The Honorable John Sununu
White House Chief of Staff
The White House
Washington, DC 20500

Dear John:

A couple of items.

One, I definitely agree with the attached Heritage memo. I believe that a threat to veto if the SDI figure goes below four billion will work. I am going to air a highly persuasive pro-SDI film (Charlton Heston, et al) on the Hill on 6 September before the Joint Conference. I will be sending you a VHS of it soon in the hope you can pass it to Mr. Bush for viewing in Kennebunkport.

Second, I hope the Smith vs. McCrery question on negotiation for Defense and Space has not been finalized. Thank goodness Amb. Hank Cooper has been willing to hang in there for at least one go-round. But he says he's ready to pass the baton.

I hope the choice will be Jim McCrery. He has both the negotiating and technical experience required - and he understands why we must not sell out SDI to get a cut in offenses. He has substantial support on the Hill and in DOD.

I'd be happy to arrange a one-on-one with Jim and you or with anyone you might designate.

Regards,

Daniel O. Graham
Lt. Gen., USA (Ret.)

Dear Governor:

Enclosed is a shortened resume of the above named constituent who, as I understand, is being considered for the position of Federal Alternate to the Susquehanna River Basin Commission.

I would want you to know of my personal endorsement of such an appointment, not only because of the ideal background, but also because I can attest personally to his work on the very complex issues which he has been identified with over the years in the Susquehanna River arena.

There are extra pluses which I can add to anyone who wishes to discuss Bob's qualifications.

Please do what you can to elevate the level of consideration for his appointment.

Thanks a million.

Very truly yours,

John.....

Having been tied up with a sneaky plan to revolutionize the music industry - which is desperately in need of a revolution - I haven't been goading and broding you with marginally wanted advice on how to run the country.

Yes, I know there are many things going on which don't get publicized. News management, damage control, etc. In the hostage situation the impression I'm getting from what's reaching me is a picture of a president who has caved in to media pressures. It seems a replay of the Reagan disaster. It seems to reinforce that dreaded "wimp thing."

I don't mind him agonizing over the whole situation and feeling terrible for the families involved, but when this leads to paying off the terrorists, the impression I get is that he's caved in. No guts. Hostages are todays prisoners of war - since war today is without boundaries and is conducted in airline terminals, busses and on streets anywhere.

John, I recognize that there's no way for me to know what's really happening, but I'm sure you're well aware of what the appearances are - and they paint a picture of a weak president. And that's what you're supposed to avoid, right?

I'm sorry to see Bill Bennett saddled with such a totally no-win job. It seems like a serious resource waste. You needed him to kick-start education, and now he's being sucked into a black hole. Tsk.

I hope you're enjoying your role, despite its obvious frustrations. Hey, you're getting to travel.

Best regards,

Re: Pacific Summit

Dear John:

The Bush Administration is disgraced by the kind of performance Mr. Zeder graced us with in Seattle on Tuesday. I am enclosing a copy of a front page story from a Seattle newspaper, together with other stories from the Seattle and Tacoma press, to prove my point. I spoke to one section of the conference on Thursday at which time Mr. Zeder was still the principal item of discussion. Our local business leaders felt humiliated.

Please note that the original text of the speech was apparently toned down somewhat before delivery at the insistence of the sponsors of the meeting.

We can, and we should, be proud of the leadership this country has provided around the world in encouraging both democracy and free market economics. We are not likely to advance that cause, however, by gratuitously insulting our guests.

Sincerely,

SLADE GORTON

Dear John:

I would like to recommend Peter Thomas, a former GSA Regional Administrator, to be the Administrator of the General Services Administration.

Peter is an accomplished political professional with particular expertise in the areas of Public Buildings and Real Property Service (PBS), Federal Supply and Services (FSS), and Information Resources Management Service (IRMS). While managing Region 1, Peter improved efficiency, reduced expenditures and helped government and business in New England thrive.

Peter is a principled and ethical supervisor of top quality government operations, but is also an innovative and creative leader. While guiding effective systems at GSA, he would be researching options for improving services and advancing the ideals you share.

Please give Peter every possible consideration, he has my absolute highest regard.

Dear John,

I enjoyed our work together through the National Governor's Association -- your leadership was extraordinary -- and I think the administration you serve is off to a very good start.

However, I want to bring to your attention the performance of one individual, whose presentation to our Pacific Summit is described in the attached news article.

This event has brought key economic leaders from many Pacific Rim countries to our state to discuss common economic problems and opportunities. We believe it will be a very positive step toward increasing communication and understanding among nations. But Fred Zeder's performance really hurt. The jokes he made and the tone and content of his remarks were highly inappropriate for this event.

Nevertheless, I appreciate the support the Bush administration has provided for this event, and I look forward to continued work with you in the future.

Sincerely,

Dear John,

I understand from today's newspaper report that Pres. George Bush will be meeting with Gov. Mario Cuomo on Tuesday at 3:30 PM, to discuss the New York plan for the demise of the Shoreham Nuclear Power Plant.

I was formerly the General Manager and Chief Engineer of the New York State Power Authority and have been following the Shoreham Plant fiasco with nothing but utter dismay and disbelief. So much so, that I dispatched the attached letter dated April 20, 1989 to Governor Cuomo.

This letter sets forth in detail why I believe that the Shoreham plant should operate at its full capacity as now authorized, by the Nuclear Regulatory Commission, without further delay.

