Honorable Hollis S. McLoughlin
Assistant Secretary for Policy Management
Department of the Treasury, Room 3414
15th and Pennsylvania, NW
Washington, DC 20220

Dear Secretary McLoughlin,

Our mutual friend Joe Moravec passed onto me your kind invitation for me to send a resume to you concerning the vacancy that has just occurred for the position of the Comptroller of the Currency. Please allow me to highlight some of my specific qualifications for the opening in question.

1. Public Policy Experience

As editor-in-chief of the Journal of RTC Real Estate for Warren, Gorham and Lamont, I have had the opportunity both as a column writer and as the chief planner of each issue to analyze the problems currently plaguing the financial institutions and also to attempt to propose workable solutions. This analytic role is an extension of twenty five years of work as a professor of management, an attorney and real estate consultant. As a major spokesperson and policy maker for the Bush Administration and within the Department of the Treasury under the leadership of Secretary Brady, whoever is chosen to be the Comptroller of the Currency must be a person who can plot and articulate a coherent financial public policy as it applies to the regulation of the national banks in this country.

2. Real Estate Experience

For over twenty years, I have taught real estate in the MBA program at Boston College, co-authored a textbook on the subject and conducted a commercial real estate consulting practice. I hold the MAI designation from the Appraisal Institute, the CRE designation from the American Society of Real Estate Counselors and was the 1987-1988 Visiting Scholar at the Urban Land Institute in Washington, D.C. With the superfluity of distressed real estate and mortgages held by the national banks of the country, having a knowledgeable and credentialed real estate professional as Comptroller of the Currency would seem to be a positive state of affairs.

3. International Experience

Having had the privilege of studying extensively in Europe and lecturing on numerous occasions in Africa mostly on Fulbright Fellowships, I possess a detailed understanding of business and finance on an international level. This background was enhanced by service as a member of the United States delegation at the United Nations Human Rights Commission in Geneva and at UNESCO in Paris, as well as serving as a consultant on Third World Debt for the Vatican Justice and Peace Commission. [Incidentally, Secretary Brady might recall that at the request of his Harvard Business School classmate, Frank Cappiello, he forwarded my resume to Secretary of State George Shultz with a covering letter.]

On the academic side of international business and finance, both as a tenured full professor in our management school and as an adjunct full professor at our law school. I have taught a number of courses dealing with business in Europe and Africa, international management and international organizations. During 1986-1987, I was an Associate Fellow at the Yale University Southern African Research Project. For over fifteen years, I have been a Director of the International Business Center of New England and have lectured frequently in their continuing business education seminars on subjects such as foreign exchange, political risk and the European Economic Community. Given the responsibilities of the Comptroller of the Currency to regulate the foreign activities of U.S. national banks and to issue charters to foreign banks wishing to operate in this country, having a person with extensive international experience and foreign language skills in this position would seem to be a positive state of affairs.

4. Community Development Experience

As one who believes strongly that the average citizen has an obligation to give of his talents to the community from which he has taken so much, throughout my professional career, I have been engaged in a number of pro bono activities in an attempt to be of assistance. This service has ranged from being a Director of the Massachusetts Government Land Bank to President of the Boston Center for International Visitors to a Director of Greater Boston Legal Services to Acting Director of a Spanish speaking social service agency. Both as an ex officio member of the board of directors of the Neighborhood Reinvestment Corporation and because a number of national banks participate in a variety of financing and investment activities designed to help meet the country's low and moderate income housing needs, a Comptroller of the Currency with significant experience in this domain should be an advantage.

5. Personal and Political Background

At a time like this with so many nominations to political appointments being subjected to intensive scrutiny as to potential conflicts of interest and possible character flaws, one of the unintended advantages of being a Catholic priest is that to the best of my knowledge I have absolutely no conflicts of interest or character deficiencies that would imperil Senate confirmation.

On the political side, I worked in the 1988 Bush Presidential Campaign under the direction of another mutual friend of ours, Lee Verstandig, and was one of the three signers of the urban policy position paper on the homeless. I am well known to John Sununu, Andy Card and Ron Kaufmann and would anticipate their support. [In fact, as 1990 Annual Dinner Chairman for the International Business Center of New England, Governor Sununu at my invitation was our principal speaker.] On the Congressional side, Senator Danforth and Senator Rudman have been strong supporters of mine in the past and I would expect they would be so this time. Also in my file from various occasions are letters of support from inter alia: Senator Dole, Senator Simpson, Senator D'Amato and Senator Chafee.

Thank you very much for considering the contents of this letter.

With best wishes, I remain,

Sincerely yours,

Frank J. Parker

Real Estate Experience

Frank J. Parker, a Jesuit priest, teaches real estate courses in the MBA Program at the Carroll School of Management at Boston College (1969) where he is a tenured full professor. He also conducts an active real estate consulting practice and has been elected to membership in the American Society of Real Estate Counselors (CRE) and is a Member of the Appraisal Institute with the MAI designation. He is also the editor-in-chief of the bimonthly 64 page, Warren, Gorham & Lamont, Inc. journal: Journal of RTC Real Estate and writes a regular column on ethics in that journal. Previously he wrote a regular column entitled 'Policy & Property' for Investment Properties International.

Currently, Father Parker is serving as Chairman of the Facilities Planning Committee and as a member of the Strategic Planning Committee for Carney Hospital in Boston, MA. Among his other clients are the Archdiocese of San Francisco where he is assisting the Catholic Youth Organization (CYO) program in a joint venture development of 880 acres in Marin County and The National Trust for Historic Preservation for whom he is consulting on a Lily Foundation Grant in Chicago to erect a pilot program to preserve church properties.

Recently, Father Parker ended five years of service as a Director of the Massachusetts Government Land Bank, a quasi-public agency with a $38 million revolving loan fund for commercial projects with public interest benefits. From 1981 through 1985, he was the administrator of real estate for the Society of Jesus of New England and supervised on a day-to-day basis, the purchase and sale of $8 million worth of property. He also has consulted on real estate matters to the Sisters of the Sacred Heart, headquartered in St. Louis, Missouri and as an attorney has represented a number of low-income housing organizations.

