GRADUATE SCHOOL OF JOURNALISM
Office of the Dean

Journalism Building

December 6, 1991

Mr. John Sununu
Chief of Staff
The White House
Washington, DC 20500

Dear Mr. Sununu:

Now that you will be moving on to a new role in government that does not require that you interact with the press on a daily basis, we would like to invite you to talk about your experiences with the media, particularly the broadcast press, as White House Chief of Staff.

Each year at the Columbia University Graduate School of Journalism we present the duPont Awards for excellence in broadcast journalism, the equivalent of the Pulitzer prizes for radio and television news. On the same day, while outstanding journalists from networks and local stations across the country have gathered at Columbia for the Awards, we convene the duPont Forum to explore important issues facing journalism.

Our duPont Forum on January 30, 1992, will consider "The Press and the Public," to focus on why the public trust in television news is on the decline and to examine what we as journalists can do to improve that trust in this age of instant global communication.

We would like to invite you to address the opening session, "TV News--As Others See Us," at 9:30 AM, Thursday, January 30, on the Columbia campus.

The public has consistently expressed strong disapproval of the way the press covers public officials, particularly the concentrated and intensive coverage that has become known as the "feeding frenzy." Since you went to Washington three years ago you have learned, firsthand, what it is like to run into a barrage of critical press coverage.

je 2

would welcome hearing your impressions of what it has been like to live in the eye of public storm. How has it affected your life, your ability to do your job, and what has it meant to your family? And just as important, what impact does today's kind of journalism have on politics and public service?

January will bring the beginning of another Presidential election campaign, and surely another year of vigorous coverage by the broadcast media. We believe this is a timely occasion to hear from you on the subject. Your perspective would be invaluable not only to the assembled reporters, news executives, and media writers, but also to the aspiring journalists of the Graduate School of Journalism and other institutions who will attend the duPont Forum.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in cursive script, appearing to read "Jean Konner".

Gov. John Sununu
The White House
Washington, D.C. 20500

Dear Gov. Sununu,

As you begin to review the options for your post White House activities, you may choose to explore the world of professional speaking engagements. Keppler Associates would be most interested in representing you in this field.

Our firm exclusively represents many of the world's most prominent figures in coordinating their speaking engagements. Among our clients are William F. Buckley, Charlton Heston, Jacques Cousteau, Gavriil Popov, Jack Anderson, George McGovern, Harold Wilson, Jim and Sarah Brady, Ben Bradlee, Frank Carlucci, Ed Meese and other such leaders from politics, journalism, science and entertainment. Our staff of agents deal with thousands of sponsoring organizations ranging from universities to corporations to civic functions to political fundraisers. We have the ability to place our speakers in a wider variety of forums than any other agency.

I feel that we can make lecturing a lucrative and enjoyable experience for you. Even though you cannot give such lectures until you depart the White House in March, it might be a good idea to explore laying the groundwork for such an undertaking. I hope that your schedule might permit me a few minutes to meet with you to outline our services and answer any questions you may have.

Thank you for your consideration and best wishes in the days ahead.

Sincerely,

James R. Keppler
President

Dear Honorable Sununu:

As an executive search firm, headquartered in Andover, MA, I'm prompted to contact you following a phone call I received from the Lawrence Eagle Tribune earlier this week asking for my comments on what I considered opportunities you could pursue in your future career life. I indicated to the paper that I had been thinking about this shortly after you made your announcement, and I made several suggestions that they may or may not print.

Be that as it may, as a life long Republican, a member of the Republican Senatorial Inner Circle, and a neighbor residing in Atkinson, NH, I'd be very happy to offer my services, under no obligation, to meet with you to review alternative possibilities that may exist for you in the private sector. I can think of a number of scenarios, undoubtedly many you have already thought about, but it might be helpful to have an objective viewpoint from someone whose business is in the marketplace of placing senior level executives for many large, medium and small, domestic and international organizations. I have been in the executive search business for approximately 11 years, eight of those years with Halcy Associates, in New York, where I was a Senior Managing Director, and for the last three years, I have been running my own firm. Before becoming an executive search consultant, I was a corporate officer with several companies.

If you would be interested in spending whatever time you have available from your busy schedule to get together, I will be happy to make my time available to fit your schedule. We could meet on a weekend when you are returning to Salem, or wherever else would be convenient. Please let me know if I can be of assistance, as I think you have an extraordinary opportunity to consider a number of interesting avenues to pursue in your career following a highly successful political life in New Hampshire and most importantly, during your three outstanding years at the White House.

Sincerely,

Herbert S. Kishbaugh

Dear Gov. Sununu:

Enclosed is a video cassette recording of a "Frontline" program on the development of a Japanese industrial base in the United States. It aired last Wednesday. Without exception, I found it the most frightening challenge we face immediately and over the long term for employment, economic and military independence, and personal liberty.

Please view it. Whatever doubts one has of the virtue of a national industrial policy, our country - and this administration - must respond to this Japanese threat. Our free enterprise system cannot do its job when confronted with a targeted, coordinated economic attack by a nation whose culture and policies combine business and government into a formidable, almost monolithic entity.

Sincerely yours,

November 22, 1991

The Honorable John Sununu
Chief of Staff to the President
The White House
1600 Pennsylvania Avenue, NW
Washington, DC 20500

Dear Mr. Sununu:

As Honorary Chairman of National Engineers Week 1992, it is my pleasure to invite you to join a team of prominent and respected engineers in the third annual N.E.W. "All-Star" team. While engineers across the nation have celebrated N.E.W. since 1951, Discover"E" has provided a renewed focus. The goal of the program is to stimulate student and teacher interest in engineering careers. For Discover"E" 1991, some 10,000 engineers reached more than one million students and teachers. This year we anticipate 20,000 engineers will double this effort.

Critical to the success of Discover"E" is the participation of the "All-Star" team of some 20 prominent engineers to serve as role models on school visits. The N.E.W. sponsors and I would be honored to have you join with me as an "All-Star" team member. Discover"E" engineers, including the "All-Stars," visit math and science classes to help students discover how their studies relate to technology and the world around them. The N.E.W. Committee provides materials to engineers in all sectors, and a copy of this year's package is enclosed.

I'll be sending you detailed information regarding the program and its participants, including the other 1992 "All-Stars." In brief, the N.E.W. Committee asks that you visit a classroom February 16-22; encourage your engineers to participate in Discover"E"; pursue media coverage of your classroom appearance; and tie corporate advertising to N.E.W. As further background, we plan a national publicity campaign emphasizing the need for engineers to maintain the country's technological leadership. Other media attention will be drawn to activities such as scholarship awards, public exhibits, student competition, "Engineer for a Day" programs, and proclamations from government officials.

N.E.W. 1992 is supported by more than 40 engineering organizations and ten corporations. Your participation would help further our success. I hope I can count on your support and that you will join me as a 1992 "All-Star." Please have a member of your staff call John Wolff at (914) 697-6229, and we will coordinate your efforts with the N.E.W. Committee. A response by December 13 would be appreciated. Thank you.

