WASHINGTON, DC 20510

January 17, 1989

The Honorable Richard Thornburgh
Attorney General
Department of Justice
Constitution Avenue & 10th Street, N.W.
Washington, D.C. 20530

Dear Attorney General Thornburgh:

We would like to take this opportunity to recommend four individuals whom we feel eminently qualified for appointment as Federal District judge for Kansas on the United States District Court to assume the seat which was vacated by Judge Richard D. Rogers on January 1, 1989.

John W. Lungstrum of Lawrence, Kansas, is an active trial attorney, part-time law school professor, and community leader who comes highly recommended as an effective trial attorney.

Christel E. Marquardt, partner in a Topeka law firm, is past president of the Kansas Bar Association, has lectured on issues important to women and special interest groups, and has demonstrated her determination to succeed despite a number of challenges during her professional career.

Robert H. Roth of Wichita, a former U.S. attorney with many years of trial experience in both the Federal and State courts, was selected to serve as a Fellow of the American College of Trial Lawyers and maintains a very active practice in his Wichita law firm.

G.T. (Tom) Van Bebber of Topeka has served effectively as U.S. Magistrate since 1982 and prior to that time held a number of other responsible positions in public service. He is well-known in the legal community for his legal and judicial skills.

Each of these individuals demonstrates a strength of character, integrity, and the intellectual capacity to serve with distinction. We would be pleased to have any one of them appointed to this important judicial seat and encourage your careful consideration in a timely manner.

Sincerely,

BOB DOLE

Born Topeka, Kansas, November 2, 1945. Educated in the public schools of Topeka and Lawrence, Kansas and graduated from the Pembroke Country Day School, Kansas City, Missouri, 1963. Winner of National Merit Scholarship and Yale National Scholarship (awarded to 40 members of the incoming class of 1967 by Yale University based upon high school performance and standardized test scores).

Graduated from Yale University, 1967, Magna Cum Laude, with a Bachelors of Arts Degree in the Scholars of the House program. The Scholars of the House program was a special program at Yale based on the Oxford tutorial educational approach. The entire senior year was devoted by each participant to his own large project without classes or exams but with individual sessions with faculty members and group sessions with the other thirteen participants and their advisors. The particular project in question was a biography of Alfred M. Landon, Governor of Kansas and 1936 Republican presidential nominee, entitled "Alfred M. Landon: Kansas's Progressive Republican". The project, which was based on research in primary materials, numerous interviews with Governor Landon and his contemporaries and a review of secondary sources, was awarded the Saybrook Fellows' Prize and resulted in awarding of the Scholars of the House Degree with Highest Distinction.

Member of Phi Beta Kappa and Pi Sigma Alpha honorary fraternities; Phi Gamma Delta social fraternity. Speaker of the house of the Yale Political Union, Speaker of the House of the Connecticut Intercollegiate Student Legislature and active in intramural sports and numerous campus activities.

Graduated from the University of Kansas School of Law, 1970. Recipient of William L. Burdick prize for academic distinction as a first year student and of the C.C. Stewart Award for outstanding academic achievement in the third year class. Order of the Coif; Editor-in-Chief, University of Kansas Law Review, 1969, 1970; Phi Delta Phi social fraternity. Served as Vice Chairman of University of Kansas All Student Council and on University of Kansas Disciplinary Board.

Distinguished Military Graduate, University of Kansas Reserve Officer Training Corps. Served 21 months on active duty in the United States Army as a lieutenant, serving 13 months in the Republic of Korea. Awarded the Army Commendation Medal.

Admitted to the Bars of California, Kansas, the United States District Court for the District of Kansas and the United States Tenth Circuit Court of Appeals. Practiced as an associate with the Los Angeles, California, law firm of Latham & Watkins in 1970 and 1971 prior to going on active military duty. After discharge from the Army became a partner in the Lawrence, Kansas, law firm now known as Stevens, Brand, Lungstrum, Golden & Winter.

Engaged in the general practice of law in Lawrence, Kansas, since December of 1972. Over the past approximately 10 years the principal focus has been on civil litigation, including both plaintiff's and defendant's cases, representing individuals, businesses and insurance companies. Member of the Douglas County Bar Association (President, 1982), Kansas Bar Association (member of several committees, including present service on Legislative Committee and its sub committee on Litigation) and American Bar Association (member, Section on Litigation and Insurance Section). Member of the Kansas Trial Lawyers Association and the Kansas Association of Defense Counsel.

Served as Lecturer in Law at the University of Kansas School of Law from 1973 through 1982 and in 1986, teaching courses in Contracts, Evidence, Trial Advocacy and Civil Procedure. Served on the Faculty of the Kansas Bar Association College of Advocacy, Trial Tactics and Techniques Institute since 1983.

Community service has included serving as President of the Lawrence United Fund; President of Independence Days of Lawrence, Inc. (a not-for-profit regional festival held annually over July 4); President of Seem-To-Be Players, Inc. (a not-for-profit children's theater company); President of Lawrence Rotary Club; Board member and Vice Chairman for Community Affairs of Lawrence

November 19, 1988

Mr. Chase Untermeyer
1825 Connecticut Avenue, N.W.
Washington, D.C. 20270

Dear Mr. Untermeyer:

It is my understanding from discussions with RNC that you are in charge of the Bush Administration appointments.

