John Sununu

Chief of Staff and Assistant to the President

The White House

1600 Pennsylvania Ave. N.W.,

Dear John,

Today there are 20 internationally agreed upon critical advanced and emerging technologies. The technological leadership in the development of most of these technologies rest with the U.S.A., Japan and the Western European Nations. The U.S.S.R. retains leadership in at least three areas. The technological leadership is measured in terms of years of development needed to catch up or to produce a new level of technology advancement. Computer Hardware technology is measured in terms of 1/2 years, meaning that the U.S.A. has a technological lead of only 6 months in the development and/or production of a technology advancement in computer hardware production at this time. As you can see any faltering on the part of the U.S.A. could result in being left behind. National leadership is needed with an aggressive plan of action to establish technological leadership and maintain it in all fields of technology.

As you are aware in 1992 the Western European Community will unify into a single geo-economic trade unit that will have an accumulative industrial technology base equal to that of the United States. This could result in the U.S.A. losing the leadership that it has, as well as, falling behind in areas where the europeans have established a current lead.

Over the past two years I have been involved in writing Fleer Series on Advanced and Emerging Technologies. The research into this series has shown technical development to be declining in use in the U.S.A. and rapedly increasing in use in Western Europe. The book series consist of 5 volumes on technologies, Computer Hardware, Computer Software, Information Systems, Semiconductor, and Sensor Technology. The subject matter includes the critical technologies, U.S. technology policy, technology transfer, knowledge engineering, and artificial intelligence.

CHARLES H. FLEER

4855 110th St. N St. Petersburg Fl. 33708 (813) 391-9180

Based on my previous Executive Office of the President experiences, my suggestion would be that President Bush consider the following;

- Presidential Declaration, elevating the field of technology equal to the field of science.
- Form a Presidential Commission on Technology Development and Utilization, to review the U.S.A.'s advanced and emerging technological, domestic and international development and utilization relative position. The commission would propose means for advancing technology integration into the day to day life of the average american. The commission would consist of representatives of U.S. Industry, Federal Government departments, academic community and technology user groups. Other subjects to be covered would including technology transfer from the federal government to U.S. industry, and technology transfer from industry to general public application.
- Issue an Executive Order, for the purpose of promoting technology development, utilization, and transfer from Federal Government R & D centers to industry and all levels of education. (Reagan Administration, issued one in 1988 but needs to be expanded and updated.)
- Form a new Agency of government the National Technology Foundation, equal to the National Science Foundation. (1/3 to 1/2 of NSF budget today could be related to technology over that of science).
- Establish a technology education program including the 20 international recognized critical technologies. (Today our U.S. Department of Education isn't even knowledgeable about the fact they exist).

It is proposed that these efforts could be accomplished with out new budgetary obligations and brought about by some new clasification of activities and directions.

If there is any further interest in this subject, I would be interested in working for the President in developing such a program. My envolvment could be arranged through OMB. Dick Feezle in OMB is very good at making these types of arrangements.

Best Regards;

Chuck Fleer

P. S.

- Sept. 5th, while in Washington D.C., I contacted Presidential Personnel, they indicated there may be some interest in a A. I. D. placement but was not able to pursure it. this time.
- Just returned from Belze and Guatamala, C.A. on a mission for trade development for a private alternative trade organization. Trip was a success and AID projects may be developed to support CBI.

Dear Governor:

As Governor, you presided over the announcement of the first ten schools selected for the New Hampshire School Improvement Program.

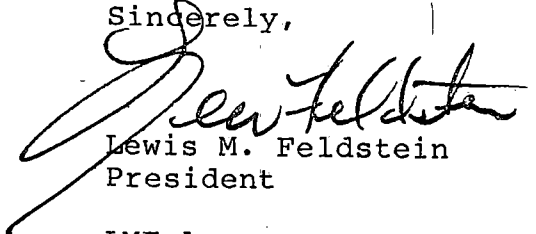

This New Hampshire program has been selected as a national model. A New Hampshire team will describe the program at a Congressional briefing on the morning of November 14th.

If we had been able to author the "Jeffersonean Compact" we couldn't have come closer. The program has turned out very well, attracting national attention as a low cost, outcomes-driven, school-building based model for improving public education.

