Dear Governor:

I write to suggest an early meeting between you and Arthur Kobacker, whose letter to the President and C.V. are attached.

Arthur Kobacker is precisely the kind of internationally-known Jewish business leader who can build up national support for President Bush's policies, even though they result in violent opposition from the Shamir Government and its American supporters. Although an ardent Zionist, he believes that U.S. aid to Israel should be withheld, if necessary, to end Israeli intransigence.

He has the energy and ability to mobilize public Jewish support for the President around the nation.

He is also CNI's most important Board member in our national grassroots efforts to educate Congress.

I recommend an early invitation from you to meet with yourself, and if possible, the President. He will come down to Washington from Columbus, Ohio, at your call.

Congratulations on your smashing success in the Gulf. I will interview the 5th Regiment Marines at Camp Pendleton.

Sincerely,

Pete McCloskey
President

President George Bush
White House
1600 Pennsylvania Avenue
Washington, DC 20008

Dear President Bush:

On Friday, March 1, 1991, I was present at the White House in the Roosevelt Room when you signed the proclamation recognizing the Peace Corps for its 30 years of service.

Later that afternoon I was honored to be named one of the 14 1991 Partners for Peace.

I am a Jewish American supportive of the security needs of Israel. I doubt that real Middle East peace can come unless the Palestinians receive self-determination in the form of a demilitarized Palestinian state on the West Bank and the Gaza Strip.

I feel that we, the United States, should pressure Israel to accept such a solution and should offer every guarantee of security requested by Israel, including a NATO like treaty and small numbers of American forces on the borders of Israel and of a new Palestinian state in order that any external aggressor would know that an attack on Israel or on the new Palestinian state would automatically mean war with the United States.

I believe that if necessary to compel Israeli withdrawal, American aid to Israel should be reduced or eliminated.

While admittedly a minority, significant numbers of Jewish Americans believe as I do that justice, the self-interest of the United States, the interest of peace, and the long range survival of the state of Israel depend on justice for the Palestinians, which means self-determination and the creation of a demilitarized state.

President George Bush

I believe that I, or many others, could furnish you with the names of many Jewish Americans prominent in business, civic affairs and philanthropy, but not necessarily all current leaders of strictly Jewish or Israeli oriented organizations who agree that Palestinian self-determination is now required.

With your overwhelming approval rating, your leadership can bring real peace with justice to the Middle East. The 80 to 100 PACS influenced by AIPAC cannot significantly damage you politically and you will be surprised by the amount of your Jewish support.

Sincerely,

Request for Appointment with the General April 26

BILL SUGGESTED I SEND YOU THIS MEMO

Mexican Ambassador Petrociolli called at the request of Dr. Jose Cordoba, Chief of Staff to Mexican President Salinas, to ask our help in arranging an appointment for Cordoba with the General and Governor Sununu anytime on Friday, April 26. Petrociolli will also request appointments with Bob Zoellick at State and CEA Chairman Michael Boskins directly, but doesn't want to do so until he hears from us.

We are sure the General will want to see Dr. Cordoba if he can, and we think Governor Sununu will be amenable. The way it was done the last time was to have a meeting with both of them in the General's office and that would be fine with Cordoba.

We would appreciate your checking with the General to see how he would like us to proceed. If there is to be a joint meeting, would you want coordinate with the Governor's office, or would you prefer that we do so?

SUBJECT:

Meeting with Kuwait Ambassador, Monday, April 27

Brent,

Ambassador Saud Nasser was instructed by the Crown Prince to follow up on Secretary Baker's meetings with the Amir and meet with you, the Secretary, and Secretary Cheney to discuss a number of issues, including human rights and internal security in Kuwait, the refugees in the DMZ, Kuwaiti politics, and the status of reconstruction. Actually, things look somewhat better on the ground than press reporting indicates. The Ambassador also wants to reassure us that the Amir is committed to holding elections in early 1992 when reconstruction has progressed enough so and internal stability has returned so that martial law can be lifted and elections can be held. Key questions, though, will be who can vote and how much authority those elected will have.

This would be a good time to give the Ambassador a general sense of where we are headed on the peace process, and to encourage Kuwait to eliminate its boycott against firms doing business with Israel. According to Saud Nasser, they already are doing so in practice in that all records related to the boycott have been destroyed. However, even though he has mentioned this in TV interviews, he believes the government would be reluctant to publicize it further.

To:

Brent SCOWCROFT

Dear Brent,

Thank-you again for the opportunity of our discussion last Wednesday.

I confirm you that M. Edouard BALLADUR will be in Washington on the 25th and 26th April to attend a G7 council meeting and would be very happy to exchange views with you on Euro-American relationship (and specifically French-American ) in the new geostrategic framework and, if possible, pay a visit to President Bush.

On security matters he intends to have a discussion in the John Hopkins Institute on the report the latter has recently published (USA and NATO in an undivided Europe ). As Mr Balladur is developing the French minority views on restructuring our Security posture, I assume you may find his views on the American presence in Europe and what France could bring to the table interesting.

