THROUGH: DAVID DEMAREST
 CHRISS WINSTON cw

FROM: KRISTIN CLARK TAYLOR ket
 Director of Media Relations

SUBJECT: PRESIDENT'S PARTICIPATION IN REGIONAL PRESS CONFERENCE

Thank you for agreeing to participate in the press conference with members of the local and regional media on June 13. Yours and the President's participation made a critical difference to our local press.

Attached is a piece by Seth Kantor of the New York Times News Service which ran on the Cox News Wire (which reached over 500 newspapers). The story points to the critical impact these press availabilities have on our local and regional media.

The overwhelming majority of the participants wrote favorable pieces about the conference and were genuinely thrilled to be afforded access to you, the President, Secretary Kemp and Roger Porter.

I am developing a larger clip package of articles that were written as a result of the conference that I will forward to you when complete.

AT WHITE HOUSE, THE MESSAGE IS SOMETIMES THE MESSAGE

By SETH KANTOR-

c. 1990 Cox News Service-

WASHINGTON - For the past several months, Judith Mathewson has covered news in Washington for daily newspapers in Kingston and Troy, N.Y. And Wednesday was a really big news day for her.

Mathewson attended her first White House news conference, sat in the front row and, when the president of the United States suddenly pointed a finger at her, she asked a question.

Her voice barely carried to the lectern, where George Bush loomed above, radiating heat and light provided for the TV cameras.

"I thought I was going to faint, trying to get the words out," she said later.

Mathewson was among more than 150 regional reporters - correspondents who cover Washington for home town newspapers, radio and TV stations all across America - invited to the White House to ask questions of Chief of Staff John Sununu, domestic and economic policy adviser Roger Porter, housing secretary Jack Kemp and of the president himself.

"Regionals" are sometimes - though by no means always - thought of as the small fish that scurry for tidbits in the sea of Washington news.

And even to say they were invited to the White House on Wednesday would be an overstatement. The meeting place was next door, on the fourth floor of the gingerbreaded old Executive Office Building, constructed during Ulysses S. Grant's administration.

But George Bush - like a parade of U.S. presidents before him - has grown wary of the sniping questions of bigtime, regular White House correspondents who dog him with often-belligerent questions.

He likes to aim his answers at the real America that exists beyond the Washington beltway. And so he welcomed the regional reporters who would ask questions to fit his answers.

John Day, a reporter representing The Bangor Daily News in Maine, asked the president (who has a home in Kennebunkport) what he thinks of Republican Gov. John R. McKernan's chances of getting re-elected in November.

"I am strongly for him," replied Bush. "...I would simply say I want to do everything I can to help Jock McKernan."

Carol Bennett, who covers Washington for Alabama radio stations, asked Bush about a man from her home state who must have a respirator in order to function.

"I'm embarrassed to say that (case) has not come to me. But I - we should get an answer to that before you leave here." He turned to a staff aide and indicated that he wanted an answer.

Roberta Ulrich of The Portland Oregonian asked about the plight of the spotted owl as a potential endangered species.

These stories are not national barn-burners. But in Maine, Alabama and Oregon they are "homers" - the term used for good home town stories.

Since the president knew only a handful of the reporters by name, among the scores who raised a forest of hands to get his attention, some wore bright clothing to attract his eye.

"The woman right here in the red," said Bush, pointing to Anne Wheeler. She represents TV stations in Texas, Arizona and Florida. She got her question asked but said later, "My hands were shaking so badly I didn't write down his answer."

When the president turned to regional reporter Judith Mathewson, in her front row seat, she asked about a government committee's recommendations on how to deal with an international terrorist bombing of a plane bearing more than 30 Syracuse University

President praised the recommendations but said, without detail, he was not sure that he could accept all of them. Perhaps the answer was not as complete as Mathewson might have liked. But she grinned broadly when the president thanked one and all and got off stage, 22 minutes after his arrival. She had a Page One story for back home.

