MEMORANDUM FOR THE CHIEF OF STAFF

FROM: Phillip D. Brady
SUBJECT: Staff Secretary Functions and the Campaign

The prospect of a formal campaign organization presents a number of issues regarding staff secretary functions, which this memo seeks to address.

Presumably, the campaign will appoint someone to serve in a staff secretary role, and we would serve as the primary White House contact for that person. We propose that the roles of our office and the campaign's staff secretary should be divided as follows:

First, this office should continue to serve as the President's "in box" and "out box," i.e., all material for the President -- including material from the campaign -- should be forwarded through this office.

The staffing process on speeches should continue to work as it has in the past, assuming there is no legal prohibition. We would anticipate utilizing greater care in staffing speeches for campaign events to the agencies. Any speeches written in the campaign should be sent to us for appropriate staffing within the White House (e.g., NSC should see a speech on Middle East policy written by the campaign).

This last point is important: when the President speaks as a candidate, he is still speaking as President of the United States, and his pronouncements are authoritative. This is particularly the case in the area of foreign policy. Thus, simply because a speech is written at the campaign does not mean it is devoid of official purpose.

Second, With the possible exception of photographs of official campaign events, this office should retain control of the use of the President's signature.

Third, the campaign will be responsible for forwarding all official correspondence to this office as soon as it is received. In other words, the campaign will not maintain an agency liaison function of any kind, nor will it be responsible for responding to letters which are primarily official in nature. Similarly, we will forward to Political Affairs or the campaign all political correspondence.

Fourth, we propose that gifts be handled as at present. A gift presented to the President at a campaign event or through the campaign is still covered by the relevant statutes and should be handled by the Gift Unit.

Similarly, recommended telephone calls for the President should be handled as at present; i.e., submitted to this office and presented for your approval before they are forwarded to the President.

We believe the campaign should not have the authority to produce Presidential messages without White House approval. While we are happy to receive drafts from the campaign, there are so many issues to be considered in Presidential messages -- the reputation of the group, clearing the message with appropriate White House offices, consistency of policy -- that some White House approval is necessary.

The campaign should be responsible for the preservation of all records pertaining to the campaign. They will be handled in accordance with the relevant statutes. (Eventually, of course, this material would be sent to the Bush Presidential Library; even if the President were to lose the election, the campaign documents would be Federal property, since the President will receive major-party Federal financing for the campaign after the convention.)

Please let us know if you would like to discuss this further. Thank you.

RE : The Presidential Donation

Introduction :

This presentation is made in honor of the President of the United States of America on behalf of my principal, as his political representative in the United States, who is willing to devote himself to a worldwide human oriented project along with destined economic policies with his full academic and economic ability and capability. His life has been being spent to resolve world accumulated debts which is currently one of the most serious economic and political problems in any area of the world regardless developed or underdeveloped state of countries. His personal ability and capability to complete the project, which will be confirmed to advise and prove by his reference of the most important persons in the world, the President of several countries in which he is initiating his project at present, will enable himself to convince people of the world of their recognition of its importance only when he is able to obtain assistance of the most powerful world leader, the President of the United States of America. As one of his first steps to consummate the project he feels greatly honored to donate political funds to President George Bush for his next successful election or other political activities in the amount of 1 billion U.S. Dollars in an immediate position expecting his broad political and economical assistance for the above project completion. The details of his project are stated as follows.

The Body :

It is, in common sense terms, awfully hard for anyone to believe my principal's financial capability to proceed his great project mentioned in above introduction, but he is engaged in controlling legally approved special funds which are under the responsibility of both U.S and Japan in terms of their control and use, and also partially as his owned in cooperation with thirty-six major financial institutions in the world.

Given a privilege of use and control of the funds he is planning to resolve world accumulated debts, which is about total one trillion three hundred twenty billion U.S. dollars and one half of the figure blame U.S.A., one tenth Canada, seven and a half percents Soviet Union and others other developed and underdeveloped countries. He will be able to proceed his project by himself to save only undeveloped countries spending more than five years long, but much sooner for the majority of the fiscal troubled countries in cooperation with World political leaders, such as G 7's, under the initiative of the President of the United States of America.