However, I believe that the New York State Power Authority should purchase the plant from its present owner, (the Long Island Lighting Company) and then operate it.

The N. Y. State Power Authority is an outstanding and mature quasi-public power entity which produces about 40% of all electrical power consumed in the state. It therefore has a greater purpose and function than being called upon by Gov. Cuomo and others to be the undertaker to embalm the Shoreham plant.

The N. Y. State Power Authority is an experienced, mature organization, financially sound and has an outstanding safety record in nuclear plant operation and maintenance. For your information, there is an exact, earlier precedent involving the takeover of the Indian Point Nuclear Power Plant, No. 3 by the N. Y. S. Power Authority from Consolidated Edison Company of New York, the details of which are fully explained in my letter to Gov. Cuomo.

Please let me know if I can be of assistance to you in achieving this important and mutually avowed objective, namely, to make sure the Shoreham plant is not abandoned, but allowed to operate at full power at the earliest possible date.

A copy of my letter to Gov. Cuomo was sent recently to Adm. James Watkin and gratefully acknowledged by him.

With kindest personal regards,

Asa George

Dear Mr. Sununu:

Recent events in China and the implications of these events for the people of Hong Kong [along with the enclosed letter I received from Cardinal John B. Wu of Hong Kong] have prompted me to write to you to urge your support for measures which can help relieve the sorrow and suffering of these people.

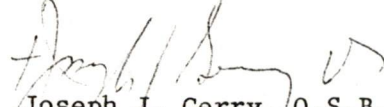

First, I ask that our government continue to appeal to the Chinese government to put an end to the unjust persecution of those whose only crime is the love of freedom and democracy and to ensure that those who have already been arrested are given fair trials.

I also urge our government to take all available means to provide permanent homes for the thousands of Vietnamese refugees in Hong Kong. One obvious step would be to increase the number of admissions to the United States, a step which could be accomplished by executive order. The care of refugees has been, as you well know, a priority concern for over a decade now of the Catholic Church in the United States.

And finally, in light of the Sino-British Joint Declaration of 1984, I urge that our government use whatever influence we might have with the British government to ensure that the people of Hong Kong will continue to enjoy all those safeguards from the United Kingdom which are their right; and so maintain the prosperity and stability of the region.

These are matters of concern not only to Catholics here in Maine and nationally, but to women and men throughout our country

Sincerely yours,

Joseph J. Gerry, O.S.B.
Bishop of Portland

Dear Gov. Sununu:

This letter was sparked by the message from Mr. Bush to the pro-SDI group Bill Graham spoke to on 6 August. (See attached news item).

When the President casts doubt on the availability of technology to accomplish important SDI goals, it makes pro-SDI spokesmen (like me) look dumb or worse. More importantly, it makes the President look the same in the eyes of knowledgeable scientists and engineers.

The Honorable John H. Sununu

Dear John:

Congratulations on continuing a fine job. The President's cool handling of recent events has been excellent, and, happily, the public sees it the same way.

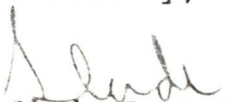

You may recall that we discussed the Seattle Goodwill Games, and in particular, the formation of a White House Task Force to coordinate the many agency activities that result from such a large international event. Several recent news stories, such as the enclosed, and a fairly strong rumor mill in Seattle remind me that the Task Force will be very helpful at coordinating decisions, controlling rumor, and keeping the White House ahead of events.

The principal news or rumor, of course, regards the potential that the President and Secretary Gorbachev may be invited, or wish to attend the Games. All this comes at a time when the games are clearly headed to success. Corporate support is very strong, planning of the events is proceeding well, and community support is outstanding.

Although the hints out of Moscow may not all be legitimate, some may. The public profile of the games is higher in the Soviet Union than in the United States, and the Secretary General opened the Games in Moscow in 1986. The time will come to decide whether and how the President wishes to acknowledge the Games, and Secretary Gorbachev's potential interest. I simply wanted to bring the issue to your attention, and note that I will be happy to assist in any way that I can.

I believe it would help the games, the White House and me if we could announce a decision to form the Task Force in the near future.

Sincerely,

Slade Gorton

United States Senator

Office of Special Adviser to the President
for Consumer Affairs
Washington, D.C. 20201

August 3, 1989

The Honorable John H. Sununu
Chief of Staff to the President of the United States
The White House
Washington, D.C. 20500

Dear John:

I was pleased to see the President's call for an education summit in his address to the National Governor's Association. I firmly believe now, as I did when we first discussed this concept last year at Kennebunkport, that a summit will give new impetus to the President's commitment to be The Education President. Key to achieving lasting results at this summit, however, is a well-defined, aggressive agenda that will reinforce the President's initiatives. With this in mind, I would like to share some observations.

Earlier this year, the President told me that he considers education (and child care) to be consumer issues. As his Special Adviser for Consumer Affairs, I've advanced the concept of education as a consumer issue in speeches throughout the country -- i.e., we pay for public schools and we deserve a good return on our investment. And I've found skeptical audiences quite receptive to parental choice once they began to look at education in this way, and once the President's initiatives have been thoroughly explained.

There are, however, several recurring themes that need clarification: the federal role in education; program and budget flexibility; and the definition and implications of parental choice.