FROM: BOBBIE KILBERG ^{BK}
SARAH DECAMP ^{AD}

SUBJECT: FOLLOW-UP TO YOUR ANNOUNCEMENT SUSPENDING THE PLO DIALOGUE

Attached are the press releases and letters we have received so far from Jewish organizations praising you for suspending the PLO dialogue.

Immediately following your announcement this afternoon, our office faxed the statement to fifty major Jewish organizations, over thirty Jewish leaders across the country, and major national and local Jewish publications. In addition, at our suggestion the Vice President talked with George Klein, Dick Fox, and Seymour Reich (Chairman, Conference of Presidents of Major Jewish Organizations) and has placed calls to Max Fisher who is en route to Israel and Mayer Mitchell (President, AIPAC.)

CONFERENCE OF JEWISH PRESIDENTS HAILS DECISION TO SUSPEND TALKS WITH THE PLO

The Conference of Presidents of Major American Jewish Organizations, representing 46 national Jewish groups, today (Wednesday, June 20) hailed the announcement by President Bush that the U.S. would suspend talks with the Palestine Liberation Organization because of its failure to repudiate the aborted terrorist raid on Israeli beaches late last month and its refusal to discipline PLO executive committee member Abu Abbas, who was responsible for the attack.

In a statement, Seymour D. Reich, chairman of the Conference and president of B'nai B'rith International, said:

"Today's action restores American credibility and leadership in the war against worldwide terrorism. Our country cannot lead such a campaign while holding ongoing discussions with the world's most notorious terrorist organization in the face of blatant violations of the PLO's commitments to end terrorism.

"The State Department demanded that the PLO denounce the raid and remove Abul Abbas, who has since issued further terrorist threats, from its leadership. Ample time was given to the PLO to act. PLO chairman Arafat refused to do so, thus confirming that his promises in Geneva in 1988 were false. Our country had no other course but to suspend its talks with the PLO.

"Some argue that PLO chairman Arafat cannot be expected to monitor and control all the forces that make up the PLO. If that is the case, and Arafat cannot even restrain the activities of close associates like Abu Abbas -- let alone those in the PLO who oppose his leadership -- what is the point of maintaining a dialogue?

"The war against terrorism, the cause of peace and our country's integrity all demanded that these talks be ended. We are pleased that the Administration has done so. Now let all the parties to the conflict end the cycle of violence and renew the process that will lead to a just and lasting peace."

Dear Mr. President,

On behalf of the Conference of Presidents of Major American Jewish Organizations I would like to express our support for your decision to suspend the dialogue with the PLO.

More than ample time has passed since the aborted attack on May 30 for the leaders of the PNC to have acted in accordance with the assurances given in Geneva in 1988. Your action underscores the integrity of our nation's commitment to, and leadership of, the war against terrorism.

We hope that the United States and Israel together with other parties interested in a just and lasting peace in the Middle East will now be able to proceed with the peace process. A strong US/Israel relationship and mutual understanding are essential for progress towards the end we all seek.

Sincerely yours,

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

NEW YORK, June 20....Sholom D. Comay, President of the American Jewish Committee, today issued the following statement:

"The American Jewish Committee applauds President Bush's welcome announcement of a suspension in the U.S.-PLO dialogue after Yasir Arafat's refusal to condemn unequivocally and distance himself from the Palestine Liberation Front's failed attempt to attack civilian targets in Israel.

"By its action, the U.S. serves notice that the PLO cannot continue to pursue its two-faced policy -- on the one hand claiming to reject terrorism, but, on the other hand countenancing terrorism within its own ranks -- while simultaneously expecting the legitimization that dialogue with the U.S. provides. Moreover, the U.S. step sends the clear message that the U.S. is determined to hold the PLO to the standards established for launching the dialogue in 1988, namely, rejection of all forms of terrorism and acceptance of Israel's right to exist.

"Either the PLO rejects, in deeds, any and all forms of terrorism from any element within its umbrella, or the U.S. has no business engaging the PLO in dialogue. Otherwise, prospects for peace in the region are built on nothing more than quicksand.