During his sabbatical in 1986-1987, Father Parker served as the visiting scholar at the Urban Land Institute in Washington, D.C. and while there edited Institutional Real Estate Strategies (Urban Land Institute: 1988). His own chapter, "Managing Real Estate for Churches and Other Eleemosynary Organizations" appeared in the April 1988 issue of Urban Land. He also is a member of the National Policy Council of the Urban Land Institute, headquartered in Washington, D.C. and a member of the steering committee of the Greater Boston District Council of the Urban Land Institute.

In partnership with New York mortgage banker, Norman Schoenfeld, he wrote Modern Real Estate (D.C. Heath Co.: 1979) which was favorably reviewed in The Real Estate Review and in The Appraisal Journal. He was a participating author in Alvin Arnold's Real Estate Syndication Manual (Warren, Gorham and Lamont: 1985) in which his chapter on the real estate syndication prospectus received special praise in Mortgage Banking magazine.

Other publications include The Law and the Poor (Orbis Books: 1973) an article on the Warranty of Habitability in the tenth anniversary issue of Real Estate Review, a chapter in Counseling Low and Moderate Income Clients (Massachusetts Continuing Legal Education Foundation: 1978), and a recent guest column in the American Banker on director liability in the Silverado savings and loan scandal. During the 1988 presidential campaign, he served as a member of the Bush-Quayle campaign urban affairs task force and was one of the three signed authors of its material on the homeless. Previously he had been a consultant to the Secretary and Undersecretary of the Department of Housing and Urban Development on this subject.

International Experience

In 1983, Father Parker was appointed by Secretary of State Shultz to represent the United States as a member of the delegation to UNESCO in Paris. In 1984, Secretary of State Shultz appointed him to represent the United States as an Alternate United State Delegate to the United Nations Human Rights Commission in Geneva. In 1986, he served as a consultant to The Secretary of State's Advisory Commission on South Africa. During the academic year 1986-1987, while on sabbatical, he held appointment as an Associate Fellow in the Southern African Research Program at Yale University. Recently, he has served as a frequent commentator on the unfolding events in South Africa for the Monitor Today, the Christian Science Network television series.

From 1973 onward, he has lived or lectured in a number of African countries including Zimbabwe (pre and post Independence), South Africa, Burundi, Rwanda, Senegal, Sierra Leone and Benin. During 1977 he served as Fulbright Senior Short Term Lecturer in Business Administration at national universities in Cameroun, Tchad, The Central African Empire and Togo. All lectures were delivered in French.

Widely published on African Affairs, South Africa: Lost Opportunities (Lexington Books: 1983) was favorably reviewed in Foreign Affairs and his article for America magazine, "South Africa Hemorrhages" was reprinted in the book Opposing Viewpoints on Foreign Policy (Greenwood Press: 1988). On April 30, 1987 he addressed the staff of the Vatican Justice Peace Commission at the Holy See as one of the invited respondents to its third world debt document and teaches a course on this subject at Boston College Law School where he is an Adjunct Full Professor. In 1980, he served as national secretary and assistant treasurer for Admiral Elmo Zumwalt's committee formed to assist in the election of President Reagan and contributed position papers on African affairs.

Administrative Experience

Currently Father Parker is a trustee of Regis College in Denver, Colorado and a member of the college's finance committee; a trustee of the Berkshire Ballet Company in Pittsfield, Massachusetts; a director of the International Business Center of New England; and a member of the board of directors of the Regis High School Foundation in Denver, Colorado engaged in raising $8.5 million for a new high school.

He recently finished his third term as President and chief executive officer of Boston Center for International Visitors, a voluntary organization funded by the United States Information Agency, the Commonwealth of Massachusetts and private donations. It arranges tours and business appointments for 1300 distinguished foreign visitors a year. From 1984 through 1986, he was chairman of the board of Schools for Children, Inc. of Arlington, MA., a primary and secondary school for emotionally retarded children.

In the past, he served on a number of board of directors including The Greater Boston Legal Services Corporation, The Massachusetts Governor's Advisory Committee on Legal Services, The Massachusetts Government Land Bank, Alianza Hispana of Boston, El Programa Roberto Clemente of Waltham, MA., The Jesuit Community of Boston College, The Massachusetts Bar Association Committee on Legal Services for the Poor (chairman), The Boston Theological Institute (finance committee chair), and Auburn House Publishing Company of Dover, Massachusetts.

Frank J. Parker, 51, is a Catholic priest, and resides at the Jesuit Community of Boston College. He is a graduate of Holy Cross College (B.S.), Eigenhoven-Louvain University in Belgium (M.A.) and Fordham University Law School (J.D.). He is a practicing attorney in Massachusetts and speaks French, Spanish, German and some Russian.

Dear Mr. Card:

I have been meaning to write this letter for a long time. You, more than almost anyone else in this Administration, knows of my work on the Campaign and the spirit in which I served. Extraordinary circumstances have prevented us from ever finishing our discussions on the subject of what would have been the most appropriate role for me in the Bush-Quayle Administration.

When Paul accepted his appointment at FEMA in June, we made the decision to phase down our business. As you may remember, we ran the business I founded as a team. Now as a result, I am in a position that I was not during the Transition, that is, to consider a full-time, permanent political appointment in the Administration.

My background and experience would seem to be suited for either a special assistant-type staff position, events/protocol aide, or a functional type coordinator/manager for activities such as public affairs, press & communications, external liaison, distinguished visitors, special events or special projects.

According to the collective opinions of people who knew me best on the Campaign (senior staff, the media, dignitaries and officials from past and current administrations) they would recommend me for a general White House position, Protocol Aide, the First Lady's staff, the White House Press Office or the White House Visitors Office.