Washington, D.C. 20500

Dear Sir,

A.A.B.P.C. is the largest Arab American organization in the state of Florida. It is a non-sectarian, non-profit, non-partisan organization dedicated to the promotion of the civil and legal right of people of Arab descent, as well as resistance to racism and discrimination of all mankind.

By virtue of your life's dedication to true altruism we the members of the A.A.B.P.C. hereby humbly implore the honor of your presence at our first annual convention to be convened some time within the next six month. The date and time will be selected in accordance with your availability.

We would be further honored and edified if you could find if it is possible to address the audience on any subject you choose as our key note speaker for this momentous occasion. Like you, we think that President Bush has the right concepts for the promotion of world justice and peace.

We are particularly gratified by his actions regarding the present Middle East peace endeavors. Consequently we, at this time, wish to render strong support to the president in all his endeavors.

We would further like to inform you that if you think that we at any time can be of some help to President Bush or yourself, this organization is willing and ready to do its best.

AMERICAN ARAB BUSINESS & PROFESSIONAL COALITION, INC.

We look forward to hearing from you at your earliest convenience.

Thank you and may God bless you.

My experience as an elected and appointed public official has given me great respect for the people that work for the President.

Give the dual Money plan pages 1 to 6 a good review before presenting it to our President. pages 7 to 10 were added in Sept. 1990 after a few persons felt the plan was inflationary. The last two sheets were added July 1991 to provide trust and hope for our country.

If you yourself do not have time to study the plan, give it to another member of your team. Looks like a delay on your part could be fatal.

ed. We have good answers, either and reform program your foreign the plan.

the banks, obless count dollars a day.

Ralph Klinge

the Dual Money selects an can make the plan public in any manner you choose and it is all yours.

Like Senator Harris Wofford, you can succeed on the domestic front with an idea that also provides the money. You might think the plan is impossible. However according to Luke 18,26 "Things that are impossible for man are possible for God".

In 1988 the plan received some criticism on inflation. It has been improved and negative comments stopped. Many officials in Congress have ignored the plan or just sent an acknowledgment.

The selling features below can be understood by citizens.

1. Federal Government debt will be paid in six years, saving billions in interest expense at no cost to the taxpayers.
2. All home, farm and charitable groups will get 3% mortgage Federal Government and Postal Service get the income.
3. State governments will borrow at zero interest while municipal governments will borrow at 1% interest. The 1% interest income will be used for free public television time for candidates for public office.
4. All depositors of failed banks will receive their money, at no cost to the taxpayers.

God Loves You

Dear Governor Sununu:

I hope my letter finds you and yours in the best of health.

Many of my Croatian constituents are very upset with the situation in Yugoslavia, and I appeal to you and President Bush to take some steps, if possible to end the civil war between Croatia and Serbia.

Enclosed you'll find a letter from my constituent, Anne K. Sekulich who is very concerned about the fact that nothing is being done by the United States to solve the Yugoslavian problem. I respectfully ask that you urge our President to find some solution to it, without many more lives being slaughtered.

May I please hear from you at your earliest convenience?

Thank you for your assistance in this matter.

Kindest personal regards to you and yours--

Sincerely

The Honorable John Sununu

Dear Governor Sununu:

The 21st Annual Convention of the National Republican Heritage Groups (Nationalities) Council was held in Old Town Alexandria, Virginia on November 8th and 9th, 1991. As Chairman of National Republican Heritage Groups (Nationalities) Council Volunteers Committee and as the Acting Chairman from the State of New Hampshire I was in attendance. At this convention I was voted in as Assistant Secretary to the Council for the upcoming two years. There were delegates from all over the United States, especially from the big ethnic states, i.e., California, New York, Michigan, Illinois, Pennsylvania, etc.

It seems that the Republican National Committee does not favorably look at the Heritage Groups (Nationalities) Council for some unknown reason. Several of the delegates (who have been with the Council for many years) claim that there is an attitude change to the Heritage Groups (Nationalities) Council from the Republican National Committee. They feel that they are given the "royal snub". There seems to be no reason given to the Council for this cold treatment. In the past, national leaders have made appearances at their conventions and have listened to what the Council has had to say. Recognition was always given to the Council by the White House and by the Republican National Committee.

I have been asked by several Council delegates to drop you a note and ask you, if possible, to contact the Republican National Committee and the Nationalities Chairman of the Heritage Groups (Nationalities) Council, Mr. Casimir (Casey) Oksas, at the Washington office or in Chicago to see if something can be done to restore the friendly and favorable communications between the two groups that they once enjoyed.

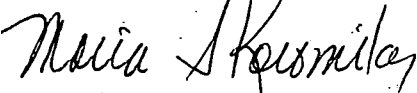

It seems rather strange that this separation has occurred. After all, we all are working towards Republican victories on the national, state and local levels. More than ever, we must unite for the common cause of Republicanism.

We, as Republicans, cannot afford to have these two groups wander off in the horizon without definite direction and cooperation between them. We need every group.

Whatever can be done will be greatly appreciated.

Thank you very much.

Very truly yours,

Maria S. Koromilas

Honorable John Sununu
Chief of Staff

Dear Governor:

Gene Sarazen is America's oldest living sports legend. He is also one of the President's oldest "points of light." Gene will celebrate his 90th birthday on Feb. 27, 1992 teeing off in the Gene Sarazen Hospital Fund golf event held here on Marco Island. It is through this effort that Gene has provided Urgent Medical Care to his community.

May I extend, through you, an invitation to the President to tee off with Gene on that day. Gene and his family have long been residents of New Hampshire and of course, Gene's daughter Mary Ann Ilnicki, has always been involved in civic activities.

I realize that the President will have many demands on his time during that period. National affairs as well as the political primaries weigh heavily at that time. However, perhaps the President's schedule will bring him close enough to Florida for a day's golf with Gene Sarazen on his 90th.

On behalf of Gerry Allard, vice chairman of the event, and Gene Ilnicki, may I thank you for your help and interest in making this tribute to Gene Sarazen the most memorable in his life. The Masters, the British Open, the U.S. Open, are but a prelude to being one of the President's 1000 points of light.

Warmest regards,

Governor Sununu:

A week ago I wrote a letter to you asking for the Bush Administration's support in urging the U.S. Congress to pass legislation that included provisions for interstate banking.

In that same letter, I recalled that when I was student of yours at Tufts, you would, on occasion, toss your eraser at those of us who were not paying attention to your lecture. I went on to note in my letter that I hoped, when you were lecturing them on the benefits of interstate banking, that the members of Congress feared your eraser as much as we did.

In your recent reply to me, you responded, "I only wish I had something as effective as an eraser to help."

In response to your comment, I have taken the liberty of sending you something that may help further the "democratic process" in Washington. Best of luck!

Sincerely yours,

Dear Governor Sununu:

Let me begin by re-introducing myself; my name is Carleton Kilmer and I am a partner with Andersen Consulting, which is an operating unit of Arthur Andersen & Co., S.C. My specific responsibilities include heading up our firm's Aerospace and Defense practice. We first met in late 1982 and early 1983 when I was part of your transition team in New Hampshire working with Mr. Terry Morton from the Congoleum Corporation.