As a matter of fact, he is currently contacting thirteen asian countries for their cooperation to urgently initiate and proceed his project in order to write their accumulated debts off as soon as possible. The first among them will be the Republic of the Philippines, whose President is opening her doors for serious discussion for an immediate commencement of the project. The country has accumulated about twenty-eight billion nine hundred million U.S. dollars debts in history and that amount will be granted to clear the debts off from above mentioned special funds under my principal's will and responsibility providing that the country is and will be under surveillance of the United State in terms of economic aid and military presence for their political and economical stability for the time being. This also enable the country to have a better and preferable position in their access to I.M.F. (International Monetary Fund), the World Bank or B.I.S. (Bank of International Settlement). And/or the funds will be able to cover the cost of keeping Subic Base if it exceeds annual aid of two hundred three million U.S. dollars from U.S.. There is and will be no way for the country to keep themselves in a secured national self-defence position without U.S. military aid, which would, in return, create a very active economic effects to the national economy, such as employments, although we respect and appreciate its recent surging nationalism in the country. The second, or even almost at the same time the country could be introduced, will be the Federation of Malaysia which my principal has already agreed to an immediate commencement of the project with.

Having a profound thought concerning a recent World political and economical trend and the country, Japan, we will have a more serious economic friction to the rest of the world becoming ostracizing in the world unless we adopt an immediate diagnosis to resolve the matter. A gradual, eventually drastic, increase of U.S. military withdrawal from many countries in history should take place soon, which will next bring more eyes of people in the World to our problem mentioned above requesting our more important rolls to the World economy. Our country, unfortunately, has not been necessary sensitive to the problems of the rest of the World in her history and even not now. Only my principal could take an initiative to effect the resolution through his great project stated here, and this is his given talent and destined assignment in this world by nature.

From his pure mind considering realization of the World peace and its stabilization in every sense my principal is wishing a Worldwide strong assistance of the President of the United States of American urgently. My principal knows and believes, as a matter of fact even without expecting any return from his act this time he wants to devote his economical capability to the successful career of the President from the bottom of his heart, that it is necessary for him to pay some price to obtain the most reliable assistance in the World in the form of political donation, but nothing else. In this presentation I am not stating any financial technical part of project proceeding, which will be duly verified by proper documents presented to the President and explained by the technical representative of my principal at designated meeting later. We will appreciate your very good consideration to assist us to put our project mentioned above into effect soonest. Thank you very much.

Sincerely Yours,

October 4, 1991

MR. PRESIDENT:

Andy Card requested that the attached status report on U.S. participation at the Seville Expo be brought to your attention.

According to Eugene Kopp, Acting Director, USIA, the bottom line is: the U.S. pavilion is in trouble. They've been unable to secure the necessary financing to make our presence as substantial as originally intended.

King Juan Carlos is expected to ask you to commit to some level of participation in the Expo. USIA encourages us to make no promises -- until we see how the project looks closer to the final hour.

UNITED STATES PAVILION
1992 Universal Exposition
Seville, Spain

BACKGROUND

Expo 92

The Universal Exposition or World's Fair being held in Seville, Spain, commemorates the 500th anniversary of Columbus's voyage to the New World. From April 20 to October 12, 1992, a record 114 participating nations will open their pavilions to an estimated 20 million visitors. World attention will be focused on Spain next year with this historic international event in Seville, the Summer Olympics in Barcelona and Madrid's designation as the 1992 European Cultural Capital.

A Brief History of U.S. Participation

In October, 1988, President Reagan accepted an invitation from King Juan Carlos to participate in Expo 92. The President instructed USIA, the Commerce and State Departments to divide the $15 million dollar federal component of the projected $30 million dollar Pavilion. In 1989, USIA reprogrammed $400,000 and the Department of Commerce transferred $83,000 to USIA for the Pavilion. The State Department and USIA submitted budget requests for FY 1990 of $5 million each. The Commerce Department proposed to provide $5 million from additional fee collections.

On September 27, 1989, the Senate Appropriations Committee report on FY 1990 appropriations instructed USIA to bear the full cost of the project. However on October 20, 1989 -- coincidentally, the same day as a meeting between Spain's Prime Minister Felipe Gonzales and President Bush -- the Senate and House Appropriations Committees in Conference deleted funds for the Pavilion from the USIA FY 1990 budget submission.

It was not until June, 1990, after several months of intensive effort and questioning, that the House Appropriations Subcommittee approved a USIA request for reprogramming authority of $4.6 million as part of a total reduced federal allowance of $13 million for Seville. These delays markedly reduced the ability of USIA to raise funds from the private sector, a central element of this project, and forced the Agency to compete in a rapidly inflating construction market in Seville. Construction bids in early January, 1991 were two-and-one-half to three times higher than the original design estimate of $10 million.