I feel very strongly that my life and the progression of my work experience for the last 20 years have prepared me to not only manage, but to excel, in every field of human endeavor I have dealt with: from the hospital emergency room, to the Greek School, to government service, to the corporate world and through a historic presidential political campaign.

As you review my campaign credentials, I would like to reiterate the following for your consideration:

- o I joined the campaign with enthusiasm, hope, faith, loyalty and inspiration and worked in that spirit all along through to the end.

- o I worked very hard to accommodate the many official visitors, both foreign and domestic, scheduled and unscheduled, without any conflicts, hard feelings, misunderstandings, or detriment to the Campaign. I used all patience, tact, discretion and diplomacy to ensure that all visitors were treated consistent with the principles representative of the National Headquarters of the Vice President of the United States. I personally honored to the fullest the place and the office he held, and conducted myself accordingly.
- o I never missed an opportunity in the office, or externally, to be a vigorous and persuasive advocate for the Vice President, Mrs. Bush and their stands on the issues. I was most effective in this role when talking to those awaiting appointments, especially the media.
- o The culmination and the high point of my thoughts, feelings, actions and respect for the Vice President and Mrs. Bush came together during the snows of New Hampshire. My message there was that despite the polls and negative publicity, we had the best candidate, and he would be the next President of the United States. From my sustained daily contact with the voters, I sensed the tide turning long before the pollsters and our opponents. The work I did to convince what became a majority of New Hampshire voters, stands as the most enduring testament of my sincere efforts on behalf of George Bush and his family.
- o At this point, with your support and encouragement, I would like to be considered for doing from inside the White House, what I did at GBFP National Headquarters.

Since you have expressed sincere, heartfelt support in the past, I feel comfortable in contacting you now to follow up on possibilities and opportunities within the White House. You are, and have been, the only person in the West Wing to whom I can turn. Although I have some ideas on the subject, I leave completely to your discretion and judgement, the framework and the details of where would be most ideal for me as a member of the White House staff.

Attached are a resume and an SF-171 for your review. At this time, I am very agreeable to discuss any arrangements which allow you the flexibility needed in making a position for me available within the White House. I look forward to discussing with you specific positions, either current or projected, at your earliest convenience.

Sincerely yours,

Andy,

Mr. Nowick (he said you know him) called about this today. He said that a FEMA grant has been authorized for the Camp, but the appropriations bill has not yet passed. He wants you to get involved -- specifically, he wants a letter from you to the Camp indicating that the monies will be forthcoming.

I told Mr. Nowick that such a letter from you absolutely inappropriate. He responded, "Not even for an old friend." Not possible, I told him.

I can send this to Sally Kelley so that we can get some "official" letter from FEMA. What Mr. Piche's letter doesn't say, and what Mr. Nowick told me, is that their creditors are breathing down their necks, and that's why they want more assurances about their grant. More to the point, they want to know when they might expect the money.

To Sally Kelley??

Please have Cabinet Affairs get the scoop -- not on this project but on the general situation with Fed # for all of the FEMA requests.

MEMORANDUM FOR ANDY CARD

FROM: EDE HOLIDAY grb for

SUBJECT: Status of FEMA Disaster Relief Fund

Per your request, the following is a summary of the status of the President's Disaster Relief Fund.

The President's Disaster Relief Fund is a "no-year" fund, authorized to disburse monies when the President declares a disaster or emergency under the Act. Annual appropriation requests have historically been based upon estimated average year disaster assistance costs, adjusted for any surplus or deficit from the previous year. In the past, Congress has provided supplemental appropriations at the President's request.

The current shortfall in the Relief Fund is in large part attributable to appropriations in 1989, 1990 and 1991 totalling $542 million less than the Administration's requests. While two supplementals were provided to meet the extraordinary costs of Hurricane Hugo and the Loma Prieta earthquake, there were virtually no funds appropriated to meet the costs of the 74 other disasters declared during 1990 and 1991.

In June, 1991, existing unfunded disaster relief costs totalled $693 million, for which a supplemental appropriation was requested. In addition, OMB requested a supplemental $90 million as an amendment to the 1992 budget to cover anticipated costs for the remainder of the fiscal year. OMB determined that only $151 million of the $693 million meets the emergency definition and provided Congress offsets sufficient to cover the remainder.

On October 29th, the House passed a supplemental appropriation with the $693 million requested, plus an additional $250 million added by the House Appropriations Committee. However, they presented the entire sum as emergency spending and failed to offset any part of the FEMA funding. In addition, they added other 'emergency' items (exempt from the cap and offset requirements) to bring the total supplemental amount to $7.5 billion.

Thirty-six states and territories have funds pending, with California, New York, Maine, and Louisiana owed the largest sums at $47.7 million, $23.5 million, $11.4 million, and $10.8 million, respectively.

Dear Andy,

Just a note to thank you for the suggestion that I call Dave Demarest. I did not get to speak to him, but your name obviously meant a great deal to the people in his office, because I was referred at once to Tony Snow, who, I gather, is in charge of the stable of speech writers and is adding a couple of persons to his staff. Tony asked for a few samples of my writing, which I promptly sent to him.

If you happen to see Dave or Tony, please put in a good word for me.

Again, many thanks, and I hope to see you again soon.

Sincerely,

Roland

Dear Mr. Card,

I am an engineer at Raytheon Company and a Suffolk University MBA candidate from Boston, Massachusetts. I will be participating in a four day seminar in Business and the Public Policy Process from Monday November 4 through Thursday November 7 in Washington D.C. and would like to meet with you if at all possible during this time frame, schedule permitting.

As a lifelong resident of Boston I have been actively involved in elective Republican politics, most recently working as a volunteer for the successful campaign of State Treasurer Joe Malone. I strongly support George Bush and admire your views and strategies concerning the future of the GOP. I would appreciate the opportunity to discuss with you my desire of joining the Republican National Committee as a regional representative. I am ambitious and goal oriented and possess organizational skills and innovative ideas needed to galvanize a new generation of Republican voters in Massachusetts.