Bonnie Newman is working to set-up a briefing on the 14th for the teams from the four sites.

I write to ask if it would be possible for the New Hampshire team to come by the White House on November 14th and be greeted by you. It would mean a great deal to all of those involved.

Sincerely,

Lewis M. Feldstein

Dear John:

The second half of 1988 and the first half of 1989 were a happy period for the United States and for the advance of freedom around the world. It was also a good year for Heritage's flagship publication, Policy Review.

During this period, Policy Review's paid circulation rose to 15,000--triple its level three years ago. The 1989 Media Guide wrote that Policy Review is "one of the most effective publications around, reaching those who count," and that it is "fast becoming a must-read in Washington and beyond." Martin Peretz, editor-in-chief of the New Republic, wrote that Policy Review is "the most thoughtful, the most provocative, and the most influential publication on the intellectual right." Tom Peters, co-author of In Search of Excellence, wrote that Policy Review is one of the five political magazines he regularly "devours."

We are delighted to present you with a bound volume of the Summer 1988-Spring 1989 editions of Policy Review.

Sincerely,

The Honorable John Sununu
Chief of Staff to the President

Gov. Sununu:

On behalf of the Ad Hoc Committee, I would like to thank you for your role in preventing the nomination of M. Caldwell Butler, a strong advocate for the "right" to abortion, to the board of the Legal Services Corporation. It was our position that with Mr. Butler chairing the LSC board, the agency would have taken a more activist role in the promotion of abortion on demand.

The Committee would also like to take this opportunity to recommend that President Bush reappoint Basile Uddo, Professor of Law at Loyola University in New Orleans, to one of the two Democratic seats on the LSC board, and to consider him for the board's chairmanship.

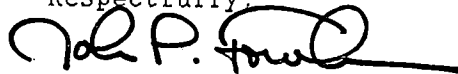

Prof. Uddo is a solid pro-life and pro-family advocate who believes that the LSC should have an "abortion neutral" policy: i.e., that the LSC should not be directly or indirectly involved in supporting abortion litigation, and that the agency should refrain from preparing abortion-related legislation for state elected officials. The Ad Hoc Committee believes that the adoption of such a policy -- which, unfortunately, does not currently guide the LSC -- would remove the agency from unnecessary controversies.

Prof. Uddo, who co-authored the landmark Congressional amicus curiae brief in the 1980 Supreme Court "Hyde Amendment" case, is intelligent and articulate. He is also principled: although a Democrat, he served on Law Professors for Bush last year, and on several Reagan/Bush campaign coalitions in 1980 and 1984, because he agreed with the positions and policies advocated by Mr. Bush and Mr. Reagan.

It is our belief that an LSC board that not only includes Prof. Uddo as a member, but that is actually chaired by him, would send a clear signal to the Southern, Catholic, and conservative Democrats (Prof. Uddo is all three) who were a critical part of Mr. Bush's winning coalition last year that their support is appreciated and respected by the Republican Party. Certainly, it would be a true manifestation of the "politics of inclusion."

Again, our thanks for your actions on the Butler nomination, and our gratitude for your consideration of our request.

Respectfully,

John P. Fowler
for the Committee

The Heritage Foundation

A tax-exempt public policy research institute

October 4, 1989

Honorable John Sununu
Chief of Staff
The White House
Washington, D.C.

Dear John,

This June, the President announced his intention to create an advisory committee to keep him abreast of innovative education successes. As you know, Heritage has been very involved in promoting the kinds of educational changes that you as Governor embraced, and that the President now seeks.

Because we share a deep interest in helping the President attain these goals, I am recommending to you five prominent citizens who will serve you well.

- William J. Hume is Chairman of the Board of Basic American Foods in San Francisco, and a founding member of the Education Task Force of the California Business Roundtable.
- Lovett Peters of Boston, is a former banking and energy corporation executive who has been a strong advocate of parental choice in education.
- David Keyston, a financial executive is affiliated with the Claremont Institute in California, and received his MBA from Stanford University.
- James Capua, President of the Donner Foundation, an education philanthropy organization, is a strong promoter of educational excellence.
- Michael S. Joyce, President of the Lynde and Harry Bradley Foundation of Milwaukee, is a former educator, and has served on several Presidential commissions, including the Grace Commission.

