MEMORANDUM FOR MELVYN LEVITSKY
Executive Secretary
Department of State

SUBJECT: Appointment Requests - Ambassador Jack F.
Matlock, Jr. (2)

We have recommended that the President meet with Ambassador Matlock. A scheduling request has been submitted and hopefully the President's schedule will allow such a meeting to take place during the March 2, 3 or 4 timeframe. Robert Gates, Robert Blackwill and Condoleezza Rice will be happy to see the Ambassador and request that appointments be scheduled. (7)

MEMORANDUM FOR BRENT SCOWCROFT

THROUGH: ROBERT BLACKWILL RB

FROM: CONDOLEEZZA RICE CR

SUBJECT: Appointment for Jack F. Matlock, U.S. Ambassador to the Soviet Union

*10:00 AM
w/ Condoleezza
Rice
& Gates*

Ambassador Matlock has requested a meeting with the President, with you and with several other members of the NSC staff (Tab III). He will depart on March 7 for Secretary Baker's meeting with Soviet Foreign Minister Shervardnadze in Vienna.

We recommend that Ambassador Matlock meet with the President, you, Bob Gates, and with the members of the Directorate for Soviet and European Affairs.

The memorandum at Tab I notifies the State Department of our intentions in regard to Ambassador Matlock. It requests that appointments be set up for him with Bob Gates, Bob Blackwill and myself while the Ambassador is in Washington. A schedule proposal at Tab II requests time on the President's calendar.

RECOMMENDATION

(1) That the memorandum to Melvyn Levitsky at Tab I be signed.

MEMORANDUM FOR BRENT SCOWCROFT
THE WHITE HOUSE

Subject: Appointment Requests - Ambassador Jack F. Matlock, Jr.

Jack Matlock, who has been our ambassador in Moscow since March 1987, will be in Washington March 2-5 for consultations and will be in Vienna for Secretary Baker's first meeting with Soviet Foreign Minister Shevardnadze on March 7. The Department recommends that he be put on the President's calendar for a brief meeting on March 2, 3 or 4.

In addition, Ambassador Matlock, who served on the NSC staff from 1983 until his appointment to Moscow, would like to see you, Bob Gates, Bob Blackwill and Condoleeza Rice, also on March 2, 3 or 4.

These would be Ambassador Matlock's first meetings with the President and the NSC staff since the new Administration took office. The President may find of interest the Ambassador's views on the current situation in the Soviet Union, including Moscow's perceptions of his Administration and the Soviet agenda for Vienna and beyond.

Florence,

We understand the alternate dates given, 21 and 23 Feb coincide with the dates for the President's and Gen. Scowcroft's trip to Tokyo -- day before would be a bad day. Also suggested was Feb 27 at 10 a.m. and we understand that Bush and Scowcroft return on 26 Feb -- and Feb 27 would be a bad day.

So, we will inform State of above and await your return with some more possible dates. Thanks again, Lois

We understand from State that President Bush in early January typed his own brief note to Ambassador Acland. The note said that he would be delighted to have Prince Charles pay a call to the White House on February 17th.

Supposedly the original idea was discussed between Mrs. Bush and Lady Acland during tea. The British have followed up and are waiting for confirmation from the White House.

This is all the NSC and State know. I suggest that General Scowcroft take this up with the President.

SUBJECT: Meeting with Norwegian Foreign Minister Stoltenberg

We were called by the Norwegian Embassy and told that the General had earlier accepted-- but had now been forced to regret-- a luncheon next Tuesday, February 21, in honor of visiting Norwegian Foreign Minister Stoltenberg.

Since the General can't make the luncheon, the Norwegians would like to know if he could find time on Tuesday for a short office call by Stoltenberg.

Stoltenberg is here for a one-day private visit on his way to the Hirohito funeral. He is seeing Secretary Baker for 20 minutes at 2:30 on Tuesday and then has some Hill appointments. There are no pressing U.S.-Norwegian bilateral issues, and Stoltenberg seems interested primarily in a courtesy call. Discussion topics from our side might include SNF, NATO Summit and broad East-West issues.

Though Norway is a significant NATO Ally, we do not consider this office call essential. If the General turns it down, we will explain that he is very busy with the Hirohito preparations and that perhaps the two might bump into each other in Tokyo. Alternatively, perhaps Bob Gates would consider seeing Stoltenberg.

Since this would be for next Tuesday, please let me know as soon as possible how to respond to the Norwegians.

SUBJECT: Appointment

VIEW THE NOTE

E20

Pete Dawkins will be in Washington next week on Thursday for appointments and would like to see General Scowcroft for 5 minutes (he said).

He said subject was personal. I told him we'd hold 3:30 so he could plan his other appointments around that time, and check with you and the General to confirm it. I told him about the possibility of the President's schedule changing which affects the General's. Mr. Dawkins will call you Monday afternoon. His numbers are: 201/571-1000 or 201/530-8807.