Attached is an itinerary that I will be following during my stay. If there are any time slots convenient to your schedule please notify me at the above address. Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Edward J. O'Connell

Dear Mr Card:

Dr. Edward L. Bernays, subject of Bill Moyers' award-winning "A Walk Through the Twentieth Century", popularizer in English of his uncle, Sigmund Freud, recently named by Life magazine as one of the 100 most important shapers of the 20th century, and, the "father" of public relations, will turn 100 in late November. Northeastern University is joining London, New York, Phoenix and Barcelona, in honoring this remarkable man.

On Thursday November 21st, between 5 and 6 PM, several prominent people are joining friends and family of Dr Bernays in a "living biography". Our Committee felt that if it were at all possible, President Bush might wish to join in the celebration by phoning Dr. Bernays with a personal message. We would arrange a phone and special hook-up for the audience and media if this is possible. If not, we would appreciate a telegram that could be read at the same time.

Please let me know at your earliest convenience what arrangements might be made in this regard. If I can be of any assistance in this matter please let me know.

Dear Mr. Card,

Greetings from Holbrook! I'll bet you're not experiencing the heat wave that has hit this area! Then again, I recall a few visits to Washington in the summer and they certainly weren't cool ones.

I am writing in hopes of a visit to the White House for our 7th and 8th grade students when we take a trip to Washington in October. We were there two years ago and unfortunately I waited too long to request a visit. Hope this one isn't too late as I realize your schedule is planned long in advance.

We will be arriving in Washington on Monday morning, October 14, 1991 and departing Wednesday evening, October 16th.

I will be most grateful if during our stay in Washington we would be able to meet with you and visit the White House.

I look forward to hearing from you.

Many thanks!

Dear Andy:

I just learned from my friend John Brooks of Brooks/Flemming Associates that the Ronald Reagan Library is currently looking for a Director of Audio-Visual. John Brooks was asked by the Project Director for recommendations for people who could do the job.

I was wondering if you would consider faxing a letter of recommendation to John Brooks on my behalf. His fax number is 213-474-3637. Needless to say I would great interest in obtaining this job. My future here in Mashpee will not be long lasting.

If you should have any questions, please call John at 213-470-1477, or I can reached at 508 539-1554 daytime. I would be grateful to you if you could help me out in your letter. Keep in touch.

Dear Mr. Budd,

During a conversation today, our mutual friend Albert Polgar indicated to me that you might be available to be a guest speaker for one of our Council functions on Saturday, November 9, 1991.

We would be most delighted if your schedule could permit your joining us then.

This organization will be having its annual convention on that date at the Ramada Hotel in the Old Town section of Alexandria, Virginia.

On that Saturday, a Luncheon and then a Dinner event will be part of our meeting program.

Your remarks as a distinguished guest for our delegates at either of those occasions would be much appreciated and a great enhancement to our proceedings.

Please advise us if one of those times would be convenient to your available time.

With kind regards,

EXECUTIVE BOARD BULLETIN

October 1991

The next meeting of our Executive Board will be on Friday, November 8, 1991 at the NACO Building 440 First Street, N.W. in Washington, D.C. in the 8th floor conference room. That conference room can easily accomodate 40 or more persons. We will begin our business session at 10:00 AM, however coffee service will be available at 9:30. This meeting should conclude about noontime which will then allow for lunch and travel to our next event which will be the White House briefing at 3:00 PM.

The White House session is limited to persons who are registered for the convention and should include representatives of Public Liaison, Presidential Personnel, Political Affairs and NSC.

The NACO Building (National Association of County Officials) at 440 First Street N.W. is the place where our Heritage Groups Council has its Washington office (the RNC Building located at 310 First Street S.E. is used as our mailing address). This will be an opportunity for Board members who have not yet visited the Council's office facility at 440 First Street, N.W. to do so. It is just a few blocks from the Union Station and the Metro subway.

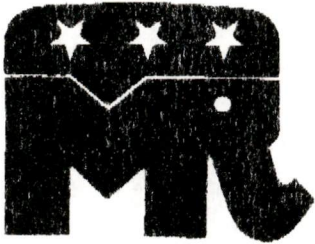

The Fall issue of the GOP Nationalities News has been mailed to all members along with a convention registration form. Please send in your registration as soon as possible. This will greatly assist the final planning for convention enents. Also make your reservations for rooms at the Ramada Hotel in Alexandria as soon as you can, mentioning the Heritage Groups when reserving.

It is very important that members who will not be able to attend the next board meeting send in their proxy. Those planning to attend can send in their board meeting attendance form with their convention registration form.

Proposals for consideration at the convention must be in writing. These include recommendations for awards, proposed resolutions, reports of officers and committee chairs plus some individual and collective vision of the future for our organization. This will be our Council's 21st convention. After two decades of operation we need a fresh overview of our capabilities and opportunities.

The report of the Nominations Committee is enclosed. Elections are scheduled for the afternoon session of our convention on Saturday, November 9th. Our constitution provides that in addition to the Nominations Committee selections, any eligible member may be nominated by written petition submitted at least 24 hours prior to the scheduled time of elections. Consult your copy of the Council's Constitution and By-Laws for details.

Each State Council and each Nationality Federation should strive for a full delegation (3 to 6 delegates plus 3 to 6 alternates plus additional sponsored guests) at the convention. In addition please promote attendance at our Saturday luncheon and evening banquet among your local area friends and business associates.

Andy,

I presume you have a couple of things far more important than this but I was wondering whether you and consequently the President ever received the copy of my book "Wells" which I left for you at the motel annex in late May.

I addressed it to the President through you as I was instructed to do. Two young men in the office accepted it from me.

I wanted to stop to see your folks last weekend but didn't know enough about your Dad's condition so I did not. I was on my way to and from Fall River.

As a friend, let me suggest to you that this economy is in a mess. Many people are distraught. In my own case four of my children are unemployed and my wife and I could not survive if not for life savings.

The domestic issues
must receive priority.