The specific purpose of this letter is to ask for your assistance with the application of Mr. Richard J. Golden for the position of White House Fellow. Mr. Golden is a partner in our New York office and was also a member of your transition team working with Terry and me. Richard is a fine individual and a respected member of our partnership.

I would appreciate anything you could do to forward and support his candidacy. Also, as a longtime resident of Thornton, New Hampshire I look forward to your return to the Granite State.

Very truly yours,

Dear Mr. Sununu:

With an apparent impasse on a national energy policy I felt that I should write and offer a few of my thoughts on the situation. First, energy consumption is a non-partisan issue; Republicans, Democrats and Independents alike use it. Secondly, and more importantly, energy is an issue of common sense. I believe that our current policy can be compared to a bucket with a hole in the bottom. Common sense would dictate that one should plug the hole, rather than to continually seek new sources to keep the bucket filled. Wouldn't it therefore be wiser to develop a policy that tried to plug the "holes" with a focus on efficiency, also known as conservation.

For example, our country is filled with older, uninsulated buildings, both residential and commercial, that in total waste a tremendous amount of energy. I'm referring not only to heating during the winter in the northern states, but to air conditioning in the summer in almost all states, which seems to be when most brownouts occur. Less fuel burned for energy will lessen airborne pollutants, the source of the much studied acid rain and greenhouse effect.

Another major energy user is the automobile. Small cars are being called unsafe. But if safety is supposed to be a major concern of the American consumer, why do only 50 percent of us wear seatbelts? During the last two energy crises people quickly abandoned the gas guzzling American cars for the more fuel-efficient foreign models. Traffic fatalities decreased when the speed limit was dropped to 55 mph to conserve energy. Size didn't play any role in the safety issue as the small car population exploded. In fact, most people would rather spend their money on durable goods than use it to fill their tanks.

There is one other related matter I would like to mention. Early last summer I was working out-of-doors. By late morning my eyes were itching and watering, and forced me to quit work early. On the way home, I heard that a "health alert" was on due to high air pollution counts. I felt not only cheated out of several hours of work, but felt that I was also cheated out of something I had apparently taken for granted: the right to breath clean air. I have some control over what I eat and drink, but very little control over what I breath. If those days become more frequent it will force more people to work indoors, creating a bigger demand for energy for air conditioning and causing more pollution from power plants, and the dangerous spiral goes on and on. Many people who work indoors can not relate to this situation. As a Forester, I can not avoid it, nor can the plants, wildlife, or the children who don't understand the concept of unhealthy air.

I mentioned that I have little control over what I breath. However, as my representative in Washington, you do have some control on the outcome of our environment. I can only ask that you support an energy policy that is based on more efficient use of our energy consumption, not a policy based on new sources to fuel our inefficient use.

I thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Ronald J. Klemarczyk
Forester

Encore Shoe Corporation

November 15, 1991

The Honorable John Sununu
Chief of Staff
Office of the Vice President
Old Executive Office Building
Washington, DC 20501

Dear Governor Sununu,

Recently, I had a discussion with New Hampshire State Senate President Ed DuPont regarding the "Credit Crunch". He asked me to write to you regarding our experience at Encore Shoe Corporation and our thoughts that relate to this matter.

We had the misfortune of having our operating loan with Bank of New England when they were overtaken by the FDIC. As with many industries, 1990 was a year of consolidation and losses in the apparel and footwear industries. Unfortunately, our company was no exception.

Our financial numbers were not good at the time of BNE's demise. As a result, Fleet did not pick up our loan and it was placed with the FDIC "Bad Bank", RECOLL Management.

Our understanding of RECOLL's mission, as issued by the FDIC, is that all loans that fall under their charge are to be liquidated within five years. We have also learned that the lucrative commission structure for Fleet is geared towards the incentive of liquidating the loan as quickly as possible, getting as close as possible to 100% of the dollars owed, without regard for the subsequent consequences to the company or its employees.

On April 24, 1991, RECOLL gave us a "Drop Dead" date of December 31, 1991. Our marching orders were to get the loan re-financed by that date or funding would cease and the company would be liquidated. We have worked in a determined manner to get the loan re-financed and since Spring, 1991, we have reduced the amount owed and financed through RECOLL from $8.7 million to $4.7 million. Our monthly financial statements have shown consistent profits since June, 1991. Through great sacrifice, we made a major turnaround and rehabilitation in a very difficult retail climate.

Progress has been made in our efforts to obtain new financing. However, each proposal that we have received would require RECOLL to take $1.5 million from a secured position to a "Soft Note" to be paid over two to three years. RECOLL was "insulted" by this proposal and reiterated their determination to obtain 100% of the loan dollars by December 31, 1991 or they would liquidate the company and go after the personal assets of the principals.

ACCENT ON ARCHITECTURE

A CELEBRATION OF DESIGN EXCELLENCE

November 14, 1991

The Honorable John Sununu
Office of the Chief of Staff
The White House
1600 Pennsylvania Ave., NW
Washington, DC 20500

Dear Governor Sununu:

On behalf of White House Curator Rex Scouten, the leadership of The American Institute of Architects, The American Architectural Foundation, and the White House Historical Association, I would like to thank you for agreeing to serve on the Honorary Committee of Accent on Architecture 1992.

We hope you will be able to join us for the celebration on January 22, 1992. The day's events include the opening of the official exhibition on the history of the executive mansion and a congressional reception at the historic Octagon Museum, followed by the Accent on Architecture awards gala at the John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts, which includes a tribute to the White House anniversary. Your official gala invitation will arrive in the next month. Please mark the date on your calendar.

An AIA representative will be in touch with your office to determine how you might enhance our celebration efforts. We appreciate your willingness to have your name included in our invitation and gala program and will need your continued support to increase the public awareness of this program.

Dear Governor:

Jordan B. Cherrick is a candidate for the vacancy on the United States Court of Appeals for the Eighth Circuit. Senator John C. Danforth has recommended his appointment and my good friend, Sam Fox, has endorsed the Senator's recommendation.

May I join them in urging you to give Jordan Cherrick the fullest consideration for this important position. A simple examination of his background will convince you, as it has me, of his intelligence, accomplishments and integrity. His conservative philosophy should also be appealing to the President.

Such an appointment by the President, would be highly commendable.

Sincerely yours,

Mr. John Sununu
Chief of Staff
The White House
Washington, D.C. 20500

Dear Mr. Sununu:

David Demarest is a 1975 graduate of Upsala College.

He probably hasn't told you this, but the Committee on Honors of the Faculty and the Board of Trustees of this college, at a meeting on October 10, designated him, from among a dozen and a half nominees, as one of two persons to receive an honorary doctorate from the college at our graduation ceremonies next May 17.

It was my pleasure, a couple of weeks ago, to visit with him in his office and to hand him the letter conveying this information and to invite him, as well, to be our commencement speaker that day.

Naturally, he was flattered.