SUBJECT: Strategic Review

We are told Tower and Scowcroft will meet tomorrow to discuss the strategic review. We have sent over two packages (strategic and conventional) which have been revised to conform to the approach being used in other reviews. They have been shown to and discussed with Hadley; may be worth a moment in advance of the review to see the direction NSC staff is favoring.

Defense believes Tower will argue for a single "global strategy" review focused on national objectives with everything you have seen to date as follow-ons. That way will work (it was part of our initial proposal), but right now we think that getting started is more important than changing format.

(SCOWCROFT)

FROM: Richard N. Haass

DECLASSIFIED
PER NSC WAIVER, 1500 2021-02
By SS NARA, Date 3/5/24

SUBJECT: your 4:00 p.m. meeting with Israeli amb.

Brent:

I just had a get-acquainted lunch with the Israeli ambassador, and one or two things came up that I thought might be of use in your own meeting with him today.

Not surprisingly, he is interested in getting a feel for where we might be headed in our policy review. I told him that we had no secret agenda, and that we were genuinely interested in examining policy possibilities given the developments of the past 15 months. I also told him that we were interested in having the benefit of the thinking of key Israelis, and that we looked forward to the meetings scheduled for coming months. Our approach was one of creative consultations, not negotiations, and that ideas could be put forth and then changed or removed without anyone charging bad faith.

He also asked about the dialogue with the PLO. I said that I thought it was useful, for now in shaping PLO behavior about what they had to do (and avoid doing) in order to bring about an environment in which diplomacy could prosper. Later on I said I could imagine the dialogue becoming more substantive. He asked if I thought the time would ever come when the PLO would allow West Bank Palestinians to act as "surrogates." I said I didn't know, that it was one possible direction to probe, and that for now I would not rule it out.

Without prompting--honest!--he raised the question of visits. He said that Israel would not mind having Mubarak come before Shamir if Arens came earlier. I said that this was an interesting approach that he should raise with you. If he does, I suggest you comment favorably and say we will get back to him with a firm answer asap.

see you at 4.

DATE: January 25, 1989

I would like to follow-up our conversation of yesterday about arranging meetings between Mr. Akio Morita, Chairman of Sony, and General Scowcroft and also between Mr. Morita and the President.

Mr. Morita will be in Washington on February 15, 16 and 17 and would like to have a private meeting with General Scowcroft and with the President, if at all possible, to give his views on the state of U.S.-Japan relations. While he does not speak for the Japanese government, his views are influential in Japan, and he is probably the single most influential Japanese businessman.

Mr. Morita met General Scowcroft in December, and would like to follow-up that breakfast meeting with a few additional points. He would also like to meet the President, whom he did not have an opportunity to meet before. I would appreciate any guidance about whether a different office in the White House is the appropriate one to make a request for this type of meeting with the President.

As you will note, the meetings would occur prior to the President's trip to Japan, and Mr. Morita believes that he has some insights to provide General Scowcroft and the President about what the Japanese government will say during that trip.

Please let me know how I should follow-up this request.

Schedule for me only, now

My Dear Mr. President:

Raul Gardini, chairman of the Ferruzzi Group and one of Europe's top business leaders will be in Washington from February 15-17 and would like to drop by for a courtesy call.

You may recall meeting Dr. Gardini several years ago with Boyden Gray in Paris. Dr. Gardini is one of the world's foremost proponents of ethanol and has invested over $80 million in a United States' based plant.

I hope that you will be able to set aside some time to reacquaint yourself with Mr. Gardini and hear his views on key global issues.

Many thanks for considering this request.

RAUL GARDINI

Raul Gardini was born in Ravenna, Italy on June 7, 1933. In 1957 he married Idina Ferruzzi and had three children, Eleonora, Ivan Francesco, and Maria Speranza. He resides with his family in Ravenna.

In 1955 he left the University of Bologna to begin his career for the Ferruzzi Group as a stockholder for the new company Cementi Ravenna (Ravenna Cement). During that period he was responsible for the development of this company as Assistant to the Office of the Director General and later as Commercial Manager. In 1957 the Societa' Soia Ravenna (Ravenna Soy Company) was established with Raul Gardini as Assistant to the Office of the Director General with specific responsibilities for production and sales.

With the expansion of the Ferruzzi Group on a European and international level, Mr. Gardini was nominated in 1960 as President of the National Association of Primary Products (Associazione Nazionale Materie Grasse) and Vice President of the European Federation (FEDIOL) responsible for agricultural and industrial problems.

Up to 1979, Raul Gardini was a close associate of Serafino Ferruzzi, founder of the Group, with specific responsibilities towards new industrial initiatives and for the acquisition of new ventures. After the death of Serafino Ferruzzi in 1979, Raul Gardini assumed the position of President of the Ferruzzi Group, which he still maintains today.

Raul Gardini is the President of the Board of Shareholders and President of the Executive Committee for the Ferruzzi Group; Chairman of Ferruzzi Finanziaria; President of the AIFA Holding Luxembourg and of Agricola Finanziaria; President of Eridania and Vice President of Beghin-Say, which is controlled by Eridania; President of Calcestruzzi and Concrebras.