Currently, there is a vacancy in Kansas City, Kansas for a United States District Court judge. I believe that I have the background, education, and experience for such a position and would appreciate your consideration for the appointment. I have written both Senators Dole and Kassebaum concerning my interest.

Enclosed is a rather lengthy resume that I had prepared for an application for a judicial position in the state court system in Kansas. Knowing that every involvement is important when it comes to background investigations, I have included a lot of information that is undoubtedly unnecessary for your consideration, however, I request that you disregard those items you consider irrelevant.

The resume itemizes some of my involvement with the Republican Party which has included being Co-chair of the Kansas Lawyers for Bush-Quayle, Assistant Treasurer for Kansas, and Second Congressional District Secretary. I have held other positions within the Party and have been an active participant in many statewide and local campaigns.

This past June, I completed my term as president of the Kansas Bar Association. I was the first woman in their 105 year history to serve in that capacity.

During my years of legal experience, I have handled a broad variety of cases in municipal, district, and federal courts, and before administrative agencies at both the state and federal levels. The subject areas of my practice have included: labor and employment law, commercial transactions, collection, divorce, juvenile, adoption, mortgage foreclosures, labor arbitrations, motor carrier applications, automobile dealer license revocation, unemployment, social security, banking, civil rights, utility rate cases, conservatorships, guardianships, probate of estates, will drafting, trusts, consumer law, contracts, criminal, product liability, and negligence claims. I have represented plaintiffs and defendants, individuals and corporations. The majority of my practice in the past couple of years has been in the area of labor and employment law with an emphasis on defense of civil rights claims in federal court.

Even though I have never held judicial office, I have served as a hearing examiner for the Topeka Human Relations Commission, and I served on the Kansas Board of Discipline for Attorneys. The discipline board hears cases in a panel of three and then one of the panel writes the opinion.

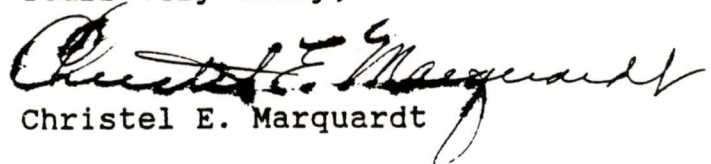

During the Republican Regional Conference this May in Des Moines, I had the privilege of talking with President-Elect Bush and had my picture taken with him. Unfortunately, I do not know who he had taking pictures so I don't have a copy. This fall I met with Neil Bush and Frank Fahrenkopf when they came to Topeka in separate trips. Neil was kind enough to forward a book to the President-Elect for signature. I had the book returned to me the day of the election with his signature which I really appreciated.

Currently, I am one of three candidates under consideration by Governor Hayden for appointment to the Kansas Court of Appeals. Even if I were fortunate enough to be selected, I would still desire your consideration for federal appointment. It would be a tremendous honor and privilege to serve President Bush in any capacity.

Please let me know if there is any other information that you might need.

Thank you for your consideration.

Yours very truly,

Christel E. Marquardt

PERSONAL DATA

I was born on the south side of Chicago, the second of three daughters to an immigrant father and first generation American mother. My father worked in the steel mills and bought a farm in 1948. Money was scarce; I worked my way through college with the help of scholarships (Pullman Foundation for undergraduate and Mabee for graduate work). I was married to Allan Marquardt for 22 years and was divorced in 1979 after having four sons. I was not employed outside the home from the time my first son was born until my term as a legal intern during law school. My eldest son, Eric, an Architecture student at Kansas State University, died in 1981 at the age of 21 after a nine month battle with cancer. My other three sons are adults. Philip and Andrew attended Kansas University. Philip is in finance work at Hantover in Kansas City, Missouri, and is working on his CPA degree. Andrew is working in advertising at Admark in Topeka and has applied for admission to law school. Joel is a fifth year student at Kansas State University in the School of Architectural Engineering.

Dear Mr. President:

We are writing with respect to the existing judicial vacancy in the United States District Court for the Eastern District of Kentucky. As you may know, we have jointly conferred exclusive authority for recommending federal judicial candidates for our State to the Federal Judicial Selection Commission of Kentucky. This Commission, which is composed of members appointed by each of us and the Kentucky Bar Association, has served the Commonwealth well in recommending competent, qualified individuals of the highest integrity.

After the vacancy arose last year, the Commission considered numerous applications, carefully investigated backgrounds and qualifications, and conducted several individual interviews with potential candidates. In accordance with the Charter and By-Laws of the Commission, the names of five individuals which the Commission considered to be most qualified were submitted to us.

On October 4, 1988, we forwarded the names of these individuals to President Reagan for his consideration. However, with the obvious time constraints impacting on this important decisionmaking process at that time, no final action was taken with respect to the vacancy during the 100th Congress.

President George Bush
February 15, 1989
Page 2

Therefore, we are pleased to resubmit to you the names and addresses of these individuals for your consideration, in alphabetical order, as follows:

Sidney B. Douglas
120 South Second Street
Harlan, Kentucky 40831

Paul D. Gudgel
177 North Upper Street
Lexington, Kentucky 40507

Joseph M. Hood
1405 Greenup Avenue
Ashland, Kentucky 41101

Daniel J. Venters
P.O. Box 1324
Somerset, Kentucky 42501

Anthony M. Wilhoit
151 South Main Street
Versailles, Kentucky 40383

We believe that each of these candidates possesses outstanding judicial and professional qualities, reflecting the high standards employed by the Commission. We ask that you act expeditiously in filling this vacancy in Eastern Kentucky, and offer our assistance in securing the confirmation of any of these qualified individuals.