As former Ministre d'Etat, in charge of Finances of J. Chirac's Government (1986-1988) and as representative (house) of the Gaullist party, he is the likely Prime Minister after general elections in 1993, should the present minority win , which is probable, on present grounds of course ! It is the reason why I strongly suggest if it is possible an "audience" with your President.

Mr Nicolas BAZIRE of his private secretary will call your office very soon to work out practical details.

Warm regard[Signature]

Mr Edouard BALLADUR has had a quite unusual political career.

He is a senior civil servant, a graduate of the prestigious ENA who chose the Conseil d'Etat, France's highest administrative court, and has held many top positions in the administration, lastly as Secretary General of the Elysée.

He entered politics in 1986, when he was elected to Parliament from Paris. He was immediately appointed as the Minister of the Economy, Finance and Privatizations and became the second highest ranking official in the government of Jacques Chirac.

Over the past 20 years, he has played an important role in French politics at three critical junctures.

First in May 1968, at the time of the student unrest when, as a key aide to Prime Minister Georges Pompidou, he was involved in bringing about the Grenelle Agreement that ended the crisis, and led to the stunning victory of the Gaullist party in the subsequent elections.

Then as Secretary General of the Elysée in 1973 - 1974, during the last year of the Pompidou presidency.

Last but not least, when he developed the theoretical basis for cohabitation between a Socialist President and a conservative legislative majority in 1983 and then, as Finance Minister from 1986 to 1988, pushed through major free-market economic reforms. The unprecedented and thoroughgoing package of reforms included totally lifting price controls as well as most exchange controls, reducing the public deficit, cutting taxes, and privatizing over thirty state-controlled companies for a total value of 130 billion francs. This was the most ambitious free-market program ever enacted since the interwar years.

Indeed, this policy is largely responsible for the strong performance of the French economy during the three years 1988, 1989, 1990.

Aside from his considerable experience in economics and finance, Edouard Balladur has a great interest in, and knowledge of, French constitutional and political realities, as well as a taste for European and international affairs especially as far as defence questions are concerned.

In early 1987, he was awarded the Jacques Rueff Prize in Economics by the Lehrmann Institute in New York, and in October 1987, he was named Minister of Finance of the Year by the magazine Euromoney.

Since 1989 he has been a major speaker of the R.P.R. (the party he belongs to) notably during the Gulf crisis.

MEMORANDUM FOR: SEE BELOW

FROM: Michael V. Hayden
(HAYDEN)

SUBJECT: New Selective Service Chief

Florence/Robin,

Would you try to take a reading on this for me. Thanks

-----

I've received a call from the office of the new head of Selective Service, Robert Gambino, asking for an appointment with "appropriate" officials. Selective service was intentionally vague but it was clear they would welcome a session with the General or Mr Gates. (Officially, the head of selective service reports directly to the President).

Don Pilling and I will, of course, see Mr Gambino to discuss matters at whatever length he desires but -- schedule permitting -- a quick drop by with the General or Mr Gates (no more than 10 minutes) is probably a good idea. There is little we should expect from this agency but a short office call might help ensure that no harm is done there either. You might recall that during the war selective service did a good job fending off questions about a return to the draft.

Mr Gambino would be free anytime next Monday or Wednesday. If this won't work, we could try to reschedule early in May.

April 16, 1991

General:

Robert Gambino has a "photo op" scheduled with The President at 11:15 am, April 22.

Do you wish to do brief "introductory" meeting with him (see attached note)?

SUBJECT: Appointment Request for Janusz Drnovsek, Member
(and former President) of the Presidency of Yugoslavia, April 15, 1991

Drnovsek will be in the U.S. on a private visit and has requested a meeting with you. Drnovsek has been helpful both in Slovenia, by opposing a head-long rush to secession, and within the federal Presidency, where his decision to attend crucial meetings denied Jovic the votes he sought to impose emergency measures. For these reasons, it is important that he stay in the game and not succumb to pressures in Slovenia to opt out of the Presidency and of Yugoslavia.

Drnovsek will be seeing Larry Eagleburger (if he is back in the office by then) and leaders on the Hill, including Senators Dole and Kennedy. He will be available on April 15 from 11:00 a.m. through the remainder of the day and could reschedule April 16 appointments if necessary.

SUBJECT: Meeting with Dinitz

Please give the following to the General before his meeting this afternoon with Simcha Dinitz:

As head of the Jewish Agency, Dinitz follows Jewish emigration issues closely. In his meetings at State, he raised the plight of the Falashas. Dinitz argued that events in Ethiopia compelled us to consider now an airlift to get them out before chaos erupts. Dinitz was aware of consideration in the USG to brokering a transition in Ethiopia, but thought that the Falashas' problem was urgent. He recognized that Mengistu would need to "be given something."

You may wish to respond by discussing the possible Boschwitz visit.

Walters also requests, and we support, a brief separate meeting with the General. He is available before 10:00 a.m. on the 12th or just before/after the Stoltenberg meeting. Would the General be able to meet with Walters at any of those times?

Stoltenberg will be in Washington on a private visit, April 12-14, and has requested meetings with you and the President. State supports both requests (Tab I). We certainly recommend that you agree to meet with him, and we think it would be useful for the President to drop by briefly if his schedule permits. (This formula, which we used once before, gives Stoltenberg a boost within the coalition.)