In establishing the Department of Education, I believe we launched a new federal bureaucracy without first forging a strong national consensus on the role it should play. Debate over this issue has polarized the education community unnecessarily because the federal role is, by law, quite limited. Yet, by and large, the general public believes the federal role in education to be pervasive (i.e., to mandate curriculum, set teacher salaries, etc.). Thus, it would seem that an educational summit would benefit with a revisitation of the federal role in education, that would serve as the foundation for all other discussion.

Within this same context, there continues to be disagreement over whether increased federal spending necessarily leads to improved education. Indeed, conservatives and liberals continuously battle over increased federal spending on education, and this fuels the debate on the federal government's role. So I believe we would do well to address the funding issue at the summit as well.

The President has said that rigid governmental budget and program demands restrain creativity. You may be interested in a model choice program in Richmond, California where the Superintendent took the initiative to ask the state for flexibility in funding guidelines, and as a result the district is having unprecedented success with choice. Clearly, flexibility in government regulations should be a major topic for exploration.

In its truest form, choice allows each student to be taught in an environment that takes into account his or her specific learning needs. And while you and I understand that the goal is to bring all schools to an acceptable level through competition, many of my audiences have believed that the hidden agenda was to close "bad schools" (those in the most disadvantaged communities). A clear understanding that the objective of the choice concept is to bring all schools up to par is critical to the summit's success.

As you noted at Kennebunkport, the key to making real and lasting changes in education will be the involvement of all segments of the education community. I hope that the President's message to our nation's governors is the first dramatic step to involving national leaders from business, education and community-based organizations in this dialogue.

Sincerely,

Bonnie Guiton
Special Adviser to the President
for Consumer Affairs

Dear Mr. Sununu,

Enclosed is VERTICAL FLIGHT, Aviation Week's newest video.

We're delighted with the way the video turned out. It was a great challenge to share the visual excitement of the subject and, at the same time, relate the important role helicopters play in military and civil applications.

My hope is that VERTICAL FLIGHT and the other programs we produce will add to your understanding of the wide variety of aircraft and personnel comprising the world's aerospace and defense community.

As always, I welcome your comments and suggestions.

The Honorable John Sununu
White House Chief of Staff
The White House
Washington, DC 20500

Dear Governor Sununu:

The attached Op-ed was forwarded on 1 August to the Washington Post. I send it along because it may signal an opportunity for President Bush to seize the political initiative on "space cooperation" and to disarm part of the SDI opposition - those who hate to annoy the Soviets and those who wish to canonize the ABM Treaty.

I believe consideration should be given to an initiative along these lines:

"The U.S. Government will explore with the USSR and our allies modalities for cooperation in the deployment and operation of space-borne measures to prevent accidental, unauthorized or terroristic attacks on any nation by long-range ballistic missiles.

"While some scientists doubt that defensive technologies can effectively protect a nation's population from massive missile attacks by a major nuclear power, almost all agree that smaller scale attacks (actual or threatened) can now be successfully nullified by a combination of space-borne and ground-based defensive systems. Further, most of the world's governments recognize that the utter vulnerability of advanced industrialized nations to ballistic missile attack creates an incentive for already dangerous proliferation of ballistic missiles with warheads capable of nuclear, chemical or biological mass destruction.

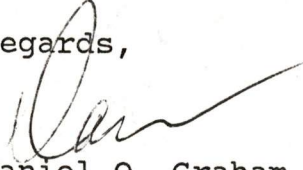

"Inability to defend against ballistic missiles is also detrimental to international agreements limiting ballistic missiles. Utter vulnerability to these weapons causes intense concern for cheating since a few ballistic missiles concealed from verification systems can have overwhelming strategic consequences.

"The United States is fully capable of deploying space-borne defenses that can cope with less-than-massive long-range ballistic missile attacks against any nation, can create a disincentive to proliferation of such weapons, and can increase the likelihood of large-scale reductions in nuclear arsenals. Other nations, including the Soviet Union, are capable of facilitating the creation of such a global protection system. Other nations also have legitimate interests in the command and control aspects of such a system and in insuring that it is not converted into an offensive weapons system.

"The U.S. Government invites the USSR to join in this effort to help insure world peace and avoid nuclear devastation by design, accident, or irresponsible action."

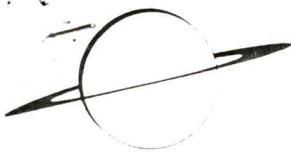

Professor Etkin, who sparked the attached op-ed, may or may not be sending up a trial balloon, but I cannot see how responding with something along the above lines could have anything but positive results for the Administration.

Regards,

Daniel O. Graham

SOVIETS SOFTEN UP ON SDI

by

Daniel O. Graham, Lt. Gen., USA (Ret.)

There are some fascinating signs appearing which indicate that the Soviets are at long last seeing virtue in SDI. Earlier this year a ranking Soviet spokesman remarked that the American government had overstated the usefulness of SDI, but the Soviet government had overstated its dangers. On 20 July, a prominent Soviet space scientist writing in Pravda proposed space-borne defenses to cope with accidental and rogue nation attacks.

The author, Professor V. Etkin, Chief of Applied Space Physics of the prestigious Institute of Space Research, started his article to make the case for cooperative US-Soviet efforts to create space-borne means for monitoring missile submarines, and then added:

"A similar decision is also possible in the sphere of space-based ABM defense positions, whose capabilities in a global conflict are being questioned in both the USSR and the United States. But what if the conflict is not global? What if we are talking about guarantees against accidental launches or, above all, missile launches by extremist groups? Such a limited system including ground- and space-based positions for combating non-massed missile launches is within the bounds of feasible technical solutions.