These business leaders are committed to education reform, and have worked diligently within education systems to enact comprehensive changes. They offer unique involvement and familiarity with state efforts that form the crucial link to the President's success in education reform. A copy of our recent conference proceedings on the role of business in education is enclosed. It includes remarks by Mr. Hume which you might find of interest.

Edwin J. Feulner, Jr., President
Herbert B. Berkowitz, Vice President
Peter E. S. Pover, Vice President

Phillip N. Truluck, Executive Vice President
M. D. B. Carlisle, Vice President
Terrence Scanlon, Vice President and Treasurer

Burton Yale Pines, Senior Vice President
Charles L. Heatherly, Vice President
Bernard Lomas, Counselor

David R. Brown, M.D.
Joseph Coors
Midge Decter
Edwin J. Feulner, Jr.
Joseph R. Keys

Board of Trustees
Hon. Shelby Cullom Davis, Chairman
Robert H. Kriebel, Ph.D., Vice Chairman
J. Frederic Rensch, Secretary
Lewis E. Lehrman

J. William Middendorf, II
Thomas A. Roe
Richard M. Scaife
Hon. William E. Simon
Jay Van Andel

The mission of the team the President assembles is critical, and requires a wide variety of individuals and expertise. It is important that the individuals chosen are all ready to roll up their sleeves and provide you with the kind of precise first hand knowledge that so often is lacking from policy discussions. I hope you will consider strongly these individuals for the President's Education Policy Advisory Committee, and trust you will contact me if we can assist you in these or other matter of mutual concern.

Sincerely,

Edwin J. Feulner, Jr.
President

The Speaker
United States House of Representatives
Washington, D. C. 20515

September 28, 1989

Dear John:

I am writing to bring to your attention an exceptional candidate for nomination to the Tax Court of the United States, Meade Emory of Seattle, Washington. I have known Meade for many years and enthusiastically endorse his nomination.

Meade is an unique individual whose expertise, talent, energy and integrity would serve our judicial system well. Rather than taking up your time to list his qualifications and contributions, let me just attest to both his professional dedication and personal rectitude. The availability of a person of his calibre, a widely respected member of the tax bar, provides us with a special opportunity to add a singularly qualified individual to the court. In addition to his superior qualifications, as the father of adult children, Meade is happy to make the personal commitment and financial sacrifice required of today's public servants.

The entire Washington State Congressional delegation, both House and Senate, is pleased to endorse Meade. This is indicative of the esteem in which he is held -- a regard which crosses party lines.

Meade has already been interviewed for the vacancy by Ede Holiday, General Counsel of the Treasury Department and Shirley Peterson, Assistant Attorney General (Tax Division). I hope after reviewing his qualifications you will give his nomination your endorsement.

With warmest regards and deep appreciation,

A handwritten signature, likely of the sender, consisting of a stylized, cursive 'J' followed by a horizontal line.

Dear John,
Like Will Rogers, I only know what I read in the papers, but I am appalled at the reports on Caldwell Butler and the Legal Services Corp. If it is true that you caused him to be interviewed by an ad hoc gang of lobbyist-philosophers, and then allowed them to blockball him, it would then be a surprise if any capable, experienced person would ever want expose himself or herself to your personnel system again.

One

Caldwell is a first-class, decent guy. He deserves first-class, decent treatment, not a kangaroo court.

Say it aint so, John.

I very much looked forward to being with you on Monday, September 25, when Jacob Stein hosted you at the Princeton Club. Unfortunately, I had a prescheduled appointment with my vascular surgeon which I could not postpone.

I hope that your schedule will permit me, sometime in the not-too-distant future, to make up for this disappointment.

THE AMERICAN UNIVERSITY
WASHINGTON, D.C.

October 2, 1989

Mr. John Sununu
Office of the Chief of Staff
The White House
Washington, D.C. 20500

Dear Mr. Sununu:

As director of the Kennedy Political Union, the student lecture bureau of The American University, it gives me great pleasure to cordially invite you to address the students and faculty of our university during the spring 1990 semester.