Now, I should be telling you what to do? Well, in this case, had I the power to do just that, your instructions would be to arrange that no international or domestic crises occur on the weekend of May 17, 1992, so that David can not only be here to receive his honorary doctorate, but also so that I will not be forced to have -- God knows who -- surely not a Democrat! -- as a substitute speaker.

Please, Mr. Chief of Staff, give me a break!

This message will not self-destruct in twenty seconds.

All of my best to you!

Sincerely,

Robert E. Karsten
President

VIA FACSIMILE: Confirmation Copy

Mr. John H. Sununu, Chief of Staff
Executive Office of The President
1600 Pennsylvania Avenue, N.W.
Washington, D. C. 20500

Dear Mr. Sununu:

As the Association representing the coal industry in Alabama, we wish to inform you of policy developments at the Department of Interior's Office of Surface Mining which contravene the President's stated objectives on federalism, America's competitiveness, and unnecessary civil litigation. On July 18, 1991, the Department published a notice indicating that its Office of Surface Mining may change longstanding policies on the regulation of underground coal mines. We enclosed our letter to the Assistant Secretary of the Interior which discusses our concerns with any proposed regulatory changes which effectively preempt state property rights where the statute in question, the Surface Mining Control and Reclamation Act, Pub. L. 95-87, has been consistently construed by the courts as not displacing state law. Moreover, there has yet to be presented any real basis necessitating such an abrupt change in policy.

We believe that you might also find this matter of significant interest since the policy changes under consideration also implicate the coal industry's ability to compete in today's international markets. The Department is also considering reverting to the inflexible regulatory scheme established in 1978, but later abandoned in 1983 for a less cumbersome but effective approach which allowed the states to tailor the standards in a manner relevant to their needs. This more flexible performance-based approach, adopted when then Vice-President Bush chaired the Task Force on Regulatory Review, has not only proven more effective in addressing the concerns of the statute, but has allowed for the advancement of mining technology and in turn improved overall productivity. Any reversion to a design standard, or a command-and-control, approach now under consideration will stifle innovation and technological advancement. We do not believe that such a policy approach comports with the President's desire to minimize burdens on the economy. We note here that a recent study prepared by Penn State University discloses that each coal mining job generates or supports six additional jobs for materials and services related to coal production alone (not including workers needed to transport or use the product.)

Finally, we note the President's recent Executive Order 12778 which directs agencies to avoid regulations which will engender unnecessary federal litigation. Suffice it to say, any change in the Department of Interior's regulatory approach for underground coal mines which displaces state law will convert into a federal question what has been heretofore a matter of state law handled through the local courts and negotiation among private property owners.

For these reasons, we ask that you evaluate the Department of Interior's activities to ensure that their policy deliberations reflect and adhere to the President's stated objectives on federalism, competitiveness, and civil litigation.

Sincerely,

William M. Keice

RE: Election Victory

GOOD NEWS!

I am pleased to report the great election victory of last night.

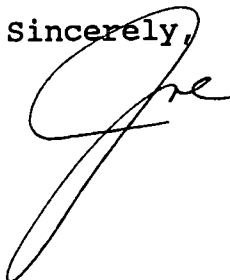

Garnering 68% of the vote, I am looking forward to being sworn to the state Senate in January.

By now, you may have read of the tremendous GOP gains that will allow for veto proof Republican majorities in both the Senate and General Assembly. It was not a good night for Governor Florio.

For your interest, attached are some news clippings.

Many thanks for your support and confidence. I am very grateful for your friendship.

Sincerely,

Dear Jackie,

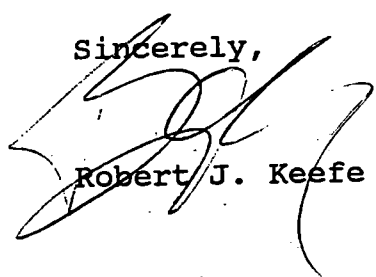

Would you please see that your boss gets this.

Don't ask me how Terry and I got mixed up with the Albanians. I guess we all have to do some penance from time to time.

But it is a worthy cause and a picture-op with the President would work wonders.

Thanks and regards.

Hon. John Sununu
Chief of Staff
The White House
Washington, D. C.

Dear Governor,

Prime Minister Ylli Bufi of Albania will be visiting Washington beginning Sunday, November 17, 1991. He will be visiting with officials at the Department of State and other relevant agencies, Members of Congress, academic institutions, and business organizations during his trip.

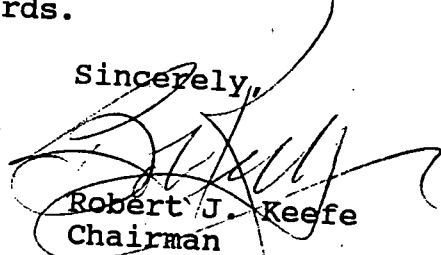

Prime Minister Bufi heads a National Stability Government, comprised of members of all Albanian political parties. It is seeking to stabilize the national economy and create the foundations of democratic institutions in preparation for the second multi-party elections in Albania early next year. The Bufi government is entering a critical phase of its activity during which it will be deciding on many important economic issues to make the transition to a market economy.

Albania needs the United States to demonstrate its support for the work of this government and the progress that has been made in moving Albania to democratic and economic pluralism. The reception given Secretary Baker on his visit to Tirana in June, demonstrates the affection the Albanian people hold for America and the significance they place on Albanian-U. S. relations.

A visit with President Bush during the Prime Minister's trip would provide much needed encouragement to his government during this period of maximum fragility of Albania's fledgling democratic institutions. Would you please consider arranging a short meeting with the President at any time during the period of Monday, November 18, through Wednesday, November 20.

With my sincere thanks and regards.

Sincerely,

Robert J. Keefe
Chairman

RE: Executive Director Position
New Hampshire Public Defender

Dear Mr. Sununu:

The New Hampshire Public Defender Program is currently seeking an Executive Director for the state wide program. Based on a review of the criteria established by the Search Committee (copy enclosed) I believe I am the candidate qualified to assume the responsibility of the position and work to establish present and future stability of the program and maximize the professional and personal talents of all staff members. Primary amongst my professional experiences are my past association with the Public Defender Program, extensive trial experience, financial management experience, ability to deal effectively with persons in all facets of the criminal justice system and my commitment to the program.

I have formally submitted an application and resume to James Duggan, Esq., Acting Director for consideration by the Search Committee, Paul C. Semple, President. On October 14, 1991, I met personally with Mr. Duggan who advised that the Search Committee will conduct an application screening process during the end of October or early November. Letters of reference for candidates will be strongly considered in narrowing the field of qualified applicants for personal interviews to be conducted by Mr. Duggan, Mr. Semple, Ron Snow, Esq., Gregg Swopp, Esq., George Ostler, Esq., and Helen Hartman.

Governor's Councilor Ray Burton has spoken to Mr. Duggan on my behalf, and I enclose herewith a copy of my resume and copies of references which have also been forwarded to Mr. Duggan and Mr. Semple for the Search Committee.

to J.H. Sununu

Prior to moving to Florida, for reasons of a family member's health which have been corrected, I was a resident of Bethlehem, New Hampshire for eight years serving as Town Treasurer, Trustee of Trust Funds and other community and county programs. I had the pleasure of meeting you one two occasions, one of which was the Cancer Foundation fundraiser opening of the Maplewood Casino and Golf Club.