"The American Jewish Committee hopes that today's developments will facilitate the continuation of the peace process and the cooperation between the U.S. and the new government in Israel."

AJCONGRESS CALLS SUSPENSION OF U.S.-PLO DIALOGUE
NECESSARY TO RESTORE U.S. CREDIBILITY

In a statement released today by Phil Baum, associate executive director of the American Jewish Congress, the Jewish leader called the suspension of the U.S.-PLO Dialogue necessary to restore "credibility to the U.S. commitment to oppose terrorism whatever its source."

In his remarks, Mr. Baum pointed out that the PLO could have continued its dialogue with the U.S. and it was a "disappointment" that they seem "not yet prepared to separate themselves from terrorism in the interest of advancing the peace process."

The AJCongress noted that it "looked forward to the time when the Palestinians will be represented in meaningful talks with our country by a leadership which is truly dedicated to an equitable resolution of differences in the Middle East."

The full text of Mr. Baum's statement follows:

Suspension of the U.S.-PLO Dialogue announced today by President Bush gives needed credibility to the US commitment to oppose terrorism whatever its source and to hold accountable those who engage in or sponsor terrorist acts.

It was within the PLO's own power to continue these talks. By denouncing the recent attack on Tel Aviv beaches and by removing from the Executive Committee of the PLO, Abul Abbas, the man who orchestrated this and numerous other assaults upon

...and demonstrated that and numerous other assaults upon defenseless civilians, it could easily have preserved the Dialogue. That Arafat and the PLO chose not to do so was a disappointing demonstration that they are not yet prepared to separate themselves from terrorism in the interest of advancing the peace process.

This inability to act decisively against terrorism speaks louder than the ambiguous phrases that their leadership has mouthed from time to time in Geneva, Stockholm, and other places.

At the time the U.S.-PLO Dialogue was instituted, the AJCongress acknowledged the possibility that the Dialogue under the proper circumstances could contribute constructively to the peace process. Our views were framed in the context of what we were told were firm assurances that Arafat was in control of the PLO and that the PLO had denounced terrorism and accepted the right of Israel to exist peaceably. We derive no satisfaction from the fact that the PLO has failed demonstrably to meet even these minimal requirements.

We urge our government to continue to search out every opportunity to revitalize the peace process and we look forward to the time when the Palestinians will be represented in meaningful talks with our country by a leadership capable of pursuing an equitable and peaceful resolution of differences in the Middle East.

OFFICE OF THE PRESIDENT

BY FAX

June 20, 1990

Honorable George Bush
The President of the United States
The White House
Washington, D.C. 20500

Dear Mr. President:

I have just heard a news report of your decision to suspend the dialogue between the United States and the PLO. Bravo!

When Yasir Arafat agreed in December 1988 to renounce terrorism on behalf of the PLO, the American government responded by initiating a substantive dialogue with the PLO in an effort to move the Middle East peace process forward. In all due candor, we were not delighted with that decision. We felt that so long as its charter continued to call for the destruction of the State of Israel, the PLO was simply not a suitable partner for the advancement of the cause of peace.

For that reason, we issued a statement at that time urging the United States to "periodically reevaluate the wisdom of negotiating with the PLO, and discontinue such negotiations if there are no tangible signs of positive movement by this terrorist group."

Now, in light of such events as the terrorist attack three weeks ago by the Palestine Liberation Front, a PLO constituent group, it has become abundantly apparent that not only have there been no tangible signs of positive movement by the PLO, but that in fact the organization continues on its longstanding policy of fomenting terror against innocent civilians in the Middle East.

By the courageous and principled stand you have taken today, you have shown the world that you will not permit obfuscation and double-talk to disguise the truth. You have reaffirmed in no uncertain terms that the United States will not look aside from acts of terror. For that, you will gain the admiration, respect and gratitude of all peace-loving citizens of this oh-so-fragile planet.

As always, you have my every best wish and prayers for continued success.