Dear Rose:

Thanks very much for your letter of October 3. I know this year's Red and White Ball will be as wonderful as always, and Kathi and I had hoped very much to be able to join in the festivities. Unfortunately, it just isn't possible for us to come to Boston that weekend.

Please pass along our regrets to all our friends at the Greater Boston Association for Retarded Citizens, Inc., and Kathi and I send our very best wishes for a successful and enjoyable evening.

Dear Andy:

Driving to work this morning, I heard you speaking with Gary Lapiere, and now I know quite a bit about communications in the White House.

Things are going along nicely for the Red and White Ball, and we're hoping that we'll have the pleasure of Kathy and Andy Card's company. The social hour is 6:30 to 7:30 and dinner at 8.

Looking forward to greeting you both. If there are any questions, please don't hesitate to write or call.

Best personal regards.

I would like to invite you and your lovely wife Kathi to be our guests on Saturday evening, November 2nd at our Red and White Ball to be held in the Grand Ballroom of the Sheraton Boston Hotel and Towers.

We will be honoring Jim Anathan, President of Filene's Basement, who has been a silent benefactor of our Association for many years.

The cast of players for the evening include Samuel J. Gerson, CEO of Filene's Basement, as Dinner Chairman and the one and only Geraldo Rivera as Master of Ceremonies. Having the "Cards" present would complete the evening.

Maybe November 2nd, 1991 will be our lucky night. I do hope so.

Dear Andy,

In April, 1990, I wrote to you expressing my interest in working for this Administration, and asked for your support. You replied within three days and said you would "put in a good word" on my behalf. It appears that your word was solid gold, and I do thank you for your kindness and sincere willingness to help. An offer was extended to me by early July, 1990 and the Presidential Personnel process was put in motion.

As these matters take time, and are subject to ever-changing scheduling influences and timetables, I proceeded with my business commitments and obligations until such moment that I received official notification and a confirmed starting date. As the months passed, I didn't think it appropriate to take up your time discussing the case, and I waited for the process to work.

Recent world events have reinforced my pride in the President's accomplishments, and again revalidated my family's original belief for us to work in the campaign during the years preceding the election.

Now that it's official, I am honored to serve this President. I have been happily employed in the Administration since June of this year. The work thus far has been personally interesting and professionally rewarding. In New England matters, travel in my official capacity took me to Bah-hston last week to our Region I Office in the McCormack Building for meetings and briefings. I learned however, that before one can pah-hk the cah-h in that neighborhood, I daresay; one must first learn how to navigate the streets of Boston. Nevertheless, the meetings went extremely well and I will be working closely with the Regional Director and his staff in the coming months.

I hope that circumstances allow us the opportunity to meet in the near future, and I very much look forward to seeing you and thanking you again in person.

Respectfully yours,

Paul Byron Pattak

Dear Andy and Kathleen:

On behalf of Haruo Yamaguchi and Masashi Kojima, Chairman and President of Nippon Telegraph and Telephone Corporation, it is my pleasure to invite you to join us for dinner on the occasion of their first joint visit to the United States in recognition of the ten year achievements of the United States/Japan Government Procurement Agreement.

We'll gather at 7:30 o'clock for dinner, Wednesday, November 13, 1991, at my Washington home, 2320 Tracy Place, N.W. Dress will be informal, and there will be parking service at the door. We should adjourn by 9:45 o'clock.

The NTT Bilateral Agreement has been a major cornerstone for the ever-expanding trade dialogue between our Countries. It has been utilized as a constructive example by the United States and is regarded as a model for the world telecommunications equipment trade.

During these ten years, NTT has seen a steady increase in its purchases of American goods. Clearly, Messrs. Yamaguchi and Kojima are committed to maintaining this open market policy which has marked NTT over these years.

I do hope that your busy schedule will permit you to join us for dinner to meet these two important Japanese business leaders who head the world's largest company. Their dedication is essential to the furtherance of American market opportunities.

With best wishes,

Sincerely yours,

Roy Pfautch

The Honorable Andrew H. Card, Jr.
Assistant to the President and
Deputy to the Chief of Staff
The White House
Washington, D.C. 20500

Dear Andy:

I am writing to update you on the status of activities of the World Cup USA 1994 Organizing Committee ("Committee") and to inquire as to the availability of the President to participate (via video) at the December 8, 1991 FIFA World Cup Qualifying Draw.

The enclosed information summarizes many of the activities of the Committee since I last wrote to you in January 1990, however allow me to highlight a few specific items.

Now heading the Committee is Charles G. Cale, chief executive officer and co-chairman who operates out of our executive offices in Los Angeles. Alan I. Rothenberg serves as chairman of the Committee as well as president of the United States Soccer Federation, a position to which he was elected August 5, 1990. Scott LeTellier is president and chief operating officer of the Committee and Dr. Henry A. Kissinger serves as the Committee's honorary chairman. Among many other endeavors in behalf of the Committee, Dr. Kissinger helped in the unveiling of our official logo in April of this year (see enclosed picture).

I continue to serve as a consultant to the Committee with responsibility for a variety of activities including evaluation of the bids submitted by the local committees of 26 U.S. cities (including New Haven's proposal advancing the Yale Bowl) vying to be selected as venues for the 1994 tournament.

The Committee, in collaboration with soccer's international governing body, FIFA, will make the decision early next year of which eight to 12 cities will actually serve as game sites during the June 17 - July 17, 1994 tournament.

To give you some idea of what is in store for the U.S., and in particular, the cities that host the event in 1994, the World Cup held in Italy in the summer of 1990 (the tournament is held every four years) had a cumulative television audience of more than 26 billion viewers. The championship game alone drew

The Honorable Andrew H. Card, Jr.
September 6, 1991

a live television audience of 1.3 billion people. As a point of reference, 250 million people around the world saw Super Bowl XXV.

On another matter, the Committee is enjoying strong Congressional support for legislation to allow the U.S. Mint to strike a commemorative coin honoring the 1994 World Cup tournament. Plans are also being developed to consider the issuance of a commemorative stamp.