If you are able to provide any assistance in my achieving the opportunity to serve as the Executive Director of the Public Defender Program I will be sincerely grateful and indebted, and your support will serve as a daily reminder to maintain high standards for the program.

Very truly yours,

Dear Mr. Sununu:

Enclosed you will find a column which I authored and which was printed in the Des Moines Register relating to the need for term limits that I thought you might like to review.

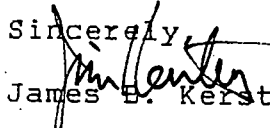

I realize you are busy, so I'll keep this short.

I defeated a 34 year democrat incumbent Senator in 1990 by explaining in clear, concise terms the theme "Enough is Enough - We Need a Government That Lives Within OUR Means" and "Time for a Change". They aren't something a New York PR firm would develop, but they worked. And if I were you, I would go full speed ahead with your attack on the big spending congress and continue to explain that in order for the President to get his domestic agenda approved, he needs a Congress that will work with him, not against.

I am sure you are doing your own polling, but every single voter I talk to is disgusted with the political process, and the speech the President gave last Thursday on the need for Congress to reform itself hit a cord that I hope he keeps singing. I believe voters are ready for a change!

Previous to serving in the Iowa Senate, I worked closely with Governor Branstad as a member of his staff, so I know your position is difficult. I just hope you continue what the President started last week and keep the pressure on Congress. Otherwise, Iowa liberal Tom Harkin will continue to blast away at the President without the public fully understanding that the real problem is TOM HARKIN and his big spending buddies in the Senate!

Sincerely,

James B. Kersten

P.S. Will the Governor be heading the President's Iowa team? I want to help in anyway that I can!

U.S. EQUAL EMPLOYMENT OPPORTUNITY COMMISSION
Washington, DC 20507

OCT 25 1991

Office of the Chairman

The Honorable John Sununu
Chief of Staff to the President
The White House
Washington, D.C. 20500

Dear Mr. Sununu:

I am pleased to see that an agreement has been reached on the civil rights bill and I congratulate you for your efforts in reaching consensus. However, I would like to bring to your immediate attention a technical drafting error which is of great concern to the Commission.

The bill contains language that could be interpreted to preclude the EEOC and the Attorney General from obtaining compensatory and punitive damages under Title VII and the ADA for victims of intentional discrimination, even though such damages would be available in a private action. I do not believe that it is the Senate's intent to place this serious limitation on actions brought by the government and therefore I urge an amendment to the bill that would make clear that these enhanced remedies can be sought in actions brought by the government on the same basis as in actions brought privately.

The source of the problem is the bill's two different definitions of the term "complaining party" in section 5, which authorizes complaining parties to seek punitive and compensatory damages, and in section 7, which amends the general definitional section of Title VII. Section 5(a)(1) states that compensatory and punitive damages are available "[i]n an action brought by a complaining party under section 706 of The Civil Rights Act of 1964 against a respondent who intentionally engaged in an unlawful employment practice prohibited." (emphasis added). The definitional portion of section 5 states that a "complaining party" for purposes of section (a)(1) is "a person who may bring an action or proceeding under title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964." Section 5(d)(1)(A).

On its face section 5(d)(1)(A) would appear to include the EEOC and the Attorney General in the group of "person[s] who may bring an action . . . under title VII" and, therefore, among those complaining parties entitled to seek enhanced remedies. However, the problem is that section 7, which amends the general definitions in title VII, states that "[t]he term 'complaining party' means the Commission, the Attorney General, or a person who may bring an action or proceeding under this Title." Section 7(1) (emphasis added). My concern is that section 7's definition of complaining party, which specifically includes the EEOC and the Attorney General in addition to "a person who may bring an action," could be invoked to preclude the EEOC and the Attorney General from seeking compensatory and punitive damages because those remedies are limited to only "a person who may bring an action or proceeding under title VII." Sections 5(a)(1) and (d)(1)(A). Indeed, the fact that the Senate bothered to create two definitions of "complaining party" would add substantial weight to arguments that the EEOC and the Attorney General are not authorized to seek the enhanced remedies. There is no obvious explanation for why there are two separate definitions other than drafting error or that the Senate meant to exclude the EEOC and the Attorney General from the group of plaintiffs authorized to seek compensatory and punitive damages.

It would undermine the Commission's ability to enforce Title VII and the ADA if private parties, but not the EEOC, are allowed to seek the enhanced remedies. Indeed, if that were the case the Commission might have a duty to refer all cases of intentional discrimination to private attorneys because, by filing suit, the Commission would dramatically reduce the relief available to the victims. This would be true especially in the case of sexual harassment claims; because there is often no backpay at stake in those cases, the only monetary remedy would be compensatory and punitive damages.

I believe that a very simple amendment to the bill could remedy the problem. For example, section 5 could be amended to define the term "complaining party" to mean "the Commission, the Attorney General, or a person who may bring an action or proceeding under this title." That would make clear that the Commission and the Attorney General are not excluded from the group of "persons who may bring an action" and therefore that they are included among those who may seek compensatory and punitive relief. Such a change would, in my opinion, spare the EEOC and the courts a great deal of trouble and confusion in the future.

I trust the Commission's concerns will be addressed and that our mutual interest in protecting the civil rights of all Americans will be achieved.

Sincerely,

Evan

Dear John:

It was nice to see you at the Alfred E. Smith Dinner last evening and especially nice to meet Nancy.

As I told you, I would love to have the two of you come to my home for dinner. I have two dinners a month with no more than 12 people in attendance. They include a mix of people, all of whom are old friends. I would like to propose the following dates in order to give you enough lead time: December 4, December 18, January 8 or January 22. Please let me know if any of these dates would be acceptable to you, and I will build the dinner around you.

I thought I would bring you up to date on what I've been writing lately, hence the enclosed.

All the best.

Sincerely

Edward Koch

■ U.S. NEWS

cest or to save the mother's life—out of fear that he will make a gaffe. Instead, he insists that his views on abortion are "clear" and leaves it at that. Bush even refuses to discuss abortion in detail with his own advisers, who speculate that he considers the matter too personal. His answer to the expected abortion fight at the Republican National Convention, aides believe, will be to have it both ways: maintain the current party plank opposing abortion but acknowledge that many Republicans disagree and are entitled to their views. Bush desperately wants to keep the issue out of debates on the convention floor. He tells senior staffers he doesn't want to "lead with his chin." The larger point, as one senior administration official describes it, is this: "He doesn't like the grubbiness of popular democracy. In foreign affairs, he can call 50 established leaders and solve a problem. In domestic affairs, he has to deal with the people themselves, and he's uncomfortable with popular emotions and movements."