The Kennedy Political Union is the non-partisan, student-funded and operated speakers forum of The American University. We take great pride in bringing prominent public figures to our campus to address an array of issues affecting the world. As a recognition of our work, the Kennedy Political Union received the International Platform Association's 1989 Drew Pearson Award symbolizing the nation's top college lecture series. This year we are continuing our tradition of excellence, hosting such speakers as Senator Robert Byrd, FBI Director William Sessions, and NBC News Correspondent Andrea Mitchell. Past guests include Justice Antonin Scalia, Secretaries James Baker and Frank Carlucci, and Senators Robert Dole and Joseph Biden to name but a few.

In most instances I would suggest a specific date that is convenient with our calendar. However, since your schedule is undoubtedly busy, and ours relatively free, I will be happy to accommodate you at any time that is convenient with both of our schedules.

The students and faculty of The American University believe that you will provide us with a stimulating and thought-provoking message. I agree emphatically.

I eagerly await your favorable reply,

Sincerely,

Todd Friedman, Director
Kennedy Political Union

Dear John:

My aunt, Kathie Mast, (Mrs. Charles Mast) saved this program for sixty years. I know she would want you to have it. She was a senior at Trinity College in 1929.

Interestingly, many of the "Distinguished Guests" were or have become household names. Jeremiah Milbank who I believe is still alive, or it could be an ancestor was probably the founder of the Milbank Tweed law firm. It is also my understanding that Milbank Avenue in Greenwich derived its name from his ancestors. The President might know. Milbank Avenue is one of the major roadways in Greenwich.

I also enclose an article about Karen's new position. How come she hasn't been paid?

My aunt is in the Heritage Health Care Nursing Home, 777 9th Street No., Naples, Florida, 33940. If you have a moment, I know it would brighten her day to receive a letter from you at the White House. She is as proud as we are on what you have accomplished.

Sincerely,

John J. Ferguson

Dear John,

I'm sure that you remember me- Tufts University, E'68. I'm the guy who let you win at handball. I see that you've done pretty well for yourself. I've done fairly well also, thanks. Nonetheless, I thought that I'd cash in a few of those IOU's.

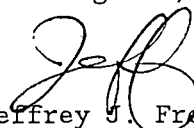

Actually, I write in a serious vein. It concerns Federal support for science. In particular, I am writing to you about the budget allotted to the National Institutes of Health. I was telephoned yesterday by an official of the NIH. He informed me that the Program Project Grant of which I am principal investigator may not be refunded next year because of insufficient funds. This grant fell in the top 18% of grants that competed for renewal. Ordinarily, to rank a grant in the 18th percentile in the face of stiff competition is considered to be an impressive accomplishment. Now it may not get below the pay line.

This grant has supported important and exciting research carried out by a dedicated team of scientists. But when only one in six, or one in seven, worthy research programs can garner support, those of us in the field become discouraged to the point of considering other career paths. Indeed, the decision is taken from our hands. Even the scientists who make the pay line see the handwriting on the wall. They understand that they skate on ice that becomes ever thinner. Young scientist opt out before even beginning.

Such a scenario is a tragedy for the nation, for health, and for science. Regrettably, it is being played out before our eyes. In these times of difficult fiscal constraints, all decisions are difficult. But science and its modest support is the seed corn of the nation. It disappears before our eyes.

In closing, I'll wager that you would be surprised to know that I actually use on a near-daily basis some of the things that you taught me in the classroom. To repay this debt, I could make myself available for some handball when or if you should need any confidence-building.

Best regards,

Jeffrey J. Fredberg, Ph.D.

Dear John:

A belated, but nonetheless grateful thank you for the photos and personal notes to Craig Zieba. The photo of the President is unique. It captures his enthusiasm.

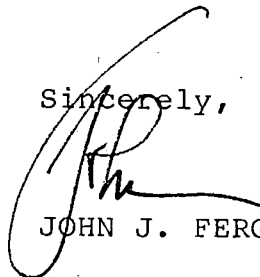

I think you should capitalize on your "I am a pussycat", by having your picture taken in the Giant's locker room with L.T. Incidentally, "I am a pussy cat" has been attributed to Jorge Hiack of Venezuelan fame. This was reputed to be Jorge's response after tutoring by John Sullivan, to an eighth grade American History quiz. I trust that you can envision Sullivan in good conscience and good will helping his Latin brother overcome his language barrier.