On a related marketing matter, American Airlines has joined the Committee as the official airline for the 1994 World Cup and will feature our logo and ads about the event in future print and broadcast advertising.

Since the arrival earlier this year of new coach, Bora Milutinovic, the U.S. National Team has won the CONCACAF Gold Cup, defeated English division II champions Sheffield Wednesday and tied Italian league powerhouses Juventus and AC Milan. Our Women's National Team is playing in the first ever FIFA World Championship for Women's Football in the People's Republic of China this November and is considered the favorite to win the tournament.

These recent victories and those of our Under-17 and Under-23 Men's Teams, are important to the Committee in projecting an image to the rest of the world of our nation's competitive readiness in soccer on the eve of our hosting of the world's greatest sports spectacle.

In advance of 1994, the Committee will stage a number of major events of international significance the first one being the FIFA World Cup 1994 Qualifying Draw ("Draw").

The Draw will be conducted in the afternoon of Sunday, December 8, 1991 at The Paramount theater (formerly the Felt Forum) at Madison Square Garden before a live audience of approximately 2,000 domestic and international soccer federation officials, corporate representatives and government officials. Over 300 members of the international and U.S. press corps will cover the event and it is possible that some of the international broadcast unions will carry the Draw live.

The Draw is actually a random drawing of lots whereby approximately 120 nations (and in turn their respective national soccer teams) are organized by continental groupings for tournament play over the next two years.

The Honorable Andrew H. Card, Jr.

These international tournaments will eventually produce the 22 national soccer teams that will join the United States (host of the 1994 event) and Germany (world champion of the 1990 World Cup) in playing the 1994 World Cup.

FIFA, and World Cup USA 1994 officials, will conduct the proceedings in a business-like fashion somewhat analogous to the method employed by the National Basketball Association or National Football League in their annual player draft events. During scheduled breaks in the Draw proceedings, we will also feature video vignettes of some of the greatest moments in World Cup soccer competition.

Following the Draw, in the evening of December 8, the Committee will stage a large dinner in the Grand Ballroom of the New York Hilton for the dignitaries attending the Draw, as well as other special invited guests.

The gala dinner program will feature, among other entertainment elements, video "talking-head" segments of internationally known celebrities, sports figures and other dignitaries speaking to their knowledge and passion for the sport and support for the United States' hosting of the 1994 event.

Among the long list of the celebrities we are approaching to appear in video segments are Arnold Schwarzenegger, Julio Iglesias, Gloria Estefan and Pele, as well as internationally recognizable sports star spokesmen who come to us through the corporate sponsors of World Cup 1994.

The setting and duration for each video talking-head segment will be as varied as the celebrity and/or the location we film them in (e.g. Rod Stewart may be kicking a soccer ball on a field while his voice-over (and music) speaks to his participation in the sport; Julio Iglesias may be sitting in a living room setting and informally chat about his involvement in soccer as a youth and his best memories of past World Cup tournaments, etc.).

The Committee would be honored if President Bush would join (via a taped video segment) those attending the dinner and deliver a special message about his personal experiences with soccer. In this context, I am particularly reminded of Tom Boswell's March 31, 1989 article in The Washington Post, in which he reports that President Bush "...still thinks soccer, in which he led Yale to a title as center forward, may've have been his best sport".

The Honorable Andrew H. Card, Jr.

A perfect setting for taping the President would be an informal outdoor shot (perhaps sitting in a lawn chair in casual attire on the grounds of Camp David or at Kennebunkport). Though we can script him, I believe that the product would be much more valuable if we captured his extemporaneous remarks as the result of asking him a few off-camera questions (e.g. his experience with soccer at Yale, the value of the sport as a good physical conditioner for youth, his feelings about the World Cup coming to the United States, etc.).

We are, of course, prepared to provide the crew, lighting and script direction if that meets with your approval. I see the entire taping session lasting no more than twenty minutes and we will edit the final segment to fit the time parameters of our dinner program.

I realize that the availability of the President for this event is subject to scheduling review. We welcome the opportunity to tape him at any time that is convenient to his schedule prior to December 1, 1991, when we will need to go to final edit on our rough-cut video segments.

Thank you Andy for considering this request. I am regularly traveling and only stop by the Virginia World Cup office on an occasional basis. You can best communicate with me by using the address/telephone number/fax number listed on my attached business card. I look forward to hearing from you in the near future.

Sincerely,

I continue to serve as a consultant to the Committee with responsibility for a variety of activities including evaluation of the bids submitted by the local committees of 26 U.S. cities (including New Haven's proposal advancing the Yale Bowl) vying to be selected as venues for the 1994 tournament.

The Committee, in collaboration with soccer's international governing body, FIFA, will make the decision early next year of which eight to 12 cities will actually serve as game sites during the June 17 - July 17, 1994 tournament.

To give you some idea of what is in store for the U.S., and in particular, the cities that host the event in 1994, the World Cup held in Italy in the summer of 1990 (the tournament is held every four years) had a cumulative television audience of more than 26 billion viewers. The championship game alone drew

The Honorable Andrew H. Card, Jr.

a live television audience of 1.3 billion people. As a point of reference, 250 million people around the world saw Super Bowl XXV.

On another matter, the Committee is enjoying strong Congressional support for legislation to allow the U.S. Mint to strike a commemorative coin honoring the 1994 World Cup tournament. Plans are also being developed to consider the issuance of a commemorative stamp.

On a related marketing matter, American Airlines has joined the Committee as the official airline for the 1994 World Cup and will feature our logo and ads about the event in future print and broadcast advertising.

Since the arrival earlier this year of new coach, Bora Milutinovic, the U.S. National Team has won the CONCACAF Gold Cup, defeated English division II champions Sheffield Wednesday and tied Italian league powerhouses Juventus and AC Milan. Our Women's National Team is playing in the first ever FIFA World Championship for Women's Football in the People's Republic of China this November and is considered the favorite to win the tournament.