Unfortunately, we are still insufficiently aware that progress in military hardware is making particularly dangerous weapons, including missiles and nuclear warheads, increasingly accessible to extremists. Not for nothing was the United States so worried about the danger of Stinger missiles supplied to the Afghan opposition falling into terrorist hands. Bearing in mind that there are such dangerous targets for "missile" extremism as nuclear power stations or major chemical plants whose destruction would have global tragic consequences, it is necessary to take corresponding international "anti-missile" measures or we will live in continual fear of the fantasies of both big-time and small-time extremists."

Calling for cooperation between the US and the USSR in space is not news. Professor Etkin is fully in step with a strong Soviet effort to sell the United States on a cooperative manned mission to Mars. Calling for cooperation in a military space mission is quite another matter, and admitting the usefulness of

Dear Mr. Sununu:

I am writing on behalf of Edward Nagel who is seeking a position on the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission.

Mr. Nagel is eminently qualified for a seat on the FERC, first by his educational background and then with his thirty-five years of experience with one of Pennsylvania's leading utilities, Pennsylvania Power and Light Company. He has also devoted much of his life to his community and in helping others through his numerous civic activities.

Mr. Nagel is a life long Republican and is the type of individual we need to help lead and develop our nations energy policies. I urge that you give Mr. Nagel every consideration and I know that he will prove to be a credit to Pennsylvania, the Administration and to our great Country.

Sincerely,

Dear John:

As you may be aware, you have been nominated for membership in the National Academy of Engineering. (Officially, nominees are not supposed to know, but this is rarely the case.) The list of over 400 nominees (from which perhaps 60 or 65 will be selected) has been circulated for anonymous comment to all current members. (A copy of my comment on your nomination is enclosed.) The next step is that these comments are collected and routed to the individual "peer committees", in your case (as indicated by the nominator) to the peer committee for Electrical Power/Energy Systems Engineering. The ranking of nominees by each peer committee is the most crucial step in the filtering process. It helps to have an advocate on that committee. Nominees not selected normally remain on the list for up to two additional years. Good luck and best wishes.

Sincerely,

Solomon W. Golomb

Dear John,

If the President's proposal for a Peace Corps project in Hungary gets off the ground, someone who could be a great help -- knowledgeable, experienced and a great authority on Hungary -- is Vera Mayer, Vice President of Research for NBC News.

Vera is a close friend of, and adviser to George Soros, who is singlehandedly trying to turn Hungary capitalist through his Soros Foundation. She is married to Dr. Klaus Mayer, who is head of hematology at Sloan-Kettering, and who has been involved in advising medical authorities in Budapest. Vera and Klaus are good friends of Dr. Burton Lee.

Vera is looking for a change and is eager to be of help to the land of her origins. She is well known in Budapest and I suspect she would be happy to retire from NBC to participate in such a worthwhile undertaking.

You might pass this along to the Administration official who has the marker for this one.

Best regards,

Larry Grossman

I know you probably get countless requests similar to the one I have in the attached letter. And, I understand that there are limits to what can be done. So if you can't put it together I'll understand.

This experience has been personally gratifying to me. When you look into the eyes of these children who live in an atmosphere of suspicion and distrust, and are literally taught to hate, and you see what an open society is really like, their response is inspiring and overwhelming. They have me hooked.

Anything you can do, I would appreciate.

Honorable John Sununu, Chief of Staff
The White House
Washington, D. C. 20510

Dear Governor:

I am writing this personal letter seeking a personal favor and providing you with the status of my reassignment to D. C. quest. I am hopeful you may be able to assist just one more time.

I have been told by HUD Headquarters staff that all appointed positions have been filled with the exception of the Special Assistant to the Secretary for Indian and Alaska Native Programs which is the position I sought originally. This was the position you were kind enough to provide a letter of support for, however, despite being cleared by the White House Personnel Office and my papers forwarded to HUD Headquarters, I apparently have been bypassed.

I have been told to apply for vacancies as they occur, however my years with HUD provides me with the reality that few if any Field Office employees are ever selected for Headquarters positions, therefore my frustration at this time.

Writing most candidly I note that my well documented "squeaky clean" record of achievement in HUD, my Indian minority status, and your support simply has been overlooked I guess. Hopefully, someone will take another look at my qualifications and level of expertise in the area of fraud, waste, and mismanagement, particularly in HUD Program Analyses, and find a place in which I will feel I am making a personal contribution to my President, Administration, and as a first team member of the Secretary Kemp team facing the SuperBowl of scandals in HUD. Incidentally, my frustration this week also led me to forward my resume and letter seeking consideration to the Office of Management and Budget where I am sure I could also make a contribution in the area of the HUD budget.

My request is as follows: I will be Washington next week, July 24-28 attending a Seminar at the Quality Inn, Arlington, (524-4000) arriving on Sunday afternoon and leaving on Friday afternoon. Recognizing your hectic schedule I am asking a very special favor of meeting with you or a member of your staff to discuss what I can do to achieve my goal of working in D. C. for our Administration. I make myself available day or night from Sunday afternoon to Friday afternoon, anywhere, any time and hopefully may be contacted by your office relative to this request. It would be my privilege to meet with you personally, however I recognize the impossibility of this and therefore would gladly meet with any member of your staff if possible.