Sincerely,

Wendell Ford
United States Senator

Mitch McConnell

JUDICIAL PHILOSOPHY
SENATOR ROBERT K. GUILLORY

I am a former State Senator representing Senatorial District 24 which encompassed St. Landry Parish and a portion of Lafayette Parish. I am the son of the late Judge Isom J. Guillory, Sr., and a younger brother of Judge Isom J. Guillory, Jr., who is presently serving as a District Judge in the Opelousas area. I have a life-long ambition to continue the family tradition of judicial service. One of the reasons I am interested in seeking the Federal Judicial Appointment in the Lafayette-Opelousas Division, is that this is primarily a maritime seat. The civil litigation involved in this Court is predominantly maritime in nature because of the offshore oil development in the Gulf of Mexico. I have acquired much expertise in this field and I have handled several landmark cases in the development of maritime law in this area. I would welcome the opportunity to apply my trial experience in the maritime field to this developing field of law.

I do believe that an expression to the Committee of my personal judicial philosophy may aid the individuals who are charged with the responsibility of selecting a new Federal Judge for this District.

LAW ENFORCEMENT

I am a strong advocate of strict law enforcement in criminal matters as I personally believe that the strict enforcement of criminal statutes will act as a deterrent to crime. I am particularly upset with the use of Federal Courts to upset, delay and frustrate the enforcement of criminal convictions under both State and Federal laws. The granting of long stays of execution to convicted felons, particularly on death row and the ordering of new trials on highly technical and novel defenses by creative and resourceful defense attorneys has in my opinion perverted speedy justice and encourages violent crimes. Such practices have caused a breakdown of public confidence in our entire judicial process.

INDUSTRIAL STRIFE

Federal Judges are vested with great discretion to issue temporary restraining orders while awaiting preliminary injunctions in cases of strikes or industrial strife. Although the power to collective bargain is an important foundation of our free enterprise system, disruptive strikes that cause irreparable injury especially in violation of contracts, should entitle management to immediate restraining orders while awaiting the trial of preliminary injunctions. Some strikes are so devastating to the general public and so crippling to certain businesses that temporary restraining orders and preliminary injunctions can avert an interruption of vital services to the public and to business.

BUSING

I personally do not believe that busing is a realistic or necessary tool to achieve racial integration of our schools. To transport children away from their homes and away from their neighborhoods to achieve a so-called racial balance does not aid in quality education, but does foster racial discord and inflames bigotry on the part of all races involved. I cannot at this time conceive of a racial situation that would compel me in good conscience to order a busing of children away from their home district.

MARITIME CASES

A large portion of the case load of this particular district involves maritime personal injury cases arising from the offshore oil industry. I was one of the attorneys who pioneered the application of seaman's doctrines and Federal Maritime Law to accidents involving stevedores, harbor workers and offshore personnel. I have also participated as a proprietor in the drilling and exploration of oil and gas. I have developed what I think is recognized as a great deal of expertise among my fellow attorneys in maritime law and have been successful in foreseeing developing trends and directions of maritime and admiralty cases. There are only eight (8) or ten (10) basic maritime defense law firms who handle the bulk of the defense of maritime cases before this Court, and by experience, I have come to know practically all of the maritime lawyers, many of their trial habits, and what they expect of a Federal Judge in the handling of these maritime cases. I personally believe I can command their respect, maintain and manage a fast docket without becoming a Judicial Tyrant. I think my experiences of some thirty years as a Trial Attorney in the maritime field will help me in distinguishing the innocent victims of maritime disasters from the chronic claimant who is attempting to malingering and use a questionable or doubtful accident to extort financial recompense from an employer. The ability to recognize the difference between the innocent victim and the malingerer is an important consideration in the selection of this particular Judge.

POLITICAL PHILOSOPHY

I believe that I am sensitive to the needs of the less fortunate in our society but also believe that each individual has a duty to be an industrious and a contributing member to a free enterprise system if he is physically able to contribute. As an example, in about 1973, when I was in the State Senate, I introduced a resolution to study the "No work - no welfare" program from California which Governor Ronald Regan had sponsored. When I ran for re-election in a district with a black population of about 35%, every welfare recipient, black family and white poverty family had a copy of my resolution and it was used quite effectively against me. Since I espoused the Regan philosophy years before it became popular to do so, hopefully this may show the full color of my political philosophy. I do hope you consider this action courageous rather than foolhardy.

ACADEMIC BACKGROUND

Academically, I have always been quite successful as I was a senior in college at the age of eighteen and by the age of twenty-one, I had completed 7 1/2 years of collegiate study, had completed law school and was admitted to the Louisiana Bar. I think that a creative academic background with a strong philosophy of strict law enforcement, prevention of industrial strife, my beliefs on the proper way to achieve racial integration and an expertise in maritime matters hopefully will make me your choice for the present vacancy.

I am quite well known in the Lafayette-Opelousas Division, as I represented both Opelousas and a portion of Lafayette Parish and a portion of the City of Lafayette as a State Senator. My nomination to this position would certainly be a popular choice among the members of the bar and the public officials in this area as I am personally acquainted with the vast majority of them.