Furthermore, Mr. Gardini is Vice President and member of the Executive Committee for Montedison, in which the Ferruzzi Group is the largest shareholder.

On April 7, 1987 the University of Bologna bestowed the Doctorate Honoris Causa in Agricultural Sciences to Raul Gardini in recognition of his managerial efforts and for the innovations which he brought to the fields of agriculture and agro-industry.

During his spare time, Raul Gardini is active in offshore sailing. His boat, the "Moor of Venice" (in the maxi-boat category) is one of the three most competitive boats in the world. He participated in four Fastnet races, including the most renowned in 1979. He is a member of the Italian Yacht Club, the International Class A Yacht Association, and the Royal Ocean Racing Club. Raul Gardini is also passionately fond of duck hunting.

Raul Gardini speaks Italian and French.

The President
The White House
Washington, D.C. 20500

My Dear Mr. President:

Raul Gardini, chairman of the Ferruzzi Group and one of Europe's top business leaders will be in Washington from February 15-17 and would like to drop by for a courtesy call.

You may recall meeting Dr. Gardini several years ago with Boyden Gray in Paris. Dr. Gardini is one of the world's foremost proponents of ethanol and has invested over $80 million in a United States' based plant.

I hope that you will be able to set aside some time to reacquaint yourself with Mr. Gardini and hear his views on key global issues.

Many thanks for considering this request.

Sincerely,

Rich Bond

Dear Mr. Vice President,

Raul Gardini, one of Europe's top business leaders and owner of Central Soya in Indiana, will be in Washington, D.C. from February 15-17 and would like to drop by for a courtesy call.

I have made a similar request to President Bush, who met with Gardini in Paris several years ago.

Dr. Gardini is one of the world's foremost proponents of ethanol and I strongly recommend you set aside some time for a get acquainted session.

Many thanks for considering this request.

MEMORANDUM FOR BRENT SCOWCROFT

THROUGH:

DAVID C. MILLER
for STEPHEN P. FARRAR SPF

FROM:

RICHARD SAUNDERS RMS

SUBJECT:

Managing the Function 150 Account

*10:00
2/15*

*Saunders
Farrar
Miller
Gates*

This memorandum provides background on international affairs funding (the Function 150 Account) and our thoughts on how the account might be managed within the NSC staff. It is not critical which directorate manages the account. Nevertheless, we believe it is very important to have a single NSC directorate responsible for international affairs funding issues.

BACKGROUND

Function 150 includes bilateral security and development assistance; multilateral foreign assistance (e.g., the multilateral banks); Export-Import Bank; operating budgets for foreign affairs agencies (State, AID, Peace Corps, etc.); and international narcotics, peacekeeping, foreign information, and refugee programs. 150 budget authority in FY89 is $16.2 billion. (Tab I gives a snapshot of the account.)

Foreign affairs programs are strapped by inadequate resources and restrictions on the President's authority to allocate funds. 150 budget requests have suffered disproportionate cuts compared to defense and domestic programs while restrictions and earmarks have grown. As a result, a program that should be making significant contributions to US foreign policy is itself becoming a foreign policy problem.

The FY90 150 budget request ($19.0 billion) was designed to restore funding to minimum essential levels in several critical programs. We anticipate the appropriations committees will try to bring pressure on the Administration to reduce the deficit by threatening deep cuts in the 150 budget (as was the committees' practice before the Bipartisan Budget Compromise).

The Administration must take action over the next several months to ensure adequate funding in the FY90 budget and contain the growing problem of Congressional restrictions. Congressional consultations in December laid important groundwork for these efforts. The House Foreign Affairs Committee is considering overhauling foreign assistance legislation. Now is the time to capitalize on these concerns by working with Congress to improve both funding and flexibility. This will require concerted, high level effort by the Executive Branch to support the program as a whole.

DISCUSSION

State should have the lead on 150 matters. Preliminary indications are that State will be in a better position to take the leadership role than it was over the last two years. Nevertheless, centralized supervision at the NSC is necessary as well. In the current budget climate, funding decisions are a zero sum game that has important policy implications for both winners and losers. Funding issues inevitably touch off serious disputes between agencies and among regional offices within agencies. NSC is the only organization that can referee such disputes from the perspective of the President's overall national security priorities. If the NSC does not perform this function, it will fall to OMB to arbitrate competing foreign policy requirements, a role that OMB should not be expected to assume and is unequipped to perform.

There should be a single focal point on the NSC staff for managing foreign affairs programs. The critical issues, funding and flexibility, cut across regional lines. Regional directorates will not possess the expertise necessary to monitor the overall program because of its diversity and complexity. Also, as advocates for their regions' interests, it will be extremely difficult for them to balance conflicting claims for limited resources.