On health care, perhaps the most pressing issue of the '90s, he does not feel the need to respond to public unrest. During a key planning session to map out the fall agenda, U.S. News has learned, White House Chief of Staff John Sununu portrayed the issue as a "poison pill"—a no-win situation—and urged Bush to wait until next year before presenting his own health-care plan. Let the Democrats go first, Sununu urged, so they can get themselves in trouble by passing a big, expensive program the administration can attack as too intrusive and costly. Bush accepted the low-risk, low-leadership strategy. He plans to present a modest health-care initiative in early 1992, perhaps to be unveiled in January's State of the Union address and emphasizing private-public partnerships.

What frustrates activists in Bush's camp is his reluctance to take risks and unpopular stands on domestic issues the way he does in foreign affairs. He was willing to alienate many ethnic Americans by delaying recognition of the Baltic republics, preferring not to embarrass Mikhail Gorbachev—a fellow member of the international establishment with whom he prefers to deal. Bush has an affinity for Gorbachev, another transition figure without a clear idea where he is taking his country. Most important, Bush was willing to gamble his presidency on the war with Iraq, despite polls that showed public opinion turning against him. He saw the confrontation as a genuine crisis and but when he realized that Sheila Tate, his former campaign press secretary, had not been served a vanilla ice-cream bombe for dessert. At 2:30 that afternoon, Bush announced that he was deploying vast new numbers of troops in the gulf. "We never suspected," says one of his guests.

The next decision that will be forced on him is devising his re-election strategy. He is in no hurry, arguing that it is best for him to remain "presidential," not an official candidate, for as long as possible. He believes, aides say, that people most often vote on the basis of what they don't want rather than what they do want. So, as he did in 1988, he intends to highlight his steadiness in foreign affairs and portray any Democratic challenger as dangerously unreliable in protecting national security, the chief obligation of any president. Aides argue Bush wins if the campaign boils down to a choice between Bush's stature and the Democratic nominee's passion.

Yet some Republican strategists have a dream. In a second term, they would like to see Bush, finally liberated from political considerations and beholden to no one, reach beyond the moment and turn his prodigious energy to domestic concerns. What if, they ask, he made as many phone calls to rally support for domestic causes as he does for his foreign-affairs objectives? What if he called together the nation's business, labor, political and civic leaders in a coalition similar to the one he created in the Persian Gulf to solve the health-care crisis or take on homelessness? What if he used his vast network of powerful associates to help revive the cities?

Those who know Bush best say it will never happen. A man of the moment, after all, rarely looks very far into the future, and a transition figure does not resonate with generations beyond his own time. The Bush era could well be defined, in the end, as a series of opportunities lost by a president with enormous capabilities who, unfortunately, sold himself short. ■

BY KENNETH T. WALSH

The sure-fire ad

Aides say an ad like this will be Bush's campaign centerpiece

IMAGE

■ The menace: close-ups of Saddam Hussein, Iraqi tanks and burning oil wells

■ The response: a resolute Bush on TV declaring the invasion "will not stand"

■ The leader: Bush visiting U.S. troops in the gulf and meeting world leaders

■ The triumph: clips of U.S. troops driving Iraqis from Kuwait and U.S. parades

IDEAS

■ A threat to vital U.S. interests erupts in the desert. It is a matter of good vs. evil

■ Bush acts boldly, sets a clear mission and organizes an international coalition

■ Bush is a deft crisis manager with unique stature among statesmen

■ The nation can be proud of winning a just war. A new era of self-confidence begins acted boldly, though critics increasingly claim he ended the war too soon, and Saddam Hussein remains a problem.

Perhaps the president believes he has become so good at managing issues of the moment that he can extemporize on any matter without paying a penalty. In any case, his self-confidence has grown considerably. On the day he intended to double troop strength in the gulf, he invited some old friends to the White House for lunch. Several were struck by Bush's serenity. He grew most animated not when discussing the imminent war

Honorable John Sununu
Chief of Staff
The White House
Washington, D.C. 20012

Dear Mr. Sununu:

The Board of Directors of the Foundation has voted unanimously to invite you to give a keynote address at our seventh annual symposium to be held in New York during May 21, 22, and 23 of 1992 at the Waldorf Astoria, New York.

Our annual symposium titled: "Recent Developments in International Banking and Finance" is, we believe, the most sophisticated of its type. It brings together the best from the academic world and from the banking/investment banking/money management world. We do so in an enchanting atmosphere, in the best of hotels with every detail attended to. Attached is our 1991 program which should give you a clear picture of the level of the past speakers. Our audience consists typically of senior bankers and money managers (the high-tech type) and of high quality academics with impeccable reputations in the business world.

Our themes for 1992 are:

Day 1 - May 21

The Domestic and International Regulatory Structures: Nature, scope and paths for reform

New regulations - actual and proposed and their impact

Day 2 - May 22

Global Asset Allocation within the prevalent regulatory structure

Currency Risk Management

By 67 Date 12/17/98

Dear Mr. Chief of Staff and Mrs. Sununu,

By the gracious Royal Command of Her Majesty Queen Sirikit of Thailand, I have the honor of requesting the pleasure of your company at a Reception and Dinner on Monday, the Fourth of November Nineteen Ninety-One at 18.30 hours at the Grand Ballroom, the Willard Inter-Continental Hotel (1401 Pennsylvania Avenue, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20004).

Her Majesty's Royal Visit to Washington, D.C. will take place at the invitation of the Chairperson of the Friends of the Capital Children's Museum and the Chairperson of "The Best of Washington, 1991" Luncheon, at which Her Majesty will be presented with the first International Humanitarian Award by the Friends of the Capital Children's Museum. Furthermore, to commemorate this Royal Visit, there will be an exhibition of Thai arts and crafts for children and adults from the Foundation for the Promotion of Supplementary Occupations and Related Techniques (SUPPORT) under the Royal Patronage of Her Majesty the Queen of Thailand at the Capital Children's Museum.

The Royal Thai Embassy would greatly appreciate it if you would let us know whether you can accept the Royal invitation by calling us at (202) 483-7200, (202) 234-2172 or (202) 234-4497. We look forward to hearing from you at your earliest convenience. If you are able to attend, the invitation card will be forwarded to you in due course.

With good wishes and high esteem,

Sincerely,

M.L. Birabhongse Kasemsri
Ambassador

NATIONAL TAXPAYERS UNION

October 4, 1991

The Honorable John Sununu
Chief of Staff
The White House
1600 Pennsylvania Ave., N.W.
Washington, D.C. 20500

Dear Governor Sununu:

Almost two weeks ago I wrote you about upcoming Administration testimony on legislation to provide more taxpayer safeguards when dealing with the Internal Revenue Service. I had hoped that the Administration would follow through on George Bush's promise during the 1988 campaign to support more rights for taxpayers.

Unfortunately, that message has not filtered through to the Treasury Department. The IRS and the Treasury Department offered six trivial reform proposals, and left the Subcommittee Chairman dissatisfied with the response from Treasury and IRS.

For your information, I have enclosed a copy of the opening statement of Congressman J.J. Pickle, the chairman of the Subcommittee on Oversight of the Ways and Means Committee. I particularly draw your attention to the two paragraphs highlighted on page two.

For the first time in years and years, the Ways and Means Committee seems to be seriously interested in pursuing more rights for taxpayers. With the Administration's full support, significant progress can be made. Let's not let this opportunity slip by.