Stoltenberg will be with Secretary Cheney from 11:00 a.m. through 2:00 p.m., April 12, and will give a talk at the Konrad Adenauer Stiftung on the 13th. The German Embassy suggests that his White House meeting(s) be on the 12th.

MEMORANDUM FOR BRENT SCOWCROFT
THE WHITE HOUSE

Subject: Appointment Request: Gerhard Stoltenberg, German
Defense Minister

German Defense Minister Gerhard Stoltenberg has requested a meeting with the President during his visit to Washington on Friday, April 12. He has also asked to see National Security Adviser Scowcroft, Secretary Cheney, and Secretary Baker.

Stoltenberg and the Defense Ministry were extremely helpful during the Gulf crisis. The Germany military's assistance was critical to the rapid deployment of the U.S. Seventh Corps to Saudi Arabia, and to the transshipment of other personnel and supplies through Germany to the Gulf. The Defense Ministry was also forthcoming on securing German aid for Turkey.

Stoltenberg supported coalition policy, and wants to see Germany assume a more responsible position in the world. He will have to assert this position, however, against the reluctance of others both in government and in the opposition. We recommend that the President meet with him so Stoltenberg can authoritatively report our views on Germany's new world role.

Governor Ray Shafer (former Gov of Pennsylvania) called -- Requests 15-20 minutes with you early next week re a China matter; he wants to bring some information to you and get your advice. I asked if he had talked with Doug Paal -- he said he has not, has no objection to your bringing Doug into meeting but really wants to talk with you.

Doug does not endorse meeting but if you agree to see him, believes could be done in 10-15 minutes. Doug recalls that Shafer was seeking to be on "some board with the Administration" and may also raise that issue with you again.

Okay to schedule?

☒ Yes, brief appt

☐ Unable to do until after Calif/Houston trip

Florence:

David Gompert called --

The new French Defense Minister will be in Washington next Tuesday. We have received a plea from DOD for the General to host a lunch over here for him.

Secy Cheney is hosting a lunch for the British Defense Minister (King). French MOD is new and it is essential that we give him the red carpet treatment. A lunch would need to be hosted by at least the Brent Scowcroft level.

David is suggesting a very small lunch in the General's office.

I asked David to send a note over giving the details of the request and that you would run it by the General. I agreed that we would HOLD and "protect" the time for a Tuesday lunch until General makes his decision.

SUBJECT: Jan Nowak

Please pass to the General, per his request.

Nowak is a prominent leader of the Polish American Congress who has very close ties with the current Polish leadership. He is in regular telephone contact with Deputy Prime Minister Balcerowicz and several others.

During the war, he served as intermediary between the Polish underground and the Government-in-exile in London -- a period which he described in Courier from Warsaw. Thereafter he headed the Polish Service of BBC before founding the Polish Service of Radio Free Europe, which he directed for 25 years. (He retired a few years before I joined RFE as Deputy Director in 1979.)

Please pass to the General and Mr. Gates:

Brent --

Jan Nowak would like to see you to discuss the Walesa visit and how he sees the Polish situation. (Jan was with the party throughout and says the Poles were "euphoric" about the visit and all we delivered.) He would also like to mention his concerns about Radio Free Europe (which, as a former RFE Deputy Director, I share) and what he thinks should be done to set things right.

We recommend that you give him 20-30 minutes of your time, either tomorrow, March 29, or next week.

Doug -- I am sorry to push this on to you. I can't find in my schedule when the General met with Mr. Chang before. I will do a further check on Monday. Prescott said Mr. Chang is now back from two months over there on "both sides of the straits" -- has some certain assurances and tangible information. Wants to come see General Scowcroft next week.

If you know anything about this person, it would be helpful to give the General some information before he makes a decision to see this person.

Marlin Fitzwater
Press Secretary
The White House
Washington, D.C. 20500

Dear Marlin,

First, thank you for yesterday. I learned a lot . . . and had fun . . . and when someone smart understands what this book is really about, it makes me feel not so crazy, after all. For that, too, thanks.

Here, as promised, is the laundry list, including what I'm going to do about each, so you'll know the shameless way I plan to trade on your good name.

But first . . . a matter of delicacy: With your permission, I am going to send you pages about George Bush in the war (not this one, the Big One, back when). This is something I vowed I would never do -- and have never done -- let pages out of my sight. But I know I can trust you not to let anyone copy them, or see them -- save the President, if you think that possible. And then to send them back to me (I'll put an envelope in there, alongside) . . . Anyway, I'll call Natalie to make sure that's okay, before I send them.

Allors! The Laundry List:

7/10 - can you
give me a date
+ time?
RP

OK The War --

Scowcroft -- I'll call Natalie to ask her if you were able to put in the word, then I'll call whomever she names, to arrange to talk to the man.

Cheney -- I'll call Pete Williams, starting next week, Monday, asking to see the Secretary, and telling him you sent me.

Powell -- same drill, with Williams.

Quayle -- I'm going to call Beckwith and let him know he can check with you for basic bona fides.

Baker -- I will try Ms. Tutwiler again, starting Monday, brandishing your name as shibboleth.