Where the function is placed within the NSC staff is less critical, so long as it receives adequate attention at the staff and senior director levels. (The 150 account requires a good deal of time and attention if it is to be managed properly.) The new Africa/International Programs directorate will be in a good position to weigh bilateral foreign policy implications of 150 issues; integrate foreign assistance, counter-narcotics, and low intensity conflict issues; and manage military dimensions of the program. The International Economics Directorate will be better attuned to the relations between multilateral assistance programs and global economic policy.

We would like to discuss this issue with you further as you make your decisions on the composition and duties of both directorates.

MEMORANDUM FOR BRENT SCOWCROFT

THROUGH: DAVID C. MILLER DM
FROM: ROBERT CABELLY RC
SUBJECT: Request for Appointment for Congolese Foreign Minister

Congolese Foreign Minister Ndinga-Oba will visit Washington on February 13 and 14. We understand that he would very much appreciate the opportunity to meet with you, if only for a brief period of time.

We strongly recommend that you receive the Foreign Minister because:

- National reconciliation in Angola is a primary foreign policy agenda item for the USG over the next four years; the Congolese have been extremely helpful in attempting to bring UNITA and the MPLA together, and we want them to continue in their role as a broker.
- The Brazzaville Government was a key player in the Reagan Administration's successful attempt to mediate a settlement in Angola/Namibia.
- The Congo could be an important player on other important matters, especially regarding the Zaire account.
- Over the past eight years it was possible to pull the Congolese away from the Soviets and Cubans towards the West; we want to continue that trend.

RECOMMENDATION

That in light of the Congo's efforts in support of USG peace initiatives and, especially, concerning future USG efforts to bring peace to Angola you meet with Foreign Minister Ndinga-Oba.

Lt. Gen. Brent Scowcroft
Advisor to the President for National Security Affairs
The White House
Washington, D.C.

Dear Brent:

Some time ago I requested an appointment with you. Your secretary was really very nice and helpful but I could tell from your schedule of travels and other obligations that it might not be possible, so I didn't press.

The purpose of my request had been to get some feel for the administration's thoughts, not a message, before leaving for the Middle East.

After my return, I would like to report my impressions to you and the President. But that will be difficult, if not impossible, because I will be free only between my return on February 24 and my entrance into George Washington University Hospital on March 5 for knee replacement surgery. I will be there for ten days and then at home until full mobility returns a few weeks later. I will of course be in constant contact with my office (775-3276) and my home (229-1629).

Regarding the Middle East, I note with satisfaction that the administration is moving slowly in a well-balanced manner while the facts on the ground work to change, gradually, the political climate. I have other ideas which I hope to transmit orally when that becomes possible.

In the meantime, you will understand that I remain concerned about my future. I have been close, I believe, to the President for many years and have reason to think that he returns my sentiments. He knows, as you do, that I seek a place in his administration in which my talents, abilities and languages can be used. The late French statesman, Robert Schuman, called me, like himself, "a man of the border" by which he meant one who understands what is on the other side and what it means.

It is in that spirit that the President and you know of my old dream for Paris, if that is still open. I understand political realities, yet judgments as to who could best serve our country do also, I hope, play a role.

If Paris is not possible, Vienna, my birthplace, would be of interest because of the continued problems created by the Waldheim affair. Of course there are other European posts where I could be useful; my list is not meant to be exclusive.

But if the Middle East is to remain my fate, then Cairo would be most important if Ambassador Wisner were to leave, as is rumored.

I should greatly appreciate it, Brent, if you could find opportunities to remind the President of my person. I like to believe that I still have much to contribute.

With warm regards,

February 9, 1989

General:

Amb Robert Neuman called with following message for you --

Has a request pending to see you but understands how busy you are but wanted you to know that on my way to Moscow I had a long talk with the former King of Afghanistan Zahir Shah in Rome. There is a detailed memcon about this which I gave to Ambassador Oakley (when he was at the NSC) and to Mike Armacost and also, with the permission of the King, to the Russians. I think it might be interesting to you to see this before the NSC meeting tomorrow morning.

I am leaving on Tuesday for the Middle East and go into the hospital when I return for a new knee -- I don't know when we might get to see each other but wanted you to have this message.

My wife, who is usually right, tells me that I am bothering you too much.

Probably so. But this is the last time that it will be so easy to just go up two floors to reach your office.

The enclosed memorandum, really more an essay produced by my restless mind, deals with a special way in which Germany can be influenced - through France.

After you are fully installed in the White House, I should like to present to you and, if possible, to the smallest top level circle (President, SecState, NSA) a detailed strategy of a proposed policy on the Middle East looking both to the immediate, as I did in my last letter, and the more distant future.

MEMORANDUM

TO: General Brent Scowcroft

FROM: Robert G. Neumann

SUBJECT: A special way in which German conduct can be influenced by us through France.

Despite several friction points, U.S.-German relations are basically good and solid, and Vernon Walters will further improve them. But beyond the items of daily concerns and crises is the task of getting into the German bloodstream and their chaotic and romantic ruminations. The key to this may be France.