The delay in project funding and severely inflated construction costs have forced the United States markedly to simplify its pavilion design in order to reduce costs. Two geodesic domes, used by USIA in the 1970s in the USSR, were introduced into the plan.

Other major countries will have more elaborate pavilions. The U.S. Pavilion Project Team has, however, produced a tasteful design package and is concentrating on fundraising and development of high quality exhibits and programs.

Although more than $3 million cash (and $20 million of in-kind contributions) has been raised from non-federal sources, private sector support has not yet met expectations. At present, the project has a $21 million cash budget and a deficit of approximately $5 million. This includes lower contingency funds than recommended by the U.S. Navy Project Manager.

An aggressive fundraising and marketing campaign continues. However, if the deficit cannot be corrected, we anticipate exhausting all remaining funds by the end of the first quarter of FY 1992. Additional funding must be in hand by January 1, 1992 or the U.S. pavilion will not open.

STATUS

Pavilion Design

The 40,000-square-foot U.S. Pavilion is fronted by a 300-foot water wall symbolizing the ocean Columbus crossed; three sails reminiscent of his caravels soar above the pavilion. Key features of the pavilion are two geodesic domes and an exhibition/administration building. The pavilion courtyard includes a stage for the performing arts.

Construction Update

Construction of the United States Pavilion is progressing rapidly on the site under management of the U.S. Naval Facilities Engineering Command. The Pavilion is scheduled for completion by March 1992. The foundations and perimeter walls for both of the geodesic domes are completed. Excavation has been completed for the administrative building and for the stage. A working prototype section of the water wall has been approved. The first geodesic dome will be erected in mid-October.

Exhibits

Over 30,000 visitors a day will see a wide array of attractions in the U.S. Pavilion:

General Motors Theater - GM is donating one of the Pavilion's main features, a 70-mm film that will highlight the genius of the American people, from leadership in personal mobility to achieving harmony with the environment. Award-winning filmmaker Bob Rogers is producing this $4 million film.

Bill of Rights Exhibit - The other main feature of the pavilion will be the display of an original copy of the Bill of Rights. Philip Morris has donated a $14 million exhibit that will showcase this treasured national document. (An additional $2 million is needed for retrofitting and operating this exhibit.)

Kansas City Exhibit - "Discovering Connections -- Europe and the American Heartland" will be the exhibit sponsored by Seville's sister-city. It will explore Kansas City's western and prairie heritage, its legendary jazz era, and its famous personalities.

Sprint Teleconference Center - Sprint is sponsoring a $1 million international teleconference center. This state-of-the-art facility will host worldwide teleconferences.

Coca Cola VIP Center - Coca Cola is sponsoring a $1 million reception center for distinguished pavilion visitors, who will include heads of state as well as heads of corporations.

American Plywood Association - APA is building a "Spirit of America" home to promote use of American wood products by demonstrating state-of-the-art techniques for utilizing wood products in residential housing.

Performing Arts Stage - Diverse American music, dance and theatre performers, both amateurs and professionals, will showcase contemporary achievements.

THE WHITE HOUSE
WASHINGTON

October 4, 1991

MR. PRESIDENT:

Andy Card requested that the attached status report on U.S. participation at the Seville Expo be brought to your attention.

According to Eugene Kopp, Acting Director, USIA, the bottom line is: the U.S. pavilion is in trouble. They've been unable to secure the necessary financing to make our presence as substantial as originally intended.

King Juan Carlos is expected to ask you to commit to some level of participation in the Expo. USIA encourages us to make no promises -- until we see how the project looks closer to the final hour.

UNITED STATES PAVILION
1992 Universal Exposition
Seville, Spain

BACKGROUND

Expo 92

The Universal Exposition or World's Fair being held in Seville, Spain, commemorates the 500th anniversary of Columbus's voyage to the New World. From April 20 to October 12, 1992, a record 114 participating nations will open their pavilions to an estimated 20 million visitors. World attention will be focused on Spain next year with this historic international event in Seville, the Summer Olympics in Barcelona and Madrid's designation as the 1992 European Cultural Capital.

A Brief History of U.S. Participation

In October, 1988, President Reagan accepted an invitation from King Juan Carlos to participate in Expo 92. The President instructed USIA, the Commerce and State Departments to divide the $15 million dollar federal component of the projected $30 million dollar Pavilion. In 1989, USIA reprogrammed $400,000 and the Department of Commerce transferred $83,000 to USIA for the Pavilion. The State Department and USIA submitted budget requests for FY 1990 of $5 million each. The Commerce Department proposed to provide $5 million from additional fee collections.

