The Honorable John Sununu
Chief of Staff
The White House
Washington, D.C.

Dear Governor Sununu:

I wrote you a couple of years ago supporting the idea put forward by the Wall Street Journal that the President had a residual Line-item veto prerogative carried over from Colonial days. If I've read the news right, he actually tried it once. I hope he'll do so again before his term is over, setting a precedent for successors. Point of this letter: I was disappointed in watching the Chairman of the R.C. when asked by a Congressional Committee for his 1, 2, 3, ideas on how to get the economy moving, reply that he'd not given it much thought. I think it is time for someone to get cracking about stimulating economic recovery before the next Presidential election -- virtually taken for granted until recent weeks -- crashes in the flames of growing unemployment, falling property values, and acrimony over extended family and health benefits.

As an economist who's given some thought to the matter, and Chairman of Republicans Abroad in China, the most populous nation on earth, let me say that I think the Party's pretty well on the right track; but someone ought to start articulating our thinking or we'll have both a Demo President and a Demo Congress at the end of next year -- and then think of the tragedy the country will face in terms of more budget-breaking expenditure programs, including a national health program. My grandkids will want to emigrate back to Scotland where their great-great-great grandparents came from.

Here are some 1, 2, 3, 4s to think about:

1. We need Congress and the White House to really get moving on the Capital Gains Tax cut the President has been pushing for ever since he was first elected. President Bush needs to take some time off from fishing and golfing and visiting Heads of State abroad to start stumping in Detroit and Chicago and Atlanta and Denver to explain the benefits of his Capital Gains Tax Cut program with the public. Every home owner or stockmarket investor, or small businessman who's ever made a little money from prudent management of his hard-won savings should be brought to realize that cutting capital gains taxes benefits not only the rich, but middle class people on their way to prosperity. My wife's own family has been dawdling for three years over the decision whether to sell the company business (which is experiencing hard times since its founders death), because of the enormous tax bite their CPA tells 'em would be due.

hundreds of thousands of investors are locked into businesses because of the cost of getting out. This means hundreds of thousands of businesses are being managed less efficiently than they might otherwise be at a time when we need to become more competitive: billions of dollars in unrealized American profits are not being invested in new businesses while the Japanese buy up recession depressed businesses by the score; and thousands of new jobs are not being created at a time of rising unemployment. Ditto with regard to the housing market. Someone should be telling people these things instead of letting the Dems get away with their false charges that this is just another Republican "reward the rich" scheme.

2. We ought to be using this moment of national crisis to push -- and push hard -- for a move away from Personal and Corporate Income Taxes, which everyone acknowledges incentivize spending and discourage savings (and exports), in favor of the more modern Value Added Tax system that most of the rest of the industrialized world has adopted. Money not spent, is not taxed under a VAT -- the best incentive for savings ever known. And VAT taxes can be rebated, effectively serving as a subsidy for exports -- something the GATT prevents us from doing with income taxes. At a time when everyone recognizes we need new incentives to save and to export, here is the most powerful tax machine ever invented by the mind of man ready to go to work, while Congress and the White House sit diddling when the need is greatest and the climate right for launching a tax reform movement far more powerful than cutting existing rates a couple of points on the margin or tinkering with a couple of loopholes.

I realize compromise will be necessary and we needn't do it all at once. We could adopt a VAT for only a portion of the Corporate and Personal Income Tax system -- maybe start out with an eight per cent VAT (compared with a European average of 16%), which, by shirtcuff calculation, would enable us to cut personal taxes from the present maximum of twenty-eight per cent to maybe twenty per cent.

I recognize some states are opposed because sales taxes are their main revenue source. The Canadians have a possible solution: the Dominion government collects all taxes, then rebates a stipulated share to the Provinces. Most state sales taxes are of the order of 4 to 5 percent. If the IRS, with its reputation for being a hard-nosed collector, took over a) the states could fold their fifty tax commissions of varying efficiency, saving money which could then be devoted to much needed schools, bridges, and highways; whereupon b), the Federal government would split the VAT with the states, preserving their more efficiently garnered revenue source while easing heartburn over this invasion of their turf. They'd still have state income taxes (if they wanted to yield this competitive edge to sister states), and they'd still have a monopoly over property, many types of excises, and professional and business licensing taxes.