I am hopeful your wife was able to receive the Indian cookbook I have written prior to the movement of your household goods and hope that you are both getting well settled in at this time. As I noted to your wife, we in the Gros Louis family are committed to whatever requests we receive from the Sununu family in whatever capacity including financial when and if the opportunity for a campaign arises for either of you. Thanking you most sincerely for your support to date and hoping I can meet with you next week, I remain,

Dear Governor Sununu:

Thank you for taking time to meet with us so soon after your return from the European Summit. We very much appreciated the opportunity to review our concerns with the Administration's clean air proposal.

As we noted, it is our desire to play a constructive role in helping the nation meet its environmental challenges. At the same time, it is in our mutual interest to have a bill that is achievable and can result in meaningful air quality progress.

In this regard, as we discussed, it is important that the requirements be technically feasible, include sufficient lead-time and provide industry with the flexibility necessary to meet the proposal's tough requirements. We stand ready to commit resources to production of clean-fuel vehicles -- as long as the program is based on factors within industry's control and includes provisions to encourage the purchase of vehicles and fuels.

Please let us know if we can be of help to you and your staff as you work on the final details of the proposal.

Dear John:

How are you and Nancy adjusting to your new home? I saw you on television when you were in Europe. The suit you were wearing made you look great!

By the way, the 5th Annual Hellenic American Leadership Conference is being held on September 13 and 14, 1989 in Washington, D.C.

Last February, as you may recall, attendees of the 4th Annual Hellenic American Leadership Conference met with you and several Executive Branch officials in the Indian Treaty Room of the Old Executive Office Building. All of the attendees, including myself, were greatly appreciative of your taking a considerable amount of time from your schedule to give a few remarks to the group.

We would again like to hold our Executive Branch briefing segment of the Conference in the Indian Treaty Room of the Old Executive Office Building on the afternoon of September 13. We sent a letter of request to the Office of Public Liaison for the President and the request has since been denied. Attached is a copy of the denial letter. If you could help turn this around, it would be greatly appreciated.

It is also our hope that you would again consider stopping by briefly to deliver a few remarks to the Conference attendees. They will again be the 80-100 most prominent Greek-Americans in the United States and will be in Washington to meet with key senators and members of Congress who decide on foreign policy matters and Executive Branch officials who are important to issues of concern to the Greek-American community. We would be happy to arrange whatever we can to accommodate your schedule in order for you to address the group. You can reach me either at my home in New Hampshire, 346-6120, or at my office, 433-3331.

Yours truly,

Louis J. Georgopoulos

P.S. I will be in Washington, D.C. on July 26-27, 1989.

The Honorable John Sununu
White House Chief of Staff
The White House

Dear Gov. Sununu:

I have been constrained by advice of respected colleagues not to publish (for a while at least) the attached lament for the lack of U.S. Strategy.

Since that paper was written it has become increasingly clear that the Bush Administration is in danger of being seen as deliberately reviving the MAD doctrine just as we were about to discard it in favor of the SDI defense emphasis and just as Soviet behavior makes MAD's arcane vengeance theory appear madder than ever. The attached article by Jim Hoagland makes the case.

The Administration should take notice of a key observation in this article: the policies now shaping up (three new offensive nuclear systems, downplaying SDI and canonizing the ABM Treaty) will restore the Nuclear Freeze Movement to life. This pacifist fringe was silenced by SDI since they had to support MAD to oppose non-nuclear defenses. With SDI stifled, offensive nuclear weapons restored to primacy, and Gorbomania going strong, we should expect the old anti-nuke crowd to become very active. This is already beginning to unfold and a rejuvenated anti-nuclear movement will make Congressional support of sensible strategic decisions even more unlikely.

I send you this letter to urge your consideration of the recommendations on the attached document. And I add one policy recommendation which many of us would make without further study.

It is not crass partisan politics to wish President Bush success in seizing the global political initiative from Gorbachev. This result should be sought by all Americans of good will regardless of party.

George Bush has an opportunity to steal a march on Gorbachev in the arms control arena. He can revolutionize the process by making an offer to the Soviets that would be supported by his national constituency, attract support from his domestic opponents' constituencies, and be politically extremely difficult for the Soviets to reject.

Mr. Bush could offer a 50 percent cut in intercontinental range offensive weapons, with no restriction on mobility and without demands for overly intrusive verification means--but---accompanied by an agreement that both sides may defend themselves with whatever non nuclear technology suffices. A combination of offensive cuts and defensive build-up is admittedly somewhat advantageous to the Soviets because they are not at zero in defenses as we are. They might get more defenses in place quicker than we can get our initial defenses deployed.

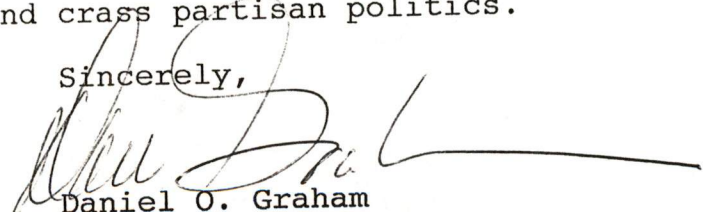

If there is a risk in this, it is a miniscule one, and it is a risk we must take at some stage of history unless we choose to leave the nation totally defenseless against the nuclear ballistic missile forever. (A clear reversal of George Bush's campaign pledge.) Given glasnost and perestroika, and the dire economic condition of the USSR, there may never be a safer or more opportune time to make this offer.