I'll see October 5th in New York at the Child of Peace dinner. You can personally wish me Happy 50th!

Enclosed is a copy of Fr. Brooks reply to my request that he grant me an extension on my nomination of you and Nancy for Honorary Degrees. What difference a year makes!

Best regards to Nancy.

Sincerely,

JOHN J. FERGUSON

P.S. I expect that Sullivan, Ramsay, Lunny and Rudy will also come on the 5th.

Re: Two Forks Impoundment Facility - Colorado

Dear Mr. Sununu:

I am taking the liberty of communicating with you because my correspondence to the President of the United States has been unanswered. All correspondence relates to the above-referenced matter.

I am greatly concerned because it is obvious that the matter of the pending veto of this project by the Environmental Protection Agency and its consequences upon the state of Colorado and the American political process are devastating. The people in the metropolitan Denver community are willing to spend some 500 million dollars to provide a facility to make a firm annual yield of water available and to provide against the consequences of drought. It seems inconceivable that the federal government would resist when all local regulatory agencies have approved and further interfere with the process of independent, responsible local needs.

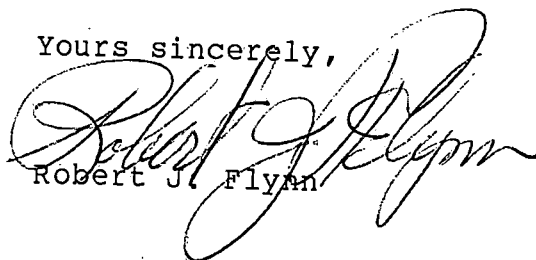

Appended hereto is a copy of my letter of September 1, 1989, directed to the President and which has been unanswered, together with a copy of my letter of September 21, 1989, petitioning Mr. Bush to permit this writer and Senator Armstrong to discuss this at a short meeting. I will be in Washington for the Republican Senatorial Inner Circle conference and proffer that this would be a convenient time to plead for the interest of enterprising and independent citizens of the state of Colorado.

This is indeed an important matter, and we proffer that you would well serve the President and the citizens of this country by permitting the same to be brought to the attention of

The Honorable John Sununu

Dear Sir:

Your aide for cabinet affairs, Juanita Duggan, reviewed our video THE WEALTH OF WATER IN NORTHERN COLORADO and responded with a nice note on September 12th. However, in a phone conversation on September 16, she politely refused to discuss the matter saying, "I will have to write a report, if we talk."

Sir, we feel that not only should a report be written, but an investigation should begin.

We support this request with the following:

The EPA report, signed by Lee Deihns, states on page 21:
"There is not clear evidence that an agricultural dry-up will occur....No documentation was provided which indicated that the historical trends in irrigated agriculture would change with, or without, TWO FORKS DAM..."

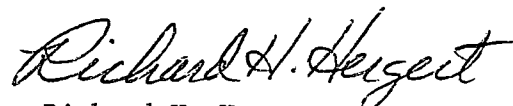

Historical facts and events documented in our video clearly show the serious and devastating impacts on an entire region of drying up agricultural water - the Fourth Congressional District. The massive body of facts, testimony and events presented in our video were not considered.

Because the proper evidence has not been acknowledged, we formally request establishment of a White House oversight team to specify to you and the President the impacts on food production in Colorado, communities, schools, soils, wildlife, wetlands and tax structures if TWO FORKS is NOT built.

Northern Colorado is the fourth wealthiest ag production center in the United States with hundreds of communities, 500,000 people and one of the most unique and most productive ag irrigation systems in the world -- yet this entire region appears to be ignored for some reason. Thus, we request a White House investigation and formal report.

Thank you.

Dear Gov. Sununu:

I am writing to inform you of the Ad Hoc Committee's opposition to the possible nomination of Caldwell Butler as Chairman of the Board of the Legal Services Corporation.

Our opposition is based in part on Mr. Butler's near-perfect pro-abortion voting record during his tenure in Congress. Our records show that Mr. Butler opposed pro-life amendments on 30 out of 36 votes. I have enclosed a copy of this record for your information.