OK Sununu -- I have to check with him about New Hampshire during the campaign, so I'd like to talk to him about his war, too. So on the likely chance that he doesn't remember me from Adam, I may ask them to give you a call.

Which brings me back to the long curve of the Bush quest --

OK Ailes -- I have never got to talk to the man, but I think it's time now. I don't know if you ever see him, or what your relations are, but if you could help, it would be much appreciated.

Teeter -- I'll call the strange and knowledgeable Mary Lukens, who will jerk me around. Can you help?

OK Mossbacher -- I don't know whom to call. I'm going to ask Natalie, and, once again, brandish your name.

That's it, for this burst. Marlin, I know this is sticking a lot on your overfull plate. But I promise you, in a matter of months . . . it will be over. (One way or another, they will leave Kuwait.)

Greatly in your debt
I am,

Richard Ben Cramer

NATIONAL SECURITY COUNCIL

Brent

In the unlikely event
that you find yourself
at a loss for words with Sen Levin on the subject of the ABM Treaty.

-- Anne

cc Bob Gates.

March 29, 1991

POINTS ON THE ABM TREATY AND THE WARNER RESOLUTION

- Everything we do in this area is based on the principle of the sanctity of treaties.
  - We could not support a Warner amendment on ballistic missile defenses because it violated this principle.
  - We need to hold ourselves at least to the same standards as we apply to the Soviets (e.g., living up to their obligations under the CFE treaty).
- We likewise scrupulously observe the laws in effect concerning research, development, and testing on ballistic missile defenses, and will continue to do so.
  - [FYI. This legislation has the effect of limiting SDI testing and acquisition of equipment for testing to the "narrow" interpretation of the ABM treaty. The Administration has consistently opposed its passage.]
- At the same time, we have to recognize that the threat of ballistic missile proliferation is real and growing. This is not just a problem that is confined to the Gulf and to Scuds.
- We cannot forever forswear a capability to defend our friends, our forces, or our country against limited ballistic missile attacks, including unauthorized or accidental launches.
- That is what motivates the President's decision to refocus the SDI program on GPALS (Global Protection against Limited Strikes).
- It also is what I understand to be the spirit behind John Warner's resolution concerning the ABM treaty and the basis on which we supported it.
  - get the Soviets' attention so that they will seriously engage us on the question of whether and how the ABM Treaty should be adapted to deal with the growing threat of ballistic missile proliferation, a threat that was not a serious concern when the treaty was signed twenty years ago.
  - failing that, ask the President to take a hard look at the ABM treaty to see whether--under those circumstances--it still serves our national interests, and report to the Congress about his conclusion.

Ed Hickey, Brown & Root Engineering, called to say that General Scowcroft spoke with Senator Orrin Hatch. Senator Hatch gave BS a brief description of an initiative they are working on and General Scowcroft agreed to entertain their briefing for 15-20 minutes. He is following up on that conversation to schedule with General Scowcroft.

I asked Mr. Hickey for brief subject; if it involved a particular country/region or issue. He said "the initiative" has application to the world scenario but now leans toward the Arabian Sea and areas that surround. (Big Help ??)

I asked if others would be accompanying and he said General Charles Gabriel would be coming in with him. (FYI: BS knows Gabriel; Former USAF Chief of Staff)

Timing? Mr. Hickey (of course) said they wanted to do as soon as possible. I explained that you would be back in touch with him on Monday re scheduling.

General:

David Hume Kennerly will be in Washington next week. He is having dinner with Dick and Lynne Cheney on Wednesday evening and asked if you could join them. I told him that you will be at the WH Dinner for Lech Walesa that evening. He then asked if you might be able to do a lunch on Tuesday or Wednesday -- sorry you are booked then too.

He will call Florence after he arrives in Washington to see if perhaps he could "dropby" to say hello or have a cup of coffee with you.

P.S. David said he's not "asking you for anything -- this is purely a personal visit."

SUBJECT: Meeting with Ambassador Mort Abramowitz

Please pass to General Scowcroft and Mr. Gates for the General's 4:30 p.m. meeting with Ambassador Mort Abramowitz

You will see our Ambassador to Turkey, Mort Abramowitz, for a brief meeting at 4:30 p.m. on March 21.

He would like to brief you on Ozal's expectations for his Camp David meetings with the President. He may also mention to you some ideas he has on our relationship with Turkey:

- the need for the U.S. to make good on its commitments to secure funding for a major Turkish F-16 buy;
- the desirability to stay closely in touch with the Turks on the situation in northern Iraq;
- Ozal's increasingly weak position at home and the possibility his party may lose power in the next elections;
- Attitudes of the Turkish military toward Ozal.

You may remember that Mort told you and the President in a recent letter that he would leave his post in the summer to accept the Presidency of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace. He may mention this again to you in the meeting.