On September 27, 1989, the Senate Appropriations Committee report on FY 1990 appropriations instructed USIA to bear the full cost of the project. However on October 20, 1989 -- coincidentally, the same day as a meeting between Spain's Prime Minister Felipe Gonzales and President Bush -- the Senate and House Appropriations Committees in Conference deleted funds for the Pavilion from the USIA FY 1990 budget submission.

It was not until June, 1990, after several months of intensive effort and questioning, that the House Appropriations Subcommittee approved a USIA request for reprogramming authority of $4.6 million as part of a total reduced federal allowance of $13 million for Seville. These delays markedly reduced the ability of USIA to raise funds from the private sector, a central element of this project, and forced the Agency to compete in a rapidly inflating construction market in Seville. Construction bids in early January, 1991 were two-and-one-half to three times higher than the original design estimate of $10 million.

The delay in project funding and severely inflated construction costs have forced the United States markedly to simplify its pavilion design in order to reduce costs. Two geodesic domes, used by USIA in the 1970s in the USSR, were introduced into the plan.

Other major countries will have more elaborate pavilions. The U.S. Pavilion Project Team has, however, produced a tasteful design package and is concentrating on fundraising and development of high quality exhibits and programs.

Although more than $3 million cash (and $20 million of in-kind contributions) has been raised from non-federal sources, private sector support has not yet met expectations. At present, the project has a $21 million cash budget and a deficit of approximately $5 million. This includes lower contingency funds than recommended by the U.S. Navy Project Manager.

An aggressive fundraising and marketing campaign continues. However, if the deficit cannot be corrected, we anticipate exhausting all remaining funds by the end of the first quarter of FY 1992. Additional funding must be in hand by January 1, 1992 or the U.S. pavilion will not open.

STATUS

Pavilion Design

The 40,000-square-foot U.S. Pavilion is fronted by a 300-foot water wall symbolizing the ocean Columbus crossed; three sails reminiscent of his caravels soar above the pavilion. Key features of the pavilion are two geodesic domes and an exhibition/administration building. The pavilion courtyard includes a stage for the performing arts.

Construction Update

Construction of the United States Pavilion is progressing rapidly on the site under management of the U.S. Naval Facilities Engineering Command. The Pavilion is scheduled for completion by March 1992. The foundations and perimeter walls for both of the geodesic domes are completed. Excavation has been completed for the administrative building and for the stage. A working prototype section of the water wall has been approved. The first geodesic dome will be erected in mid-October.

Exhibits

Over 30,000 visitors a day will see a wide array of attractions in the U.S. Pavilion:

General Motors Theater - GM is donating one of the Pavilion's main features, a 70-mm film that will highlight the genius of the American people, from leadership in personal mobility to achieving harmony with the environment. Award-winning filmmaker Bob Rogers is producing this $4 million film.

Bill of Rights Exhibit - The other main feature of the pavilion will be the display of an original copy of the Bill of Rights. Philip Morris has donated a $14 million exhibit that will showcase this treasured national document. (An additional $2 million is needed for retrofitting and operating this exhibit.)

Kansas City Exhibit - "Discovering Connections -- Europe and the American Heartland" will be the exhibit sponsored by Seville's sister-city. It will explore Kansas City's western and prairie heritage, its legendary jazz era, and its famous personalities.

Sprint Teleconference Center - Sprint is sponsoring a $1 million international teleconference center. This state-of-the-art facility will host worldwide teleconferences.

Coca Cola VIP Center - Coca Cola is sponsoring a $1 million reception center for distinguished pavilion visitors, who will include heads of state as well as heads of corporations.

American Plywood Association - APA is building a "Spirit of America" home to promote use of American wood products by demonstrating state-of-the-art techniques for utilizing wood products in residential housing.

Performing Arts Stage - Diverse American music, dance and theatre performers, both amateurs and professionals, will showcase contemporary achievements.

THE WHITE HOUSE

June 5, 1991

MEMORANDUM FOR THE CHIEF OF STAFF

FROM: Phillip D. Brady

Please find attached a copy of the President's response to the memorandum on presenting the Medal of Freedom to Ted Williams.