HINDING VOLZ

OVER 300 LAWYERS DON'T WANT JOHN VOLZ TO BE A FEDERAL JUDGE. WHAT DID THIS U.S. ATTORNEY DO TO EARN SO MUCH OPPOSITION?

THE PROSPECT OF HAVING John Volz as the next federal district judge in Lafayette has succeeded in creating a rare show of unity in South Louisiana. Lawyers and non-lawyers, Republicans and Democrats, plaintiff-oriented attorneys and those representing insurance companies have joined in a common cause to fight the possible appointment of the veteran U.S. Attorney from New Orleans to an opening on the federal bench here.

Some lawyers oppose his nomination because they think the next judge should be from the Western District, which encompasses that part of the state between the Atchafalaya River and the Texas border. Many Republicans think it was a political error for the GOP to ignore local party members when deciding whose name to send to Washington. And still others just don't want Volz as the replacement for former District Judge John Duhe, who has moved up the U.S. Court of Appeals.

Although Volz has the support of the state Republican Patronage Committee, his name has not yet been sent to the U.S. Senate by President Bush, and thus far his defenders have been quiet. U.S. Rep. Bob Livingston, the state's senior Republican Congressman and an influential member of that committee, is pushing hard for Volz, but an aide in Livingston says his official position is "no comment" at this point. Volz himself refuses to discuss in detail his possible appointment.

ONE ATTORNEY WHO HAS NOT BEEN reticent about speaking out on the issue of Volz is Glenn Armentor. As president of the Lafayette Bar Association, Armentor spearheaded the passage of a resolution which supports the appointment of a judge who currently resides in the Western District. To date, seven other bar associations in the district have passed similar resolutions, and over 300 individual attorneys have signed a petition in support of that stand.

"The southwestern portion of the state of Louisiana is a culturally singular area . . . a thorough knowledge of which is essential to the proper qualifications for federal judicial service," the resolution states in part.

In the early days of his fight against the Volz nomination, Armentor focused on the issue of appointing a local candidate for the vacancy. But in recent weeks he has turned his attention to the suitability of Volz himself to sit on the federal bench. And in a rare show of candor given the sensitivity of the issue, Armentor contends that Volz should not be appointed to the judgeship because he lacks several important qualifications for the position. Furthermore, he charges that the Volz nomination is part of a political deal which resulted from Volz agreeing to prosecute former Gov. Edwin Edwards a second time after his first trial ended in a professes to have inadequate information.

Not so on Volz's legal background. Armentor says he has researched Volz's legal career and finds a dearth of the kind of experience a federal judge in Lafayette would need. "I have talked to a multiplicity of people," he says. "I can't find where he has 15 minutes of civil experience."

That will hurt him on the bench here, says Armentor. The docket in the Lafayette Division has a heavy load of civil cases—"one of the heaviest . . . in the state and probably in the Southeast"—particularly in the areas of personal injury and liability in federal jurisdictions. "He won't hit the ground running. He will have to acclimate himself," says Armentor. "It's totally like he's being exposed to this for the first time."

Armentor also questions whether Volz, a lifelong prosecutor with a reputation for aggressiveness, has the right personality—judicial temperament he calls it—for a judge. "Unanimously the people I have talked to tell me he is a short-tempered individual, easy to anger, that he does not forget his anger," he says. That lack of patience will hamper him in dealing with attorneys who appear before him, particularly younger ones who are just learning their way in federal court, says Armentor.

ARMENTOR RESERVES HIS STRONGEST words in contending that the state's Republicans are rewarding Volz with the federal judgeship in return for his prosecution of former Gov. Edwin Edwards. Volz, who tried and convicted a number of close friends and associates of the former governor, brought Edwards to trial in 1985 on racketeering charges relating to the sale of hospital permits. That case ended in a deadlock as the jury was unable to reach a unanimous decision on the complex charges. But Volz pressed on a second time, retried Edwards and lost.

"Any lawyer in Louisiana who tries cases in Louisiana knows he didn't have a chance to convict Edwin Edwards in the second trial."

John Volz calls the contention that the federal judgeship is part of a deal involving his second prosecution of former Gov. Edwin Edwards, "a political statement."

stalemate.

The qualities that make a good federal judge, says Armentor, are integrity, intellectual ability, experience and temperament. "I have no reason to question the integrity of John Volz," says Armentor. And on the issue of intellect, Armentor says Armentor. "I am not an Edwards fan. But any governor including Edwards could have done a lot to help the state in the six or seven or eight months during his [second] trial . . . It was a traumatizing of Louisiana needlessly.

The appointment of Volz is the final event in that story, contends Armentor. "It appears to me that this is pretty much what this federal judgeship is all about," he says. "It appears that this is a political payoff."

The "catalyzing forces" pushing the Volz nomination, Armentor charges, are U.S. Rep. Bob Livingston, former Gov. Dave Treen and Billy Nungesser, chairman of the Louisiana Republican Party. All are longtime opponents of Edwards.

Armentor says he has not discussed his opposition to Volz with Edwards. "I am praying he stays out of this," he says.

Livingston, who represents a suburban New Orleans district, was not available for comment on the Volz issue, but in a letter to a top local Republican official he acknowledged his support for Volz. "In my opinion he is most deserving of an appointment to the bench, and for that reason I have committed to him that I would support him for the first seat that opened up," Livingston wrote in a letter to Lafayette Mayor Dud Lastrapes, who supports the appointment of a local candidate for the position. A copy of the letter was made available to The Times by Armentor.