These recent victories and those of our Under-17 and Under-23 Men's Teams, are important to the Committee in projecting an image to the rest of the world of our nation's competitive readiness in soccer on the eve of our hosting of the world's greatest sports spectacle.

In advance of 1994, the Committee will stage a number of major events of international significance the first one being the FIFA World Cup 1994 Qualifying Draw ("Draw").

The Draw will be conducted in the afternoon of Sunday, December 8, 1991 at The Paramount theater (formerly the Felt Forum) at Madison Square Garden before a live audience of approximately 2,000 domestic and international soccer federation officials, corporate representatives and government officials. Over 300 members of the international and U.S. press corps will cover the event and it is possible that some of the international broadcast unions will carry the Draw live.

The Draw is actually a random drawing of lots whereby approximately 120 nations (and in turn their respective national soccer teams) are organized by continental groupings for tournament play over the next two years.

The Honorable Andrew H. Card, Jr.

These international tournaments will eventually produce the 22 national soccer teams that will join the United States (host of the 1994 event) and Germany (world champion of the 1990 World Cup) in playing the 1994 World Cup.

FIFA, and World Cup USA 1994 officials, will conduct the proceedings in a business-like fashion somewhat analogous to the method employed by the National Basketball Association or National Football League in their annual player draft events. During scheduled breaks in the Draw proceedings, we will also feature video vignettes of some of the greatest moments in World Cup soccer competition.

Following the Draw, in the evening of December 8, the Committee will stage a large dinner in the Grand Ballroom of the New York Hilton for the dignitaries attending the Draw, as well as other special invited guests.

The gala dinner program will feature, among other entertainment elements, video "talking-head" segments of internationally known celebrities, sports figures and other dignitaries speaking to their knowledge and passion for the sport and support for the United States' hosting of the 1994 event.

Among the long list of the celebrities we are approaching to appear in video segments are Arnold Schwarzenegger, Julio Iglesias, Gloria Estefan and Pele, as well as internationally recognizable sports star spokesmen who come to us through the corporate sponsors of World Cup 1994.

The setting and duration for each video talking-head segment will be as varied as the celebrity and/or the location we film them in (e.g. Rod Stewart may be kicking a soccer ball on a field while his voice-over (and music) speaks to his participation in the sport; Julio Iglesias may be sitting in a living room setting and informally chat about his involvement in soccer as a youth and his best memories of past World Cup tournaments, etc.).

The Committee would be honored if President Bush would join (via a taped video segment) those attending the dinner and deliver a special message about his personal experiences with soccer. In this context, I am particularly reminded of Tom Boswell's March 31, 1989 article in The Washington Post, in which he reports that President Bush "...still thinks soccer, in which he led Yale to a title as center forward, may've have been his best sport".

The Honorable Andrew H. Card, Jr.

A perfect setting for taping the President would be an informal outdoor shot (perhaps sitting in a lawn chair in casual attire on the grounds of Camp David or at Kennebunkport). Though we can script him, I believe that the product would be much more valuable if we captured his extemporaneous remarks as the result of asking him a few off-camera questions (e.g. his experience with soccer at Yale, the value of the sport as a good physical conditioner for youth, his feelings about the World Cup coming to the United States, etc.).

We are, of course, prepared to provide the crew, lighting and script direction if that meets with your approval. I see the entire taping session lasting no more than twenty minutes and we will edit the final segment to fit the time parameters of our dinner program.

I realize that the availability of the President for this event is subject to scheduling review. We welcome the opportunity to tape him at any time that is convenient to his schedule prior to December 1, 1991, when we will need to go to final edit on our rough-cut video segments.

Thank you Andy for considering this request. I am regularly traveling and only stop by the Virginia World Cup office on an occasional basis. You can best communicate with me by using the address/telephone number/fax number listed on my attached business card. I look forward to hearing from you in the near future.

Sincerely,

Dear Mr. Card:

On behalf of the National Association of Medical Equipment Suppliers (NAMES), I would like to invite you to address our annual Legislative Conference to be held September 23rd and 24th in Washington, D.C. Pursuant to physician prescription, NAMES members provide home medical equipment (HME) and services for millions of elderly and disabled individuals in the home care setting. These items range from traditional equipment such as hospital beds, to highly sophisticated services such as oxygen ventilators and parenteral and enteral nutrition therapies.

Each year, approximately 300 industry leaders gather in Washington to meet with their elected representatives and senior Administration officials. We feel that your views on the Administration's legislative agenda for the upcoming year and their impact on the health care industry would be of immense value to NAMES members.

We hope you can join us on the morning of Monday, September 23 at 10:30 or the morning of Tuesday, September 24, 1991 at 7:30 at the Hyatt Regency Hotel on Capitol Hill.

Thank you for your consideration. On behalf of NAMES, I hope you will be able to honor us with your presence, and I will follow up shortly with your office. In the meantime, if you need any additional information on the NAMES Legislative Conference or have any questions, please do not hesitate to call.

July 31, 1991

Mr. Andrew Card
Deputy Chief of Staff
The White House
1600 Pennsylvania Avenue
Washington, DC 20050

Dear Mr. Card:

The people of the town of Wilbraham, Massachusetts, and all of us at the Friendly Ice Cream Corporation, cordially invite President and Mrs. Bush to join us for breakfast Sunday morning, September 1, 1991.

This is not just any breakfast, mind you! It is a peach pancake breakfast, which is part of Wilbraham's Annual Peach Festival held every Labor Day weekend.

Wilbraham is famous for its juicy, delicious peaches and its weekend long festival, and we would be honored to have President and Mrs. Bush take some time to join us.

Wilbraham is a small town in Western Massachusetts. On Labor Day weekend, people from all over the Connecticut Valley come here to help celebrate with townspeople and its business people, too.

We see the Peach Festival as a commemoration of the American spirit. It is a gathering of family and friends and a great way to ring out the summer season and herald the arrival of fall. I have enclosed some literature from past Festivals.