Sincerely,

David Keating
Executive Vice President

Dr. John Sununu, Sc.D.
Chief-of-Staff
The White House
Washington D. C. 20001

Dear Dr. Sununu:

As an Emeritus Professor at University of Pennsylvania, I wish to congratulate President Bush, through you as Chief-of-Staff, for his bold declaration on nuclear disengagement and historic initiative toward World Peace. May I humbly suggest that President Bush should be nominated to receive the Nobel Peace Prize in 1992. President Gorbachev and Dr. Henry Kissinger could each make the nomination to the Nobel Peace Prize Committee.

Since President Nixon's epoch-making visit to Beijing, Mrs. Ku and I were invited by Premier Chou Enlai to make our first visit in 1973. In late 1983, I had the opportunity of discussion with Chairman Deng Xiaoping concerning the visit of Premier Zhao Ziyang to the US and the invitation to President Reagan for his visit to China in 1984.

1989 October 1, Mrs. Ku and I were invited by General Secretary Jiang Zemin to celebrate the 40th Anniversary of PRC. After that visit, I was encouraged to make suggestions to Mr. Deng Xiaoping, through Jiang (who was my former student at Shanghai Jiaotong University). I proposed: (1) End the martial law at Beijing Jan. 1, 1990; (2) End the martial law at Lhasa, Tibet May 1, 1990. It was gratifying to recall President Bush's wise decision to grant PRC most favored nation (MFN) status in 1990. Then I was successful in (3) the release of Mr. Fang Lizhi and his wife from American Embassy at Beijing. We are grateful to President Bush for granting PRC MFN status in 1991.

For the establishment of "new world order", the understanding and cooperation between the United States and People's Republic of China are of paramount importance. I would hope that you, as Chief-of-staff, find time to receive Ambassador ZHU Qizhen before his planned trip to visit Beijing to make a personal report to Mr. Deng and Secretary-General Jiang. As Chairman of PRC's Military Commission, Jiang outranks President Yang Shan-kuan, who is Military Commission's First Deputy Chairman. So I hope that Jiang may be invited to visit the US to discuss broad aspects toward World Peace.

Most sincerely yours,

Yu H. Ku, SB, SM, Sc.D. ('28, MIT)
Emeritus Professor of EE & Systems

P.S. All my suggestions are private and confidential. I shall celebrate my 90th birthday this Christmas. We wish to thank President and Mrs. Bush for sending their kind greetings to Mrs. Wei Zing Ku, Jan. 1991.

John Sununu, Chief of Staff
The White House
1600 Pennsylvania Avenue
Washington, D.C. 20500

Dear John:

The request of the Israeli government for $10 billion dollars in loan guarantees has little to do with the humanitarian issue of settling immigrants, but much to do with populating the West Bank consistent with Israel's policy of creeping de facto annexation the past 24 years. In essence, the request for loan guarantees is nothing less than a pretext for grabbing more Arab land.

It really is time for the politicians to stand up to the Israel lobby. The senators and congressmen should hear the true sentiments of Americans today with respect to the abusive level of foreign aid to the state of Israel. While there may be a great deal of organized influence on Capitol Hill generated by the most powerful, singular-minded lobby in the history of the United States, such certainly is not the case on the streets of Manchester, Nashua, Concord, the rest of New England and, indeed, the United States. For too long this lobby has had its own way. It cannot, should not and will not dictate the terms of American foreign policy. It can't be allowed to to undermine the President of the United States of America.

The Israel lobby argues that the loan guarantees will cost the U.S. taxpayer nothing. This is simply not true. One, of course, needs to assume that Israel's economy, which has been in such a mess for so many years and would be bankrupt without American largesse, will be able to sustain its debt service under the loan guarantees (a large assumption), but the United States will need to expend about $40 million to administer the guarantees. Of course, this is above and beyond the $5 billion or so which Israel gets in grants and other benefits, which amounts to more than $1,100.00 per Israeli per year. Federal aid to the states averages about $440.00 per American per year.

September 26, 1991

The value of Israel as a strategic asset to the United States was always overstated, and today it is substantially diminished. Henry Kissinger may not like it, but he, too, needs to accept the reality of the world as it exists. Kissinger's theory of confrontation and reliance upon the might of the Israeli military has now been entirely discredited and no longer has a place in American foreign policy.

Most Americans have been shocked in the arrogance of Shamir, Arens and Sharon and find their credibility to be non-existent. Shamir and Sharon have intentionally and systematically engaged in a pattern of lying to the United States as they daily make more innocent Palestinian families homeless in order to pave the way for "Greater Israel". Haven't we all had enough?

The President and Secretary of State are right. Shamir, Arens, Sharon and the Israel lobby are wrong. A new day is dawning in the Middle East, and it's time for the Congress to wake up and smell the coffee.

Very truly yours,

Paul R. Kfoury, Esquire

September 20, 1991

The Honorable John Sununu
Chief of Staff
The White House
1600 Pennsylvania Ave., N.W.
Washington, D.C. 20500

Dear Governor Sununu:

The Administration will be presenting testimony to a House Ways and Means Subcommittee on September 25 on whether legislation should be established to provide more taxpayer safeguards when dealing with the Internal Revenue Service. I hope the Administration's position will be fully consistent with George Bush's promise during his debate with Michael Dukakis to support taxpayers' rights.

We sincerely appreciated George Bush's support as Vice President for the Taxpayers' Bill of Rights in 1988. But not all of the original proposal was enacted into law. Much more remains to be done.

There are many people in the Internal Revenue Service and the Treasury Department who would like to block attempts to provide taxpayers with any additional rights.

Please ensure that the Administration's testimony (as presented by IRS Commissioner Fred Goldberg and Treasury Assistant Secretary Kenneth Gideon) next week is fully consistent with the concept of providing more rights for taxpayers through legislation, and not unenforceable IRS promises to do a better job. It would be terribly unfortunate if the Bush Administration opposes or gives lukewarm support to granting taxpayers more rights when candidate Bush clearly placed himself on the side of taxpayers' rights.

Sincerely,

David Keating
Executive Vice President

Dear John:

The Odyssey begins..... As you may know, over the past several months my objective has been to launch a new radio broadcast group. Even though Odyssey was formed in April, my initial goals were in order of priority, finalize the business plan, begin the roadshow and follow a carefully laid out game plan which emphasizes intensive operational focus, conservative financing and patience. The attached brochure and press release briefly outlines Odyssey's strategy. Now for the easy part, "raising the money"! But as the Greek historian Thucydides said:

NATIONAL POSTAL HISTORY AND PHILATELIC MUSEUM

September 18, 1991

The Honorable John Sununu
Chief of Staff
The White House
Washington, D.C. 20500-0001

Dear Governor Sununu:

Several months ago the United States Postal Service and the Smithsonian Institution established a new museum in Washington, D.C.--the National Postal History and Philatelic Museum. The new museum will be a branch of the Smithsonian's Museum of American History.