Nungesser defended the choice of Volz in an interview with The Times. "He's been a U.S. Attorney over 10 years. He's familiar with it all . . . he's more qualified in federal law than anybody we've nominated," says Nungesser, who is in New Orleans. Nungesser says that as U.S. Attorney Volz oversees both criminal prosecution as well as a wide variety of civil matters in which the federal government is a participant. Although he acknowledges that the appointment of a judge from outside a federal judicial district is not typical procedure, he says it is "not unheard of."

And Nungesser strongly rejects Armentor's charges that the Volz nomination is a political reward for the longtime prosecutor. "I know in this particular case that is not true at all," he says. "Volz was not pushed by any Republican in this state to prosecute Edwards."

Contacted by The Times, Volz declined to defend himself in detail against the accusations made by Armentor's contention revolving about the second Edwards' trial, Volz rejects it as "a political statement."

TO BE SURE, THERE IS NO ABSENCE of politics in this, or any other, selection of a federal judge. Nominations for this position ultimately come from the President, but the White House depends heavily on recommendations from state party leaders. In this case, since Louisiana's two senators are Democrats, the Republican Patronage Committee, consisting of four GOP congressmen and three top officials of the state party including Nungesser, screens and sends the name or names of their favorite candidates to the administration.

The selection of Volz by the Patronage Committee has some local Republicans steaming. Lafayette attorney Ross Brupbacher, a member of the Republican State Central Committee, says there is an almost unanimous feeling among local party activists that they should have been consulted before the name of Volz was sent to Washington. Many local Republicans are opposing Volz's nomination because of the way it has been handled, says Brupbacher, who expressed interest in the position himself but no longer wants to be a candidate. "There's nothing personal against John Volz. Most of us don't even know him," he says.

He also questions the political wisdom of ignoring input from Lafayette, considering the area's past voting record in local, state and national elections. "It's a terrible political mistake. Lafayette has been one of the strongholds of the Republican Party," says Brupbacher. "They're shooting themselves in the foot."

Nungesser says he understands the opposition of some Republicans to the Volz nomination, but says there is similar dissatisfaction in New Orleans with the fact that two recent openings on the U.S. Fifth Circuit of Appeals were both filled by lawyers from the Lafayette area. "Nobody griped when Duke and [Appeals Court Judge Eugene] Davis were nominated," says Nungesser.

One political figure who wants it known that he has no involvement with the Volz nomination is U.S.

Livingston as the state's senior Republican congressman. "Talk to Bob Livingston," Breaux told The Times. "He personally is the one pushing him."

Armentor, however, wants Breaux to get involved in the matter now that it appears that Volz will be the nominee. "I think Breaux should oppose it for the reasons I have described," says Armentor. As a practical matter, the strong opposition of a Senator can doom the appointment of a judge.

Breaux says it's premature to make any decision on how he will vote because Volz' name has still not been submitted to the Senate, he has not seen the routine FBI background report on the candidate and the American Bar Association, which grades candidates for federal judicial positions, has not yet reviewed Volz. And he says he couldn't go to the chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee or his other senatorial colleagues and ask them to oppose Volz based on the fact that there is a lot of opposition to him back home. "This is not a personality contest," he says.

It is still unclear exactly when Breaux and the other senators will get a chance to vote on Volz. Nungesser says that he thinks that Volz will definitely be the nominee and he expects his name to be submitted to the Senate soon. But a Republican source in Washington, who asked not to be identified, says there is still a backlog of nominations from the Reagan administration which have not been reviewed. He projects that it could be as long as three to four months before the Volz matter comes up.

Armentor plans to continue his fight against Volz, even to the point of testifying before the Senate Judiciary Committee. At this point, he says, the campaign against Volz has lost some steam, since many lawyers feel that he is a sure shot to win the nomination and they are concerned about the future consequences of opposing him now.

Armentor recognizes that his own activities could jeopardize his practice because about 40 percent of it is in federal court. "I'm not real happy about being the guy who has to do this," says Armentor. "I will not be able to practice law in front of this man." —RICHARD BAUDOUIN

Mr. Stephen J. Markman
Assistant Attorney General
Office of Legal Policy
U.S. Department of Justice
Washington, D.C. 20530

Dear Mr. Markman:

This is to advise you that we are jointly recommending the appointment of Oregon Supreme Court Justice Robert Jones to the Federal District Court bench for Oregon. This is the only name that we will be putting forward as our recommendation for this position.

The vacancy on the Federal District Court bench in Oregon will occur because incumbent Judge James Burns has announced his intention to retire.

We have both known Bob Jones for over a quarter of a century. He has had a distinguished legal career, served in the Oregon legislature, and was appointed to the Multnomah County (Portland area) Circuit Court in 1963. After serving 20 years in that position, he was appointed to the Oregon Supreme Court where he currently serves.

Judge Jones is held in the highest esteem by those who knew him in the law practice, by those who served with him in the legislature, by those attorneys who had practiced before him, and by his fellow judges. There is no one more qualified in the State of Oregon for this position.

Enclosed is a raft of material documenting his background.

College).

Commencement speaker at law school graduation.

Admitted to practice before the courts of:

State of Oregon, September 1953.

U.S. Federal Court, 1954.

U.S. Tax Court, 1954.

Certified Trial Counsel, Defense Counsel and Law Officer,

U.S. Navy JAG Corps.