SUGGESTED POINTS ON POLISH DEBT REDUCTION
FOR DISCUSSION WITH CANADIAN FINANCE MINISTER WILSON

- As you know, our Deputies reached a tentative agreement on a debt reduction package for Poland in their discussions last weekend.
- I understand that two countries, Canada and Japan, could only concur on an ad ref basis, subject to approval at the Cabinet level within their governments.
  - o Today Japan has informed us of their acceptance of this package.
- We are counting on you to deliver Canadian concurrence with this approach.
- The agreement would provide:
  - o in stage 1, 30% debt relief on a net present value basis (NPV); and
  - o in stage 2 (after 3 years), an additional 20% NPV debt relief.
- I recognize that you might prefer 25% NPV debt relief in each stage.
  - o However, I would note that all other G-7 governments could accept 35% NPV debt relief in stage one.
  - o The 30% number was a concession to Canada.
- The package has been carefully crafted to include in the first stage both:
  - o a 13% permanent debt reduction component plus
  - o temporary interest relief for total interest savings of 80% for 3 years.
- Obviously, 13% debt reduction is minimal permanent debt relief.
  - o A further reduction in the NPV value of relief in stage one as proposed by Canada would cut permanent debt reduction to less than 7%, compared with the 20% level acceptable to Poland.
  - o This would threaten Polish acceptance of the package and a very negative U.S. Congressional reaction.
- I urge you to endorse the package which has been developed and to help ensure its timely approval within the Paris Club.

General --

Ambassador Negroponte will be coming to town the first of next week. He has asked to see you and I put him on your schedule for Monday at 2:00. He then asked if it might be possible to have a photo-op with the President, reminding me that it had been set up the last time he was here but it never happened because he didn't get word about it until it was too late. I recall the President telling him to bring "the new little one" the next time you are in town for a photo-op. I am not sure if his family will be with him on this trip. If you agree to a photo-op, then I will ask Bill Pryce to check.

DECLASSIFIED

By SS NARA, Date 3/6/24

Please pass to General Scowcroft and Mr. Gates for the General's Meeting with Dick Miles on February 28 at 11:30 a.m.

You have agreed to see our Consul General in Leningrad, Dick Miles, for a thirty minute meeting. Miles is in Washington for consultations. He is completing his third year in Leningrad and will transfer this summer to become head of the U.S. Office in Berlin.

Miles will be prepared to brief you on two issues:

1) The Baltic situation:

Miles has been our senior diplomat there during the events of the last two months. His consulate has maintained a continuous presence since January 13 in at least one of the three states and he has travelled there several times to meet Landsbergis and the other Baltic leaders.

Miles will be able to give you an up-to-date analysis of prospects for negotiations and the continuing tension between the Baltic governments and security forces.

You should congratulate him for the very fine reporting we received from ConGen Leningrad throughout the Baltic crisis.

He may mention a proposal currently circulating in State to establish a Branch office of the Consulate in Riga in order to maintain an active presence in the Baltics and be better placed to follow events there. This idea has not yet been presented to Secretary Baker but may be raised with him soon. We have told State that NSC will have to clear first on any such proposal to the Soviets.

2) Events in the USSR:

Miles knows Leningrad Mayor and prominent reformer Anatoly Sobchak well and could brief you on the current state of the reform movement. You might ask for his view of the upcoming March 17 all-union referendum and its likely results and effect on Gorbachev's political fortunes.

Please pass to General Scowcroft and Mr. Gates

I wanted you to be aware that our shipment of emergency medical supplies for the Baltic states and the Ukraine is due to arrive in Riga tomorrow morning. The entire shipment, worth $4.2 million retail, will be delivered via a U.S. commercial aircraft that we chartered. Project Hope and officers from Consulate Leningrad will meet the flight at the airport and personally distribute the cargo to hospitals in the three Baltic states with the help of local authorities. The aircraft will fly on to Kiev where Project Hope and Consulate Kiev officers will distribute the remaining supplies to hospitals that specialize in the treatment of Chernobyl-related disorders.

We are now beginning to plan subsequent shipments to USSR republics over the next nine months. Contributions from U.S. corporations have been very large and we expect the total year's program to reach $20-25 million in value. Since the Baltic-American community has also donated large amounts of pharmaceuticals to the program, we will also consider a second shipment to the Baltic states sometime this year.

We received the attached paper for tomorrow's breakfast after I had sent you a briefing memo. DRAFT

February 14, 1991

DISCUSSION PAPER: EXTENSION OF THE FAST TRACK

Background

- o March 1, 1991, as provided in the 1988 Trade Act, is the deadline by which the President must submit to Congress a request for an extension of fast-track authority.
- o Once requested, the extension is automatically granted, effective June 1--unless either house of Congress passes a disapproval resolution between March 1 and June 1, 1991.
- o As a legal matter, extension of the fast-track cannot limit the purposes for which extended authority might be used. Because of the statutorily prescribed disapproval resolution, the Congress' decision is strictly binary: if a resolution of disapproval passes, the authority is disapproved for all purposes; otherwise, it remains for all purposes and for a full two years to June 1, 1993.
- o As a political matter, however, how the Administration intends to use the extended fast-track authority will affect the congressional decision on a disapproval resolution. The Administration will thus need to explain to the Congress why it is seeking the extension of fast-track authority and how it intends to use it.
- o The Administration is already committed to seeking the fast-track authority for use with a free trade agreement with Mexico. The issue is what to say about the Uruguay Round and possible trade agreements arising from the Enterprise for the Americas Initiative (EAI).