Franco-German relations are and have always been unique. America may give Germany security, but France gives it respectability. This was the core of the strange and unique De Gaulle-Adenauer relationship (which I was able to observe personally) which both men understood thoroughly. That relationship was suited to its time and cannot be recreated. But, based on that experience, I am groping for a kind of totally informal, totally discreet Franco-American planning contact on German affairs. It could deal with matters pertaining to EEC and general trade affairs, closer cooperation on chemical weapons, how to deal with Eastern Europe (it being understood that nobody wants to see a German superstate), etc.

No doubt, as one moved into the type of discussions sketched above, other ideas would arise. This would have to be operated from Paris by people who thoroughly understand both France and Germany. We would occasionally have to be willing to let the French take the lead.

In sum, I am ruminating about ways of making France an instrument of Franco-American influence on Germany. It would give the U.S. a second track into German thinking. From there, the going would still be tough at times. But it would flatter the French to be approached on Germany and it might be worth the effort.

MEMORANDUM FOR: Honorable Brent Scowcroft
National Security Advisor

FROM : William R. Gianelli, Chairman, Panama Canal Commission

SUBJECT : Panama Canal Operations

This memorandum is intended to supplement my letter to you of December 16, 1988, a copy of which is enclosed for ready reference. I am also enclosing a tabulation of Panama Canal Commission funds being held in escrow as of January 31, 1989.

When these funds were placed in escrow almost a year ago it was believed these economic sanctions would bring down the Noriega-Palma regime in Panama in a matter of days (See testimony of Panamanian Ambassador Juan Sosa and Asst. Sec. of State Elliott Abrams to House Subcommittee on March 10, 1988). Now, almost a year later, Noriega is still firmly entrenched and the sanctions are seriously jeopardizing the ability of the Panama Canal Commission to continue to operate the Canal efficiently and without interruption for defense purposes and to serve international trade.

In order to minimize the impact of the sanctions on Canal operations I believe it is essential for the United States to:

1. Return to employees funds withheld from wages and placed in escrow so that employees may pay income and educational taxes.
2. Authorize payment for public services being provided to the Commission by Panamanian governmental agencies
3. Indicate willingness to negotiate payment of remainder of funds held in escrow provided May 7th elections are fair and honest
4. Be prepared to resume normal relations with Panama if a new Panamanian government is chosen in free elections.

I would be pleased to discuss this matter further in the event
you so desire.

Board of Directors
Panama Canal Commission

December 16, 1988

Lt. General Brent Scrowcroft
1800 K St., N.W.
Suite 1021
Washington, D.C. 20270

Dear General Scrowcroft:

This letter relates to problems associated with the operation of the Panama Canal under the Carter-Torrijos Treaty and the sanctions currently imposed by the U.S. Government against the Panamanian Solis Palma regime. As you will recall, the United States and Panama agreed in 1977 to a new Treaty to become effective on October 1, 1979. That treaty established that a U.S. Agency, until the year 2000, would operate the Panama Canal. In addition, a Board of Directors, consisting of five citizens of the United States and four citizens of the Republic of Panama would be appointed by the President of the United States to oversee the operation of the Panama Canal Commission. I have been the Chairman of that Commission since 1981. The Treaty requires that the Canal be turned over to Panama on January 1, 2000 after which Panama will have control over the waterway and its functions.

The Treaty also provides that the Administrator of the Canal operations in Panama be a U.S. citizen until January 1, 1990 after which time the Administrator will become a Panamanian. In the meantime, it has been incumbent upon the Commission to properly train Panamanians in the critical positions of Canal operations in order to insure that sufficient personnel are available to operate the Canal in the post 2000 era. Currently, approximately 7,500 Panamanians and 1,100 U.S. Citizens comprise the Canal workforce. Thus, the Commission, to a considerable extent, is dependent on Panamanian citizens to keep the Canal operating. Despite the many onerous provisions of the Treaty I believe we have been able to operate the Canal efficiently and even improved on its operations during the last eight years.

Prior to the Reagan Administration, only three meetings of the Board had taken place. Thus, nearly all of the oversight of Canal operations have taken place under this administration. We are proud of the record of Canal operations throughout the Treaty period and the Canal has, until the last few months, generally been kept free of political problems. It is an important waterway not only for world commerce but also for defense purposes.

With the imposition of economic sanctions by the United States against the Noriega-Palma regime early this year, however, the Panama Canal Commission was caught in the middle of the efforts to oust General Noriega. A large percentage of the funds placed in escrow by the sanctions comes from the Canal operations. For example, approximately $60 million annually comes from the annuity and tonnage payments derived from the tolls and related transit fees paid by international shipping. These funds are Treaty related and, as such, the placement of them in escrow has not as yet had an impact on the operation of the Canal. The other escrowed funds are all employee and agency related and have had an adverse effect on the Commission and its workforce.

Regarding the payment of Social Security to the Panamanian regime, we have been successful in obtaining an exemption from the sanctions regarding it and now our Panamanian employees have been reenrolled in their retirement plans and are receiving medical care provided by the social security payments.