In conjunction with the creation of the museum, which will open to the public in 1993, a fifteen member commission is being created to furnish advice, recommendations and support in connection with the programs, exhibits and operations of the museum. Both the Smithsonian and the Postal Service would be honored if you would consent to serve on this important Advisory Commission.

The Commission will convene once or twice a year to review developments and activities associated with the museum. Your travel expenses and reasonable accommodations will be reimbursed by the museum.

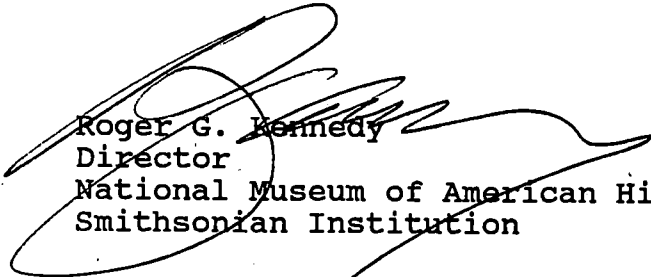

We will convene the first meeting of the Advisory Commission here in Washington later this year. We look forward to hearing from you with the hope that you will be able to join us in the development of the newest of the Smithsonian's family of national museums.

The postal system's dramatic impact on the nation's communications, transportation and economic services, as well as its role as a national government service that has significantly influenced the American way of life, will be highlighted in the new museum's exhibits and public programs.

The enclosed prospectus describes more fully the museum and its objectives.

A member of the staff of the museum will call you within the next few days concerning any questions you may have concerning this exciting project.

Sincerely,

Roger G. Kennedy
Director
National Museum of American History
Smithsonian Institution

Anthony M. Frank
Postmaster General
United States Postal Service

John, I hope you'll give consideration to this request. Tony

Dear Governor Sununu,

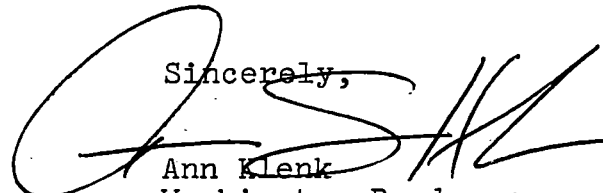

I am producing a special series for Ms. Helen Thomas, which will air September 30th through October 3rd on NBC's cable network, CNBC.

I have requested interviews with President George Bush, Vice President Dan Quayle, National Security Advisor Brent Scowcroft, and Helen would like to request an interview with you as well.

Helen will be conducting the interviews, which we would like to schedule for early in the week of September 23rd. The interview will take roughly one-half hour.

I realize this is rather short notice, but I sincerely hope you can help us with this project. I look forward to hearing from you soon.

Sincerely,

Ann Klenk

Re: Estonia

With U. S. recognition of the independence of Estonia from the USSR imminent, I would like to offer my services as U.S. ambassador to Estonia, as commercial attache, or possibly in some other appropriate capacity. Here is a summary of my qualifications:

- Fluency in Estonian language. I was born in Estonia in 1934 and was there until 1944 [age 10]; moved to Germany in 1944 and attended Estonian schools in Germany until 1950 [age 15]; emigrated to the United States in 1950; became a naturalized U. S. citizen in 1956.
- B.S. "With Distinction" in Business Administration from Northwestern University. Elected President of Northwestern's accounting honorary society.
- M.B.A. in Finance from Northwestern University. Received offer of assistant professorship from Northwestern.
- Three years active duty in U.S. Army. Served for 2-1/2 years as Budget & Fiscal Officer of 5th Region, U.S. Army Air Defense Command, which provided air defense for 16 states in the Midwest. Awarded the Army Commendation Medal for my performance.
- Served 11 years as Chief Financial Officer of The Wurlitzer Company in Chicago. During this time, Wurlitzer was America's largest manufacturer of keyboard musical instruments. Its common stock was listed on the New York Stock Exchange.
- Served 4 years as Chief Financial Officer of Garvey Industries in Wichita, Kansas. Garvey is a large privately-owned enterprise; its assets exceed $1 billion. Grain storage, grain transportation, animal feed production, and farm and ranch management are among its businesses; it owns the world's largest grain storage elevator [42 million bushels of wheat], and owns over one million acres in farms and ranches in Nevada. It is among the larger independent oil and gas exploration and development companies in the mid-continent. It owns and operates 36 nursing homes with 3600 beds. It also owns and manages apartments, shopping centers, and industrial parks.

- Served 2-1/2 years as Chief Financial Officer of Manna Pro Corporation in Los Angeles. Manna Pro was formed to acquire the animal feed business of Carnation Company; this made Manna Pro one of the top 6 animal feed producers in the United States.
- "Secret" security clearance, obtained in connection with my service in the U.S. Army Air Defense Command and with Wurlitzer which produced some items for the Defense Department.

In my role as CFO, I negotiated financing agreements on a world-wide basis with numerous financial institutions. My success was achieved by being able to grasp the essence of a variety of ventures, to communicate effectively with people of different backgrounds, and to gain their confidence in the business plans and management of my employers.

I believe my background in general, and my experience at the top management level in the food, feed, energy, and health care industries in particular, could be useful to the United States in its relations with Estonia. Fluency in Estonian would also be helpful; it seems to me that an ambassador can do a better job if he or she understands the language of the country where the ambassador is based.

If you agree, I suggest we meet and explore the possibilities.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in dark ink, appearing to read "Alan A. Koerv". The signature is fluid and cursive, with a long horizontal stroke at the end.

Dear Governor Sununu:

Your success in the political arena has inspired many to public service. I am working diligently to become an ex-professor like yourself.

I have developed innovative solutions to several of our social and economic ills. These constitute my platform and the motivation for my candidacy. I shall appreciate the opportunity to discuss them with you in the near future.

I look forward to your reply.

Yours in a greater America,

Dear Governor John

The CA organization has decided to bestow the "Consumer First" award upon Vice President Quayle at the National Consumer Coalition Luncheon during National Consumers Week in Washington on Monday Oct 21ST.

We wish to recognize his work on the Council on Competitiveness & hope that he will be prompted to accept the award in person.

Anything you can do, personally, to prompt him to accept our invitation would be greatly & sincerely appreciated. It is obvious that he has great respect for your views & recommendations.

The Luncheon Crowd would give him a rousing reception!

Dear Governor John

In the event you haven't heard the rumblings from the hinterlands
Democrats are spreading the word among grassroots voters that President Bush is ill - very ill - (Heart)
The insinuation is that the White House is hiding the fact & the fear is supposed to be the specter of Quayle finishing out a Presidential term - thus - the need to elect a Democrat President

The whole thing is as insidious as it is powerful. These Creeps know they're lost on the policy positions
& so resort to the lowest tactics imaginable. They are ready to pounce at the first sign of Presidential fatigue.

We're praying for you.

Dear John:

A friend of mine, Charlie Moss, collects the signatures of presidents. He asked me if I could secure an autographed picture of President Bush. Senator Al D'Amato secured such a picture for him, but upon examination, it was found to be an autopen. I would be most obliged if the President would sign a picture to Charlie Moss, and if you would send it to me for transmittal.

All the best.

Sincerely

Edward I. Koch