A Proposed Administration Statement of Intention on Use of Extended Fast-Track

If the Administration finds that "substantial progress" has been made in the Uruguay Round and that the progress justifies the continuation of the Round negotiations, the President's request to the Congress on March 1 to extend the fast-track authority should have the following elements (proposed key language in the President's request):

- (i) Fast-track authority is essential to the President's ability to negotiate international trade agreements and to U.S. leadership in the world economy.

DECLASSIFIED
PER NSC WAIVER, 1500 2021-02
By SS NARA, Date 3/6/24

(ii) The Administration intends to use extended fast-track authority for a North America free trade agreement, including Mexico and Canada, agreements which may be concluded in the Uruguay Round, and agreements which may be concluded in connection with the EAI.

(iii) As to a North America free trade agreement, including Mexico and Canada, the Administration expects formal negotiations to begin in the spring of 1991 and conclude by the end of 1991.

(iv) As to the Uruguay Round, the progress achieved to date in the negotiations justifies the continuation of the fast-track authority.

- A basis now exists to conclude the negotiations successfully in all areas.

- Since the Brussels ministerial, we have achieved a political breakthrough with the EC in agriculture. The Administration believes that all participants are now prepared to negotiate agricultural reform which will result in specific commitments to reduce internal supports, export subsidies and barriers to market access, as confirmed by GATT Director-General Dunkel. The scope of the reductions, the time-table for reform, and the base period to be used remain subjects for negotiation.

- The Administration wants to conclude the Uruguay Round negotiations as expeditiously as possible, although the exact pace of negotiations will depend on how quickly other participants are prepared to move. We are prepared to negotiate for another two years if necessary to get a good result.

(v) As to the EAI, the President has announced that the Administration is prepared to enter into free trade agreements with countries or groups of countries in Latin America committed to trade and investment liberalization.

- While Chile could be a candidate for a free trade agreement following Mexico, most Latin countries will not be ready to negotiate free trade agreements with the U.S. within the period of the fast-track extension. However, the availability of fast-track will encourage reform and liberalization in Latin America and will further the objectives of the President's Initiative.

- The President would assure the Congress that any negotiation of an EAI free trade agreement would not begin without full consultations, [including a statement of Administration policy and the opportunity for Congressional hearings,] and the running of the 60-legislative-day advance notice period.

Issues for Discussion

1. "Substantial Progress" in the Uruguay Round.

Since the December 1990 ministerial in Brussels, USTR has taken the position with the Congress and the EC that "substantial progress" on agriculture (or sometimes characterized by USTR as a "political breakthrough") is required before the Administration should state an intention to apply extension of the fast-track to the Uruguay Round.

At this point, it is still not clear that the Administration will be able to demonstrate that a post-Brussels breakthrough has occurred. USTR has stated to the EC that what is required for a breakthrough is an assurance that the EC is prepared to negotiate specific commitments on agricultural reform, without conditions, in the three areas of internal supports, market barriers, and export subsidies. If this assurance is forthcoming, USTR expects that GATT Director-General Dunkel would announce before March 1 that he has determined that there exists the basis for restarting the negotiations.

There appears at this point little willingness on the part of the EC publicly to confirm these assurances, and there is some risk that the EC could undercut a Dunkel announcement as the EC for internal political reasons does not want its process of reforming the Common Agricultural Program to appear pressured by the Uruguay Round.

Lack of a political breakthrough would likely weaken congressional support for fast-track extension. Moreover, seeking extension without a breakthrough could signal to our trading partners a lack of resolve in the negotiations. Furthermore, asserting to the Congress that a breakthrough exists would damage the President's credibility with the Hill unless the Administration can demonstrate that a breakthrough has really occurred.

Specific questions for discussion:

- i. Are there additional steps which the Administration should be taking to increase the pressure on the EC for a breakthrough prior to March 1?
- ii. Has the Administration been clear enough in indicating to the EC what pre-March 1 commitments we are seeking and what kind of public expression, if any, of those commitments we believe is necessary? If not, should there be further clarification?

- iii. If there is not a credible pre-March 1 breakthrough, is there an approach on fast-track extension which preserves the possibility of using fast-track authority if favorable negotiating conditions subsequently materialize, but does not risk the President's credibility in the Congressional vote on the fast-track?

For example, we might seek the extension of the fast-track (acknowledging its legal application to the Uruguay Round), but indicate to the Congress that the Administration will not return to the negotiating table until there is a credible basis for continuing the talks; the Administration will consult with Congress before making a determination as to whether to resume negotiations. The Administration would make clear that, although it continues to support the objectives of the Round, the burden of stalemate is on the EC and that reliance on the fast-track authority would not become necessary until the EC is ready seriously to negotiate.

2. Deadline for Conclusion of the Uruguay Round.

Congress will press the Administration on the time-table for conclusion of the Uruguay Round--i.e., whether there should be a new deadline for conclusion of the Uruguay Round negotiations short of the next expiration of authority on June 1, 1993.

The statute contemplates a full two-year extension of the authority without any legal mechanism for shortening the period. However, just as with the purposes for which fast-track authority might be used, the President could make a political commitment concerning deadlines.