Legal experience since graduation from law school, before becoming circuit judge in 1963.

1953 to 1956 - practiced with F. Darold Windsor and Robert Briggs, American Bank Building, Portland, Oregon.

1956 to 1959 - with Thomas K. Thorpe, American Bank Building, Portland, Oregon.

1959 to 1963 - partner in law firm of Anderson, Franklin, Jones, Olsen and Bennett, American Bank Building, Portland, Oregon.

From 1953-59--General practice of law: Insurance subrogation and property damage defense. Small corporations, wills, divorces, bankruptcies, etc.

From 1959-63--Primarily represented workers. Personal injury trial firm, plaintiff.

We represented seamen and waterfront workers, teamsters, sawmill workers, loggers, etc. Most cases were auto personal injury, products liability, and cases involving Jones Act, Longshore and Harbor Workers Act, Employees Liability Act, and Workers Compensation Act, with some criminal defense and family law practice--heavy trial schedule.

During the last five years of practice, my partner, Clifford B. Olsen (now circuit judge), and I tried the majority of the cases and appeared in most of the courts in this state. Ten percent of these cases were in federal court and 90 percent in Oregon circuit courts. Ninety percent of the cases were civil; the rest were criminal. Tried more than 100 cases as chief or associate counsel in circuit court or federal district court to verdict or judgment (rather than settled), with 95 percent as sole counsel. Eighty percent were jury trials.

Judicial experience:

Justice, Oregon Supreme Court, Salem, OR 97310
(Dec. 1982 to date).

Appointed by Governor Atiyeh on recommendation of the Oregon State Bar Board of Governors as being "exceptionally well qualified." Elected to six-year term commencing Jan. 1985.

Circuit Judge, Fourth Judicial District, Department 10 of Multnomah County, Oregon (Nov. 1, 1963, to Dec. 1982).
Originated Juror Questionnaire; used nationwide for expediting trials.

Originated in Oregon sentencing councils to reduce disparity in punishments.

Originated Volunteers in Probation, Multnomah County.

Originated Chief Criminal Court procedures in Multnomah County, which reduced arrest-to-trial time from five months to 43 days, while serving as Chief Criminal Judge.

Presided over 1,800 circuit court trials.

Sentenced more than 3,000 felony offenders.

Law teaching experience:

Member of faculty of Northwestern School of Law of Lewis & Clark College, Portland, Oregon.

Courses: Insurance Law, 1964-68
Mortgages and Secured Transactions, 1966-67
Trial Advocacy, 1966-82
Evidence, 1968-82
Advanced Advocacy, 1985 to date

Faculty Rank: Adjunct Professor.

Law school activities

Although not a full-time faculty member, I have served as an active member of the Standing Committee on the Operation of the Law School at Lewis and Clark since its takeover from the old Northwestern College of Law in 1967. I also serve on the Dean Selection Committees and on the Trustee Task Force for the future of the Lewis and Clark Law School as well as serving on the operation of the law school committee. I am a member of the Board of Overseers for the college.

Trial Advocacy

Chief Justice Burger has been perhaps over-critical of the competency of our trial lawyers. Recognizing that our largest law school in Oregon had no training for trial lawyers, I pleaded with and finally convinced the Dean and the Curriculum Committee of Lewis & Clark Law School to start such a clinical program in 1967. Trial Advocacy was the first elective at our law school.

Our Trial Advocacy course grew until we were training over 100 future practitioners per year. Each student tries two full cases during the semester, one civil and one criminal. The trials are conducted in the circuit court rooms of the Multnomah County Courthouse in Portland before six-person juries. The jurors are adults with no legal background. The class has been accredited for three hours per semester with five instructors and has been recognized as one of the finest advocacy classes in the country. Paul Coie, of Perkins, Coie, etc., Seattle, Washington, rated the class one of the best in the nation in his evaluation for the American College of Trial Lawyers.

Each Tuesday evening, law clerks, volunteering as court administrators, assembled 30 or more jurors who were strangers to the student trial lawyers. The jurors sat in regular circuit court rooms. Each trial involved brief voir dire, opening statements, direct and cross-examination of lay and expert witnesses, closing arguments, judge's instructions and deliberation to verdict. Each non-participating student, each judge and each juror filled out evaluation forms of the performance followed by an oral critique by the judge and often tips from the jury. We squeezed all of this into a three-hour format and in doing so impressed the students with the need for intense preparation and efficiency in presenting the cases. Unfortunately, most class evaluations have been destroyed, but the course was always highly rated by the students.

NOTE: Vesta Harrison, Registrar at Northwestern School of Law of Lewis & Clark College, originated the Justice Robert E. Jones Trial Advocacy Award, to which I donated some $3,000.

Advanced Advocacy

After almost two decades of teaching at Lewis & Clark Law School (I took a two-year sabbatical from teaching), I found that I missed the challenge of teaching, and particularly the association with the students so much that I initiated and obtained Curriculum Committee approval to teach the Advanced Advocacy Seminar. This specialty course is restricted to 20 students who have taken the basic trial advocacy courses or otherwise participated in moot court competition. The class is restricted to 20 students. Rather than rehashing fundamentals, we discuss and practice the more sophisticated trial techniques utilizing articles and video tapes from many sources.