This idea should be presented by our side not as a scuttling of the ABM Treaty but as a new defensive - offensive weapon agreement in which both sides agree to concentrate on non-nuclear protection rather than nuclear vengeance as a deterrent to major war, this would serve also as a deterrent to other nations who might wish to acquire a few ballistic missiles, now "ultimate weapons" for lack of defenses against them.

President Bush can with this proposal seize the political initiative, reduce world nuclear arsenals, deter proliferation, and even help balance the Federal Budget since, strategic defenses are not only "cost effective at the margin," they are quite simply cheaper than offensive systems made mobile to reduce their vulnerability.

In my view, the only thing standing in the way of this grand slam is bureaucratic obstinacy and crass partisan politics.

Sincerely,

Daniel O. Graham
Lt. Gen. USA (Ret.)

THE HOUSE WEDNESDAY GROUP

386 HOB ANNEX #2 • WASHINGTON, D.C. 20515 • (202) 226-3236

July 10, 1989

Governor John H. Sununu
Chief of Staff
The White House
Washington, D.C.

Dear John,

A staff member recently brought to my attention the following quote, from the October 26, 1967 Congressional Record, concerning legislation on congressional redistricting: "As the principal plaintiff in the key redistricting lawsuit in Federal court in Texas, I plead for districts which were not only reasonably close in population but which would be reasonably compact and certainly contiguous. It is essential that we have some language which will protect the people against gerrymandering."

The speaker was, of course, Congressman George Bush. And it is heartening to see that Mr. Bush's concern about the redistricting process has endured, and is part of his recently announced proposal for election campaign reform. As you may know, gerrymandering has long been an interest of The House Wednesday Group. Although we are not currently pursuing legislation on the issue, I thought I would take this opportunity to share with you some of our background on the subject.

In 1979, Congressman and Wednesday Group Member Jim Leach introduced a bipartisan bill known as the Fair Representation Act (H.R. 1516), which would have established a set of standards for drawing congressional district lines. The concept was that if these criteria were applied, they would make it difficult for political majorities to craft the weirdly shaped, modern art districts that appeared in the most egregious examples of gerrymandering. The measure was supported by groups such as Common Cause and the NAACP. Among its co-sponsors were Wednesday Group Members Barber Conable, Larry Coughlin, Bill Frenzel, Bill Green, and me, as well as Democratic House Members David Bonior, Tom Downey, Don Edwards, Bob Kastenmeier, John LaFalce, and Charles Rangel. (A copy of the bill and list of co-sponsors, as well as an op-ed piece about the measure, are enclosed.) Martin Gerry, a local attorney (and, ironically, a descendant of the Massachusetts governor for whom gerrymandering was named), worked closely with the Wednesday Group in developing the legislation.

The criteria that the bill would have applied -- and which seem very similar to what the President has in mind now -- were the following:

- o Population. The population of each congressional district in a state would not be allowed to deviate by more than two percent from the average district size in the state.
- o Local Boundaries. District lines would, as far as possible, coincide with the boundaries of local political subdivisions.

- o Contiguity. Each district would have been composed of "convenient, contiguous territory."
- o Compactness. The boundaries of each district would be as short as possible consistent with the previous requirements.
- o Fairness. Districts could not be drawn to favor any political party or candidate, nor could they be drawn to dilute the voting strength of any particular group.

Obviously, applying such criteria would help curtail the use of gerrymandering to trample on the rights of minority parties and voting blocs. But as the Wednesday Group's work at the time showed, these standards also present problems. For example, it becomes very difficult to draw congressional district boundaries that conform with those of local jurisdictions while at the same time maintaining population standards and compactness. Unfortunately, we still do not know how these pros and cons would have played out; despite a vigorous effort to promote the measure with Members and interest groups, H.R. 1516, and a variety of other bills like it, never cleared Congress.

We have not resurrected such legislation, but our interest in the subject has remained. Last year the Wednesday Group staff produced two research papers, one each on the subjects of the decennial census and redistricting. Copies of these papers, titled Tale of the Tally and The Elbridge Gerry School of Modern Art, and data on party control in key states after last November's elections, also are enclosed. Toward the end of last year we sponsored a resolution to the House Republican Conference calling for a GOP Leadership Task Force on Reapportionment. The resolution was approved in December and Minority Leader Bob Michel has since launched the group, with Wednesday Group Members Bill Thomas and Vin Weber as co-chairmen.

Fundamentally, the goal of all these efforts is the same as the President's: to ensure fair elections, fair representation, vigorous competition for political offices, and full protection of the rights of all eligible voters.

I hope the above offers you a sketch of the Wednesday Group's work on this subject. If you would like any further information on our work, please do not hesitate to call the Wednesday Group at 226-3236.

Sincerely,

Bill Gradison

Dear Governor Sununu:

I would first like to introduce myself. I am Stephen Golding and am the son of Bill Golding who worked for you in the New Hampshire Bush Presidential Advance Team.

I have been in the Stock and Bond brokerage business in Miami, Florida for a number of years. At present, I am Vice President for Institutional bond sales in the Miami office of Kidder, Peabody & Co.