We should, at this moment when the psychology of looking for new remedies is hot, consider adopting a British-style "Regulator" -- a pre-authorized list of Federal taxes which Congress would authorize the President (unilaterally? with Cabinet approval? with the concurrence of the Fed? the Treasury?) to cut temporarily by a stipulated amount (maximum 20%? 40%?) by Executive Order at the first signs of recession to give the economy a kick in the pants.

4. We should look closely at a Swedish-style Investment Reserve Fund surtax which would be levied during periods of prosperity as, say, 3 per cent of gross profits, payable into a blocked account held by the Treasury (FRB?). As signs of recession and rising unemployment occur, the Treasury (Fed) would announce open season on business investment.

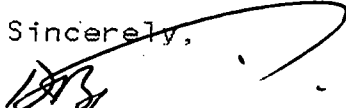

These funds (which belong in title to the paying corporation) would be unblocked for immediate investment, giving the economy an even more telling kick in the britches. It's worked marvelously well in Sweden, keeping their economy on a much even keel than ours during most of the post-war period. Businesses would have to act and act quickly if they wished to obtain use of this portion of their profits, because once the economy gets underway, the investment window is closed and the money is locked up until the next recession.

As you can see, both the Regulator and the Investment Tax Surcharge avoid the long legislative delay on top of the always significant recognition delays which have made so many American efforts to spend our way out of recessions counter-productive. Experience has often been that the new spending programs enter into force after the recession has already ended, contributing to overheating and additional inflationary pressure during the rapid recovery upswing.

Of course, having achieved only one budget surplus in the past forty years, the President has never had a mechanism independent of the Fed's monetary controls which he can manipulate independently to contain an exuberant expansion, keeping it running a bit longer. The ability to manipulate a Regulator and close down the Investment Surtax Window would enable Presidents to do a much more effective job at equilibrating the economy.

In conclusion, this is not the moment to fritter away Republican political advantage by standing pat and counting on good luck to restore the economy before the election. Nor is this the moment to settle for gimmicks or half measures. Let's use events to push all out for some solid reforms. And if the Dems won't go along, we can at least hit them with some solid "do nothing Congress" charges in November.

Sincerely,

D. B. Timmins, PhD (Harvard)
Professor of Finance & Economics

December 3, 1991

Honorable John H. Sununu
Chief of Staff to the President
The White House
1600 Pennsylvania Avenue
Washington, DC 20500

Dear Governor Sununu:

As you may know, I have taken an active part in supporting the advancement of Admiral Husband E. Kimmel's permanent rank from Rear Admiral to Admiral. It was my hope that my letter of October 18, which was cosigned by four of my colleagues, would move the President to support my efforts. Unfortunately, it appears that this will not be the case.

Enclosed is a Washington Post article on the Kimmel affair. I believe it makes a strong case for advancing the Admiral's grade. The article also points out that the United States Naval Academy Alumni Association, the Pearl Harbor Survivors Association, and the Veteran of Foreign Wars support the Kimmel family's efforts. Additionally, as you may know 36 retired flag officers--including 5 former Chiefs of Naval Operation--wrote to the President on behalf of Admiral Kimmel. A copy of the letter is attached in case you have not seen it.

Governor, as the President departs for Hawaii to commemorate the 50th Anniversary of the attack on Pearl Harbor, I believe he could send a powerful message by announcing that he supports advancing Admiral Kimmel's rank to full Admiral. This act would, in my judgement, correct one of the great injustices to come out World War II.

I hope you will agree with my evaluation and urge the President to reconsider his position regarding Admiral Kimmel.

With warmest regards and personal best wishes,

Sincerely,

Strom Thurmond

The Honorable John H. Sununu,
Chief of Staff
The White House
1600 Pennsylvania Ave., NW

November 19, 1991

Dear Mr. Sununu,

It was a pleasure to finally meet you yesterday via the MacNeil Lehrer News Hour interview with Jim Lehrer. Your clear replies and frank comments were a breath of fresh air in these confusing times. Many thanks.

I have noted your invitation to receive helpful ideas from concerned citizens like me. My greatest concern continues to be the chronic instability in our debt-money system.