Warmly,

Rabbi Morris Sherer

The Honorable George Bush
President of the United States
The White House
Washington, D.C. 20500

Dear Mr. President:

We would like to commend you on the decision which you made today based on recommendations by Secretary James Baker to suspend the dialogue between the United States and the PLO.

It is our considered opinion that the government of the United States gave enough time to Yasir Arafat to respond and condemn the terrorist attack on May 30th on Israel by the Palestine Liberation Front.

We Holocaust survivors still remember that our people perished in the Holocaust only because world leaders did not recognize early enough the danger of terrorism and anti-Semitism which spread all over Europe, and as a result, millions died.

We cannot help but remember that it was the tactic of the Nazis to use our special holidays as the days of attacking our people. The Palestine Liberation Front continues that strategy by attacking innocent people enjoying their holiday on the beaches. By the grace of God and the watchful eye of the Israel Armed Forces, the attack was foiled.

Therefore, on behalf of the Holocaust survivors, we would like to say thank you for your decision. We hope that your decision will lead to a renewed process leading to a lasting just peace in the Middle East.

Sincerely yours,

Benjamin Meed

You and I tentatively discussed a party consisting of the following:

1. You
2. Andy Card
3. Roger Porter
4. Ed Rogers
5. Jim Cicconi
6. NSC Representative
7. Patty Presock
8. Fred McClure

We should also include Nancy Sununu, Joe Reed, and support staff.

The President

Dear Mr. President:

I am enclosing a copy of the proposed modification in the pending Civil Rights Act of 1990 that I feel is essential to achieve the goal of reversing the Supreme Court's unfortunate decision in the Ward's Cove case.

As you know, I have had lengthy discussions with Governor Sununu about this issue, and it has proved very difficult to resolve.

I am hopeful that you and John will find it possible to accept the modification -- I believe it reflects the good faith compromise that we are both seeking, that avoids quotas, and that will enable you to sign a strong Civil Rights Act.

With respect and appreciation,

As ever,

7/12/90 LANGUAGE WITH CHANGES

The term required by business necessity means:

(1) in the case of employment practices primarily involving/related to [choose one] selection, the practice or group of practices must bear a significant relationship to successful performance of the job.

(2) in the case of other employment practices not described in subsection (1), the practice or group of practices must bear a significant relationship to a significant business objective of the employer.

In deciding whether the above standards for business necessity have been met, unsubstantiated opinion and hearsay are not sufficient; demonstrable evidence is required. The court may receive such evidence as statistical reports, validation studies, expert testimony, prior successful experience and other evidence as permitted by the Federal Rules of Evidence and the court shall give such weight, if any, to such evidence as is appropriate.

There would also be in the statute the following language, "This language is meant to codify the meaning of business necessity as used in Griggs and to overrule Wards Cove."

Strike subsection 703(k)(1)(B) and insert at the end of (A) the following:

provided, however, that if the elements of a decision-making process are not capable of separation for analysis, they may be analyzed as one employment practice, just as where the criteria are distinct and separate each must be identified with particularity.

Legislative history: [Agreement that plaintiff can plead a group of employment practices, and the determination of whether a group of employment practices in fact is not capable of separation for analysis shall be made after discovery.]

7/12/90 LANGUAGE WITHOUT CHANGES

The term required by business necessity means:

(1) in the case of employment practices primarily intended to measure job performance, the practice or group of practices must bear a significant relationship to successful performance of the job.

(2) in the case of other employment practices that are not primarily intended to measure job performance, the practice or group of practices must bear a significant relationship to a significant business objective of the employer.

In deciding whether the above standards for business necessity have been met, unsubstantiated opinion and hearsay are not sufficient; demonstrable evidence is required. The court may rely on such evidence as statistical reports, validation studies, expert testimony, prior successful experience and other evidence as permitted by the Federal Rules of Evidence and the court shall give such weight, if any, to such evidence as it deems appropriate.

