about anything so long as they are left at ease.

We pray for political managers who swap votes and sell out their friends and let bad candidates go unopposed.

We pray for those who vote for the saloons simply because they have property that rents for more for that than for any other purpose.

We pray for men so mean they are not willing to give their sisters the same privilege they have themselves.

We pray for ministers if there are any in this city, I do not believe there are, who say what is pleasant to hear rather than what is true.

We pray for all connected with newspapers who openly advocate civil righteousness and secretly promote crooked politics.

We pray for the lawyers to whom law means only a knowledge of helping those who wish to evade the law to do so safely and so enable themselves and others to get something for nothing.

We wish, O God, that all these people might be blessed, but perhaps we are asking too much for we know that even you cannot bless them unless they mend their ways. It may be that the only thing you can do is to let them go to hell where they belong. You know best

The 1916 Times report on the unusual inaugural prayer noted the public reaction:

"Some sat as if stunned. Some were plainly shocked, while others smiled. A few even laughed, and there was a noticeable tendency on the part of some to applaud at the close."

Dear Mr. Card,

As the officer of our Little League responsible for the administration of the softball program for girls, I have been requested by Wayne Peters to inform you of the results of our Little and Senior League teams in the Softball World Series in Kalamazoo in August of this year. Our Senior League Braves (ages 13-15) repeated as champions and our Little League Queens (ages 11 & 12) placed third.

As you can see on the letterhead, our League has been in the World Series each year since 1979, represented by the Senior League team (in red) or the Little League team (in blue), and for the last two years by both teams. We feel these are remarkable accomplishments and are extremely proud of our young ladies, their coaches, parents, our league volunteers and our community supporters.

Last year, when both teams won the World Series, was an accomplishment which had never been achieved and may not be repeated for a very long time, if at all.

I am enclosing a clipping from today's paper for your perusal and thank you for your interest in our League.

Braves, Queens honored

By MICHELLE ROGUSKA

Staff Writer

The Greater Naples Little League had good reason to celebrate this year.

The World Series champion Senior League Braves and the Little League Queens were honored at its annual awards banquet Saturday night at the Elks Lodge.

This marked the second straight year Greater Naples advanced both teams to the World Series at Kalamazoo, Mich. The Senior League team captured its fifth title and second in a row, while the younger Queens finished third in the nation.

"We set some pretty high standards," Braves Manager Robert Iamurri said. "You have to make sure that on a bad day, you can still beat anyone else."

No one knows more about success than the Greater Naples Little League. Its eight World Series titles, the first of which came in 1980, are far more than any other league has managed.

The Braves had little trouble with any of the competition this year, steamrolling to 17 wins without a loss. Of those 17 games, 11 were won by shutouts. Naples pitchers gave up only 10 runs in all-star play, recording 111 scoreless innings of 119 possible. They trailed only once in 17 games, that coming after Waco, Texas, scored twice in the first inning at the Southern Regional. Naples took the lead in the fourth and never again looked back.

In the Series, Naples' hurlers held all four opponents scoreless. A 1-0 win over Georgetown Little League of Jenison, Mich., gave Naples the championship.

The Braves include pitchers Angie Swope, Jean Bonnici, Elizabeth Bartels and Jenny Isaacs, catcher Gabby Elder, infielders Amber Ramsay, Lisa Leith, Crystal Hamilton, Jill Buckley, Jana Knezevich and outfielders Melissa Tolson, Kim Roll, Victoria Lanier and Laura Lou Roth.

Iamurri and coach Korky Fritsch lose five players from this year's team — Buckley, Ramsay, Swope, Leith and Roll.

The Queens, champions in 1983, 1988 and 1989, went through district, sectional, state and regional play without a loss. They dropped their World Series opener to Glendale, Calif., before beating Chambersburg, Penn. They were later eliminated by Tallmadge, Ohio.

Coaches Connie Ledbetter and Tom Cook saluted the team — Jill Lawrence, Sara Cannon, Karie Newton, Sheryl Harp, Maureen Henning, Gina Swope, Carrie Walpole, Melissa Peters, Catiebra Parker, Nicole Curry, Kristine Turner, Megan Klokochar, Eva Dimitrov and Katy Cook.