Friendly's and its employees, many of whom make Wilbraham their home, are proud to be a part of the Peach Festival. It would make us even prouder if the First Family could see fit to join us in this celebration.

Sincerely,

Joseph A. O'Shaughnessy
Sr. Executive Vice President

Community spirit flavors Peach Festival

By SUSAN E. BOSMAN

While the rest of us relax at the beach or take a turn around the golf course, some Wilbraham residents are spending the last precious days of the summer season peeling peaches, putting up tents and stringing electrical wires.

These hard-working people, members of the Wilbraham Community Association, are preparing for the sixth annual Peach Festival.

The three-day celebration, running tomorrow through Sunday on the grounds of Minnechaug Regional High School in Wilbraham, is a community-spirited event in a town that traces its peach crop back to farmer Albert Bliss' harvest in 1876.

* * *

A peach of a country and western singer, Louise Mandrell, will kick off the entertainment portion of the Peach Festival tomorrow night at 7:30 on the outdoor Main Stage.

Other highlights will be the Peach Queen revue and an "oldies" dance party Saturday evening, the annual peach pancake breakfast Sunday from 8 to 11 a.m., the giant Peach Festival parade Sunday at 12:30 p.m. and a grand finale fireworks display Sunday night.

* * *

Admission tomorrow, which includes the Mandrell concert, is $10 for adults, $1 for children under 12.

Saturday and Sunday, all-day admission to the festival — including entertainment — is $4 for adults, $1 for children under 12.

12. Free parking is available at the high school and adjacent fields and all events will be held rain or shine.

Late August is the time for ripe peaches, and although organizers say this year's crop is not one of the most bountiful, there will still be plenty of peach milkshakes, peach sundaes, peach yogurt, fresh peaches and peach pies at various food booths.

More than 40 bushels of peaches have been peeled by members of the Wilbraham United Church for the fresh peach sundaes sold by that group in the food tent.

This pale orange delight — termed the "hit of the show" by food tent chairman Alan Peck — will be served up in syrup with Friendly's vanilla ice cream, topped with a dollop of whipped cream.

Perhaps the best thing about the Peach Festival, according to Wilbraham Community Association member Julia Phelps, is that it "helps to promote Wilbraham, to draw visitors to our town and to give us a sense of community and civic pride."

"It's a good opportunity to get together and it gives organizations a chance to make some money for their funding," added John Sevey, president of the Community Association and the man credited with developing the idea of a peach festival seven years ago.

* * *

Festival grounds will open at 5 p.m. tomorrow with food vendors and the juried crafts show ready for visitors.

Comedian Guy Moore will take the stage at 7 p.m., opening for headliner Mandrell.

The emphasis will be on children's entertainment Saturday, with the grounds scheduled to open at 9:30 a.m.

At 10 a.m. there will be a children's parade on the high school track field. Children are encouraged to dress in costume and to decorate their bicycles, wagons or carriages and join in the fun. All children in costume or with decorated conveyances will be admitted free.

Following the children's parade, the Strawberry Jam Band, a musical/comedy clown act, will perform on the Main Stage from 11 a.m. to noon.

Other Main Stage entertainment on Saturday will be the music of Rene and the Expressions from 3 to 5 p.m.

On the Children's Stage, comedian Jack Golden — alias "Dr. T. the Famous Trashologist" — will perform from noon to 12:45 p.m.

Mike Lewenczuk will give a martial arts demonstration at 1 p.m. and at 4 p.m. he will attempt to enter the Guinness Book of World Records by making a 17-foot flying sidekick break.

Other acts on the Children's Stage will be storyteller Robert King at 2 p.m. and the baton-twirling Shamrock Strutters at 4:30 p.m.

* * *

This year's Peach Queen, Laura White, will be joined by her court and by past Peach Festival queens in the Peach Queen revue at 6 p.m., opening the evening activities.

Festival-goers will then be rockin' to the oldies as the Revivals from New York present a dance party and contest from 7 to 10 p.m. Both events will take place on the festival's Main Stage.

Sunday will start off with a Peach Festival tradition — the annual peach pancake breakfast — from 8 to 11 a.m. in the high school cafeteria.

A buffet-style breakfast of pancakes with peach topping or maple syrup, sausage and juice and coffee will be served. Price is $4 for adults, $3 for children 12 and under.

The five-mile Peach Festival road race will begin at 8:30 a.m. at the high school grounds. Baskets of peaches will be awarded to the top male and female finishers in the various age categories.

On Sunday the festival grounds will open at noon.

The Peach Festival parade is slated to step off at 12:30 from Wilbraham & Monson Academy on Main Street. The 90-minute parade, featuring many bands, the Peach Queen and her court, will be led by grand marshals Joseph Surprenant and John Kirchhof.

The parade will travel down

Main Street to the Peach Festival grounds at the high school.

Immediately following the parade and continuing to 5:30 p.m., several of the participating bands will entertain on the festival grounds and on the Main Stage.

* * *

Youngsters will be treated to magic with Michael Wald at 2:30 p.m. on the Children's Stage, followed by storyteller Tom McCabe of the Children's Theater of Massachusetts at 3:30 p.m.

Elfin Puppet Theater will give an audience-participation show of puppetry and music at 4:30 p.m., followed by magic and comedy with John Sullivan from 5:30 to 6:30 p.m.

Local talent from the Hampden-Wilbraham area will be showcased on the Main Stage from 6:30 to 7:30 p.m. in "Wilbraham-Hampden on Parade," a new event this year. And the Ed Cerveney Orchestra will give a one-hour show of big band sounds for listening and dancing from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m.

And when the dancing's over, stay around for the Peach Festival finale, a spectacular fireworks display.

Dear Andy:

Thank you for your recent note and, I have learned, your engineering in a wonderful letter from President Bush.

Andy, I can't explain how thrilled I am to have such a nice expression from the greatest man of our day and the most dynamic of our presidents. I am doing a balancing act between pride and humility. I am very grateful.

I am grateful for your abiding interest over these years. I will keep you informed of what's poppin.
