Dear George:

I was saddened to learn of the death of your father and I extend my deepest sympathy to you, your mother and all the members of your fine family.

While I realize there is little I can say, I am reminded of the correspondence between Justice Holmes and Sir Frederick Pollock, each of whose parents died at a very advanced age. Holmes wrote that it was a shock that "gives one a tug that goes far down to the roots." Later Pollock described the loss as "a closing of one of the doors of the memory."

Perhaps these thoughts may be of some comfort during these days.

Sincerely,

Charles McC. Mathias, Jr.

Dear George:

I want to express my heartfelt sympathy to you and to your entire family on the death of your father.

As you know, my early years in the House of Representatives coincided with your father's final years in the Senate, and I am very much aware of the tremendous statesmanship quality which the late Senator demonstrated at all times. The citizens of Connecticut, indeed, many citizens of this great nation of ours, are very much aware of the contributions which your father made during his many years of public service and devotion. His leadership was outstanding, and has left its mark upon the history as well as the future of our state and nation.

I hold the greatest respect and admiration for both you and your father, and I hope you will convey my sympathy to your entire family in their great loss. My thoughts and prayers are with you during this time of sadness.

Dear George:

I want you to know how deeply I felt your father's death.

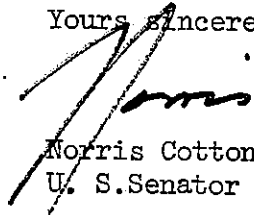

When I came here as a freshman Senator, I served with him on my first committee assignment, Public Works, and under his leadership helped work out the Interstate Highway System.

As the years passed, I came to know and admire him more and more. He will always represent in my mind the highest type of United States Senator, in character, in dignity, in ability, and in his never failing patience and helpfulness to his junior associates.

I have wired Mrs. Bush, but I wanted you to know the deep sense of personal loss that Ruth and I feel at this time. You have our deepest sympathy.

Please do not trouble to acknowledge this note.