Considerations:

- o Indicating a new deadline could help sustain momentum in negotiations during the remainder of 1991.
- o Without a new deadline, talks could drag on until the authority expires again in 1993.
- o A self-imposed political deadline may not prove credible internationally.
- o A year or more may be needed to complete some of the difficult lagging negotiations, such as services and government procurement.

o USTR believes that the EC may need a year or more to be able to conclude a deal on agriculture.

o Current Administration planning calls for legislation implementing the North American free trade agreement to be before Congress by early 1992. Unless we want the Uruguay Round agreement before Congress near the same time or during the campaign season, we would need to either finish the Round negotiations within the next few months or wait until early 1993 to finish.

3. Extension for EAI.

There is some concern that indicating an intention to include the EAI in the fast-track authority may undercut Congressional support for fast-track extension. On the other hand, fast-track authority for the EAI is important to the credibility of the trade piece of the President's initiative.

The assessment of Congressional views on fast-track which is now underway may indicate more specifically whether any significant number of votes would be lost by inclusion of EAI in fast-track.

If significant Congressional opposition arises to including EAI, the Administration may subsequently need to consider further conditions regarding EAI which might soften some of the Congressional concerns. These further conditions would probably relate to the nature of consultations with the Congress prior to entering into any negotiations on a free trade agreement under the EAI.

4. Legislative Assessment.

SUBJECT: Scowcroft-Richard Allen meeting today

For General Scowcroft:

Dick Allen called to tell me he plans to raise Taiwan's application for the GATT, inter alia, in his meeting with you today.

For background, we continue to take the position that we would welcome Taiwan entering the GATT as a customs territory (not a sovereign state), and Taipei has applied in that fashion. We understand the trade benefits that would accrue to the US. Nevertheless, because of PRC opposition, Taiwan's application raises political implications that deserve careful consideration.

Our hope, not to be publicly expressed, is that other GATT members will take the lead in forming a consensus for Taiwan's membership. If we take the lead, the issue becomes more heavily freighted with superpower considerations than is necessary. Taiwan will need 2/3 of the membership of roughly 90 states to accede. The PRC has a demonstrated capacity to round up votes to defeat Taiwan in forums like this, so careful groundwork must be done. Dick is aware that the GATT president, currently Sweden, called a meeting today on Taiwan's application. We do not yet know what happened.

General:

Dan Pinick, President Boeing Defense and Space Company in Seattle, will be in Washington on Wednesday, February 6 and would like to meet with you briefly to discuss (1) 707's and (2) AWACS Production.

I checked with John Gordon -- he indicates that you met with him about 6 months ago -- they are about to shut down the 707 production line. The Air Force can't make up it's mind. Gordon indicates it's your call on whether to meet with him; he has no problem with it but would like to sit in if you agree to do.

General --

You agreed to meet with Dan Pinick from Boeing. You have spoken with him before -- he has told you that the 707 line will shut down soon if there are no firm orders.

Pinick will "up the ante" today. He will tell you that the line will close permanently if Boeing doesn't have at least 14 aircraft on order by the end of March.

He has cried wolf before, and I don't know how firm Boeing management is on this exact date, but the fact is that the last 707 aircraft are already on the line and that the line is being closed and equipment sold or put into storage as the last unit goes through the line. Personnel are being laid off or transferred to other projects.

Boeing thinks they have a commitment for four aircraft from Japan and 11 from Saudi Arabia (a mix of tankers and AWACS). Boeing will want an Administration okay to move a Saudi package to the Hill ASAP.

The problem is that the Saudis have not told us that they are ready to go ahead with this package. (As you know, Phase-2 was cancelled with the joint decision to readdress Saudi requirements after the war.) If and when the Saudis tell us they want to go ahead with the aircraft, we would still have to address the political question of whether we want to push this part of an arms sale package while the Gulf crisis is ongoing. (We are less confident in the Japanese commitment -- there is some intelligence that the $9 billion contribution to the Gulf effort will result in some scaling back of the Japanese defense budget.)

You only need hear Pinick out so that he understands that the Administration knows that any decision with respect to 707s for Saudi Arabia is made with the full knowledge of the implications for the U.S. industrial base in general and Boeing in particular.

Dear Florence:

General Scowcroft's support and assistance over the past few years have been invaluable to this Agency, and in appreciation I have awarded him the Selective Service System's Exceptional Service Award.

I would like very much to present it to him as soon as possible. As you know, time is an important factor as I am presently awaiting confirmation of my successor and do not know how much longer I will be here. If you could arrange for me to have about ten minutes or less of General Scowcroft's time in the very near future in which to make the presentation, I would be grateful.

Thank you for your assistance, and I look forward to hearing from you.

Sincerely,

SUBJECT: Request for Meeting with Turkish Ambassador Nuzhet Kandemir

Turkish Ambassador Nuzhet Kandemir has asked to see you briefly this week to discuss the Gulf war and U.S.-Turkish military cooperation. He would like to address specifically some of the requests for assistance raised by Ozal in his January 25 letter to the President.

We recommend that you agree to see Kandemir for a twenty minute meeting this week, your schedule permitting. We are preparing a response to the Ozal letter, and you could take advantage of a meeting with Kandemir to give him some initial answers on the more pressing issues. Kandemir is in contact with David regularly but has not met with you for quite a while. We believe such an exchange would be useful at this critical time.