Regarding the circumstances under which Doug Wead left the White House in recent weeks, your assertion that he left voluntarily to pursue other interests has been discredited by his own testimony on Sept. 11 over the Trinity Broadcasting Network's "Praise The Lord" program. I was well aware before this event, from other sources, that in fact Doug Wead was fired by those who took offense over his position regarding receiving homosexual representatives in an official capacity at the White House.

It is still another sad commentary on our society today that truth and integrity are missing at the highest levels of our government; that the "P.R. Sell" prevails from White House on down.

Thank you for your recent letter to the White House regarding Special Assistant to the President Doug Wead.

Over the years Doug has been a valuable member of the President's team and has served him faithfully. For several months, however, Doug has been discussing with a variety of people, and specifically with me, his decision to leave his White House position to pursue other avenues. During that period of time, several options were presented to Doug and discussed.

A short time ago, a mutual decision was made that Doug would end his tenure here as of September 1. Both Doug and others here recognize that there have been rumors and innuendos regarding his decision to leave. None of these has any basis in truth.

The President has named Ms. Lee Ann Metzger as Special Assistant to the President for Public Liaison. Lee Ann shares your values and concerns. You will find that she brings a wealth of experience to the job and will be a valuable addition to our team.

RE: General Information

Dear Andy:

I'm writing to formally request a few moments of your time this Saturday, September 22, 1990, while you visit Boston. I hope that you can squeeze a few minutes out of your schedule to meet with me to discuss the Veterans Shelter project in Boston. Hopefully, the ideally would be great if you could come over and take a look at what you have helped.

I'm also writing to ask you to try and squeeze into the President's schedule a site visit to Court Street on Thursday, October 4, 1990. The media up at this neck of the woods has gone crazy over the fact that the President is coming due to the Gubernatorial Campaign. I have an excellent working relationship with Bill Weld, the Republican candidate for Governor. Hopefully, we'll be able to get the President to come over to Court Street.

The President's sister Nancy visited Court Street yesterday and was almost in tears. She wants to donate her deceased husband's clothes and she wants to help in developing a luncheon here some time in the month of November.

I would hope that it's important enough and that you could find a few moments of the President's time to come to Court Street. We desperately could use the Media and I think that in light of the nature of world politics, it would be great for the President to give a boost in the arm to somebody who's helping the homeless veterans.

Andy, I know you're busy, and that these requests come across your desk every day. I've been discussing with Linda Casey some of these requests. Thank You so much for being a supporter of ours.

God Bless the Warriors,

Ken Smith

Andy,

I've checked this out with Shirley Green. WH policy dictates that we can't do the kind of letter Mr. McGee requests (policy states, "we will not qualify individuals or groups travelling abroad in an unofficial capacity or those who are not specifically authorized to speak for the President, except as may be specifically approved by the National Security Advisor.")

What special letters can do is to send a letter from POTUS to the Boston Police delegation wishing them well on their trip, etc. But a letter cannot be sent from POTUS to the Poles.

Dear Andy:

First. The Twenty-Fifth Anniversary Dinner of the Boston Police Patrolmen's Association is now sold out. As you know, the dinner is being held at the Main Ballroom of the Westin Hotel on Saturday, September 22, 1990. There will be a reception from 6:00 p.m. to 7:00 p.m. and a full dinner following. Fifteen hundred tickets have been sold. Police officers and their wives and friends from all over Massachusetts are coming to honor the Boston Police Patrolmen's Association. It is with this in mind, therefore, that Bob Guiney and I again strongly urge and sincerely hope that the President will be able to make an appearance. These are people who, without exception, are his strong supporters and admirers. The primary election will have been held on September 18, 1990, and it would be an ideal time for the President to appear. We know the tremendous demands upon his time, but we feel that his presence at our dinner would be the crowning jewel for a spectacular event.

Therefore, as old friends, Bob Guiney and I are asking you to personally intervene and exert whatever efforts you can to persuade the President to make an appearance at the dinner. no

Second. In yet another extraordinary turn of events, the Boston Police Patrolmen's Association has received the high honor of being invited by Solidarity to visit Poland for the purpose of advising and assisting police officers in Poland in their effort to form police unions. During the past five or six months, there has been a major reorganization of the police forces in Poland. Laws have been enacted allowing them now to form and join unions. The Boston Police Patrolmen's Association is the first police union in the United States to be honored with an invitation such as the one I have described. Going to Poland will be Bob Guiney, President of the B.P.P.A.,

Andy Card, Assistant to the President
September 8, 1990

Don Murray, Vice President, Steve O'Malley, Legislative Agent, and myself as General Counsel. While in Poland, we will be discussing our experiences with regard to collective bargaining, grievances, arbitration, police community relations, and most importantly, the role of police officers in a free, open and democratic society.