This is primarily a "do" as opposed to a "see and hear" learning experience. Each student participates before the video camera and the class, and the performance is replayed and critiqued by all. I also personally critique each student's performance on a one-to-one basis prior to and after class time. We use cases from the American Trial Lawyers Association, the National Moot Court Competition and the National Institute of Trial Advocacy. The class also hears lectures from Oregon's leading trial and appellate lawyers.

Many of the students in the class participate and excel in moot court competitions.

Evidence

The evidence courses I taught for so many years at the law school emphasized the importance of using the rules of evidence as an advocate. The class was taught by utilizing 240 video-taped trial scenes that I authored so the students could see and learn not only the rules of evidence, but how to make the objection and then decide whether the objection tactically should have been made. In using the "evidence in action" technique, the student learned as much about advocacy as the student learned about the law of evidence.

I taught evidence and advocacy five hours per semester: Evidence on Mondays and Wednesdays at 8 a.m. on the way to court and Trial Advocacy from 6 to 9 p.m. on Tuesday evenings. I maintained this "full-time/part-time" for almost a decade, but the grueling task was well worth the effort.

I also lecture on evidence throughout the country for various state judicial conferences.

I am on the evidence faculty of the:

American Academy of Judicial Education - 1972 to date.
National Judicial College - 1966 to date.

United States Senate

WASHINGTON, DC 20510-4503

February 23, 1989

The Honorable George Bush
President of the United States
The White House
1600 Pennsylvania Avenue
Washington, D.C. 20500

Dear Mr. President:

As you know, there is currently a vacancy on the United States District Court in Vermont.

Knowing how important a thorough review of all candidates for appointment to this position is, a Judicial Nominating Advisory Commission comprised of individuals appointed by Senator Patrick Leahy, the Vermont Bar Association and myself, was appointed to review and recommend the best qualified candidates. On Friday, the Board completed their work and have forwarded their unanimous decision that Fred I. Parker of Weybridge, Vermont is the best qualified candidate for the position. Senator Patrick Leahy and I concur with their conclusion.

It is therefore my honor and privilege to forward to you the name of Fred I. Parker as the candidate to fill the vacancy on the United States District Court in Vermont.

Enclosed is a copy of Fred Parker's resume and the letter from the Judicial Nominating Advisory Commission indicating the outcome of their deliberations.

If you have any questions or would like to discuss this recommendation, please call.

Thank you for your consideration of this recommendation.

Sincerely,

James M. Jeffords
United States Senator

SENATOR JEFFORDS' STATEMENT ON JUDICIAL NOMINEE

I am extremely pleased today to be forwarding to President Bush the name of an eminently qualified candidate for U.S. District Court Judge in Vermont. I feel honored to submit the name of Fred I. Parker, ~~or~~ Weybridge for the seat. It is indeed a privilege to submit to the President such a fine candidate, one who has far surpassed the necessary qualifications for nomination to the bench and one who enjoys such a high measure of respect and admiration from his peers in the legal community.

I commend the Vermont Judicial Nominating Advisory Commission, and in particular their Chairman, Douglas Richards, for their excellent work in reviewing candidates for the judgeship vacated by retiring U.S. District Judge Albert Coffrin. It is a pleasure to concur with the unanimous decision of the Board that Mr. Parker is an exceptionally well-qualified candidate who would serve with distinction as a U.S. District Court Judge for the state of Vermont.

many of the problems come when lawyers for both sides in a case attempt to learn about the other's information. Lawyers complained about conduct that could be considered unprofessional, including being "jerked around," phone calls not returned or lawyers not speaking to each other.

Trine Bech of Hartland noted that two members near White River Junction recently gave up law because of the "gladiator approach" now used by some lawyers.

"They found it so offensive they couldn't do it any more," she said. "We're not being nice to each other."

Former U.S. Attorney Jerome F. O'Neill of Burlington agreed.

"It's becoming more unpleasant," he said. He said any proposed guidelines should be mailed to out-of-state lawyers as soon as they file their appearance in a Vermont court case.

Hall suggested that the rules could be mailed to lawyers when each court sends out schedules.

Kirby Scarborough noted that last week, a compelling lawyer chastised him for attempting to settle the case out of court.

Scarborough quoted the second lawyer, whom he did not identify, as saying, "I don't know why you want to settle this. Litigation is our bread and butter."

The remark brought groans of uneasiness from the lawyers and judges in the room.

Middlebury attorney Ellen

Mercer Fallon said a lawyer who thought he or she was being treated unfairly could present the opposing counsel with the printed guidelines as a reminder.

Under the proposal, which passed with only one negative vote, the resolution suggests the Vermont Law School include professionalism within the ethics curriculum.

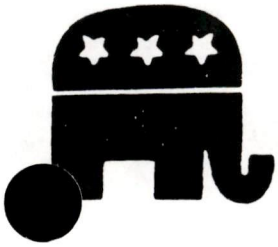

The resolution also calls for more meetings on the issue, that senior lawyers, when sponsoring a new lawyer, would certify that professionalism was included in a clerkship.

In other action, the association also endorsed a recommendation that all lawyers be required to participate in a program designed to help fund free or reduced-fee legal services.

Lawyers would be required to donate interest earned on trust accounts into the special fund. Already, 29 percent of the state's lawyers now voluntarily donate about $145,000. The so-called Interest On Lawyer's Trust Accounts could generate an estimated $600,000 if everybody participated, said Joan Wing, a committee member.

The bar association also endorsed unanimously the nomination of Fred I. Parker of Weybridge to replace U.S. District Court Judge Albert W. Coffrin.