There would also be in the statute the following language, "This language is meant to codify the meaning of business necessity as used in Griggs and other opinions of the Supreme Court."

Strike subsection 703(k)(1)(B) and insert at the end of (A) the following:

provided, however, that where a group of interrelated employment practices produce a single employment decision and the elements of the decision are not capable of separation for analysis, the group of employment practices shall be treated as a single employment practice and may be challenged as such and defended as such.

Legislative history: [Agreement that plaintiff can plead a group of employment practices, and the determination of whether a group of employment practices in fact is not capable of separation for analysis shall be made after discovery.]

EXECUTIVE OFFICE OF THE PRESIDENT
OFFICE OF MANAGEMENT AND BUDGET
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20503

7/16

Dick Darman

For your discussion of the D.C. abortion issue in senior staff tomorrow, background information is attached. Last year, the first D.C. bill (vetoed on 10/27/89) would have permitted the use of D.C. funds for abortions without restriction and would have had rape, incest and other exceptions for Federal funds.

This identical language is in the Subcommittee bill (approved on July 12th) which will be marked up by the House Appropriations Committee on Thursday, July 19th. I have attached the bill language from the three F-71990 D.C. bills (recall that the President vetoed a compromise bill as well) and the President's letter that he signed prior to House floor action last year.

THE WHITE HOUSE
WASHINGTON

August 2, 1989

Dear Julian:

The House soon will consider the District of Columbia Appropriations bill for Fiscal Year 1990.

If the bill presented to me permits the use of appropriated funds to pay for abortions other than those where the life of the mother would be endangered if the fetus were carried to term, I will veto it.

I urge the Congress to vote to protect the lives of America's unborn children.

Sincerely,

The Honorable Julian C. Dixon

Dear Mr. President:

On behalf of the more than 500,000 small business owners who are members of NFIB, I want to express our gratitude for your courageous veto of the Family and Medical Leave Act.

As you said in your veto message, the idea of allowing an employee to take time off after the birth of a child should be encouraged, and most NFIB members do make arrangements for such leave. But those arrangements should be negotiated between the employer and the employee, not mandated by government.

It is easy for those who support mandates to sling arrows in the wake of your veto. That is why I want you to know that small business owners and their advocate, NFIB, are behind you. We applaud your stance on government mandates and will do all we can to encourage members of the House to sustain your veto of the Family and Medical Leave Act.

Sincerely,

JS

The chairman of the House Republican Policy Committee, Rep. Mickey Edwards (R-OK), issued the following statement today:

"Democratic leaders in the Congress have attempted to portray a House Republican resolution opposing new or increased federal taxes as an internal dispute among Republicans. Senator George Mitchell, the Senate's Majority Leader, told the press that he did not want 'to get involved' in what he called 'a dispute between House Republicans and the President.'"

"Let me make it perfectly clear. Senator Mitchell IS involved. This statement by House Republicans was aimed at George Mitchell, not George Bush. There is a prospect of new and higher taxes on the American people not because that's what the President wants but because the Democrats who control both houses of Congress refuse to even talk about reducing the federal deficit unless they can have their chance to raise taxes. It is George Mitchell and Tom Foley and Dick Gephardt and Jim Sasser and the rest of the Democratic negotiators who go to bed at night worried that there might be something they haven't taxed yet, or some dollars the people might be keeping that ought to be taken away by the federal government. Taxes are on the table in the budget talks because the Democrats would rather see the deficit get larger and people lose their jobs than have an agreement that would cut spending or reform the budget process that they control."

"It is not up to Republicans to take one more step toward an agreement. President Bush was forced by Democrats to say he would consider an increase in revenues in order to keep the Democrats at the bargaining table so something can be done about the federal deficit. Now it's up to the Democrats. The ball is in their court. They have done nothing at all to help reduce the size of the federal deficit. They have put no spending cuts on the table, they have put no entitlement reforms on the table, they have put no budget reforms on the table; they have merely pouted and whined and stamped their feet and demanded the right to increase taxes on the American people."