With respect to your question on whether there is another award that could appropriately be given to Joe DiMaggio, it would not appear that there is, since he has already received the highest civil award of the U.S. However, his attendance at a presentation ceremony for Ted Williams would certainly enhance that event itself and the joint trip with the President to the All Star Game would appear to be an appropriate means of celebrating the 50th year of their achievements.

I would note that the President and First Lady's Medal of Arts luncheon has been long scheduled for July 9. The President's choices for this Medal (including Isaac Stern) have already been invited for this date and most have accepted. The difficulties inherent in scheduling the award recipients militates against changing that date.

However, it may well be that a separate awards ceremony for Ted Williams later that day would not unduly interfere with the Medal of Arts luncheon. Alternatively, we could seek to arrange the Ted Williams event the previous afternoon. Yet another alternative could be to have the joint trip with the President without a medal ceremony, and the Medal of Freedom could be awarded to Ted Williams subsequently at a larger Medal of Freedom ceremony, probably in the fall. This latter approach may well be the preferred alternative as presumably we're awarding the Medal of Freedom to Ted Williams for lifetime contributions including his distinguished service in both World War II and the Korean War.

Hope this is helpful. I'd be delighted to discuss this further at your convenience.

JOE DIMAGGIO

Graceful afield and sterling at bat, Joe DiMaggio bespoke excellence as few athletes ever have. In 1941, "Joltin' Joe" electrified America by hitting safely in a record 56 straight games. A writer once said, "Watching Joe DiMaggio play baseball was like listening to Jascha Heifetz play the violin." Today, the Nation still turns its eyes to you -- No. 5, the Yankee Clipper.

TED WILLIAMS

He was called the Kid, the Splendid Splinter, and in New England, simply Himself. He was an iconoclast and rebel who, half-a-century ago, batted .406 -- the last hitter to eclipse .400. His feat was especially redoubtable since, as No. 9 has said, "hitting a baseball is the hardest task in sports." Today, Teddy Ballgame remains John Wayne in baseball woolies -- perhaps the greatest hitter of all time.

MEMORANDUM FOR THE PRESIDENT

FROM: Phillip D. Brady PHB
SUBJECT: Joe DiMaggio and Ted Williams

By way of addendum to my memo of May 31 regarding the Medal of Freedom, please be advised further research indicates that Joe DiMaggio received the Medal of Freedom from President Ford in 1977. In 1989, you indicated a desire to award the Medal to Ted Williams at the presentation ceremony in July of that year, but he was unable to attend because he was recovering from foot surgery. Accordingly, it's recommended that renewed consideration be given to the idea of awarding the Medal to Williams in any larger presentation ceremony which you decide to schedule for this year.

In that regard, you may be interested to know that there is precedent for awarding the Medal of Freedom to exceptional athletes such as Ted Williams. President Reagan awarded the Medal to Jackie Robinson (posthumously), and President Ford awarded it to Jesse Owens as well as to DiMaggio. Besides his baseball achievements, Ted Williams interrupted his baseball career twice to serve with distinction in World War II and the Korean War.

Thank you.

SUBJECT: Follow-up re July 9 Ceremony

As we discussed, yet another alternative with respect to a July 9 event honoring Joe DiMaggio and Ted Williams in addition to those discussed in my memo of yesterday (attached) would be for appropriate Presidential citations to be presented commemorating the 50th anniversary of their baseball achievements. Such citations would specifically outline their 1941 feats and express the appreciation and recognition of the Nation. Selected examples of past citations are attached.

It would also be possible to award Ted Williams the Medal of Freedom at this ceremony, based more broadly on his career and his military service, but it might be more appropriate to do so at a larger Medal of Freedom event this Fall.

Thank you.

MEMORANDUM FOR THE CHIEF OF STAFF

FROM: Phillip D. Brady

Please find attached a copy of the President's response to the memorandum on presenting the Medal of Freedom to Ted Williams.

With respect to your question on whether there is another award that could appropriately be given to Joe DiMaggio, it would not appear that there is, since he has already received the highest civil award of the U.S. However, his attendance at a presentation ceremony for Ted Williams would certainly enhance that event itself and the joint trip with the President to the All Star Game would appear to be an appropriate means of celebrating the 50th year of their achievements.

I would note that the President and First Lady's Medal of Arts luncheon has been long scheduled for July 9. The President's choices for this Medal (including Isaac Stern) have already been invited for this date and most have accepted. The difficulties inherent in scheduling the award recipients militates against changing that date.