The $10 million annually placed in escrow for public services has an adverse impact on Canal operations in that these funds are designated to pay for services such as garbage collection, fire protection and security which are provided not only to the residents of Canal housing but also to the operating areas and facilities of the Canal itself. In addition, the retention and subsequent deposit in the escrow account of Panamanian income tax and education tax collected by the Commission from its Panamanian employees have created difficulties for the canal operation and major difficulties for our Panamanian employees.

The public services provisions and the Panamanian income and education tax issue are increasingly bothersome. As a consequence of the income tax portion of the sanctions, the Noriega-Palma regime has refused to issue national tax clearance certificates ("Paz y Salvos") to Panamanian employees of the Commission because their withheld taxes have not been remitted by the Commission. The Paz y Salvo is an essential, legal document which all Panamanians must possess in order to travel out of the country or to conduct various transactions of a business or personal nature. This problem now has been severely exacerbated by the recent Panamanian announcement that the regime plans to confiscate the real and personal property of the Panamanian employees of the Commission who are in arrears on their income taxes and it plans to also impose stiff penalties and interest charges. Accordingly, the regime has now targeted the approximately 7,500 Panamanian employees of the Commission. These employees, who through no fault of their own, have been placed in the center of the political controversy, are risking loss of all their possessions plus large fines and have asked the Canal Commission for relief from this potentially catastrophic situation. They are being disillusioned as their personal problems mount. Furthermore, they and their unions are beginning to blame the U.S. and the Commission, not the Noriega-Palma regime, for their latest dilemma. I now believe that it is unrealistic to expect that these same employees will continue meeting job requirements faithfully and efficiently when their homes, bank accounts and personal property may be confiscated at any moment by the Noriega-Palma regime. Potential employee slowdowns, work stoppages or other job actions which disrupt Canal operations cannot be discounted although we have taken a firm stand against such employee actions.

The purpose of this paper is to advise you of the possible consequences that the continuation of that portion of the sanctions, which impact on our large work force, will have on Canal operations. In that regard, I believe that continuation of that particular sanction should be immediately reevaluated, and I would hope that President-elect Bush and his new administration team will give this matter a high priority.

I would be happy to provide specific information regarding Canal operational problems and other aspects of the Canal functions at your convenience.

Sincerely,

Dear Mr. White:

As you may know, Ambassador Walters has been designated U.S. Ambassador to the Federal Republic of West Germany and is awaiting Senate confirmation hearings. This has severely limited his availability for speaking events and makes it impossible for him to accept any further invitations at this time.

The Ambassador deeply regrets his inability to join you for what certainly would have been an interesting and stimulating event. If we can be of any further assistance to you, please do not hesitate to contact the Office of Press and Public Affairs here at the Mission. Again, Ambassador Walters is honored by your invitation and has asked me to thank you for your interest.

THE SOUTHERN CENTER FOR INTERNATIONAL STUDIES

January 20, 1989

General Brent Scowcroft
1800 "K" Street, N.W.
Suite #1021
Washington, D. C. 20006

Dear Brent:

On either May 2 - 3 or May 11 - 12 (the date has still not been confirmed), we plan to hold a meeting of the former Ambassadors to the United Nations in Atlanta. The conference, attended by several thousand, will be videotaped as were the conferences with the former Secretaries of State and Secretaries of Defense. The program that results will be aired nationally as a PBS television special and broadcast overseas by USIA Satellite. We also plan to develop educational tapes of the conference, transcripts, teacher's guides for distribution to colleges, secondary schools, and libraries. As of this writing, the Ford Foundation has committed $230,000 toward the project.

Would it be, in your opinion, appropriate and if so, possible, for George Bush and Vernon Walters to participate in this meeting? We are convinced that the United Nations is about to become a major forum for the deliberation of important foreign policy issues. Americans are not particularly knowledgeable or supportive of this institution. One of the themes the conference will consider is whether U.S. interests can be served by participating in the U.N. and if so, how.

We will be pleased to have both of these former Ambassadors present and to that end have sent letters of invitation, a copy of which is enclosed.

Please let me know what you think of the proposition. Would you encourage them to attend?

Yours sincerely,

Peter C. White

The Honorable Vernon A. Walters
U.S. Mission to the United Nations
799 United Nations Plaza
New York, New York 10017

Dear Ambassador Walters:

The Trustees and Officers of The Southern Center for International Studies are planning to sponsor a major program on the United Nations and would be honored to have you participate. The program is scheduled to be held on the evening of May 2 and the morning of the 3rd or the same times on May 11-12 of this year. The Ford Foundation will be a major sponsor of this event.

The purpose of this program is to examine those international and domestic factors that influence and shape American attitudes toward the U.N.; to discuss what, if any, new opportunities exist at the United Nations as a result of more cooperative roles being played by China and the Soviet Union; and to determine whether U.S. interests can be served by U.S. participation at the U. N. and if so, how. To accomplish this the program will bring together a group of former U.S. Ambassadors to the U.N. with moderator, Ed Newman, to conduct the proceedings.