My associates and I have discovered the true cause of this instability and our findings are explained in The Truth In Money Book. Copies have been sent to President Bush -- the most recent mailing was on August 8, 1991 -- but we have never received any response from his office. Therefore, I am taking the liberty of directing this follow-up letter to you.

The bottom half of the attached graph is from The Truth In Money Book, figure 4, page 61. This is history up to 1988 and establishes the rate "r" for these exponential functions which conform to the compound interest equation:

$$D_2 = D_1(1 + r)^n$$

The top half of the graph projects the future to the year 2000.

Dear Governor,

Just a quick note to commend you on a flawless one hour with Larry King, Wednesday night. As a fellow New Hampshire, each time I catch you on one of the week-end news shows or other current-event-type shows, I make a point to write you -- and never do.

However, your interview last night moved me to finally write to let you know that each time you are on the air you make New Hampshire and the entire country extremely proud.

The very best of health and happiness to you and yours, Governor!

Sincerely,

Jeffrey L. Taylor

By the way, Mike is a great addition to the NRCB staff - and a good friend to everyone there. Good luck!

I would be interested in any comments.

Dear Governor Sununu:

It is my pleasure to bring to your attention Mr. Robert Thompson for the President's Drug Advisory Council. Attached find a copy of his bio-sketch for your review.

Having known Bob and the Thompson family on a personal basis for several years, I can speak of his character, integrity and dedication. He is certainly an individual that I recommend highly for this Council. I believe that his ongoing efforts in the substance abuse arena would prove invaluable to the President's Drug Advisory Council and I urge your most serious consideration of his qualifications in your selection process.

As always, should you require additional information on Mr. Thompson please do not hesitate to contact me.

Dear Governor Sununu:

I hope you will recall that we have met on several different occasions in Boston and in Washington, DC. The circumstances of our meeting have evolved around the American Task Force for Lebanon. I have been a member of this group since its inception and I am sure that we enjoy many mutual friends as a result of the Task Force.

As a member of the Task Force I am going to take some liberty and ask you if it is at all possible to use your good offices and help me with a problem that I have been attempting to resolve for over two years. I know brevity is important, so by reviewing the enclosed material you will have a clear understanding of the situation. My request of you is a simple one. Could you please see to it that the enclosed letter to the President and the accompanying material reaches his hands? Governor, any attention and assistance that you may lend would be appreciated by me and most certainly by Mr. Gill.

Governor, I hope all is well and we have the opportunity to meet again soon.

Warmest and best regards,

Thank you for your kind consideration of my request.

Best personal regards.

TOMMY G. THOMPSON
GOVERNOR

September 26, 1991

'There are 88 million people down in Mexico who need new technology from Canada,' Governor Tommy Thompson says

Mexico 'bonanza for Canadians'

By Adrian Bradley

Financial Post

CANADIAN exporters could make huge inroads into Mexican markets under the proposed North American free-trade agreement, a leading U.S. exponent of free trade said in Toronto yesterday.

Wisconsin Governor Tommy Thompson, addressing the Canada-U.S. Business Association, said Canadian high-tech and transport companies in particular are poised to capture lucrative deals.

But first, he said, Canadians must overcome their deep-seated opposition to free trade and accept that they are part of the global economy.

"The U.S.-Canada Free Trade Agreement has shown that, despite the fearmongers, our peoples are ready to enter the era of free trade," he said. "I understand that free trade is not something dear to all our hearts, but it is not an issue as far as most Americans are concerned."

As governor of Wisconsin, Thompson was a prime mover in negotiations toward the Canadian-U.S. free-trade deal.

Canadians will benefit from a North American agreement that would create a market of 360 million people with a combined gross national product of US$6 trillion (C$6.8 trillion), he said.

Mexican industry, restructured under the reformist hand of President Carlos Salinas, is crying out for Canadian and U.S. expertise in a number of key areas, including transport and environmental and medical technologies, he said.

"If we can work out the level playing field, there are 88 million people down there in Mexico who need new technology from Canada," he said. "Free trade gives us all the opportunity to really get involved, and a chance to help improve the quality of life in Mexico . . . But we have to learn not to be afraid to get involved."