Dear John:

Just a bit of information I thought you might be interested in. It is my understanding that the Vermont Congressional Delegation will recommend Attorney Fred Parker for the Federal District Judgeship now open.

It is the opinion of several of us in the area that this may not be the best of candidates in that he is extremely liberal. He is, however, a very old and close personal friend of Senator Jeffords.

For your information, Judge Alan Cook of Northfield, Norwich '63, is on the "short" list as established by the Vermont Bar Review Committee.

Hope you find this information useful.

Sincerely,

The President
The White House
1600 Pennsylvania Avenue, N.W.
Washington, D.C. 20500

Dear Mr. President:

I am writing to convey my recommendations of individuals to fill the vacancies in the United States District Courts for the Eastern and Western Districts of Virginia.

I am recommending five outstanding Virginians - each of whom would be excellent Federal judges. Recommending candidates for Federal judgeships is one of the most difficult and important tasks which I undertake as a United States Senator. I invest a considerable amount of time and travel to the task of finding only the best qualified persons to recommend to the President. I have interviewed more than 15 attorneys from throughout Virginia before making these recommendations and solicited advice from Virginia bar associations.

A judge's tasks demands persons of the highest order of intelligence, capable of interpreting the law, analyzing the issues, and making findings of fact. It demands integrity unquestioned, honesty unsullied. It demands a very special person - and it is such persons I have sought.

I am convinced that each of the individuals I am recommending meets these tough standards of judicial temperament, intelligence, and integrity.

In the Eastern District of Virginia, I am recommending (in alphabetical order) Henry Coke Morgan, Jr., a Virginia Beach lawyer, and Rebecca Beach Smith, a U.S. Magistrate in Norfolk.

A native of Norfolk, Henry Morgan received his undergraduate and law degree from Washington and Lee University where he was a member of the Law Review and the Moot Court Team. He served as City Attorney in Norfolk for three years before joining the law firm of Pender and Coward where he is now a partner. A past chairman of the Second District Republican Committee, Mr. Morgan is also active in numerous civic groups and has written and lectured on legal topics.

Born and raised in Hopewell, Virginia, Ms. Smith was the class valedictorian at Hopewell High School. She was a Phi Beta Kappa graduate of the College of William and Mary and then received a Master's Degree in City Planning and Public Administration from the University of Virginia, ranking first in her class. She worked as a professional planner for 4 years.

Ms. Smith then decided to pursue a career in law, graduating first in her class at the Marshall Wythe School of Law at the College of William and Mary. She served as Executive Editor of the William and Mary Law Review and was elected to the Order of the Coif.

After clerking for United States District Judge J. Calvitt Clarke, Jr., she joined the Norfolk law firm of Willcox and Savage, concentrating in civil litigation. Since 1985 she has served as a United States Magistrate in the United States District Court for the Eastern District of Virginia.

I recommend three individuals (in alphabetical order) for the vacancy on the Federal District Court for the Western District of Virginia: John Perry Alderman, Donald W. Huffman, and Birg Eugene Sergeant.

A native of Carroll County, Virginia, John Perry Alderman graduated cum laude from Emory and Henry College. He earned a law degree from the University of Virginia where he was a member of the Order of the Coif. He was engaged in the private practice of law in Hillsville, Virginia from 1958 to 1981 in addition to serving as Assistant Commonwealth's Attorney and Commonwealth Attorney in Carroll County from 1960 to 1981.

In 1981, at my request, President Reagan appointed John Perry Alderman as United States Attorney for the Western District of Virginia, and he continues to serve in this position.

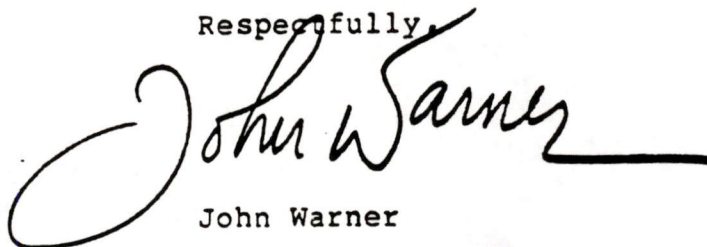

Donald W. Huffman is a native of Lexington, Virginia and a graduate of Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University. He entered Washington and Lee University Law School where he was inducted into Phi Beta Kappa and Order of the Coif as well as writing for the Washington and Lee Law Review. After graduating second in his law school class, Mr. Huffman entered the private practice of law, concentrating largely on Federal matters.

Additionally, Mr. Huffman has served as United States Commissioner, United States Magistrate, Assistant United States Attorney and as a member of the Trustees' Panel for the Bankruptcy Court. He has been very active in civic affairs both in Lexington and Roanoke, and since 1983 has served as Chairman of the Republican Party of Virginia.

Birg Eugene Sergeant is a native of Lee County, Virginia where he continues to reside. He graduated cum laude from Union College and then entered the T.C. Williams School of Law of the University of Richmond. He participated in moot court competition, was a member of the Honor Society and graduated fourth in his class. From 1969 to 1973, Mr. Sergeant served as Assistant United States Attorney for the Western District of Virginia. Otherwise, he has been engaged in the private practice of law since graduation from law school.

Thank you for your cooperation.

Respectfully,

A handwritten signature in black ink that reads "John Warner". The signature is written in a cursive style with a large, looping initial "J" and a horizontal line at the end.