In connection with the foregoing, we depart Boston for Warsaw on Wednesday, September 26, 1990. I think it would be a tremendous gesture if Bob Guiney (perhaps the next United States Marshal from Massachusetts) could carry with him to Poland a personal letter of greeting from the President to all Polish police officers. I am sure that such a move would gain particular media attention as our trip is already, we are informed, receiving considerable media attention in Poland. As the first police union in the United States to endorse the candidacy of then Vice President Bush in 1988, such a letter would take on significant meaning.

If a letter from the President is possible, it should be addressed to the following individuals who have extended the invitation to us: Lech Walesa, Andrzej Milczanowski, Capt. Roman Hula, President, National Coordination Committee, Independent Trade Union of Policemen, and Jozef Gralak, National Coordination Committee, Independent Trade Union of Policemen. At the appropriate time in Poland, Bob could personally present the letter to Walesa and the other individuals who will be greeting us.

Finally, be assured that in our own fashion we will remind the people of Poland of our support for and belief in President Bush.

I know the above two requests are extraordinary in nature. Bob and I hope that both of our requests can be a reality.

Re: MY MISSION TO MOSCOW

Dear Andrew:

Thanks very much for your note from Kennebunkport. I received a call from Richard Mills of the State Department in Washington, and he gave me the name, at your suggestion, of the Liason Office person in State Department Moscow, along with her telephone number. We will call her when we arrive there on the 24th of September.

The enclosed article in the Quincy Patriot Ledger was published as the lead story in last Saturday's Business Section.

I appreciate your help, Andrew. and when I return, I'll be in touch with you to share my experiences.

With best wishes.

Dear Andy:

The text of this letter was the purpose of my phone call this morning. As you may recall, I represent the New York Mercantile Exchange. They are extremely concerned about the recent remarks of President Bush which they think are in error. I felt it was necessary to contact you directly in that the President has stated repeatedly that the rise in oil prices is due to speculation. As you can see from this letter, the rise in oil prices is due to real buyers buying because they believe a shortage will eventually exist. I would very much appreciate your reviewing the letter and calling me at (313) 496-7664 or calling the President, R. Patrick Thompson, or the General Counsel, Ronald S. Oppenheimer of the New York Mercantile Exchange (212) 938-2220, to discuss this problem.

Sincerely.

New York Mercantile Exchange

Office of the President

September 27, 1990

The Honorable George Bush
President of the United States
The White House
Washington, D.C.

Dear Mr. President:

In recent remarks, you stated that rising energy prices may have been due not to shortages, but to the speculative atmosphere of the futures markets as they have reacted to news of the Persian Gulf crisis. We would like to take this opportunity to address your concerns.

The New York Mercantile Exchange ("NYMEX") is the world's largest and only U.S. forum for the trading of energy futures, including crude oil, heating oil, unleaded gasoline, and natural gas. NYMEX, of course, shares your desire that rising energy prices not adversely affect the economy. May we respectfully suggest, however, that the energy price increases that began in August did not stem from speculation on the futures markets, but rather have been the consequences of the very real threat of shortages brought about by Iraq's invasion of Kuwait and the world's dramatic, unified response to the invasion.

The Administration has made known its deep commitment to a policy of reliance upon market mechanisms in the energy arena and elsewhere. In this view, upward energy price movements, though they may create short-term hardships, also temper demand, while encouraging the emergence of additional capacity. Thus, recent price movements in oil will foster conservation and bring forth new supplies of oil in the U.S. and abroad.

Our own information suggests that oil price increases since the Iraqi invasion of Kuwait reflect both an actual decrease in supply and a great concern among oil market participants that adequate supplies soon might not be available due to war. The price increases to date appear to be consistent with the energy market's attempt to find a new equilibrium based upon its perception of supply and demand.

Activities on the energy futures markets at NYMEX have not been the cause of energy price increases. Rather, the prices on NYMEX are a mirror of events in the "real world" of the cash oil markets. Moreover, prices on the futures market since the Iraqi invasion of Kuwait generally have followed price changes in the cash markets and have been less dramatic. Thus, for example, NYMEX prices for unleaded gasoline consistently have been between two cents and four cents below the cash market prices for the same products. The same relationship exists in crude oil.