The program would consist of three parts: a major conference; a television program aired by PBS nationally and by USIA internationally; and educational materials with video tapes and transcripts from the conference for distribution to academic institutions and libraries. This format has been successfully undertaken by the Center for a number of years.

For almost a decade, the Southern Center has produced annual televised conferences with the former Secretaries of State and former Secretaries of Defense. Lawrence Spivak, founder and producer of Meet the Press, and Julia Johnson, the originator of these events, produce these programs for the Southern Center. All former Secretaries of State have appeared on our Secretary of State programs. On the Defense programs, the following have participated: Robert McNamara, Melvin Laird, Clark Clifford, Elliot Richardson, James Schlesinger, Donald Rumsfeld, and Harold Brown.

For the convenience of the former Ambassadors transportation will be provided by private jet and limousine. You would arrive in Atlanta on the evening of the first day, attend the conference the following morning, and leave that afternoon following a luncheon in your honor and brief press conference.

I have enclosed information on the Center and videotapes which were aired nationwide this January over the PBS broadcasting system. These were produced from our most recent Secretaries of State conference, and will give you a better idea of the format we use.

We realize you will have a full schedule as Ambassador to the Federal Republic of Germany. However, your being the most recent former Ambassador to the United Nations at the time of the conference makes your participation critical. Therefore, if at all possible, we ask you to give this invitation your serious consideration.

I will call you next week to talk to you about the program.

Sincerely,

MEMORANDUM FOR BRENT SCOWCROFT
THE WHITE HOUSE

Subject: Appointment Request: West German FDP Party Chairman
Otto Count Lambsdorff

Count Lambsdorff, Chairman of the Free Democratic Party (one of three parties comprising the coalition government in Bonn), former Economics Minister, and one of West Germany's most prominent politicians, will visit Washington February 6-9. He has requested an appointment with you. The German Embassy has suggested February 8 at 4:00 pm, although any time during the morning of February 8 would also be convenient.

Lambsdorff wishes to discuss the broad range of US/FRG security, political, and economic issues. Within the Bonn coalition he has been a strong supporter of the Atlantic Alliance, close relations with the United States, and free-market economic principles. However, he has been critical of U.S. handling of the Libyan CW issue, has maintained that a decision on SNF modernization is premature, and has called for a reduction of low-level military flights over the FRG.

He has visited Washington on several earlier occasions and has wide contacts with senior USG officials.

SUBJECT: Appointment Request from Israeli Chief of Staff
Lt. General Dan Shomron

Lt. General Dan Shomron, Chief of Staff of the Israeli Defense Forces, is visiting Washington next week as the guest of Admiral Crowe, the Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff. He would like a brief introductory meeting with you. State is arranging courtesy calls for General Shomron in NEA and PM, and believes a brief call with you would be appropriate. I'm not sure it is worth your time, especially as we have been advised that he will be constrained from discussing foreign policy issues. It might be interesting to hear his first-hand impression and military views of the situation in the Occupied Territories, though. In any event, we wanted to give you the option.

Because of his program at Defense, General Shomron is available to see you Tuesday, February 7 after 2:30 p.m., or Wednesday, February 8 after 4:00 p.m. If you cannot do it, I will see him.

SUBJECT: Call on General Scowcroft by Amb Park Tong Jin

Korean Ambassador Park Tong Jin, citing President Bush's remarks to President Roh that detailed visit schedules could be worked out between General Scowcroft and the Ambassador, is seeking an appointment on Jan 31 or Feb 1. I suspect face has more to do with the request than schedule. Seoul 1153 reports conversations are going well even before the Pre-advance team arrives. Park will, if you see him, certainly urge a longer visit, though.

Recommend that you schedule him briefly when possible, perhaps Saturday or next week. I can plead travel, the Japanese PM, and need for a report from the pre-advance.

MEMORANDUM FOR:

(GATES)

FROM:

James A. Kelly
(KELLYJ)

SUBJECT:

Korea: Two Topics

Two Korea items for your info and comment, if desired. First, although Korean Ambassador Park took the China announcement with seeming equanimity - and I assured him that the Korea visit decision remained under active consideration - his calls to State (Sigur and Gregg) were panicky. A decision tomorrow, or a phone call by the President to President Roh, will set it all right, but if the wait is longer some damage control may be needed. For the record, he delivered the same message to me - "from President Roh" - that he had passed to Gaston: that Roh hopes the President can accept the invitation to visit Seoul that was in the inaugural congratulatory message. Roh also asks that the visit come after and be longer than any Beijing visit.