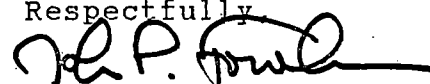

The anti-abortion movement's concern with personnel at the Legal Services Corporation is well-founded. Enclosed is a 1986 study which documents numerous cases where the LSC funded legal aid agencies which litigated on behalf of pro-abortion organizations, in some cases on a pro bono basis.

This practice is controversial and, we believe, illegal: Section 1007 (b)(8) of the Legal Services Corporation Act (Public Law 93-355, 95-222) reads "No funds made available by the Corporation under this title, either by grant or contract, may be used to provide legal assistance with respect to any proceeding or litigation which seeks to procure a nontherapeutic abortion ..."

Now that the Supreme Court has given states and localities more discretion in establishing laws restricting abortion, the number of abortion-related court cases is likely to increase dramatically. And as the enclosed study shows, these are the very type of cases which LSC grantees would likely be involved in. That is why it is imperative that, in the post-Webster era, the LSC board not be headed by a strong abortion advocate such as Mr. Butler.

I would gladly discuss the Committee's position further with you or a member of your staff should you so desire, Gov. Sununu, and I thank you for all that you have done in support of our cause.

Respectfully,

John P. Fowler

FROM: CRAIG L. FULLER

SUBJECT: World Conference on Education for All

A letter concerning the World Conference on Education for All was recently shared with me. The letter, which is attached, was sent to the President by William Draper and Barber Conable. Both are reported to be very supportive of the program.

I have no relationship with the sponsors, but as I learned more about the program, I thought that it had some potential for the First Lady. I wanted to flag this for you as Conference participation is being considered.

My thought is that Mrs. Bush could, because of her interest in literacy and education, call the "U.S. team" (U.S. Steering meeting including representatives from private sector and domestic education groups) together at the White House. There will be U.S. representatives at various regional conferences, there is a steering committee with U.S. participation and then there will be a delegation going to the Conference in March, 1990.

Just what Mrs. Bush's role might be beyond convening a meeting at the White House would need to be evaluated. Several options exist such as: attending a regional conference in Boston later this year, participating in a WorldNet broadcast, even heading the delegation to the World Conference in Thailand during the first week of March.

I recognize that you will want to have any level of involvement carefully evaluated. I just mention this as something to consider.

If there is an interest, there are some very good people at AID who can provide additional information.

August 14, 1989

Honorable John Sununu
Chief of Staff
The White House
Washington, D.C. 20500

Dear Governor Sununu:

I use the title Governor by right of political inheritance. I go back in your State to Governor Sherman Adams when he was Chief of Staff and to Senator Styles Bridges when I first began my lessons in the Senate.

The attached memorandum outlines an idea that I suggest could be used in the President's speech to be given at San Jose, Costa Rica on October 27-28; his calling for the creation of an Economic Union of the Americas.

This is not a new idea but despite the obvious advantages it has not been publicly discussed in almost 20 years. I proposed it to Senator Dirksen while I was his Counsel, Minority Counsel of the Senate. We incorporated it in a speech he gave, as I recall, before the Economic Club of New York. It was a part of a speech on taxes, he was relating the relationship between trade and taxes.

The idea of an Economic Union of the Americas was widely hailed in the press, by business and by, I believe, every Embassy in Washington representing Countries of the Western Hemisphere.

Due to the international economic situation in the Western Hemisphere, Senator Dirksen did not think it appropriate that our President make such a call as the representative of the "Colossus of the North" as we were called, and we were. Rather, he thought that either the President of Mexico or Brazil should furnish the initiative so that there could be no mistake that the U.S.A. was simply offering a plan so as to get more growth economically at the expense of our Southern neighbors.

Unfortunately what was to be his final illness presented further efforts on his part to advance the idea, one he firmly accepted and wholeheartedly believed in. He considered it a response to what he thought the EEC on the East would become, and in fact will in 1992, and Japan on the West who has already realized the dominant Asian economic position he visualized.

He had not, to my knowledge, advised anyone in the Executive Branch of his proposal beforehand. He felt that the Department of State, so far as our foreign trade was concerned, had failed us miserably.