I am also the newly elected President of the Miami Bond Club. This professional group has a membership of 225 professionals from the institutional finance corporations in the Dade County area. We hold monthly dinner meetings starting in the Fall.

As President of the Miami Bond Club, I would like to invite you to be our Keynote Speaker for our Fall Dinner Meeting, which will be held on September 14, 1989. This specific date could be altered to fit your schedule. We would be most honored and grateful if you could accept this invitation. We realize you have a myriad of duties requiring your constant attention as Chief of Staff. We are hoping against hope that your schedule at that time might permit you a break in your activities and fly South to be our speaker. If scheduling is a problem, our next open dates would be January, February, March, and April of 1990.

As the Keynote Speaker for our first meeting of the year, we would be most interested in hearing the Bush administration's perspective of where the country is and where we are going in the areas of national debt, foreign aid, budget deficits, along with taxes and capital gains proposals.

On behalf of the Miami Bond Club, I want to thank you for your most kind attention to this invitation. I hope we will be honored by your most generous acceptance.

Sincerely,

The Honorable John Sununu
Chief of Staff
Office of the President
Old Executive Office Building
Washington, D.C. 20500

Dear Mr.  Secretary:

I am writing to request that strong consideration be given to Mr. Robert J. Ludwiczak for appointment as Deputy Undersecretary of Defense For Acquisition.

This position requires a candidate of Bob's stature who possesses a high level of credibility and trust. As you will note from Mr. Ludwiczak's resume, he has not only years of government administrative experience, but the technical expertise gained from his work in private sector procurement for three companies.

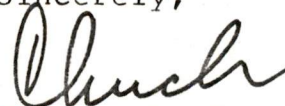

In addition to the acquisition aspect of this position, I also understand a need exists for this individual to have knowledge of training, foreign trade, foreign military sales and technology exchanges as they relate to the acquisition process.

Again, Bob has valuable experience gained through his work in international trade. He has been my Administrative Assistant and International Trade Advisor over the course of the last eleven years. During that time, Bob has been an extremely valuable and loyal employee.

I believe in selecting him for this position, you would find him a strong manager, technically proficient, politically astute and loyal to the President and his Administration.

I will conclude by saying that the Bush Administration would be served well by Bob's selection, and he has my highest recommendation for this vacancy.

Sincerely,

Charles E. Grassley
United States Senator

Dear Governor Sununu:

I am writing to invite you to meet briefly in the O.E.O.B. with two hundred outstanding high school students who have been selected to attend The Junior Statesmen Summer School.

For the past 49 years, The Junior Statesmen Summer School has provided a unique opportunity for America's brightest students and future leaders. For three weeks, they will be participating in an intensive study of politics and government. Each summer, our sessions at the White House, on Capitol Hill, and at Cabinet Departments allow Junior Statesmen to meet and question the political and governmental leadership of the United States. Because of the reputation we have developed in Washington, most members of the President's Cabinet, as well as many members of the Senior White House Staff, have been kind enough to meet with us.

You are cordially invited to meet with these young leaders for a 20 minute question and answer session. We would like to meet with you Thursday, August 3 or Wednesday, August 9 while we are in Room 450 of the O.E.O.B. all day. If your staff can give me a call, I am sure we can arrange a mutually convenient time.

I hope you will be able to meet with us, as did your predecessors Kenneth Duberstein and Howard Baker. I know that you will be impressed with the caliber of these young leaders and the thoughtfulness of their questions. You can reach me in Washington, D.C. at (202) 659-1227.

Sincerely,

Ted Green

The Honorable John Sununu
Chief of Staff
The White House
Washington, D.C. 20506

Dear Dr. Sununu: John

I was really touched by the kind and warm words you expressed toward me in your last letter.

At the moment I am winding down my work as Ambassador to Qatar, and soon I will be heading toward the U.S.

With your permission, I would be grateful if I could ^{have} the opportunity of calling on you, introduce myself, and discuss my next step, which is to run for an elected office. After seven years of service abroad, in the service of both Presidents, Reagan and Bush, I would like now to be of service to the President in another capacity.

I plan to be in Washington on Sunday, July 16. With your permission, I will call your office for an appointment. May I, on the other hand request, with no pretention or disrespect, that your office arrange a courtesy call on the President, which I could pay at any time during the week of July 17.

Even here in Qatar, the press speak with high regard of your activities as Chief of Staff.

With warm and personal regards.

CORDIALLY, Joe

From the Chairman of the Trustees

Marshal of the Royal Air Force
Sir John Grandy, GCB, GCVO, KBE, DSO

6 July 1989

Dear Governor Sununu,

I believe Senator John Tower has briefed you about the major Anglo-American project which he and I are working on together and about which I have written to the President. I do very much appreciate your interest in the American Air Museum in Britain, which will, I believe be a very powerful symbol of the friendship between our two countries.

I am now writing to invite you to a major special event at the Imperial War Museum airfield, at Duxford near Cambridge, site of the planned American Air Museum in Britain. The event will be attended by Their Royal Highnesses the Duke and Duchess of York. Displays will consist of rare working exhibits gathered from many museums in the United Kingdom, together with a flying display of historic and modern aircraft.

It would give me very great pleasure if you and your wife could join me for luncheon on this occasion. Their Royal Highnesses are planning to arrive at 11.30 am, and to undertake a short tour of the exhibits assembled for the event before joining the luncheon guests at 12.30 pm. They are expected to depart from 3.30 pm.

