WASHINGTON, DC 20510-8125

July 17, 1989

The Honorable Barbara Mikulski
 Chair
 Subcommittee on VA, HUD and Independent Agencies
 Committee on Appropriations
 United States Senate
 Washington, DC 20510

Dear Barbara:

As the Subcommittee prepares to mark up its FY 1990 appropriations bill, we would like to express our support for a recent Administration request to increase funding for the White House Office of Science and Technology Policy (OSTP). On July 6, the Administration sent to Congress a revised FY 1990 budget request for OSTP that included an additional $970,000 for OSTP, for a total request of $2,997,000.

This money is essential if OSTP is to fulfill its critically important role in the development and coordination of Federal science and technology policy.

In recent years, funding levels for OSTP have dropped sharply so that the office now has less than half the staff and funding it had ten years ago. At present funding levels, OSTP cannot adequately carry out the important functions that Congress has assigned to it, such as setting Federal research priorities and coordinating multi-agency research programs like the national global change research program. Priorities and coordination are particularly important today, when research budgets are tight.

We hope that you can support this request. A small investment in OSTP today could save millions in duplicative or wasteful research elsewhere in the Federal government and would ensure a better return on our science and technology investments.

ERNEST F. HOLLINGS
Chairman
Committee on Commerce
Science, and Transportation

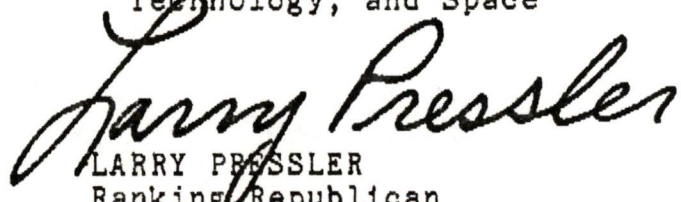

Sincerely,

ALBERT GORE, JR.

Subcommittee on Science,
Technology, and Space