However, it may well be that a separate awards ceremony for Ted Williams later that day would not unduly interfere with the Medal of Arts luncheon. Alternatively, we could seek to arrange the Ted Williams event the previous afternoon. Yet another alternative could be to have the joint trip with the President without a medal ceremony, and the Medal of Freedom could be awarded to Ted Williams subsequently at a larger Medal of Freedom ceremony, probably in the fall. This latter approach may well be the preferred alternative as presumably we're awarding the Medal of Freedom to Ted Williams for lifetime contributions including his distinguished service in both World War II and the Korean War.

Hope this is helpful. I'd be delighted to discuss this further at your convenience.

THE WHITE HOUSE

WASHINGTON

February 21, 1991

MEMORANDUM FOR SENIOR STAFF

FROM: Phillip D. Brady

SUBJECT: Materials for the President and Guidelines for Presidential Proclamations

Please find below certain reminders with respect to materials prepared for the President and our guidelines for Presidential proclamations.

Materials for the President

All materials for the President are routed through the Office of the Staff Secretary. The White House Office Staff Manual and the White House Correspondence Manual set forth detailed guidance on the proper formatting of the materials. In general:

-- Briefing memoranda

"Briefing papers" should be prepared for all meetings and events on the President's public or private schedule. Each memo should be prepared, coordinated, and forwarded by the "project officer" -- the senior staff member who has been assigned lead responsibility for the meeting or event.

Briefing papers should be concise -- ordinarily a single page. Talking points, if appropriate, are to be provided on 4x6 cards or on speech cards as an attachment to the memo. (Please see the attachment for guidelines as to when to use each type of card.)

Briefing memos (with 16 copies) must be delivered to this office no later than 3:00 PM on the business day before the scheduled meeting or event. If briefing papers do not meet this deadline, meetings may be cancelled.

-- Decision memoranda

Decision memos are prepared for substantive matters requiring the President's decision. These may originate from any senior staff office. Decision memos should be provided to this office at least 48 hours before the desired time of the President's decision. This allows for appropriate senior staff clearance and time for the President to review the matter personally at his convenience.

-- Signature memoranda

Documents requiring the President's signature -- most commonly letters -- should be forwarded to this office with a brief explanatory cover memo. This should indicate the nature of the action involved, its relationship to approved Presidential policy, and the clearances and nonconcurrences of appropriate reviewing parties.

-- Information memoranda

Information memos are intended simply to convey information, not to elicit Presidential action. As with all other materials, they should be submitted to this office.

-- Telephone calls

Recommendations for telephone calls by the President should be submitted to this office using the form provided in the White House Staff Manual. If the call is to be placed to an event or should take place at a specific time, a scheduling proposal should first be submitted for consideration.

Every effort will be made to ensure that materials are processed expeditiously. However, certain documents -- fact sheets, draft legislation, major decision memos, and the like -- usually require staffing and coordination among other offices. We like to have at least 24 hours for the staffing of documents for the President or for public release; we prefer 48 hours for lengthy or potentially controversial documents. This ensures that all relevant White House offices have a fair opportunity to comment before a decision is made.

The President's schedule should also be taken into consideration when submitting materials for the President. For example, when the President travels, it routinely takes longer for a decision to be reached or approval to be granted.

Presidential Proclamations

Ordinarily, the President will issue a proclamation only at the request of a joint resolution of Congress. Those that are issued traditionally, such as Thanksgiving Day and Armed Forces Day, are exceptions to this rule.

Occasionally, other exceptions are made, using as criteria the constituency requesting the proclamation, the importance of the proclamation itself, and the degree to which the subject fits with the President's agenda or his personal interests. Thus, in April 1989, the President issued a proclamation for "Crime Victims Week," even though this was not requested by Congress. Similarly, the President recently issued a proclamation for a "National Day of Prayer" on his own initiative.

Yet a Congressional request does not automatically mean that the President will issue a proclamation. Some requested proclamations are simply inappropriate. Subjects which are appropriate for Presidential proclamations include:

1. Those that in some way are designed to better the citizenry or the national life. This is the broadest category. Proclamations are appropriate for "National Cancer Awareness Week," "American Heart Month," or the "National Day of Prayer." Included in this category are proclamations which highlight ties to foreign countries or our nation's heritage, such as "Pan American Week," "Greek Independence Day," or "General Pulaski Memorial Day."
2. Those that are designed to recognize a particular industry, though without appearing to favor one industry at the expense of another -- for instance, "National Agriculture Day" or "World Trade Week."
3. Those that recognize certain groups of Americans, including certain non-profit organizations, for special praise. Examples of this type include "National Former Prisoners of War Day," "American Red Cross Month," or "Federal Employees Recognition Week."
4. Those that recognize past events of an historic nature.