That you agree to meet Turkish Ambassador Nuzhet Kandemir this week for a twenty minute meeting at a time convenient for you.

SUBJECT: Appointment Request for Dutch Foreign Minister
Hans Van den Broek

Van den Broek will be in Washington January 29-31 and has asked to meet with you. The Dutch Embassy also inquired discreetly whether a brief meeting with the President might be possible. Van den Broek, who will be seeing Secretary Baker from 3:30 to 4:30 p.m., January 30, wants to discuss the Gulf, Eastern Europe, and the deteriorating situation in the Soviet Union.

The Dutch, as you know, have been among the strongest on the Gulf, and Van den Broek has played a particularly helpful role. We recommend that you agree to meet with him and, if possible, that the President drop by briefly. We would not, however, hold out to the Dutch the prospect of a meeting with the President.

That you agree to meet with Van den Broek for 30 minutes on January 29, 30, ~~or 31~~ and, if possible, to have the President drop by briefly.

Florence:

Please give the following message to Brent and Bob. Thanks.

Brent:

You may be receiving a call from Ron Lehman about the Report to the Congress on Soviet Non-Compliance.

Ron is concerned that you made the "wrong" decisions in some cases, especially in light of the deteriorating arms control climate and Soviet nonfeasance and malfeasance on recent agreements.

I assured Ron that you had gone over the package carefully, had made your own decisions rather than simply accepting the recommendations of staff, and that I was not going to second-guess your political judgment and good sense. I urged him to be similarly restrained, but I don't know whether he will take the advice.

So, if you get a call from Lehman, that probably is the subject.

SUBJECT: EPC Meeting on National Energy Strategy

Florence/Wilma: Please bring the following message to the General's attention.

The EPC has another meeting scheduled tomorrow with the President as part of its continuing review of the National Energy Strategy. Meanwhile, the Washington Post had another long article today, detailing White House and agency positions on the overall strategy and specific options. The Post gives the impression of disarray and incompetence and certainly is not helpful at this time.

Given the sensitivity of energy issues as we approach January 15, and taking into account the decisions reached at the meeting on energy preparedness on January 4, an EPC meeting at this time is undesirable. It will likely result in new leaks not only about the "strategy", but also, more important, about some of the contingency measures agreed upon on January 4. EPC discretion is an oxymoron.

Under the circumstances, we recommend that you suggest to Brady that he cancel the meeting and that we defer further consideration of the NES -- at least at the EPC level -- for several weeks. We understand that Larry Eagleburger shares these views and may have communicated them to you already.

EPC MEETING ON THE NATIONAL ENERGY STRATEGY

DATE: January 8, 1991
LOCATION: Cabinet Room
TIME: 10:00 a.m.
FROM: Ede Holiday gja

I. PURPOSE

To continue consideration of the proposed National Energy Strategy (NES) developed by the Economic Policy Council (EPC). This meeting is intended to provide an opportunity to hear discussion on six options on which there is not interagency consensus.

II. BACKGROUND

The EPC met with you on the NES on December 21. At that meeting, Secretary Watkins provided an overview of the key goals of the NES and proposed options, and the EPC began discussion on the six options on which there is not an interagency consensus. The December 21 meeting dealt with only one of the six non-consensus options -- the alternative fuels options package. At the end of that meeting, you indicated a desire to reconvene in early January to continue through the remaining non-consensus items.

The paper circulated for the December 21 meeting remains the paper for the January 8 meeting (paper attached). The six non-consensus options are included in appendices to the paper.

Similar to the December 21 meeting, this meeting is not a decision meeting.

This meeting is also not intended to discuss the timing of public release of the NES. In light of the Persian Gulf situation, the timing issue is best addressed separately.

III. PARTICIPANTS

The President and members of the EPC (final list of participants will be provided in the morning).

IV. PRESS PLAN

White House photographer only.

V. SEQUENCE OF EVENTS

- You enter the Cabinet Room and turn to Secretaries Brady and Watkins for introductory comments.
- Introductory remarks by Secretary Brady and Secretary Watkins.
- Discussion of non-consensus options.
- You adjourn the meeting.

VI. REMARKS

Talking points attached.

Attachments

TALKING POINTS FOR THE EPC MEETING
January 8, 1991

- o The purpose of this meeting is to continue consideration of the work that has been done in developing a National Energy Strategy, particularly the few remaining non-consensus options.
- o At our last meeting, we had spent a considerable amount of time on the alternative fuels options. Perhaps there are some additional comments on the alternative fuels package. In any event, I would suggest we spend most of the hour on the five remaining non-consensus options. I would first, however, like to turn to Nick Brady and Jim Watkins for any introductory comments they may have.

At the end of the meeting:

- o This has been a constructive discussion. I will consider these proposals over the next few weeks and may ask for further discussions.
- o Before we go, however, I want to make one important point. Obviously, this is a critical issue, made all the more sensitive by circumstances in the Gulf. I would ask you to be careful to avoid any leaks about the proposals, the timing of the release of the report, or about our discussions here today.
- o Thank you again for the fine work.