I have not thought previously that the time was appropriate to present such a proposal. But the situation has changed. We have the U.S.-Canadian free trade agreement. Within the last few days in Mexico City Guillermo Diaz de la Garza, an official with the National Chamber of Industries in Transformation, called on Presidents Bush and Salinas to move to the creation of a North American Common Market in lieu of an extension of the expiring U.S.- Mexican Trade Agreement signed last year.

Governor Sununu, as one who has been involved personally in foreign trade in the Western Hemisphere and expects to be in Ecuador in January through March, 1990, starting a new venture, based on my own experience I feel confident that such a proposal by the President would be received warmly at San Jose.

Finally, assuming such an organization were to get underway, each nation would realize that only a free economy could produce the desired achievements and that such a free economy could only be achieved under a free or democratic government.

I am not familiar enough with the President's style, so regard this as a mere draft.

If it is used, however, please don't assign it to the fate of the Vaunted Alliance for Progress launched with fanfare by President Kennedy and allowed to die. Nor should it interfere with the Uruguay round of GATT negotiations now underway at Geneva. After all, the EEC was being formed during two GATT rounds.

Consider just one of the innumerable benefits; the negotiating position of a joint Canada, U.S.A., Brazil and Argentina agricultural policy.

Permit me, Sir, to make whatever knowledge and experience I possess yours, to make whatever use of you see fit.

Sincerely,

Clyde L. Flynn, Jr.

Dear John:

Enclosed are copies of the letters, Andy Fair, Esq., has massed mailed to other lawyers and pension clients dealing with a proposed "user fee" tax on employee benefit plans. Andy is a good friend of mine and a recognized expert in the area of pension and employee benefit law. He has testified before Congress on many occasions and is "my counsel" whenever a client of mine needs work in this area. He is not an alarmist or an individual engaged in constant campaigns. Hence, his concern over this issue is noteworthy. Accordingly, I deemed his concern important enough to bring it to your attention. If anyone on your staff wanted or needed a broader insight on the matter, I know Andy would welcome the opportunity to discuss the issue in detail.

Best regards to Nancy.

The Honorable John H. Sununu
Chief of Staff
Executive Office of the President
1600 Pennsylvania Avenue, N.W.
Washington, D.C. 20500

Dear John:

I want to alert you preliminarily to a problem on which I am working which is likely to have major ramifications for the Administration and Congress in coming months.

As you know, under present law the U.S. Postal Service has a monopoly on delivery of addressed mail (first and third class). Following years of widely acknowledged postal system mismanagement, and hemorrhaging costs far out of line with the private sector -- particularly labor costs, which are some 83% of the cost of postal operations -- the Postal Service has raised rates repeatedly. Now, efforts are underway to extract even more drastic rate increases. The predicted new rates are of grave and urgent concern to firms which depend on sending third class mail.

The Postal Service has known the dimensions of its problems for a long time, but every effort to solve them has failed. Notwithstanding installation of hundreds of millions of dollars in high-tech mail processing machines, and notwithstanding increased revenues attributable to the higher postal rates, the Service faces disaster. Negative productivity growth continues, cost increases far exceeding inflation are beyond the Service's ability to control, the postal system is riddled with inefficiency, and no meaningful remedy is forthcoming. Even Postmaster General Frank acknowledges that the Service is "in serious trouble financially."

I need hardly tell you that the success and in some cases the viability of small and large businesses throughout the country, particularly those which advertise by mail, depend on

HOGAN & HARTSON

The Honorable John H. Sununu
September 7, 1989

postal rates. The competitive position of these employers is directly related to the cost of using the mails. Further rate increases of the magnitude the Postal Service now contemplates would profoundly hurt these businesses and have adverse ripple effects across the economy. These firms employ and serve millions of Americans. Forbidden by present law from using private sector alternatives, and lacking any avenue to reform the postal system, they are understandably frustrated and poised to seek redress in Washington. There is a consensus that heightened public consciousness and leadership by the principal government decision-makers are essential.