The President will also not issue proclamations commemorating a date prior to passage of the joint resolution. Once a joint resolution requesting a proclamation passes one house of Congress, OMB will normally ask a Department or agency to prepare a draft proclamation, which OMB then forwards to Correspondence for editing and clearance. The process works most efficiently if these Department and agency drafts are provided to OMB alone, and not to other White House offices.

Presidential Messages

Some subjects may warrant a Presidential message rather than a proclamation. For example, Congress requested that June 13, 1984, be commemorated as "Harmon Killebrew Day." Clearly, it would be more appropriate to send a message of greetings to an event honoring Killebrew.

More broadly, Presidential messages are utilized to recognize various special occasions, events, or circumstances. Such messages are generally limited to major national conventions, annual meetings, or events of significant national organizations; commemorative events; political/Congressional events; tributes and testimonials; and significant anniversaries of non-profit organizations.

With respect to charitable or fundraising events, the Office of the President is generally not associated with a specific fundraising event. There is a limited exception to this rule for major fundraising organizations such as the American Red Cross, American Cancer Society, etc., at their annual dinners or conventions. Another exception would be events that the President or the First Lady have specifically endorsed.

Events of a commercial nature or events sponsored by a profit-making organization generally do not qualify for Presidential messages.

Thank you for your assistance with respect to the above.

ATTACHMENT
Talking Points for Presidential Events

When the President requires talking points for an event, they should normally be provided on 4x6 cards. Each point should be brief -- preferably no more than two or three lines. Please type on one side of the card only, and please keep the number of cards to the absolute minimum necessary. The sample below shows the format talking points should take.

However, for events at which the President is standing to deliver remarks or at which he will be using a podium, talking points should be provided on half-sheets ("speech cards").

Offices which have HPLaserJet printers may wish to have the Computer Center instruct them on how to prepare appropriate half-sheets in large type. Other offices may ask the office of the Deputy Assistant to the President for Communications, Rm. 122, x2930, to prepare these half-sheets. However, offices must provide the approved talking points to Communications on a diskette in WordPerfect. This will save the necessity of retyping the talking points and will speed their completion.

TALKING POINTS

- Talking points should be typed on 4x6 cards in this format.
- They should be double-spaced between points.
- Regular type may be used to print cards; orator or other large type should be used for speech cards.
- Points should be brief and clearly worded for quick reference.
- Xerox copies of the cards should be attached to the 16 copies of the briefing memo submitted to the Staff Secretary's office. For events outside the White House, two originals of the cards are required.

THROUGH: PHIL BRADY
FROM: SHIRLEY M. GREEN smg
SUBJECT; ANNUAL CORRESPONDENCE DEPARTMENT REPORT

Attached is our annual Correspondence Report covering the period January 21, 1990 to January 20, 1991. Some interesting items -- and my interpretation where they are significantly different from the first year report -- include:

- o Total volume down in 1990. I assume that is because of very high volume of largely congratulatory mail in 1989 -- for election, inaugural address, first address to Congress, first birthdays in White House, first Christmas in White House, etc. All these categories were up in 1989, which I am told is usual for first year of a new Administration.
- o Mail referred to departments almost doubled in 1990. As the Administration became more deeply involved in complicated legislation, more letters needed detailed response from appropriate agencies.
- o Mrs. Bush's outgoing letters and messages to Public Events was nearly double 1989 -- obviously, because of her popularity.
- o Total outgoing correspondence was up 400,000 over 1989 because we are trying to answer more letters, even if they are critical.
- o Calls to the Comments Lines was up 83,478 in 1990, primarily because of Budget Summit and Persian Gulf.
- o Of 97 issues tallied, only the top 23 are listed.
- o Iraq-Kuwait letters are listed as 133,161 since only four days of Operation Desert Storm are covered (January 16-Janauary 20). The overall total to date is actually over 200,000.

MEMORANDUM FOR THE PRESIDENT

FROM: Phillip D. Brady
SUBJECT: UNCF Dinner

In light of your interest and your longstanding association with the United Negro College Fund (UNCF), please be advised we have reviewed Mr. Johnson's proposal with Counsel again, and it would appear that you could host a general event honoring UNCF. The dinner would not be "expressly" for the purpose of rewarding or soliciting contributions to UNCF and would not be "exclusively" for UNCF's major contributors.