It is also clear that speculators have had little role in setting NYMEX prices. Information collected by the Commodity Futures Trading Commission shows that 80% or more of the futures positions held on the NYMEX are in the hands of commercial entities. These are oil companies, utilities, airlines and other sellers or consumers of energy that use the NYMEX futures markets to hedge their price risks. Thus our futures markets, rather than being the cause of price escalation, are a haven for risk management by both buyers and sellers of energy commodities.

NYMEX respectfully requests the opportunity to meet with senior officials of your Administration to discuss how the unfolding events in the Middle East affect the energy futures markets and how futures market prices relate to cash market prices. We urge that such a meeting take place in order to provide you with the fullest information in connection with the formulation of U.S. energy policies.

Very truly yours,

R. Patrick Thompson
President

Dear Andy;

attached
Thanks for your response to the Pumpkin Festival invitations.

As my letters to the President and Governor Sununu promised, I enclose the schedule of events for the festival weekend. I assume you will pass them to their schedulers.

You must have been clairvoyant in optimism about Massachusetts. The primary results were a surprise to me, and may make the Bay State a battle ground in November where our chances are better than usual.

It's too late for us low-tax-New-Hampshire pessimists. When I was in the House, I had 3 constituents who constantly threatened to move to New Hampshire if I couldn't persuade the legislature to get rid of the 10% investments income tax (Wasn't it called "unearned income"?). Two of the 3 now live within 5 miles of me. C'est la guerre.

Cordially,

Bruce

Milford Town Hall Auditorium Restoration Committee

The Pumpkin Festival is organized by the Milford Town Hall Auditorium Restoration Committee as a money raising project toward the goal of $267,000 needed to refurbish the auditorium to its original Victorian beauty.

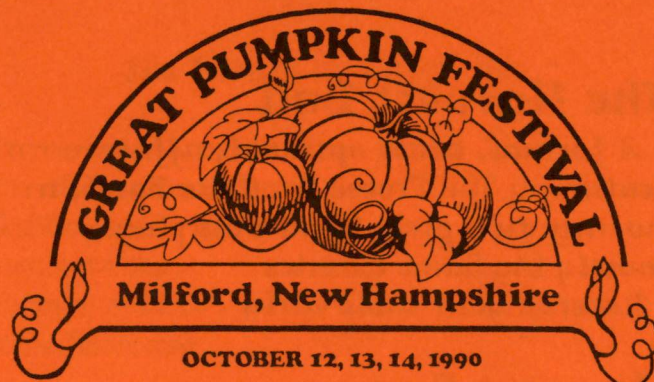

To date approximately one half has been raised.

Since the construction of the Town Hall in 1869, the auditorium was the center of town activities until the high school gymnasium was built and a larger hall became available. The goal is to make it once again the center of cultural activities for the town of Milford and a meeting place available for its citizens. The Town Hall itself has recently been completely renovated. Just the auditorium remains to be finished.

If everyone will make a contribution, the goal will become a reality. All funds realized at the Pumpkin Festival will go towards this project.

The auditorium meets fire and safety standards and can be used. It needs painting and refinishing, lighting and seating, but is much more cheerful since Thornton Stearns of Amherst has painted a mural depicting the center of Milford on the walls of the stage.

Dear Andy;

For old time's sake, I'm writing you on stationery you may appreciate. I still have a few sheets left.

Enclosed are official invitations to the President and the Chief of Staff to an event in the Milford Town Hall. When others on the planning committee heard I had a legislative colleague in the White House, I got the inviting job. Actually, John Sununu probably knows the building, having campaigned here when you and I were elsewhere. Please see that they get the proper routing.

In the event that world problems make attendance impossible, a message from the President and Governor Sununu would be appropriate. There is precedent. Patty Rotch, our Chairman, is married to Bill Rotch, publisher of the Cabinet, our weekly paper. Yesterday, they celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary at a surprise party in the Town Hall auditorium. Not only did the event raise $2300 for the restoration but someone had gotten George Bush to sign a handsome congratulatory document. I wasn't involved, but recognize a deft national touch when I see one. If you can arrange something like this, I'd be very pleased. My address for any such communication from the White House is 66 Quarry Circle Rd, Milford NH 03055, telephone (603) 672-4303.

Is there any hope for Massachusetts?