I have been asked to assist a number of these firms whose lifeblood is mail to analyze the problem and formulate a sound and responsible plan of action. They strongly believe that ever since the Postal Service was given semi-independent status 18 years ago, Congress has not taken the necessary role, and that the Postal Service is not adequately accountable. The firms believe that re-examination of some of the premises on which current postal rate regulation is based, including the prohibition of private sector delivery of addressed third class mail, is long overdue. They believe that there is not an informed public understanding of the importance of fair postal rates to the health of the economy. They also believe that shortsighted special interest influence on the labor side has too long had a strangle-hold on public decision-making in the postal area.

Our economy depends on the mail system, and the consequences of not fixing it are very grim. Careful analysis and broad consultation will be required to formulate the most effective and fair solutions to this national problem. That process began some time ago. I will share with you the resulting proposals as they are developed. Given the stakes, however, I wanted to let you know as soon as possible that this issue is moving, and that the President's support is essential to progress in this area.

With best regards.

Sincerely,

Frank J. Fahrenkopf, Jr.

Re: Mike McCarthy

Dear John:

We had a grand visit by the Vice President last week. We raised funds for both the California Republican Party and for the Republican Party of Orange County.

Among the team who came from Washington was a young man named Mike McCarthy who did an exceptionally fine job in helping us to prepare and present our dinner party with Dan Quayle.

Mike was very cordial and cooperative. He was helpful and professional. We really appreciated such a fine representative of the Administration coming to Orange County.

I hope you might recognize and acknowledge so fine a young person on the White House staff.

Jolene joins me in sending you and Nancy our every good wish.

Re: Federal Communication Commission

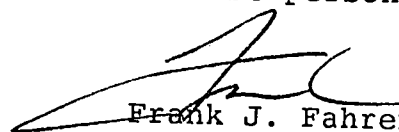

Dear John:

It is my understanding that an appointment to the FCC, which must be filled by a Democrat, is eminent. I want to recommend to you Mary Jo Manning who presently serves as Senior Vice President of Hill and Knowlton.

Mary Jo's background for the position is impeccable as you will note from the enclosed resume. I think it is also important that she served for a number of years as Senator Ernest Hollings' chief legislative assistant giving her significant knowledge of and experience with successful Congressional relations.

I am convinced that if she were to receive the appointment, she would do an outstanding job for President Bush and the nation.

Dear John,

Enclosed is information concerning a study that my niece's husband, Michael Moore has asked Bob or I to send you. You met Michael at my home a year ago during our Open House. He and his Company have been seeking to find someone to intercede on behalf of their work which is well explained in the brochure enclosed.

Could Jackie Kennedy or someone in your office scan it first and then outline it for your review? I realize how busy your life has become and I truly do not like to ask this favor of you, but I feel they have something worthwhile here that could benefit many many people.

If you feel that you could be of any assistance in this matter, I would appreciate it very much.

Very truly yours,

Terri Foster

BY Hand

Dear John,

I write to ask if you might slip away at luncheon time on Thursday, January 25 to talk to a financial group from most of the leading houses that we are assembling in the Watergate Hotel. They will have heard from a wide range of officials and there could be no better wind-up than a few succinct words from you.

We will sit down at 12:30 and I will put you on at 1:10, promising that you can be back at your desk by two. If you want to come just for the talk, that will be fine. I would like very much to have these people get to know you and I hope you can do it. You are doing a great job and your public appearances are outstanding.

All best wishes for another great year for you and the Bush White House.

Sincerely,

December 28, 1989

The Honorable John H. Sununu
White House Chief of Staff
1600 Pennsylvania Ave. NW
Washington, D.C. 20500

Dear Governor Sununu:

It was great to once again have the chance to briefly talk with you at the Congressional Reception held by the President and Mrs. Bush at the White House last week.

This was a wonderful evening and this event once again underscored the positive relationship the President has with members of the Congress on both sides of the aisle.

As a new member of the House just completing a hectic first year, there are only too few opportunities to express appreciation to you and your outstanding staff at the White House for all the assistance rendered over the past year. I know that my Freshmen Republican colleagues join me in wishing you and your entire staff all the best for continued success during the coming year.

Again, it was great to have a chance to talk with you and I look forward to seeing you and Mrs. Sununu again in the very near future.

Best Wishes.

Sincerely;

BILL PAXON
Member of Congress