The second topic concerns the leader of a conservative Korean opposition party, Kim Jong Pil (or J.P. Kim). This Kim is coming to town and will attend the Feb 2 "Prayer Breakfast". Kim has told people, our embassy reports, that he will be meeting with President Bush, Secretary Baker and General Scowcroft. Dan Murphy is reportedly making his appointments. J.P. Kim is a former Park Chung Hee Prime Minister, who has picked up some power by leading a party whose votes are needed for Roh's party to have a majority in the Nat'l Assembly. If Kim comes up, I do not recommend an appointment with the President, unless he intends to see an awful lot of foreign opposition leaders in the years to come. An appointment with Brent would be appropriate, though this is an awfully busy period.

FROM: STEPHEN P. FARRAR SPF

SUBJECT: U.S. Position at Upcoming G-7 Meeting

The G-7 Finance Ministers will be meeting in Washington on Friday, February 3. Representatives from other countries will be watching Secretary Brady closely for signs of positions of the Bush Administration on several international economic issues, including exchange rate policy, the debt situation, and the elimination of global payments imbalances. Positions taken Friday could set the direction for the Administration in several upcoming forums, such as the April IMF Interim Committee meeting and the July Economic Summit in Paris.

I am unaware of any interagency discussion of the positions Treasury intends to take at the G-7 meeting. Some coordination prior to Friday would set a useful precedent.

Dear Mr. President:

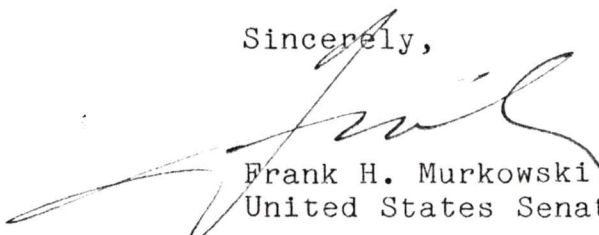

When you meet with Prime Minister Takeshita next week I ask that you discuss with him the formation of a Pacific Rim energy working group to facilitate the marketing of United States energy resources in the Pacific Rim. The working group would be comprised of officials from Taiwan, Japan, Korea and the United States.

During a recent trip to the Pacific Rim, I met with business and government leaders in Japan, Taiwan and Korea. In virtually every meeting, including one with Prime Minister Takeshita, we discussed these countries' ever increasing need for environmentally clean energy resources and Alaska's potential to meet those needs. Of particular interest to all three countries is the vast natural gas reserves on Alaska's North Slope.

In order to finance the infrastructure needed to transport these gas reserves to the Pacific Rim markets, long-term contracts for seven million tons of liquified natural gas (LNG) per year must be executed. This amount of gas exceeds the needs of any one country and each country is reluctant to commit to purchase a lesser amount in the absence of commitments from the other two. An energy working group in which all three countries participate would be an effective forum to resolve the "who goes first" dilemma. If a consensus for development is achieved, annual sales at todays market prices would exceed $3 billion-- in excess of $80 billion over the project's life-- making a significant impact in our trade imbalance with these countries.

Mr. President, during my meeting with Prime Minister Takeshita I delivered to him a copy of your congratulatory letter to the Alaska Kai in which you expressed your support for greater trade in energy resources between our two countries. The Prime Minister was very receptive to your suggestion and I believe he will be equally receptive to the formation of a Pacific Rim energy working group.

Sincerely,

Dear Mr. Ikauro:

Please pass on my congratulations to the members of Alaska Kai on a quarter-century of leadership in economic cooperation between Japan and the United States.

Alaska is our closest state to your country. It will play a major role in the coming "Century of the Pacific," as we broaden our common infrastructure in transportation, communications, education and energy.

Pending between Alaska, Japan, and some of our other Pacific allies are energy projects which should substantially expand America's Pacific trade, while strengthening our mutual energy security. While these opportunities serve our national purposes, they cannot occur without parallel private entrepreneurship and cooperation. Therefore, we look to the relationship of Alaska Kai and its American counterpart, Alaska Nippon Kai, to help us make these opportunities happen.

Best wishes for another successful 25 years.

First, congratulations. I was not surprised to see you appointed as National Security Adviser and am delighted for you though I will miss seeing you at RAND.

I saw in yesterday's news that you will be involved in a review of the "Latin American debt issue" and wanted to ask if I could have a chance to "brief you" on our viewpoint. As you probably know, Citicorp has been central to this issue and we chair most of the key bank committees. Since becoming Chairman, I have spent a lot of time on the subject personally, know all of the key players and have a sense of the dynamic of the problem as well as an impression of how it can develop. Without wishing to jump the gun, my sense is (a) that this is the key to the evolving relationship between the U.S. and our Latin American allies and has fundamental political as well as economic dimension and (b) that the "Baker Plan" is evolving quite naturally and can, with effort, become the mechanism for getting a select set of countries (Mexico, Chile, Venezuela, Uruguay) back towards the market over the next three to four years. If this last turns out to be so it will be a persuasive example.

I have asked my secretary to call your office to set-up an appointment at some convenient time.

Merry Christmas and Happy New Year.

Best regards,

PS On a broader issue, I would like to persuade you that our whole analysis of international political and security issues would benefit from viewing these within the context of an evolving global economy and the pressures to perform in the economic arena.