Could you please let my staff at Duxford know whether you will be able to attend, by contacting Ted Inman, Director of Duxford Airfield, Duxford, Cambridgeshire CB2 4QR, telephone 0223 833963.

I thank you again for your interest and very much hope your diary may permit you to be present at Duxford on Sunday 30 July.

Yours sincerely
John Grandy

Dear Governor Sununu:

I congratulate you on successfully weathering the first 6 months of the disease known as "inside the beltway itus".

I also congratulate you on a superb job well done, guiding the Bush Administration in so many important ways.

The primary purpose of this missive, however, is to invite you to be our guest of honor at a meet and greet reception with top conservative leaders.

Recently, the American Freedom Coalition and the Joseph Story Society have launched a series of receptions/dinners for key conservatives leaders to meet with prominent government officials. These events provide an opportunity for us to become further acquainted on a more intimate basis and to advance our mutual interests.

As you may know, we recently held a similar event in honor of Doug Wead. The reception was a tremendous success. Doug is an outstanding spokesman for President Bush and his remarks were well received. I believe this event was an excellent example of our goal to build greater understanding and goodwill between movement leaders and the Administration.

Among those we plan to invite in the future are Jack Kemp, Louis Sullivan, Dick Cheney, Jim Baker and other important administration officials. Obviously, we sincerely hope you can be our next honored guest at some time in the near future.

We would also be more than happy to accommodate your schedule in any manner possible. Should an evening reception not be convenient, we would be more than happy to arrange a luncheon or breakfast meeting at a time and place you find agreeable.

Gov. John Sununu

The White House

Your Excellency,

I heard an opening in the Curators office is coming up and I would very much like to be considered for the post and I feel I am fully qualified to hold it.

This is the sixteenth year I have worked at the White House part time. I know where most things are, both in the House and at the warehouse, and their value. I have operated a very successful business, in flowers, gifts and antiques, in Nashua for almost thirty years and I believe a business person is needed in the Residence.

My oldest son is buying my business the first of August of this year, and at fifty-four, I am too young to retire. This is just a quick note as I am busy for the Australian dinner. I shall be back the twenty-sixth and twenty-seventh of July for the Saudi dinner, or I can be here anytime for an interview.

Sincerely,
Edward E. Gage Jr.

The Honorable
John H. Sununu

Dear Governor:

As you suggested, we have published the President's statements on Europe and East-West relations prior to his upcoming trip to Europe.

We are distributing 11,000 English copies of the color brochure, "Beyond Containment," in Europe, and 5,300 copies each in Polish and Hungarian. The brochure carries excerpts from speeches at Hamtramck, Texas A&M, Boston University, the Coast Guard Academy, the Brussels NATO Summit, and Mainz. In addition, we have printed 3,500 English copies of the smaller pamphlet, which carries the full texts of the President's major East-West addresses.

Both publications, which were produced in close cooperation with the White House and National Security Council staffs, should support President Bush's policy initiatives in Europe.

Very sincerely,

Bruce S. Gelb

Dear John,

It was good seeing you last week -- looking so relaxed and chipper. Let's hope this is not a period of calm before storm, although there certainly are a number of them on the horizon.

I am now chained to my word processor, and looking forward to spending the rest of the year at Columbia's Gannett media center -- getting my ideas about television and politics down on paper.

As I have said, if I can be of service in any way, informally or otherwise, I hope you will not hesitate to give me a call.

Sincerely,

Larry

Dear Mr. Sununu,

When major education panels are put together by the President's staff, I hope John Silber, the daring, creative, and successful president at Boston University is a member.

Silber is deserving of membership because of the Chelsea project and other forward thinking ideas, e.g. college tuitions, early childhood education, and alternative certification.

I hope you put several fresh faces on the panels.

My best to you. Things are going well for President Bush.
Congratulations.

July 7, 1989

Dear John,

With prayerful gratitude for your wonderful work -- especially the President's Eastern European visit, permit me to thank you for your letter, and the impressive efficiency of your good staff (especially Ms. Winklejohn).

Since returning from overseas myself, I have been in touch with the Department of State and hereby send along for your own approval copies of the final selection of (5) historic photographs which President Bush may wish to present to His Majesty at the state visit:

- Medina -- 1880 (1st photo of Holy Places)
- Mecca -- 1889 (1st Arabian photographer's view)
- Beirut -- 1839 (1st photo of Near East)
- A Chinese Student in Mecca -- 1889 (by 1st Arabian photographer)
- His Majesty's Father and Family -- 1930 (by the 1st U.S. technical expert invited to the Kingdom).

The fact that our photo-discoveries result -- in this our 100th year and photography's 150th -- from international rescue-missions initiated by His Majesty's 1982 founding of the King Fahd Archive at Harvard University, enhances their appropriateness.

Perhaps I should add that this selection will particularly delight the Foreign Minister His Royal Highness Prince Saud Al-Faisal who (despite his Princeton loyalties) has been a most enthusiastic and knowledgeable supporter of our historical detective-work over the years (and to whom I have been recommending consideration of Harvard and Tufts for his terrific sons).

Again, may God continue to bless your tremendously important mission!
With best wishes to Mrs. Sununu,

Sincerely yours,

Carney Gavin, Curator

Attached:

- Copy of memo to Department of State (with some possibilities for appropriate sentiments which could be expressed at time of gift).