TOMMY G. THOMPSON

Governor
State of Wisconsin

September 27, 1991

The Honorable John H. Sununu
Chief of Staff to the President
The White House
1600 Pennsylvania Avenue, N.W.
Washington, D.C. 20500

Dear Governor Sununu:

I am writing to you on behalf of my Washington office director, David Beightol, who has been a loyal and valuable member of my team for over four years. As you know, David is seeking the position that Lanny Griffith recently vacated. With David's varied experience on Capitol Hill and as my Washington director, I feel he is perfectly suited to be the Special Assistant to the President for Intergovernmental Affairs.

Since my election, I have made a concerted effort to reinvigorate state government by bringing to my administration the brightest young talent available. David is one of those chosen individuals with the unique ability to combine political, policy and management skills. He also brings to the table the highest levels of integrity and intelligence, both of which I know are demanded by the Bush Administration.

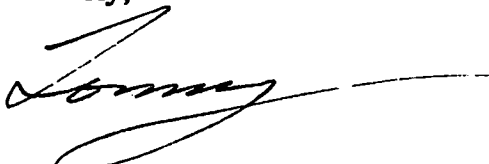

David is a self-starter whose results oriented attitude has literally revitalized and transformed the Washington office. In addition to increasing the traditional representation of state government views in Washington, David has initiated a productive relationship with the business community in a way that far surpasses any previous director.

I rely on David's judgement concerning a variety of complex federal issues that impact the state. From international trade issues to securing grants for Wisconsin businesses, David spearheads our lobbying efforts in the nation's capitol. In addition, David has served with distinction as my representative on the Executive Committee of the Council of Great Lakes Governors and as Chairman of the National Governors' Association's Trade and Foreign Relations Staff Advisory Council. Recently, I've asked David to chair USTR's Intergovernmental Advisory Committee Working Group and serve as Staff Advisory Council to the NGA After-School Years Task Force, which I chair.

The Honorable John H. Sununu
Page Two

In closing, David has my complete and unqualified endorsement as a longstanding supporter of President Bush and the Republican Party. I can assure you that David's abilities and experience match his ambition to serve President Bush.

Sincerely,

Lake
Shore
Hospital

200 Zachary Road
Manchester, NH 03103

September 18, 1991

Mr. John Sununu
White House Chief of Staff
White House
1600 Pennsylvania Avenue
Washington, DC

Dear Governor,

Early this winter, we at Lake Shore Hospital Manchester, will be dedicating a building in honor of the late Ronald C. Andrews who was the Director of the Department of Mental Health during your stewardship as Governor. We would be honored to have you preside. The building is used to provide comprehensive ambulatory psychiatric care. Included are Partial Hospitalization, Outpatient, Prevention, Education and Alcoholism Recovery Services.

The Community Care
Systems Hospital of
Manchester, NH

When Ron Andrews left State service he came to work for me at Community Care Systems, Inc. My company delivers a full range of the various accepted outpatient and inpatient modalities. Ron was the first Chairman and President of Lake Shore Hospital. He also assisted in the start up of our newest hospital in Chicopee, Massachusetts. Tragically on May 8, 1990, he died very suddenly of heart failure at the age of forty-three.

Under your direction, Ron was instrumental in closing the antiquated and costly New Hampshire Psychiatric Hospital in Concord and got the new smaller, more humane and productive New Hampshire Psychiatric Hospital built.

During my efforts to recruit Ron away from you, he stated unequivocally that he had to continue long enough to see the old hospital closed and the new one underway. He felt strongly, even though he would do better financially and professionally in the private sector, that his mission for the people of New Hampshire and his service to you was more important.

Ron was dedicated to the idea that the private and public sectors had a great deal more to gain by being cooperative than hostile. Working for you and again for me, he hammered that notion and made it a reality.

Ron's Mom and Dad who have been lifelong New Hampshire residents, currently live in retirement on the Seacoast. His father worked all of his life for the utility company. His mother worked as well and was still the primary one responsible for family life. His father's work kept him out and on the road many nights repairing wires and responding to emergencies and so forth. Both parents and Ron's brother and sister were profoundly affected by his tragic and early death. His widow, Tamma Andrews, also worked for the State of New Hampshire during your terms and remains dedicated to his work.

During this early winter season, we plan to dedicate our new building in his memory. Ron's family, friends, co-workers and I would be most appreciative if you would preside at the dedication ceremony of the Ronald C. Andrews Pavillion located at 200 Zachary Road in Manchester, New Hampshire.