Also, general discussion with Rose Zamaria and Gary Walters indicates that while the White House does not have gift authority, the Executive Residence can be reimbursed for events. That authority is the basis on which the Team 100 dinner and State Dinners are paid for by the RNC and the State Department, respectively.

Accordingly, if you are interested in hosting a more broadly based dinner honoring UNCF, the concerns which Counsel identified (attached) can be ameliorated. If you wish, we will draft a response along these lines and can work with UNCF and Gary to develop an event consistent with past precedent.

Thank you.

MEMORANDUM FOR PHILLIP D. BRADY
ASSISTANT TO THE PRESIDENT AND STAFF SECRETARY

FROM: JAY S. BYBEE jsb
ASSOCIATE COUNSEL TO THE PRESIDENT

SUBJECT: Letter to POTUS from John Johnson

You have requested our views on a letter from John Johnson to the President in which he asks that the President hold a dinner at the White House for major donors to the United Negro College Fund ("UNCF"). Mr. Johnson has not only requested a dinner, but has asked that the dinner be held on November 19, 1991, which is National Philanthropy Day. Additionally, he advises that UNCF is willing to pay for the dinner.

There are two separate questions posed by Mr. Johnson's request. First, can (or should) the President hold a dinner for major UNCF donors. Second, if the President were to hold such a dinner, could UNCF pay for the dinner.

We should begin by emphasizing that the President and First Lady may invite whomever they wish to the White House for dinner. The President and First Lady have always been generous in recognizing the contributions, financial and otherwise, that have been made to the Administration's causes. (The recent Team 100 dinner is a good example.) But in our view it would be inappropriate for an outside organization such as the UNCF to use the White House so explicitly to reward (or solicit) contributors.

As you know the President has adopted a policy regarding the use of his name by charitable institutions. Under this policy, which differs from the President's policy regarding commercial endorsements, the President routinely declines to permit his name to be used in connection with charitable fundraising, except for those institutions or causes with which he was involved prior to becoming President. It is our understanding that the President had substantial involvement with UNCF prior to becoming President and that he has continued to support UNCF's efforts.

Notwithstanding the President's continued support for UNCF, we recommend against the President holding a White House dinner exclusively for UNCF's major contributors. First, while the President frequently has attended charitable fundraising events such as banquets, we unaware of an event at the White House which was held exclusively to honor donors to an outside charitable cause. Such an event would suggest that the President had used his office for the gain of a private foundation. We believe that such explicit use would be inappropriate. Second, there is the appearance of a quid pro quo in that donors to UNCF are rewarded with a White House dinner. Third, and wholly apart from these concerns, we are concerned with the inferences that would be drawn from a dinner that only recognized major donors. At a time when the President is emphasizing volunteerism and philanthropy, it would be a cross signal for the President to honor only major contributors to UNCF.

In any event, no outside organization may pay for its dinner at the White House. Since the White House does not have gift acceptance authority, such payment would constitute an augmentation of appropriations. The National Park Service does have gift acceptance authority and we have relied on that authority for donations of food and drink for events such as the Easter Egg Roll and the physical fitness program. We doubt that an event such as that proposed by Mr. Johnson would fall within the Park Service's gift acceptance authority, but should there be interest in pursuing this question, we would press the question to the Park Service.

Thank you for the opportunity to comment on this matter. If there are any further questions, please do not hesitate to contact us.

Dear Mr. President,

Please, would you consider having a dinner in the White House on Thursday, November 19, for the UNCF major donors.

We have got to break the back of this capital campaign, and we think that such an event would be highly, highly productive.

That day is National Philanthropy Day.

The UNCF will pay for the dinner, in fact, we really want to do it.

So far we are at 90.6 mil of the $250.0 mil we have to raise - that's the good news. The bad news is that Walter's gift of $50.0 mil is included. (Amenberg, that is) what do you think - I hope you can do it.

John

Dear Governor Sununu,

Thanks so much for your interest in an event at the White House for the major donors to the United Negro College Fund. We are trying to raise $250 million for our capital campaign.

We feel that a dinner at the White House, preferably on November 19, National Philanthropy Day, would be extremely helpful to us as we get this drive under way. If dinner is impossible, lunch would be our second choice.

These are very big donors, and the President's interest would be very helpful to us. I look forward to hearing from you.

Thanks so much.

Sincerely,

*As for "big donors" we mean
$250.000 to 10.000.000*