All of us, the people who knew Ron Andrews and remember him so well, will be honored by your presence and your interest. We have no date certain, but would like to have the dedication ceremony in early December. We can accomodate your schedule.

Looking forward to your response and wishing you well, I remain,

Sincerely yours,

A handwritten signature in dark ink, appearing to read "FRED THACHER", with a long horizontal flourish extending to the right.

Dear John:

While the grade on the Iraqi problem is still incomplete, let me present here a few additional scores:

The President's handling of the reconstruction of the Soviet Empire -- A+

The President's handling of the Clarence Thomas nomination -- A

The administration's handling of the new Civil Rights Bill -- B

Yours truly is available to explain the professorial assignments, if asked.

On a topical subject, my friends at the Serbian Academy of Sciences and Arts in Belgrade have asked me to circulate the enclosed letter and statement to my friends and acquaintances who may have an interest in the matter. I trust that you will forward these materials to the appropriate people.

Though I am no great admirer of the current Serbian leader, Milosevic, I do suggest that the "basic facts about the position of Serbian people in Croatia" presented by the President of the Serbian Academy are essentially correct.

Let me note that one of my grandmothers was Croatian, that my mother was Slovenian, thus I cannot be accused of bias because of ancestry.

Sincerely,

Miro M. Todorovich

Dear Governor Sununu:

I am very pleased to inform you that the 10th Anniversary Bryce Harlow Dinner on Thursday evening, September 26, at the Capital Hilton Hotel, will honor Senator Howard Baker of Tennessee.

Senator Baker will be personally present that evening to receive his award. The Honorable Bob Michel, Minority Leader of the House, will deliver the evening's keynote address, and the evening will include festive entertainment.

On behalf of the Bryce Harlow Foundation, I am pleased to extend an invitation to you to join other leading public officials in recognizing the contributions that Senator Baker has made throughout his illustrious career to foster understanding of the respective roles of government and the business community. In that regard, Senator Baker will follow in the tradition of Bryce Harlow, an advisor to four Presidents, a friend and confidante of the Congress, and a man of unimpeachable personal integrity.

The proceeds from this annual dinner are used to fund a variety of educational activities designed to foster greater cooperation between business and government. These activities include a scholarship program for young men and women wishing to pursue careers in business-government relations.

The evening begins at 6:30 PM with a cocktail reception. Dinner will begin at 7:30 PM. We hope very much that you can join us in honoring Howard Baker. We expect a large group of dignitaries to be present for this event, and we would like very much to include you among that number. Please contact Peg Hughes at (202) 289-4110 to advise of your attendance plans.

Sincerely,

TOMMY G. THOMPSON

Governor
State of Wisconsin

August 27, 1991

The Honorable John Sununu
Chief of Staff
The White Staff
Washington, DC 20500

Dear John:

Federal banking legislation currently before Congress has a great potential to severely affect state banking regulation and the community banking system throughout the nation. In Wisconsin and most other states community banks are the cornerstones of our towns and cities and the focal points for business development and home ownership. I would strongly recommend President Bush hear from community bankers before this process goes further.

I would consider it a great personal favor if you could arrange a meeting between the President and my very good friend David Ballweg, President of the Independent Bankers Association of America.

In addition to being an articulate spokesman for community banks across the nation, Dave is a Wisconsin banker. He can attest first hand to the potential of the dual-banking system. By maintaining a strong state banking system, Wisconsin has been able to nurture our community banks and avoid any bank failures. It is no coincidence that Wisconsin has also bucked other national trends to become a national leader in housing starts and job creation. Wisconsin's dual-banking system would serve as a great model for banking reform nationwide.

I hope you are able to work Dave and several members of his national board of directors into the President's schedule.

I look forward to seeing you again soon.

Sincerely,

Honorable John Sununu
Chief of Staff
The White House
Washington, D.C. 20500

Dear Governor Sununu;

Enclosed please find a copy of my letter to Chairman Yeutter which I feel is self-explanatory.

In light of recent Russian developments this may seem frivolous now, but I hope you will do what you can to foster this idea at the appropriate time.

Hang in there!

Sincerely,

FNT/fcn
